Case Notes

Failure to Take Oath — Discharge at Will: Plaintiff served in the capacity of deputy clerk of the Supreme Court for 20 years. He ran for the Clerk of Court position but was defeated. The newly elected Clerk terminated plaintiff and appointed a new deputy. Plaintiff contended he was unlawfully discharged. Plaintiff was not appointed in writing as required by 2-16-205, nor did he subscribe, take, or file an oath of office as required by 3-2-406. When an officer's term is not definite, his appointment is at will. Section 2-16-213 provides that the term of the deputy clerk is at the pleasure of the appointing power. Under 2-16-501, an office becomes vacant upon refusal or neglect to file the official oath within the time prescribed. The court held that upon plaintiff's failure to file an oath of office, his term of office terminated and the Clerk of Court could at any time fill the vacancy by appointment. Conboy v. Study of Redistricting of State Judicial Districts: Section 1, Ch. 338, L. 1999, provided: "Study of necessity of redistricting state judicial districts. (1) The legislative council is requested to designate an appropriate legislative interim committee to study the issue of whether the state's judicial districts should be redistricted. The committee shall report the results of its study to the 57th regular session of the legislature. If the committee determines that redistricting is necessary based on the factors listed in subsection (2), the committee shall prepare for introduction in the 57th regular session of the legislature legislation redistricting the state's judicial districts.

(2) Factors to be considered by the committee shall include but not be limited to:

(a) the population of the districts as determined by the latest estimates prepared and issued by the United States bureau of the census and made available to the census and economic information center of the Montana department of commerce;

(b) each district's case load;

(c) the relative proportions of civil, criminal, juvenile, and family law cases in each district's case load;

(d) the extent to which special masters, alternative dispute resolution techniques, and other measures have been used in the districts;

(e) the distances between county seats in existing districts and any districts that may be proposed by the committee;

(f) the impact on counties of any changes proposed in the districts; and

(g) other factors that the committee determines to be significant to the determination of whether the state's judicial districts should be redistricted.

(3) For the purposes of this study, subcommittees of the committee must include, to the extent allowed by law, judges, county commissioners, and other affected parties.

(4) The legislative council may accept gifts, grants, donations, and other funding to assist in this study."

(2) The additional judge for the 20th judicial district must be elected at the general election to be held in November 2000 and shall take office in January 2001."

1991 Amendment: In introductory clause increased number of districts from 20 to 21; in (4) deleted Ravalli County; inserted (21) establishing 21st Judicial District in Ravalli County; and made minor changes in style.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 642, L. 1991, provided: "WHEREAS, demographics have changed dramatically in Montana in the last decade; and

WHEREAS, the cost of the court system is an issue of increasing importance in Montana."

Section 5, Ch. 293, L. 1983, provided that the amendments are effective January 7, 1985, unless early elections are held, in which case the necessary portions of the amendments are effective January 2, 1984.

Attorney General's Opinions

Time for Election of Newly Created District Court Judgeships: Subsection (1) of 13-1-104 sets forth the schedule for general elections to be held in even-numbered years and lists those offices for which such an election is to be held, including the office of District Court Judge. Subsection (2) of 13-1-104 provides the schedule for holding general elections in odd-numbered years, and its list of officers to be elected does not include District Court Judges but does include "any other officers specified by law for election in odd-numbered years". Chapter 293, L. 1983, increased the number of judgeships in several judicial districts and provided that the new judgeships could be initially filled at either the 1983 or 1984 general election. The provision of Ch. 293, L. 1983, allowing election of judges in an odd-numbered year is not in conflict with 13-1-104 because, while subsection (1) would appear to require elections in even-numbered years, Ch. 293, L. 1983, contains specific authority for District Court Judges to be elected in odd-numbered years and thus the clause "any other officers specified by law for election in odd-numbered years" of subsection (2) is applicable. Further, 13-1-107(2) which sets forth the time for holding a primary election in an odd-numbered year is the law applicable to any odd-numbered year primary election held under Ch. 293, L. 1983. 40 A.G. Op. 13 (1983).

Length of Term of Newly Created Judgeships to Be Six Years: Chapter 293, L. 1983, increased the number of judgeships in several judicial districts and provided that the new judgeships could be initially filled at either the 1983 or 1984 general election. According to Art. VII, sec. 7(2), Mont. Const., and 3-5-203, the length of term of a District Court Judge is 6 years. In response to the question of the length of term of judges elected to positions created by Ch. 293, L. 1983, the Attorney General ruled that the term was 6 years because: (1) neither the constitutional provision nor the governing statute was altered by Ch. 293, L. 1983; (2) a provision in the original draft of the bill that altered the length of the term was deleted from the final version of the bill; and (3) assuming that the first election for new judgeships is compared to the filling of vacancies in office, it would be arbitrary to choose 1989, the year contained in the deleted provision of the original bill, as the year in which the terms of the new "vacant" offices expire. 40 A.G. Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 454, L. 1999, provided: "(1) The additional judge for the 11th judicial district and the judge for the new 22nd judicial district must be appointed pursuant to the provisions of Title 3, chapter 1, part 10, to take office in January 2000. There must be an election for the offices at the general election to be held in November 2000 for 6-year terms to begin in January 2001.

(2) The additional judge for the 20th judicial district must be elected at the general election to be held in November 2000 and shall take office in January 2001."

Section 3, Ch. 293, L. 1983, provided: "Selection of new judges. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2), the judgeships created by this act [Ch. 293] shall be initially filled at the 1984 general election, and the individuals elected shall take office on the first Monday of January, 1985.

(2) A judgeship created by this act [Ch. 293] may be initially filled at the 1983 general election if a majority of the county commissioners in each county within the judicial district where the judge will be elected agree to conduct the election. The individual elected shall take office on the first Monday of January, 1984." Section 5, Ch. 293, L. 1983, provided that the amendments to this section are effective January 7, 1985, unless early elections are held, in which case necessary portions of the amendments are effective January 2, 1984.

New Judge — How Selected: Section 2, Ch. 542, L. 1979, provided: "The judgeship created by this act shall be filled initially at the 1980 general election, and the individual elected shall take office on the first Monday of January, 1981." Chapter 542 added a fourth judge to the 4th Judicial District.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 110 at beginning of (1) inserted "The chief justice may by written order assign a district judge to hold court in a county of another district"; in (1)(a), after "district court", inserted "in another district" and after "judge" substituted "of the other district or acting for the other district" for "or judges thereof or by a district judge requested by such judge or judges to hold such court"; in (1)(b), after "court", substituted "in the other district" for "in any county" and after "promptness" deleted "the governor may, upon application of any interested person, by an order in writing, require some district judge to hold court in said county for such time as may be specified in the order"; inserted (2) providing that a District Judge assigned to another district shall hold court for the time specified in the order; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 10, 1995.

Case Notes

Authority of Governor:

If a Judge declines to properly perform his official duties, relief must be had from the Supreme Court rather than from the executive power of the state. (See 1995 amendment.) State ex rel. Bennett v. Bonner, 123 M 414, 214 P2d 747 (1950).

Where there is a duly qualified and acting Judge in district, Governor is without power to order Judges of another district into various counties to assume judicial powers. (See 1995 amendment.) State ex rel. Bennett v. Bonner, 123 M 414, 214 P2d 747 (1950).

Constitutionality: This section was held valid, upon original application by the State for a Writ of Supervisory Control, to review an order of a District Judge declining to assume jurisdiction of a cause over which he had been called by the Acting Governor to preside. (See 1995 amendment.) State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 116 M 251, 151 P2d 500 (1944), explained in State ex rel. Bennett v. Bonner, 123 M 414, 214 P2d 747 (1950).

District Court Judges

Part Case Notes

District Court Power to Set Court Staff Salaries — Emergency or Failure of Established Methods Only: A District Judge had no inherent authority to enter an ex parte order establishing salaries for court staff involved in collective bargaining negotiations. The Supreme Court cited State ex rel. Hillis v. Sullivan, 48 M 320, 137 P 392 (1913), in holding that the inherent judicial power to compel funding should only be used when an emergency arises or when the established methods for providing funding have failed. Butte-Silver Bow Local Gov't v. Olsen, 228 M 77, 743 P2d 564, 44 St. Rep. 1356 (1987). See also Monaco v. Lake County, 1998 MT 243, 291 M 141, 967 P2d 367, 55 St. Rep. 1011 (1998).

Appointment of Defeated District Judge: Judge Sykes, a retired judge who was defeated for reelection, was appointed by the Chief Justice to hear several cases. A party to one of the cases appealed the appointment of a defeated judge. The court held that Judge Sykes is a member of the "pool" of retired judges and can be called in by the Chief Justice to preside under the provisions of Art. VII, sec. 6, Mont. Const. Section 3-5-201, which requires District Judges to be elected, does not overcome the constitutional power given to the Chief Justice. Judge Sykes was not appointed pursuant to 19-5-103, and it is therefore not applicable. State ex rel. Welch v. District Court, 209 M 397, 680 P2d 327, 41 St. Rep. 783 (1984).

Judge's Reappointment to Finish Case Started Before Retirement: That trial Judge retired prior to his issuance of orders in the case at issue did not make the orders void. Under the recent decision in State ex rel. Wilcox & Bradley v. District Court, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984), the trial Judge had authority to perform all functions of an active District Judge, including the issuance of final orders and judgments. In re Pegg's Estate, 209 M 71, 680 P2d 316, 41 St. Rep. 558 (1984). (Annotator's Note: The District Court's records indicate that the Judge retired after beginning work on the case and was reappointed to finish the case.)

Retired Judges Eligible for Assignment for Temporary Service: The term "other judges" in subsection (3) of Art. VII, sec. 6, Mont. Const., includes retired judges. That subsection empowers the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, upon request of a District Judge, to assign retired judges for temporary service to any judicial district or county in Montana. Further, that provision is a constitutional grant of power exclusive of any statutory grant by the Legislature. State ex rel. Wilcox v. District Court, 208 M 351, 678 P2d 209, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984); followed in St. v. Holmes, 212 M 526, 687 P2d 662, 41 St. Rep. 1535 (1984).

Impairment of Contract and Diminution of Salary — Preventing Legislative Meddling in Judicial Decisions: Plaintiff contended 3-2-104 and 3-5-212, which imposed sanctions on judges if decisions were not reached or opinions were not written within the procedural constraints and time limits set by the statutes, were unconstitutional. (In 1985, 3-2-104 was amended and 3-5-212 was repealed, thus eliminating the sanctions.) The penalty provisions of both statutes required a 1-month salary forfeiture in the event of a violation. Plaintiff contended the penalty violated the impairment of contract and diminution of judicial salary provisions of the Montana Constitution. Defendant contended that since the judiciary imposed the sanctions, the constitution was not violated. The constitutional prohibition against diminution of salaries is designed to prevent lawmakers from exerting control over the judiciary. Even if the court were to allow the indirect violation by allowing the Legislature to mandate a scheme administered by the courts, the statutes would violate the impairment of contract prohibition. Public employment gives rise to certain obligations protected by the contract clause of the constitution. Promised compensation is one such protected right. Once vested, the right to compensation cannot be eliminated without unconstitutionally impairing the contract obligation. Coate v. Omholt, 203 M 488, 662 P2d 591, 40 St. Rep. 586 (1983).

Time Limits on Judicial Decisions — Solely Within Judicial Sphere: Plaintiff contended 3-2-104 and 3-5-212, which imposed sanctions on judges if decisions were not reached or opinions were not written within the procedural constraints and time limits set by the statutes, were unconstitutional. (In 1985, 3-2-104 was amended and 3-5-212 was repealed, thus eliminating the sanctions.) On appeal, the Supreme Court held that under the separation of powers doctrine the legislative branch of government is without constitutional authority to limit the judicial branch of government in respect to when it shall hear or determine any cause of action within its lawful jurisdiction. The time limits within which judicial decisions must be rendered were held to be a sphere of activity so fundamental and necessary to a court that to divest it of its absolute control would be to make meaningless the very phrase "judicial power". Coate v. Omholt, 203 M 488, 662 P2d 591, 40 St. Rep. 586 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Length of Term of Newly Created Judgeships to Be Six Years: Chapter 293, L. 1983, increased the number of judgeships in several judicial districts and provided that the new judgeships could be initially filled at either the 1983 or 1984 general election. According to Art. VII, sec. 7(2), Mont. Const., and this section, the length of term of a District Court Judge is 6 years. In response to the question of the length of term of judges elected to positions created by Ch. 293, L. 1983, the Attorney General ruled that the term was 6 years because: (1) neither the constitutional provision nor the governing statute was altered by Ch. 293, L. 1983; (2) a provision in the original draft of the bill that altered the length of the term was deleted from the final version of the bill; and (3) assuming that the first election for new judgeships is compared to the filling of vacancies in office, it would be arbitrary to choose 1989, the year contained in the deleted provision of the original bill, as the year in which the terms of the new "vacant" offices expire. 40 A.G. 1989 Amendment: At end of (1) increased District Judge salary from $49,178 to $52,178 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1989, and to $55,178 for each fiscal year thereafter. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

1985 Amendment: In (1) increased the annual salary of a District Judge to $49,178 and deleted former (1)(a) and (1)(b) which specified a salary of $46,758 for fiscal year 1984 and $47,693 for fiscal years thereafter.

Part 3
District Court Jurisdiction

Guidelines for Determining Whether Indian Tribe Has Waived Sovereign Immunity in Contract — Inapplicability of Statute of Frauds to Question of Subject Matter Jurisdiction: Plaintiff contended that he signed a 7-year contract with the Crow Tribe to provide consulting services and to act as a program manager for the planning and construction of a power plant on tribal property and that the tribe breached the contract and failed to pay him. The tribe moved to dismiss on grounds that the District Court lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction because of the tribe's sovereign immunity. The District Court denied the motion but reserved the right to readdress the issue of subject matter jurisdiction. Following further discovery, neither party could produce a signed copy of the alleged contract. The District Court concluded that because the alleged contract was for employment for more than 1 year, the statute of frauds applied and noted that although plaintiff's performance would normally create an exception to the statute of frauds pursuant to the court's equitable powers, to exercise that power in this case would circumvent the tribe's sovereign immunity in contravention of federal law. The District Court further concluded that although there was an express agreement that was partially performed and that the agreement contained a waiver of tribal immunity from suit in state court, as indicated by affidavits submitted by plaintiff and the tribal presiding officer, because of the fact that a signed copy of the contract was not produced, there was insufficient evidence to overcome the presumption against waiver of tribal immunity, so the action was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Plaintiff appealed, and the Supreme Court reversed. The Montana statute of frauds in 28-2-903 limits the enforceability of certain contracts but does not affect a District Court's subject matter jurisdiction, so a District Court need not consider the statute of frauds when determining subject matter jurisdiction; furthermore, the court does not need to invoke its equitable powers to find jurisdiction. Rather, the question facing the District Court was whether the tribe clearly and unequivocally waived its sovereign immunity. The Supreme Court found that plaintiff's complaint alleged sufficient facts that, if true, would vest the District Court with subject matter jurisdiction. The tribe produced no evidence to refute the affidavits or to controvert the recollections of the affiants. Absent any factual issue to resolve, the Supreme Court concluded that plaintiff presented undisputed evidence proving the establishment of a contract that included an unequivocal waiver of sovereign immunity, so dismissal of the complaint by the District Court on jurisdictional grounds constituted reversible error. Bradley v. Crow Tribe of Indians, 2003 MT 82, 315 M 75, 67 P3d 306 (2003).

District Court Jurisdiction to Decide Constructive Fraud Based on Pleadings and Final Pretrial Order: Plaintiffs filed a claim for misrepresentation and failure to disclose concerning the sale of an irrigation system. Defendants contended that plaintiffs did not notify them by pleadings or evidence at trial that plaintiffs were claiming that a false impression was created regarding the condition of the field at pivot three, arguing that the complaint concerned defects and misrepresentations related to the irrigation system, not to the land, and that the District Court thus lacked jurisdiction to enter judgment on the issue of the land rather than the irrigation system. A District Court does not have jurisdiction to grant relief outside of the issues presented by the pleadings unless the parties stipulate that other questions be considered or the pleadings are amended to conform to the proof. However, in this case, the pleadings and the final pretrial order, which cited misrepresentation of or failure to disclose problems with both the deficient irrigation system and the erosion of the river bank near pivot three, gave defendants sufficient notice of the disputed issues to vest the District Court with issue jurisdiction. H-D Irrigating, Inc. v. Kimble Properties, Inc., 2000 MT 212, 301 M 34, 8 P3d 95, 57 St. Rep. 832 (2000).

Entry of Judgment by Court of General Jurisdiction in Foreclosure Action Affirmed — Collateral Attack Precluded: Glickman contended that the District Court acted outside or in excess of its jurisdiction by decreeing that the purchaser of Glickman's property at a Sheriff's foreclosure sale be "let into possession". A judgment entered by a court lacking subject matter jurisdiction is subject to attack at any time. A collateral attack on a judgment is possible only if the judgment is void on its face and if it appears affirmatively from the judgment roll that the court did not have jurisdiction or committed an act in excess of jurisdiction. Absent any authority that a court of general jurisdiction may not enter a judgment in a foreclosure sale, the Supreme Court held that the District Court did not act outside or in excess of its jurisdiction by decreeing that the purchaser of the property at a Sheriff's foreclosure sale be "let into possession". Further, Glickman's failure to allege any statutory causes of action in his original petition precluded him from bringing an independent action under the residual clause of Rule 60(b), M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20). Glickman v. Whitefish Credit Union Ass'n, 1998 MT 8, 287 M 161, 951 P2d 1388, 55 St. Rep. 27 (1998).

Nature of National Guard Service — State Court Jurisdiction: Members of the National Guard serve a dual responsibility, both to the State of Montana and to the United States of America. While Guard units consist of members enlisted in the United States Army, they are also a Montana military unit consisting of Montana citizens. The District Court improperly dismissed a suit brought by members of the Montana Army National Guard on grounds that the court did not have jurisdiction, absent proof that the members were on federal active duty as opposed to state active duty. The case was remanded for further findings. Grove v. Mont. Army Nat'l Guard, 264 M 498, 872 P2d 791, 51 St. Rep. 366 (1994), distinguishing Evans v. Mont. Nat'l Guard, 223 M 482, 726 P2d 1160 (1986).

Presentation of Issue in Pleadings Necessary for Jurisdiction — Jurisdiction Upheld: Logan was discharged from her job at Metra and later obtained employment with the Yellowstone County Sheriff's office, where she suffered a repetitive motion injury. She sued Yellowstone County, claiming that the county breached her employment contract. The county moved for summary judgment, and the District Court dismissed the action. The Supreme Court held that despite Logan's claims that the District Court had no jurisdiction to dismiss because the county moved for summary judgment, the motion for summary judgment on all issues put squarely before the District Court the issue of whether the complaint should be dismissed. The Supreme Court held that the District Court did not exceed the requested relief when it dismissed the complaint. Logan v. Yellowstone County, 263 M 218, 868 P2d 565, 51 St. Rep. 22 (1994).

State Court Jurisdiction of ERISA Actions:

In a case brought to enforce a contract between an employer and a labor organization, state courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal courts but must apply federal substantive law in exercising that jurisdiction. A state court may rely on state contract law as long as it effectuates the policy underlying federal labor legislation. Audit Serv., Inc. v. Frontier-West, Inc., 252 M 142, 827 P2d 1242, 49 St. Rep. 186 (1992), citing Kemmis v. McGoldrick, 706 F2d 993 (9th Cir. 1983).

Title 29 U.S.C. 1132(e) establishes state court jurisdiction over actions brought to recover benefits under an insurance policy covered by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. Bauer v. Kar Prod., Inc., 230 M 422, 749 P2d 1385, 45 St. Rep. 322 (1988).

Jurisdiction Required Before Judgment Effective: It is fundamental that a court rendering a decision in a particular case have jurisdiction over the parties. When the judgment roll on its face shows that the court was without jurisdiction to render the judgment, its pronouncement is in fact no judgment and cannot be enforced. No right can be derived from it. All proceedings founded upon it are invalid and ineffective for any purpose. Ciotti v. Hoover, 237 M 462, 774 P2d 406, 46 St. Rep. 969 (1989), following Apple v. Edwards, 123 M 135, 211 P2d 138 (1949).

Judgment on Matters Outside Pleadings Void: A judgment or final order adjudging matters outside the issues raised by the pleadings is void as to the matters outside the pleadings. In re Custody of C.S.F., 232 M 204, 755 P2d 578, 45 St. Rep. 992 (1988), following Welch v. All Persons, 78 M 370, 254 P 179 (1927).

Jurisdiction of State Court to Order Arbitration Under Federal Arbitration Law: Under the U.S. Supreme Court decision set out in Southland Corp. v. Keating, 465 US 1, 79 L Ed 2d 1, 104 S Ct 852 (1984), a state court clearly has jurisdiction to order arbitration under the federal arbitration law, 9 U.S.C. 1, et seq. Passage v. Prudential-Bache Sec., Inc., 223 M 60, 727 P2d 1298, 43 St. Rep. 1532 (1986).

No Jurisdiction Over Issues Not Presented in Pleadings: Where the plaintiff church was granted a tax exemption by the Department of Revenue for some but not all of the plaintiff's real property and brought a quiet title action to determine its ownership and the tax-exempt status of that portion of the property for which it had not been granted an exemption, the District Court erred in removing the exemption originally granted by the Department of Revenue. Under the rationale of Heller v. Osburnsen, 162 M 182, 510 P2d 13 (1973), and Nat'l Sur. Corp. v. Kruse, 121 M 202, 192 P2d 317 (1948), the District Court had jurisdiction only over those issues raised in the pleadings, and the exempt status of lots 10 through 16 was not at issue in the case. Consequently, the District Court had no jurisdiction to remove the tax-exempt status for those lots belonging to the plaintiff. Old Fashion Baptist Church v. Dept. of Revenue, 206 M 451, 671 P2d 625, 40 St. Rep. 1774 (1983).

Labor Management Relations Act of 1947: State courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal courts to hear cases brought under section 301(a) of the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 (29 U.S.C. §185(a)). Audit Serv., Inc. v. Clark Bros. Contractors, 198 M 274, 645 P2d 953, 39 St. Rep. 928 (1982).

Same Day Filing of Appeal and Motion for Rehearing: The filing of an appeal to the Supreme Court stays proceedings in the lower court, thereby removing jurisdiction to proceed further in the matter from the lower court; thus, the Supreme Court denied the motion to dismiss the appeal, which was based on the fact that the notice of appeal and movant's motion for rehearing were filed on the same day. Green v. C.R. Anthony Co., 194 M 102, 634 P2d 629, 38 St. Rep. 1638 (1981).

Loss of District Court Jurisdiction Upon Filing Notice of Appeal — Findings and Conclusions Improperly Amended: In an action for damages resulting from the defendants' breach of contract by failing to complete the construction of a road for the plaintiff, the trial court committed reversible error in attempting to amend its findings of fact and conclusions of law after the defendants filed a notice of appeal. Since 1954 it has been the rule in Montana that when a notice of appeal is filed, personal and subject matter jurisdiction passes from the District Court to the Supreme Court. When the District Court amended its findings and conclusions after filing of the notice of appeal, it did so without jurisdiction and the amendments were therefore void. Julian v. Buckley, 191 M 487, 625 P2d 526, 38 St. Rep. 128 (1981). See also St. v. Arlington, 265 M 127, 875 P2d 307, 51 St. Rep. 417 (1994).

Error in Montana Court's Declination of Jurisdiction to Washington Court — Inconvenient Forum: Following several incidents of partner abuse over the years, the mother moved to Washington state and then requested that the Montana court decline jurisdiction as an inconvenient forum in order to allow the Washington court to assume jurisdiction. The request was denied, and the mother appealed. Under the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act, a Montana court has jurisdiction to make child custody determinations if Montana is the child's home state, as defined in 40-7-103, and Montana will continue to have exclusive continuing jurisdiction unless the Montana court declines to exercise its jurisdiction. In this case, the parties conceded that Montana was the home state. Jurisdiction may be declined at any time if the Montana court determines that it is an inconvenient forum and that a court of another state is a more appropriate forum to make custody determinations. The factors in 40-7-108 must be considered when evaluating a motion to decline jurisdiction, and the Act places domestic violence at the top of the list of factors to be considered. Although this factor alone is not dispositive, the Supreme Court held that, given the high propensity for recidivism in domestic violence, when a court finds that partner abuse or child abuse has occurred or that a party has fled Montana to avoid further violence or abuse, the court is authorized to consider whether the party and the child might be better protected if further custody proceedings are held in another state. Here, the District Court abused its discretion by failing to consider which forum would best protect the mother and children. The Supreme Court then went on to discuss the other statutory factors and concluded that the protection of the parties, the years that the children have resided in Washington, the significant distance between the courts, the parties' disparate financial circumstances, the location of evidence and convenience of witnesses, and the familiarity factors all supported the Montana court declining jurisdiction. None of the jurisdictional factors mitigated against declination, and no factor outweighed the concern for safety raised by the history of domestic violence. Thus, the Supreme Court ordered the District Court to decline jurisdiction as an inconvenient forum and arrange to transfer the case to Washington. In re Marriage of Stoneman v. Drollinger, 2003 MT 25, 314 M 139, 64 P3d 997 (2003).

Standard of Review of District Court Jurisdictional Questions: Whether a District Court has jurisdiction to rule on a matter is a question of law that the Supreme Court will review to determine whether the District Court had authority to act. A court exceeds jurisdiction through acts that exceed the defined power of the court, whether the power is defined by constitutional provisions, express statutes, or court rules. In re Marriage of Richards, 2001 MT 183, 306 M 212, 31 P3d 1002 (2001), following Lee v. Lee, 2000 MT 67, 299 M 78, 996 P2d 389 (2000), and Gen. Constructors, Inc. v. Chewculator, Inc., 2001 MT 54, 304 M 319, 21 P3d 604 (2001).

Lack of District Court Jurisdiction Over Breach of Contract Dispute Regarding Work Performed Within Indian Reservation: The District Court held that it lacked subject matter jurisdiction over a breach of contract dispute between two Montana corporations and a non-Indian minority shareholder of one of the corporations for work performed within the boundaries of the Flathead Indian Reservation, concluding that the tribal court had sole jurisdiction to hear all commercial disputes arising on the reservation involving a tribal defendant and that any allegation of fraud or impropriety involving tribal policy for giving preference to Indian-owned businesses necessarily implicated tribal self-government. Plaintiff appealed, contending that a corporation, even if Indian-owned, is neither an "Indian" nor a "tribal member" for purposes of determining subject matter jurisdiction and that the matter was nothing more than one Montana corporation bringing a claim for money damages against another Montana corporation and did not call into question any tribal act. The District Court correctly applied the three-part test in State ex rel. Iron Bear v. District Court, 162 M 335, 512 P2d 1292 (1973), in determining whether a state court may assume subject matter jurisdiction when tribal adjudicatory sovereignty over a civil dispute arising on a reservation is involved. The test involves consideration of whether: (1) federal treaties and statutes preempt state jurisdiction; (2) exercise of state jurisdiction would interfere with reservation self-government; and (3) the tribal court is currently exercising jurisdiction or has exercised it in a manner that preempts state jurisdiction. Pursuant to U.S. Supreme Court case law, if either of the first two prongs of the test is established, the state lacks jurisdiction. In analyzing the second prong of the test, the court applied Milbank Mut. Ins. Co. v. Eagleman, 218 M 58, 705 P2d 1117 (1985), which states that a tribe's interest in self-government for civil matters arising within a reservation can be implicated if a state or federal court resolves a dispute that impinges on a tribe's right to adjudicate controversies arising within the province of tribal courts or if the dispute itself calls into question the validity or propriety of an act fairly attributable to the tribe as a governmental body. In the context of this case, the questions then became: (1) whether the subcontractor was an Indian-owned business for preference purposes under its subcontract with the general contractor; and (2) whether the subcontractor committed fraud upon the tribe or otherwise violated the tribe's preference policy to the detriment of plaintiff. Concluding that the answers to both questions clearly implicated tribal court jurisdiction and policymaking authority, the court concluded that it could not assert jurisdiction without violating the policy favoring tribal self-government or interfering with the tribe's sovereignty. The Supreme Court agreed. To assume jurisdiction and decide whether a corporation had committed fraud upon the tribe or a contractor in privity with the tribe or to decide whether or not a corporation should be considered Indian-owned in spite of a prior determination by the tribe would require the District Court to impinge upon the tribe's right to adjudicate controversies arising within the province of the tribe's own courts. Further, even if the District Court were to assume that all of plaintiff's allegations were true, a hearing on the jurisdictional question was unnecessary because the court could not assume subject matter jurisdiction as a matter of law, so the court did not err by issuing its order rather than conducting a hearing on the question. Gen. Constructors, Inc. v. Chewculator, Inc., 2001 MT 54, 304 M 319, 21 P3d 604 (2001).

Spouse Responsible for Bankruptcy Credit Card Obligations Pursuant to Dissolution Decree: As part of the dissolution decree, the wife was ordered to return a quarterhorse and horse trailer to the husband. However, she sold both horse and trailer and used the proceeds for her own purposes, then declared bankruptcy. The District Court offset the husband's obligation to pay credit cards debts that resulted from discharge of the debts in the bankruptcy proceedings because the husband was then held solely responsible by the credit card companies for the debts that the wife had been ordered to pay under the dissolution decree. State District Courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal bankruptcy courts in determining the dischargeability of debts, and the District Court thus had jurisdiction to determine that the wife was responsible for the credit card obligation. This determination conformed to federal bankruptcy law and was within the District Court's broad discretion to equitably apportion marital property. Lee v. Lee,

Lack of District Court Jurisdiction Over Claims for Fees Incurred During Bankruptcy Proceedings: Watts filed a claim against Parsons in District Court for fees owing in a bankruptcy action, contending that the debt was incurred after the bankruptcy was discharged and closed and thus was not subject to review by the Bankruptcy Court. The District Court found that it had jurisdiction, based on Woodley v. Myers Capital Corp., 835 P2d 239 (Wash. Ct. App. 1992), and Metco, Inc. v. Huffman, 511 NW 2d 780 (Nebr. Ct. App. 1994), and granted Watts' request for fees. Citing In re Hathaway Ranch Partnership, 116 Bankr. Rep. 208 (Bankr. C.D. Calif. 1990), the Supreme Court noted that the burden of showing entitlement to fees was on Watts. Watts asserted that the parties entered into an agreement for payment of fees after the bankruptcy was discharged but that the agreement was never brought to the attention of or approved by the Bankruptcy Court. By withholding the terms of the agreement from the Bankruptcy Court, Watts denied Parsons the lawful protection of that court. The Supreme Court distinguished Woodley and Metco, noting that in the present case, Watts never submitted the question of fees to the Bankruptcy Court and that the District Court was not in a position to determine whether the fees were reasonable. Because the District Court did not have jurisdiction over the claim for professional fees incurred during the pendency of the bankruptcy action, the case was remanded to District Court with instructions to dismiss. Watts & Associates, Inc. v. Parsons, 1999 MT 56, 293 M 464, 976 P2d 984, 56 St. Rep. 237 (1999).

Sale of Trust Lands Within Flathead Reservation — No Jurisdiction Found for Purposes of Breach of Contract, Fraud, and Negligent Misrepresentation: Neuman, an enrolled member of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes, sought assistance from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) to clear the title to trust land within the Flathead Reservation so that Neuman could sell it. He also engaged a real estate broker. Both Neuman and prospective buyers, the Krauses, made considerable efforts to consummate the sale, but Neuman was informed by the BIA that there was a substantial cloud on the title. Neuman therefore terminated the listing agreement, and the Krauses sued for damages, alleging breach of contract, fraud, constructive fraud, fraud in the inducement, and negligent misrepresentation. The District Court, on the recommendation of a special master and after applying the test laid out in State ex rel. Iron Bear v. District Court, 162 M 335, 512 P2d 1292 (1973), found a lack of subject matter jurisdiction. The Supreme Court held that 25 U.S.C. 345 and 28 U.S.C. 1353 vest exclusive jurisdiction in the federal courts over disputes involving allotted lands within Indian reservations and that 28 U.S.C. 1360 preempted its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court also held that the Krauses' lawsuit was a dispute involving title to allotted lands even though the action was a tort claim and breach of contract claim because all of the Krauses' claims could not be separated from questions of title to Indian trust lands. Noting that it had already held in In re Marriage of Wellman, 258 M 131, 852 P2d 559 (1993), that an attempt by state courts to adjudicate rights in Indian trust land for the purpose of money damages was precluded by federal law, the Supreme Court held that it made no difference that the Krauses had deleted from their complaint a prayer for specific performance. The claims could still not be separated from the issue of title to Indian lands. Krause v. Neuman, 284 M 399, 943 P2d 1328, 54 St. Rep. 937 (1997).

Previous Assumption of Jurisdiction by Tribal Court — Jurisdiction Improperly Sustained by State District Court: It was error for a state District Court to sustain jurisdiction when a tribal court had previously assumed jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter by issuing a temporary restraining order against plaintiff. Abstention, as a matter of comity, was exercised by the Supreme Court in holding that jurisdiction was retained in the tribal court. Agri W. v. Koyama Farms, Inc., 281 M 167, 933 P2d 808, 54 St. Rep. 118 (1997), following State ex rel. Stewart v. District Court, 187 M 209, 609 P2d 290 (1980), In re Marriage of Limpy, 195 M 314, 636 P2d 266 (1981), and In re Marriage of Wellman, 258 M 131, 852 P2d 559 (1993).

Damage Claim Not Available as Challenge to District Court Subject Matter Jurisdiction: Although the jurisdiction of courts can be limited by constitutional or statutory provisions on the basis of the amount in controversy or dispute between the parties, Montana District Courts are not constrained by such limits. Therefore, the amount and type of a damage claim in District Court may not be raised to challenge a District Court's subject matter jurisdiction. Day v. Payne, 280 M 273, 929 P2d 864, 53 St. Rep. 1400 (1996).

Lack of Probate Court Jurisdiction in Deciding Attorney Fee Related to Tort Claim: A probate attorney requested that the District Court stay proceedings on a claim that the attorney had wrongfully converted estate property until the probate court finally determined applicable attorney fees. The probate court had jurisdiction over and decided the amount of the attorney fees for probate of the estate but had no jurisdiction to decide the attorney fee related to the tort claim. Thus, the District Court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to delay trial of the conversion claim until the probate court determined the amount of the attorney fee. Eatinger v. Johnson, 269 M 99, 887 P2d 231, 51 St. Rep. 1484 (1994).

Right to Declaratory Judgment on Discretionary Military Policy Threatening Public Sector Harm: The general rule of no subject matter court jurisdiction over a discretionary military policy (in this case, a state government military policy) did not apply to a state requirement that its firefighters protecting civilian and National Guard aircraft belong to the Montana Air National Guard. Loss of the job for failure to belong was a threatened injury resulting from military intrusion into the civilian sector by the state. The state did not show that the requirement was related to military employment. Therefore, the rule could not be used to dismiss a firefighter's petition for declaratory judgment. McKamey v. St., 268 M 137, 885 P2d 515, 51 St. Rep. 1218 (1994).

Equitable Tolling of Statute of Limitations Applicable — Different Plaintiffs in Separate Actions: Natelson filed an original action in the Supreme Court seeking a declaratory judgment that a law increasing the state income tax was suspended by a referendum petition and that that suspension did not violate state or federal constitutional provisions. The Supreme Court dismissed that action. Nicholson then filed the present action in District Court, seeking a declaratory judgment that the suspension of the state income tax increase did violate constitutional principles. Defendant Cooney argued that Nicholson's complaint was time-barred, as it was not filed within 30 days of the certification of the referendum petitions suspending the income tax increase. Citing Harrison v. Chance, 244 M 215, 797 P2d 200 (1990), the Supreme Court held that the doctrine of equitable tolling of the statute of limitations applied to the second action even though the plaintiffs were not the same. The Supreme Court stated that it would not penalize the plaintiffs in the second action because of the premature filing of the original action in the Supreme Court. Nicholson v. Cooney, 265 M 406, 877 P2d 486, 51 St. Rep. 579 (1994), followed in Sorenson v. Massey-Ferguson, Inc., 279 M 527, 927 P2d 1030, 53 St. Rep. 1269 (1996).

Marriage Dissolution Brought by Tribal Member Against Non-Indian Spouse — Jurisdiction to Apportion Indian Trust Land: Wife who was a member of the Blackfeet Tribe sought a marriage dissolution in state court from her husband who was a non-Indian. The District Court granted the dissolution but held it did not have jurisdiction to apportion the parties' marital estate, which consisted of about 4,000 acres of Indian trust land on the Blackfeet Reservation, and granted wife's motion to dismiss. On appeal, husband contended that the state court had jurisdiction, relying on a provision in the Blackfeet Tribal Law and Order Code that all divorces must be consummated in accordance with Montana law. However, that provision did not cede jurisdiction to the state but merely governed the tribal court's choice of law. While the state has an interest in ensuring the existence of a forum in which marital property within its borders may be apportioned upon a dissolution, that interest is met by the availability of an alternative forum in the Blackfeet Tribal Court. The state's interest in the property and proceedings is inconsequential compared with the federal and tribal interests at stake. Therefore, the District Court did not err in concluding that it lacked jurisdiction to adjudicate the disposition of the Indian trust land that was the parties' only significant marital asset. In re Marriage of Wellman, 258 M 131, 852 P2d 559, 50 St. Rep. 462 (1993), following White Mountain Apache v. Bracker, 448 US 136, 65 L Ed 2d 665, 100 S Ct 2578 (1980), and N. Mex. v. Mescalero Apache Tribe, 462 US 324, 76 L Ed 2d 611, 103 S Ct 2375 (1983), and distinguishing Sheppard v. Sheppard, 655 P2d 895 (Idaho 1982). In re Marriage of Wellman was followed as to lack of jurisdiction over trust lands, in context of sale of real property, in Krause v. Neuman, 284 M 399, 943 P2d 1328, 54 St. Rep. 937 (1997).

Lack of District Court Jurisdiction in Claim for Damages — Failure to Exhaust Administrative Remedies: Gilpins initiated suit for damages resulting from temporary suspension of their day-care license by the Department of Family Services (now Department of Public Health and Human Services), contending that, under this section, jurisdiction was in the District Court because the action involved a civil claim against the state for payment of money. However, the court properly dismissed the claim for lack of jurisdiction because Gilpins failed to exhaust all administrative remedies available within the agency, as required by 2-4-702, and because there was no showing made pursuant to 2-4-701 that a review of the agency decision by a hearings examiner would not provide an adequate remedy. Gilpin v. St., 249 M 37, 812 P2d 1265, 48 St. Rep. 567 (1991).

Judgment and Sentence Prerequisite to Appeal to District Court — Misdemeanors: Except for misdemeanors listed in subsection (2) of this section, a District Court is limited to appellate jurisdiction of misdemeanor cases. Imposition of sentence and entry of a final judgment by a Justice's Court or City Court are prerequisites to appeal to a District Court, and a party may not consent to subject matter jurisdiction or waive the want of jurisdiction. St. v. Hegeman, 248 M 49, 808 P2d 509, 48 St. Rep. 318 (1991), followed in St. v. Tweedy, 277 M 313, 922 P2d 1134, 53 St. Rep. 656 (1996), and St. v. Diesen, 1998 MT 163, 290 M 55, 964 P2d 712, 55 St. Rep. 655 (1998).

Discretion of One Judge to Reconsider Ruling Made by Another Judge in Same Case: The rule that judges of coordinate jurisdictions sitting in the same court and in the same case may not ordinarily overrule the decisions of each other is not an imperative and does not necessarily mandate that a court does not have discretion, in appropriate circumstances, to reconsider a ruling made by another judge in the same case. Therefore, a second judge was justified in reconsidering a previous ruling, by a judge who later retired, on the question of school district immunity when that issue had been addressed and significantly clarified by a Supreme Court decision subsequent to the initial ruling. Hayworth v. School District No. 19, 243 M 503, 795 P2d 470, 47 St. Rep. 1361 (1990).

Jurisdiction of Victimless Crime by Non-Indian on Reservation: The District Court held that state courts do not have jurisdiction over the crime of failing to report an accident when the incident occurred within the reservation, the driver was a non-Indian, and the property belonged to an Indian. The Supreme Court found that the offense should be analyzed as a victimless crime for purposes of determining jurisdiction because the alleged criminal act was failure to discharge a reporting duty, not infliction of damage upon property belonging to an Indian. Under the authority of U.S. v. Wheeler, 435 US 313, 55 L Ed 2d 303, 98 S Ct 1079 (1978), Draper v. U.S., 164 US 240, 41 L Ed 419, 17 S Ct 107 (1896), and 18 U.S.C. 1152, federal and tribal interests in providing a federal forum failed to outweigh the state's strong interest in public safety. The policy of providing a federal forum when criminal prosecutions pit the interests of non-Indian offenders against Indian victims was not furthered where, as here, the connection to destruction of Indian property was only tangential to the crime charged; therefore, the state's interests controlled. St. v. Thomas, 233 M 451, 760 P2d 96, 45 St. Rep. 1627 (1988), followed in St. v. Haskins, 269 M 202, 887 P2d 1189, 51 St. Rep. 1474 (1994).

Jurisdiction of Offense of Selling Alcohol Without a License: The District Court was the proper court to try the offense of sale of beer or wine without a valid state license. St. v. Barnes, 232 M 405, 758 P2d 264, 45 St. Rep. 1150 (1988).

Property in State Sufficient for Jurisdiction: In an action to recover unauthorized funds in a bank account in Montana, there were sufficient minimum contacts to establish jurisdiction in Montana even though the plaintiff had no contacts with the state and the defendant had never been in Montana. The deposited funds in the Montana bank account were found to be traceable to the alleged claims of kickback asserted against the defendant in a suit in his home state, and the bank account not only was related to the controversy, it was the subject of the controversy. The tests of "traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice" were met to establish jurisdiction over the nonresident defendant in Montana. Consumers United Ins. Co. v. Syverson, 227 M 188, 738 P2d 110, 44 St. Rep. 999 (1987).

New Findings on Motion to Amend Order — When Permissible: Plaintiff requested modification of child support. Defendant responded and requested custody of the child. The first judge, after a hearing, issued findings of fact, conclusions of law, and an order. A second judge sat on the plaintiff's motions to amend and for a new trial. He issued amended findings of fact, conclusions of law, and an order. The defendant questioned the propriety of the amended findings, conclusions, and order. The Supreme Court relied on St. v. Carden, 170 M 437, 555 P2d 738 (1976), and Mereness v. Frito-Lay, 216 M 154, 700 P2d 182 (1985), to reach the general rule that one District Judge may overrule or review a decision of another District Judge in the same case only when there are exceptional circumstances. The court found no exceptional circumstances or cogent reasons for amending the original decision in this case. The first judge could have been called back to sit on the motion to amend, there was no pressing urgency, and no substantially new evidence was presented. Hansen v. Jurgens, 222 M 345, 722 P2d 1151, 43 St. Rep. 1316 (1986).

When District Court Jurisdiction Concurrent With Bankruptcy Court: The state District Courts have concurrent jurisdiction with the federal Bankruptcy Court in determining whether certain obligations under a marriage dissolution decree are exempted from discharge in bankruptcy. State ex rel. Rough v. District Court, 218 M 499, 710 P2d 47, 42 St. Rep. 1773 (1985), followed in State ex rel. Austin v. Austin, 221 M 488, 719 P2d 429, 43 St. Rep. 998 (1986), and Lee v. Lee, 2000 MT 67, 299 M 78, 996 P2d 389, 57 St. Rep. 308 (2000).

District Court Jurisdiction — Invoked by Probable Cause in Leave to File Information — Res Judicata After Appeal Process: The issue of subject matter jurisdiction cannot be waived or conferred by consent of a party and may be raised at any stage of a judicial proceeding or sua sponte by the court; but if the question of jurisdiction turns upon a finding of whether the affidavit of application for leave to file an information shows probable cause and the defendant has been found guilty and the judgment has not been appealed or has been affirmed on appeal, the issue of probable cause is res judicata. St. v. Davis, 210 M 28, 681 P2d 42, 41 St. Rep. 898 (1984).

Proper Forum Selection: With the plaintiff, the scene of the injury, and most of the witnesses in Idaho, a suit for personal injuries filed in Montana was dismissed by the District Court under the doctrine of forum non conveniens. The Supreme Court reversed, stating that the doctrine must be tempered by an open-door policy and that the doctrine should not presently be applied to Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA) actions. Bevacqua v. Burlington N., Inc., 183 M 237, 598 P2d 1124, 36 St. Rep. 1523 (1979).

Order Absent Jurisdiction Void: An order entered in the absence of jurisdiction is void. In re the Marriage of Schultz v. Schultz, 183 M 20, 597 P2d 1174, 36 St. Rep. 1993 (1979), following State ex rel. Thompson v. District Court, 75 M 147, 242 P 959 (1926).

Forum Non Conveniens Not Applicable in FELA Suits: The doctrine of forum non conveniens is not applicable to a Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA) suit filed in a Montana District Court. There is a strong policy favoring plaintiff's forum selection in FELA cases, and the Montana Constitution states that the courts of justice must be open to all persons. Labella v. Burlington N., Inc., 182 M 202, 595 P2d 1184, 36 St. Rep. 1016 (1979).

Naturalization of Aliens: The District Courts possess concurrent jurisdiction with the federal courts (within the limitations prescribed by act of Congress relating to the subject) to naturalize aliens, and therefore when such power is exercised by them, the proceeding is a judicial and not a political one. Hence the Supreme Court may, on certiorari, review a judgment rendered in such a proceeding. State ex rel. Weisz v. District Court, 61 M 427, 202 P 387 (1921).

ORIGINAL CIVIL JURISDICTION

Guidelines for Determining Whether Indian Tribe Has Waived Sovereign Immunity in Contract — Inapplicability of Statute of Frauds to Question of Subject Matter Jurisdiction: Plaintiff contended that he signed a 7-year contract with the Crow Tribe to provide consulting services and to act as a program manager for the planning and construction of a power plant on tribal property and that the tribe breached the contract and failed to pay him. The tribe moved to dismiss on grounds that the District Court lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction because of the tribe's sovereign immunity. The District Court denied the motion but reserved the right to readdress the issue of subject matter jurisdiction. Following further discovery, neither party could produce a signed copy of the alleged contract. The District Court concluded that because the alleged contract was for employment for more than 1 year, the statute of frauds applied and noted that although plaintiff's performance would normally create an exception to the statute of frauds pursuant to the court's equitable powers, to exercise that power in this case would circumvent the tribe's sovereign immunity in contravention of federal law. The District Court further concluded that although there was an express agreement that was partially performed and that the agreement contained a waiver of tribal immunity from suit in state court, as indicated by affidavits submitted by plaintiff and the tribal presiding officer, because of the fact that a signed copy of the contract was not produced, there was insufficient evidence to overcome the presumption against waiver of tribal immunity, so the action was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Plaintiff appealed, and the Supreme Court reversed. The Montana statute of frauds in 28-2-903 limits the enforceability of certain contracts but does not affect a District Court's subject matter jurisdiction, so a District Court need not consider the statute of frauds when determining subject matter jurisdiction; furthermore, the court does not need to invoke its equitable powers to find jurisdiction. Rather, the question facing the District Court was whether the tribe clearly and unequivocally waived its sovereign immunity. The Supreme Court found that plaintiff's complaint alleged sufficient facts that, if true, would vest the District Court with subject matter jurisdiction. The tribe produced no evidence to refute the affidavits or to controvert the recollections of the affiants. Absent any factual issue to resolve, the Supreme Court concluded that plaintiff presented undisputed evidence proving the establishment of a contract that included an unequivocal waiver of sovereign immunity, so dismissal of the complaint by the District Court on jurisdictional grounds constituted reversible error. Bradley v. Crow Tribe of Indians, 2003 MT 82, 315 M 75, 67 P3d 306 (2003).

Venue Versus Jurisdiction — Failure to Move for Change of Venue at Initial Appearance Constituting Waiver of Right to Later Object to Venue: A mother filed in District Court in Judith Basin County for review of a child support modification consent order by the Department of Public Health and Human Services Child Support Enforcement Division (CSED) reducing the father's child support obligation. CSED moved for dismissal, claiming that the mother had failed to exhaust her administrative remedies. The District Court granted the motion based on lack of jurisdiction, concluding that the petition should have been filed in a different county. The mother appealed, contending that the court confused the concepts of venue and jurisdiction and contending that dismissal of the petition for lack of jurisdiction was erroneous as a matter of law. The Supreme Court agreed and reversed. The District Court's interpretation of 2-4-702 as a requirement that a petition for judicial review must be filed in the correct venue for the court to obtain jurisdiction was incorrect as a matter of law. Jurisdiction is a court's authority to hear and determine a case that goes to the power of the court and cannot be waived or conferred by consent of the parties when there is no basis for jurisdiction under the law, while venue refers to the place where a case is to be heard or where the power of the court is to be exercised and is a personal privilege of defendant that may be waived and that is considered waived pursuant to Rule 12(b), M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20), unless a motion to change venue is made at defendant's initial appearance. Thus, the mother's petition for judicial review vested the Judith Basin County District Court with jurisdiction under 2-4-702. Whether venue was proper in the county where the petition was filed was an entirely different issue. Section 2-4-702 also sets forth the proper place where a contested administrative decision can be heard, providing that the petition must be filed in the District Court for the county where the petitioner resides or has a principal place of business or where the agency maintains its principal office. Upon proper motion, the matter should have been transferred to the proper county, but CSED failed to move for a change of venue at the initial appearance, thereby waiving its right to later object to venue, opting instead to move to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction. Therefore, Judith Basin County was a proper place for trial absent agreement by the parties to transfer venue. In re Support Obligation of McGurran, 2002 MT 144, 310 M 268, 49 P3d 626 (2002).

Failure to Remove Reference in Referendum — Substantive Defect: A legislative referendum purported to eliminate the Office of Secretary of State but failed to address a provision in the constitution assigning a duty to the Secretary of State or to designate who would assume that duty. Although judicial intervention in referenda or initiatives prior to an election is not encouraged, the Supreme Court exercised its statutory prerogative of judicial review and held that the omission was a substantive defect, not a defect of form. If passed, the referendum would have left a defect in the constitution that could not be remedied except by another election. The Secretary of State was thus properly enjoined from presenting the referendum to electors. Cobb v. St., 278 M 307, 924 P2d 268, 53 St. Rep. 920 (1996).

Taxpayer Properly Held in Contempt for Refusal to File Income Tax Returns — Privilege Against Self-Incrimination No Defense: Gillispie failed to file an income tax return for 4 years. The District Court ordered her to file the returns or to show cause why she should not be required to file them. At the hearing, the Department of Revenue introduced Gillispie's W-2 forms, which showed that she had made the minimum income necessary to require her to file returns. The District Court ordered her to file the returns or be found in contempt. When Gillispie failed to file the returns, the District Court held her in contempt, and Gillispie filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court held that the District Court had jurisdiction to order Gillispie to file the returns and jurisdiction to hold Gillispie in contempt and that the District Court also had sufficient evidence to do so. The Supreme Court also held that Gillispie's privilege against self-incrimination does not justify the outright refusal to file a return and cannot be used as a method of evading payment of lawful taxes. The Supreme Court held that she must demonstrate the specific parts of the returns that would result in self-incrimination. Gillispie v. Sherlock, 279 M 21, 929 P2d 199, 53 St. Rep. 507 (1996).

Civil Action by Indians Against Non-Indians — Jurisdiction Upheld: Lamberts, enrolled members of the Fort Peck Tribe, sued Ryozik and others who were Canadian citizens for injuries sustained in an automobile accident that occurred within the exterior boundaries of the Fort Peck Indian Reservation. The District Court dismissed the action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Citing Emerson v. Boyd, 247 M 241, 805 P2d 587 (1990), and using the three-part test applied in Iron Bear v. District Court, 162 M 335, 512 P2d 1292 (1973), the Supreme Court held that there was no threat to tribal sovereignty posed by Indian citizens of Montana seeking to invoke the jurisdiction of the District Court as plaintiffs in an action against non-Indians for injuries sustained on a reservation. The Supreme Court noted that the use of the courts is guaranteed to all state citizens under Art. II, sec. 16, of the Montana Constitution. A failure to recognize that right would constitute a denial of due process guaranteed by Art. II, sec. 17, of the Montana Constitution and a denial of equal protection guaranteed by Art. II, sec. 4, of the Montana Constitution. Lambert v. Ryozik, 268 M 219, 886 P2d 378, 51 St. Rep. 1250 (1994).

No State Jurisdiction of Indian Reservation Commercial Transactions — Preemption by Tribal Jurisdiction: A state District Court did not have primary subject matter jurisdiction over a civil debt action arising out of a commercial transaction on an Indian reservation and brought by a non-Indian creditor against an enrolled tribal member debtor, both of whom resided on the reservation. State assumption of such jurisdiction interfered with tribal sovereignty and the tribe's right of self-government. Therefore, the state court's jurisdiction over the commercial transaction was preempted by tribal jurisdiction. Geiger v. Pierce, 233 M 18, 758 P2d 279, 45 St. Rep. 1257 (1988), followed in Balyeat Law, PC v. Pettit, 1998 MT 252, 291 M 196, 967 P2d 398, 55 St. Rep. 1038 (1998) (the state has no jurisdiction over an action to collect a debt for medical bills arising out of transactions, either on or off the reservation, brought by a non-Indian creditor against an enrolled tribal member residing on a reservation whose spouse incurred the debt but who engaged in no significant off-reservation contacts so as to subject herself to state jurisdiction).

Civil Controversy Between Indian and Non-Indian — No Jurisdiction: In a civil dispute between a non-Indian and an enrolled member of the Fort Peck Sioux and Assiniboine Tribes, arising within the boundaries of the reservation, the District Court's exercise of jurisdiction interferes with tribal sovereignty and the right to self-government of the tribes. Subject matter jurisdiction over civil litigation between Indians and non-Indians arising out of conduct on an Indian reservation is governed by the three-part test of State ex rel. Iron Bear v. District Court, 162 M 335, 512 P2d 1292 (1973). Under that test, before a District Court can assume jurisdiction in any matter submitted to it, it must determine subject matter jurisdiction by considering: (1) whether the applicable federal treaties and statutes have preempted state jurisdiction; (2) whether the exercise of state jurisdiction would interfere with tribal self-government; and (3) whether the tribal court is currently exercising jurisdiction or has exercised jurisdiction in such a manner as to preempt state jurisdiction. The first and second elements are disjunctive; if either is present, as in the present case, the state lacks subject matter jurisdiction. Milbank Mut. Ins. Co. v. Eagleman, 218 M 58, 705 P2d 1117, 42 St. Rep. 1393 (1985). See also Emerson v. Boyd, 247 M 241, 805 P2d 587, 48 St. Rep. 180 (1991), distinguished in Lambert v. Ryozik, 268 M 219, 886 P2d 378, 51 St. Rep. 1250 (1994).

Probate Court's Jurisdiction Over Title to Real Property: Weeks after executing a will identical to her husband's, leaving their property to each other or to the husband's heirs, the decedent executed a new will naming a personal representative of her estate and giving him full power of attorney. Shortly before decedent's death, her personal representative transferred part of decedent's real property to her heirs. Husband's conservator sought to set aside the conveyances and remove decedent's personal representative. The District Court denied conservator's motion for summary judgment and determined that while sitting in probate, it lacked the requisite jurisdiction to determine title to real property. The Supreme Court affirmed. In Montana, title to real property, whether determined incidentally or intentionally, must be resolved in proper proceedings instituted for that purpose. In re Estate of Thomas, 216 M 87, 699 P2d 1046, 42 St. Rep. 662 (1985).

Title to and Public Use of Dearborn River — Subject Matter Jurisdiction Found: Landowner along the Dearborn River claimed the District Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction over action for determination of the public's right to use the river, basing his claim on the presumption that he held title to the riverbed and that the State had no power to strip him of that title under the guise of determining navigability of the waters over the riverbed. The claim lacked merit because the State holds title to the riverbed and the water flowing over it, so that there was no question of the District Court's subject matter jurisdiction. Mont. Coalition for Stream Access, Inc. v. Curran, 210 M 38, 682 P2d 163, 41 St. Rep. 906 (1984).

Probate Court's Jurisdiction Over Wrongful Death Action in Another District: Estate was being probated in one District Court, and personal representative's wrongful death action was being considered in another district. The probate court exceeded its jurisdiction when it assumed jurisdiction over the settlement of the wrongful death action, approved it, and ordered dismissal of the action. The Supreme Court stated that whether the proceeds of the settlement or award in the wrongful death action belonged to the estate or to the heirs was pertinent to the issue of the probate court's jurisdiction over the wrongful death action and that the probate court had jurisdiction only if the proceeds belonged to the estate. The Supreme Court did not appear to definitively decide the underlying issue, though it leaned toward the traditional rule that the proceeds belong to the heirs, are personal to them, and constitute no part of the estate. The court stated that it was for the Legislature to decide whether a District Court acting as a probate court should have some jurisdiction over a wrongful death claim filed in another District Court. In re Pegg's Estate, 209 M 71, 680 P2d 316, 41 St. Rep. 558 (1984).

Jurisdiction of State Court Over Nonresident Federally Chartered Bank — Sufficiency of Evidence — Denial of Due Process and Equal Protection: Officers of the plaintiff corporation traveled to Reno, Nevada, to deposit money in the defendant branch bank in anticipation of business in Nevada and later brought an action in a Montana District Court against the defendant for unlawful dishonor of a check and associated charges. The District Court did not err in dismissing the action for lack of jurisdiction. Under the provisions of 12 U.S.C. §94, a federally chartered bank may be sued, among other places, where it is "located". The U.S. Supreme Court in Citizens & S. Nat'l Bank v. Bougas, 434 US 35, 54 L Ed 2d 218, 98 S Ct 88 (1977), construed the term "located" to mean wherever branch offices are found. Because there is no branch bank in Montana and there has been no business operation conducted by the defendant in Montana that would constitute a waiver of the protection of federal law, the District Court had no jurisdiction. There was, moreover, sufficient evidence before the District Court for it to make the determination that there was no voluntary waiver, and the U.S. Supreme Court has held in Mercantile Nat'l Bank at Dallas v. Langdeau, 371 US 555, 9 L Ed 2d 523, 83 S Ct 520 (1963), that Congress "unquestionably" has the authority to determine those situations in which national banks can be sued. Hamelly Int'l, Inc. v. First Nat'l Bank of Nev., 199 M 221, 648 P2d 282, 39 St. Rep. 1304 (1982).

Comity — Jurisdiction Declined: Wyoming residents were divorced under a Wyoming divorce decree which provided that disagreements between the parties arising out of any transaction relating to the decree were to be submitted to the Wyoming District Court for resolution. A disagreement arose in connection with the parties' interests in property located in Montana. Husband filed suit in Montana, and wife sought a ruling that the Montana court lacked jurisdiction and that the Wyoming court was the proper forum. The Montana District Court properly decided that it should decline to exercise jurisdiction on the basis of the doctrine of comity, though it did have jurisdiction. Application of the comity doctrine did not contravene the public policy of Montana or the open court policy mandated by the Montana Constitution. Kane v. Kane, 198 M 335, 646 P2d 505, 39 St. Rep. 1036 (1982).

District Court Jurisdiction Over Probate of and Claim and Delivery Action by Estate of Enrolled Tribal Indian: Where, following the death of an enrolled member of an Indian tribe, the decedent's wife petitioned the District Court to probate her deceased husband's estate, and estate property consisting of a road grader was later unlawfully sold by the deceased's wife to her brother, the District Court erred in holding that it did not have jurisdiction over the claim and delivery action instituted on behalf of the estate to recover the road grader or its value. The fact that there is no federal treaty or statute preempting the jurisdiction of the District Court and the fact that the tribal court has not and is not exercising jurisdiction over the case properly resulted in the District Court taking jurisdiction of the probate of the estate. Because the action for claim and delivery in the enforcement process to recover property within the jurisdiction of the probate court, the District Court should have exercised subject matter jurisdiction over the claim and delivery action as well. Estate of Standing Bear v. Belcourt, 193 M 174, 631 P2d 285, 38 St. Rep. 1064 (1981).

Crow Tribal Court — Exclusive Jurisdiction Over Divorces: The Crow Tribal Court exercises exclusive jurisdiction over divorce actions between tribal members living on the reservation by virtue of the duly enacted Crow Tribal Code. State ex rel. Stewart v. District Court, 187 M 209, 609 P2d 290, 37 St. Rep. 635 (1980). See also In re Marriage of Skillen, 1998 MT 43, 287 M 399, 956 P2d 1, 55 St. Rep. 147 (1998).

Jurisdiction and Federal Bankruptcy Decrees: The court has jurisdiction over a plenary proceeding by a trustee in bankruptcy. While the court must clearly enforce the terms of a bankruptcy reorganization plan, it cannot refuse to entertain defenses or related counterclaims arising out of events occurring after confirmation of the bankruptcy plan. Double X Ranch v. Savage Bros., 167 M 231, 536 P2d 1176 (1975).

Probate Powers Over Heirship Proceedings: Heirship proceedings are committed to the District Courts with all the power, authority, and jurisdiction made inherent in such courts by the Montana Constitution and affirmed by this section. In re Baxter's Estate, 101 M 504, 54 P2d 869 (1936).

Probate Court Status Under 1889 Constitution: The District Court sitting in probate is not the probate court of territorial days and therefore not an inferior court but is a court of record exercising the general jurisdiction granted it by the Montana Constitution adopted in 1889, the limitation placed upon its jurisdiction by statute relative to the exercise of its probate powers not affecting its character as a court of general jurisdiction. Thelen v. Vogel, 86 M 33, 281 P 753 (1929), explained in In re Baxter's Estate, 101 M 504, 54 P2d 869 (1936).

FELONIES

District Court Jurisdiction to Apply Persistent Felony Offender Designation to Felony DUI: Yorek pleaded guilty to and was sentenced on a felony DUI charge. The District Court determined that it had jurisdiction and imposed a persistent felony offender designation. Yorek sought postconviction relief on grounds that the District Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to impose a persistent felony offender designation for felony DUI. The District Court denied the petition for postconviction relief, concluding that sentencing for felony DUI is not solely governed by 61-8-731 and 61-8-734, that nothing in the persistent felony offender statute excludes felony DUI offenders from its application, and that Yorek waived any jurisdiction claim by pleading guilty. The Supreme Court affirmed. Nothing in 46-18-502 distinguishes between or among the types of felonies to which it applies, or excludes DUI offenders. Rather, if the underlying charge meets the definition of a felony and if the state has provided proper notice of its intent to seek persistent felony offender status under 46-13-108, a District Court has the statutory authority to designate and sentence an offender as a persistent felony offender. Yorek's crime met the definition of a felony, and Yorek fell squarely within the persistent felony offender statute. The state met the notice provisions, and the District Court possessed subject matter jurisdiction to designate Yorek as a persistent felony offender. Because the jurisdiction question was dispositive, the Supreme Court did not reach the question of whether Yorek's guilty plea was a procedural bar against bringing the claim. St. v. Yorek, 2002 MT 74, 309 M 238, 45 P3d 872 (2002), followed in St. v. Pettijohn, 2002 MT 75, 309 M 244, 45 P3d 870 (2002).

Permissive Joinder — Not Grant of Jurisdiction: Relator was charged with misdemeanor assault and burglary (a felony). Relator contends that the District Court had no jurisdiction to try him for a misdemeanor. Section 46-11-404 allows an information to charge two or more offenses connected in their commission. This section is a permissive joinder statute for offenses within the jurisdiction of a given court, not a grant of jurisdiction. Jurisdiction for the misdemeanor assault lies with the Justice's Court. State ex rel. Rasmussen v. District Court, 189 M 183, 615 P2d 231, 37 St. Rep. 1498 (1980). (In 1981 this section was amended to give the District Court jurisdiction in such instances.)

ORIGINAL MISDEMEANOR JURISDICTION

Appeal of Guilty Plea in Justice's or City Court: From the standpoint of reason, justice, and public policy, an appeal of a guilty plea in Justice's Court or City Court may be tried anew in District Court provided it is properly perfected. However, this holding does not give the District Court original jurisdiction of a DUI case in violation of 3-5-302. St. v. Waymire, 226 M 406, 736 P2d 106, 44 St. Rep. 759 (1987).

Criminal Contempt and Contempt of Court Distinguished — District Court Without Jurisdiction to Try Criminal Contempt: Criminal contempt, a misdemeanor crime defined in 45-7-309, is an offense against society prosecuted by the state, whereas contempt of court is a judicial power arising out of Art. VII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., and Title 3 that allows a court to enforce its own judgments and maintain decorum in its proceedings. Thus, while only the District Court could have found the defendant in contempt of court for failure to pay a fine from a criminal proceeding of that court, it lacked jurisdiction to try a misdemeanor criminal contempt action for failure to pay the fine because criminal contempt, like most other misdemeanors, must be brought in Justice's Court. St. v. Abrams, 209 M 508, 680 P2d 585, 41 St. Rep. 871 (1984).

Justice's Court as Having Jurisdiction Despite Associated Felony Violation: A District Court did not have jurisdiction (prior to the 1981 amendment of this section) to try a misdemeanor offense of endangering the welfare of children, proscribed in 45-5-622, even though this offense was committed together with a felony offense. Section 46-11-404, which states that an information may charge two or more different offenses connected together in their commission, is not a grant of jurisdiction but is simply a permissive joinder statute for offenses within the jurisdiction of a given court. Under 3-5-302 and 3-10-303, providing that the District Court has original jurisdiction in all felony criminal cases and "cases of misdemeanor not otherwise provided for", the Justice's Court has jurisdiction over the misdemeanor offense of endangering the welfare of children. St. v. Campbell, 191 M 75, 622 P2d 200, 38 St. Rep. 19 (1981).

District Court Jurisdiction Over DWI Charge: Jurisdiction of the District Court over criminal matters depends on the maximum sentence that can be imposed for committing the crime (except for misdemeanors under subsection (2), inserted in 1981). When the maximum sentence increases to give the District Court jurisdiction because of repeated DWI offenses, proof of prior offenses does not become an element that must be proved at trial and can be proved at any time until sentencing. Thus, failure to introduce evidence of prior convictions at trial does not deprive the District Court of jurisdiction. St. v. Campbell, 189 M 107, 615 P2d 190, 37 St. Rep. 1337 (1980).

Aggregation of Jurisdictional Amounts: Where there are several causes of action, each for less than the jurisdictional minimum for the court, they may be prosecuted in the District Court where their aggregate exceeds the jurisdictional minimum. Stokke v. Graham, 129 M 96, 281 P2d 1025 (1955). See, however, the concurring opinions.

CONCURRENT MISDEMEANOR JURISDICTION

Trespass Charge Properly in Justice's Court — Motion to Dismiss and Writ for Review Denied: Shiplet was charged in Justice's Court with criminal misdemeanor trespass. He moved to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction, claiming that subsequent to the filing of the charge, he filed a civil action in District Court seeking to enjoin the people claiming trespass from interfering with his purported ditch easement. Shiplet argued that the District Court, as opposed to the Justice's Court, was a better forum to determine whether he was legally exercising his ditch rights because it had jurisidiction over his civil suit and concurrent jurisdiction over the trespass charge. Shiplet's motion was denied, and his District Court petition for writ of review was denied. The Supreme Court stated that a writ of review can be granted only if the petitioner establishes both that: (1) the Justice's Court exceeded its jurisdiction; and (2) there is no appeal or there is no plain, speedy, and adequate remedy. The Supreme Court held that Shiplet could not meet the two-pronged test because a Justice's Court clearly has jurisdiction over a misdemeanor trespass charge and that he had the right to appeal a Justice's Court decision. The Supreme Court also stated that the District Court did not have concurrent jurisdiction over the criminal charge under the requirements for concurrent jurisdiction delineated in this section. Shiplet v. Egeland, 2001 MT 21, 304 M 141, 18 P3d 1001 (2001).

Criminal Contempt and Contempt of Court Distinguished — District Court Without Jurisdiction to Try Criminal Contempt: Criminal contempt, a misdemeanor crime defined in 45-7-309, is an offense against society prosecuted by the state, whereas contempt of court is a judicial power arising out of Art. VII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., and Title 3 that allows a court to enforce its own judgments and maintain decorum in its proceedings. Thus, while only the District Court could have found the defendant in contempt of court for failure to pay a fine from a criminal proceeding of that court, it lacked jurisdiction to try a misdemeanor criminal contempt action for failure to pay the fine because criminal contempt, like most other misdemeanors, must be brought in Justice's Court. St. v. Abrams, 209 M 508, 680 P2d 585, 41 St. Rep. 871 (1984).

EQUITY

Remand of Issue of Legality of Retroactive Designation of Funds as Business Loan: In an action concerning the sale of business property owned by tenants-in-common, the trial court, acting in equity, awarded each owner a portion of the sale proceeds in proportion to his initial capital investment. The issue of division of the sale proceeds was remanded to the court to make specific findings concerning the designation of certain advancements to the business as loans. Felska v. Goulding, 238 M 224, 776 P2d 530, 46 St. Rep. 1222 (1989).

Holdover Tenants Not Entitled to Restitution: Holdover tenants on agricultural land sought restitution for planting and harvesting costs under a theory of unjust enrichment when their lessors foreclosed on the property. The tenants were not holding over in good faith under color of title and had no right to remain on the property during the time for which they sought restitution. Because they did not come to court with clean hands, the tenants clearly were not entitled to restitution. Ruegsegger v. Welborn, 237 M 317, 773 P2d 305, 46 St. Rep. 833 (1989).

Equitable Power to Order Construction of Cattle Guard: Landowners who desired to use their property for cattle grazing were enjoined from maintaining a fence that unreasonably interfered with their neighbors' ingress and egress to the neighbors' property pursuant to a general easement right granted to the neighbors. The portion of the injunction order that allows the landowners to install a cattle guard at their own expense does not pose an additional burden upon the landowners not contemplated in the original easement. The court sitting in equity is empowered to determine the questions involved in the case and to do complete justice. Strahan v. Bush, 237 M 265, 773 P2d 718, 46 St. Rep. 789 (1989).

All Parties in Equity Court Entitled to Have Their Legal Claims and Counterclaims Tried by Jury: Although, in the past, the court has purported to permit a court of equity to rule on all questions in a case, the court has never held that a court sitting in equity may try those issues of fact raised by plaintiff in a legal cause of action. The modern merger of law and equity courts and the liberal joinder provisions of the Rules of Civil Procedure force reevaluation of the traditional justification for permitting an equity court to decide legal issues. Upon timely demand, all parties are entitled to have their legal claims and counterclaims tried by jury. Gray v. Billings, 213 M 6, 689 P2d 268, 41 St. Rep. 1910 (1984). (To the extent that Butler Bros. Dev. Co. v. Butler, 111 M 329, 108 P2d 1041 (1941), and its progeny have been interpreted to deny plaintiff a right to jury trial of his legal claims, the cases are overruled.)

WRITS AND SPECIAL ACTIONS

District Court Without Authority to Issue Writ of Supervisory Control to City Court: Maloney was convicted in City Court of speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol. Maloney appealed his conviction de novo for a trial in District Court and, at the same time, filed a petition for a writ of review, mandamus, and supervisory control, asking the District Court to direct the City Court to dismiss the charges. The District Court denied the petition. The Supreme Court held that the District Court had no authority to issue a writ of supervisory control to a City Court. Maloney v. Gordon, 254 M 314, 837 P2d 1341, 49 St. Rep. 834 (1992).

Mandamus Against Those Determining Qualifications of Public Contract Bidders: The Department of Administration and Board of Examiners, in determining whether bidders for the construction of a public building are qualified and will perform the contract in conformity with the specifications and terms of the solicitation for bids, as required by 18-2-103, are acting in a discretionary manner, and mandamus may not be used to control their discretion. Martel Constr., Inc. v. Bd. of Examiners, 205 M 332, 668 P2d 222, 40 St. Rep. 1340 (1983).

Certiorari:

Where one adjudged guilty of contempt in a proceeding before a Justice of the Peace sought relief by Writ of Certiorari in the District Court where a peremptory writ was denied, the proper means of securing relief from the Supreme Court was by appeal and not by certiorari. State ex rel. Mercer v. District Court, 115 M 385, 145 P2d 527 (1943).

While the statutes relating to the Writ of Certiorari make no provision as to the limitation of time within which proceeding must be brought, the limitation of 5 years provided by section 93-2613, R.C.M. 1947 (now 27-2-231), in an "action" not otherwise provided for, is controlling under section 93-2720, R.C.M. 1947 (now 70-19-101), including special proceedings of a civil nature. Shaffroth v. Lamere, 104 M 175, 65 P2d 610 (1937), overruled in Jones v. District Court, 2001 MT 276, 307 M 305, 37 P3d 682 (2001), to the extent that Shaffroth holds that the general 5-year statute of limitations in 27-2-231 applies to all writs of review authorized in 27-25-102 because pursuant to Rule 5, M.R.App.P. (Title 25, ch. 21), a petition for a writ of certiorari to review contempt proceedings must be filed with the Clerk of the District Court within 30 days of the date on which the District Court enters the contempt finding, unless the state is a party, in which case the petition must be filed within 60 days of the date on which the District Court enters the contempt finding.

Out-of-Time Appeal in Criminal Matters — Exclusive Jurisdiction With Supreme Court: Under 46-20-101, the only method for review in criminal cases is by notice of appeal. Time limits for filing an appeal are mandatory and jurisdictional. If a defendant takes no action to perfect an appeal within 90 days of judgment, the District Court loses its jurisdiction and the appeal is out-of-time. However, an out-of-time appeal is a remedy that may be available to a criminal defendant who, through no fault of the defendant, misses a deadline for filing an appeal. Although Rule 21(b), M.R.App.P. (Title 25, ch. 21), precludes an out-of-time appeal in a civil case, the Supreme Court is not precluded from addressing a motion for an out-of-time appeal in a criminal case. Further, a District Court lacks jurisdiction to grant an out-of-time appeal. The Supreme Court has exclusive jurisdiction to grant a motion for an out-of-time appeal, and the motion is considered an original proceeding subject to the provisions of Rule 17, M.R.App.P. Upon a showing that the failure to timely notice a criminal appeal was excusable under the circumstances, the Supreme Court may conclude that an out-of-time appeal is the appropriate remedy pursuant to Rule 21(b), M.R.App.P. In that event, the matter will be remanded to the District Court with instructions to vacate and reenter judgment to afford the defendant a second opportunity to act within the statutory timeframes for filing notice of appeal. St. v. Tweed, 2002 MT 286, 312 M 482, 59 P3d 1105 (2002).

Authority of Municipal Court to Commit Mentally Incapacitated Defendant: A plain reading of 3-6-104 provides that Municipal Courts have all powers and duties of District Courts over matters within their jurisdiction, including the power and duty to commit mentally incapacitated criminal defendants to the Department of Public Health and Human Services, pursuant to the procedures and requirements of Title 46, if the Municipal Court determines that the defendant suffers from a mental disease or defect and lacks the fitness to proceed to trial. If there is any question regarding a Municipal Court's commitment of a criminal defendant, the issue may be appealed to the District Court pursuant to this section. Great Falls v. Dept. of Public Health and Human Services, 2002 MT 108, 309 M 467, 47 P3d 836 (2002).

No Authority to Appeal Justice's Court Order Denying Motion to Withdraw Guilty Plea: The Feights got into a fight with a highway patrol officer at a high school basketball game and were charged with misdemeanor assault. They were informed of their rights in Justice's Court, waived their right to counsel, and pleaded guilty. More than a month later, they moved through counsel to withdraw their guilty pleas, claiming good cause under 46-16-105. The Justice's Court denied the motion, holding that the Feights had been given due process and had voluntarily, knowingly, and willingly entered guilty pleas. The Feights appealed the denial of their motion to withdraw their guilty pleas to District Court. The state moved to dismiss the appeal, contending that the District Court lacked jurisdiction to review denial of the motion to withdraw a plea. The District Court dismissed the appeal but remanded to Justice's Court with a recommendation that the Feights be allowed to withdraw their pleas. Instead, the Justice's Court reinstated judgment, and the Feights appealed to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court affirmed. The statutes that provide for and determine the jurisdiction of a District Court to entertain an appeal from a Justice's Court include 46-12-204, 46-17-203, 46-17-311, and this section. However, none of these statutes provide authority for appeal to the District Court from the denial of a motion to withdraw a guilty plea. Further, the specific language of these sections prevails over the general language in 46-20-104 defining the scope of appeal by a criminal defendant. The Legislature has not created a statutory right of appeal from a Justice's Court denial of a motion to withdraw a guilty plea, and the Supreme Court refrained from creating one. St. v. Feight, 2001 MT 205, 306 M 312, 33 P3d 623 (2001), distinguishing St. v. Rogers, 267 M 190, 883 P2d 115 (1994), and followed in St. v. Fox, 2001 MT 209, 306 M 353, 34 P3d 484 (2001).

City Not Liable for City Judge's Civil Rights Violations — City Judge Acts Under State Authority: Claims of the indigent defendants, who were not effectively informed by a City Judge of their right to appointed counsel, were properly dismissed. Under Montana law, a City Judge's acts and decision in advising defendants of the right were performed under the state's authority rather than the city's authority, thereby precluding imposition of civil rights liability on the city. Further, the indigent defendants did not have standing to seek declaratory and injunctive relief. There are other remedies for indigent defendants in future situations—they can file a complaint with the state body charged with overseeing judicial conduct, they can appeal their convictions to a higher court, and they can sue a judge individually because a judge does not enjoy judicial immunity for unconstitutional behavior when the facts are sufficient to grant declaratory or injunctive relief. Eggar v. Livingston, 40 F3d 312 (9th Cir. 1994).

Retrial of Unconvicted Offense Prohibited — Dismissal of Conviction for Uncharged Offense Affirmed: Barker was charged with DUI but was convicted of reckless driving by the Ravalli County Justice of the Peace. Barker appealed to the District Court and filed a motion to dismiss, which the District Court granted. On appeal by the state, the Supreme Court affirmed, holding that the reckless driving charge and the DUI charge were inapposite charges and that reckless driving was not a lesser included offense of DUI. The Supreme Court also held that while a defendant's statutory remedy for appealing a Justice's Court decision is a trial de novo in the District Court, it would be a violation of the prohibition against double jeopardy to try Barker again on the DUI charge because Barker was originally charged with that offense and jeopardy had attached when the first witness was sworn. When Barker appealed from the erroneous conviction of an uncharged offense, he did not waive his constitutional protection against double jeopardy for charges of which he was acquitted. St. v. Barker, 260 M 85, 858 P2d 360, 50 St. Rep. 970 (1993).

Order Absent Jurisdiction Void: An order entered in the absence of jurisdiction is void. In re the Marriage of Schultz v. Schultz, 183 M 20, 597 P2d 1174, 36 St. Rep. 1993 (1979), following State ex rel. Thompson v. District Court, 75 M 147, 242 P 959 (1926).

Incomplete Appeal: Where an appeal from a Justice's Court was never perfected, that court had exclusive jurisdiction of the cause and nothing done by the District Court therein could affect the judgment rendered by the Justice, and dismissal of the attempted appeal was correct. Sale of Automobile Franchise — Error in Failure to Resolve Mootness as Threshold Issue Before Underlying Dispute Addressed: Ford Motor Company (Ford) notified franchisee Shamrock Motors (Shamrock) that it intended to terminate Shamrock's automobile dealer franchise because Shamrock had sold 80% of its stock without Ford's knowledge or consent, which violated their franchise agreement. The Motor Vehicle Division of the Department of Justice issued a ruling that Ford had good cause, so Shamrock filed for judicial review in the District Court. Ford then removed to federal court, where the ruling was reversed, so Ford appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court. Shamrock then sold the dealership, and the decision was vacated because of lack of jurisdiction. The case was remanded to state court, where Ford moved to dismiss for mootness. The District Court denied the motion without discussion and ruled for Shamrock, concluding that the franchise could not be terminated as a result of the sale of 80% of the franchise stock. Reversing on appeal, the Supreme Court cited Adkins v. Livingston, 121 M 528, 194 P2d 238 (1948), in holding that mootness is a threshold issue that must be dealt with before the underlying dispute may be addressed. A matter is moot when, because of an event or happening, the issue has ceased to exist and no longer presents an actual controversy. A question is moot when a court cannot grant effective relief. If the parties cannot be restored to their original position, an appeal becomes moot. When Shamrock chose to sell the franchise during the appellate process, the question of whether Ford had good cause to terminate the franchise in the first instance became academic and thus moot. The District Court erred when it did not resolve the issue of mootness before addressing the merits of the claim, not recognizing that once Shamrock sold the dealership and was no longer the franchisee, there was no effective relief that the court could fashion under Title 61, ch. 4, part 2, so the appeal from the Motor Vehicle Division's ruling should have been dismissed as moot. Shamrock Motors, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co., 1999 MT 21, 293 M 188, 974 P2d 1154, 56 St. Rep. 99 (1999), followed in Shamrock Motors, Inc. v. Abuse of Discretion for Court to Correct Failure to Sentence by Nunc Pro Tunc Order: The District Court failed to sentence Winterrowd, in either open court or by written judgment, on his misdemeanor theft conviction. Four months later, the court issued an order nunc pro tunc, sentencing Winterrowd to 6 months' imprisonment. It is within a District Court's power to enter an order nunc pro tunc modifying or amending a judgment in order to remedy certain types of clerical errors or to make the record reflect what was actually decided. However, in this case, not only was the sentence omitted from the written sentencing order, but the sentence was not even discussed at the sentencing hearing. The Supreme Court reversed and vacated the nunc pro tunc order and sentence. St. v. Winterrowd, 1998 MT 74, 288 M 208, 957 P2d 522, 55 St. Rep. 307 (1998).

District Court Without Authority to Issue Writ of Supervisory Control to City Court: Maloney was convicted in City Court of speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol. Maloney appealed his conviction de novo for a trial in District Court and, at the same time, filed a petition for a writ of review, mandamus, and supervisory control, asking the District Court to direct the City Court to dismiss the charges. The District Court denied the petition. The Supreme Court held that the District Court had no authority to issue a writ of supervisory control to a City Court. Maloney v. Gordon, 254 M 314, 837 P2d 1341, 49 St. Rep. 834 (1992).

Court Not to Change Original Intent of Order: A District Court may correct clerical errors to make the record speak the truth as to what was actually decided, but it may not change what was originally intended. Reinstatement of a dismissed information was impermissible. St. v. Onstad, 234 M 487, 764 P2d 473, 45 St. Rep. 2071 (1988), followed in St. v. District Court, 265 M 445, 877 P2d 1008, 51 St. Rep. 599 (1994).

Award of Attorney Fees by Judge Who Did Not Try Case — No Abuse of Discretion: Parties had 2 months following judgment and prior to a change in jurisdiction to bring the matter of attorney fees before the judge who presided over a lien foreclosure action. Neither side did, and jurisdiction of the action was transferred from the 13th to the 16th Judicial District. Defendant later claimed the new judge abused his discretion by awarding fees in a case he did not try because he could not know all of the circumstances surrounding the foreclosure action. The Supreme Court held that a judge's jurisdiction over a case is a matter of law and that while it is preferable that the presiding trial judge consider the matter of attorney fees, it is not mandatory. Finding no abuse of discretion, judgment was affirmed. Donnes v. Orlando, 221 M 356, 720 P2d 233, 43 St. Rep. 890 (1986).

Error in Sentencing Order — Correction "Nunc Pro Tunc" Two Years Later Upheld: The District Court, as a condition of sentence, ordered defendant to pay certain medical expenses and called the required payment "restitution" in the order. The payment was not restitution, but the court did have statutory authority to require payment. The court's effort to correct nunc pro tunc the original order 2 years after it was entered was proper. The error was clerical in nature. Every court has the inherent right to correct clerical errors. Dahlman v. District Court, 215 M 470, 698 P2d 423, 42 St. Rep. 550 (1985), followed in St. v. Owens, 230 M 135, 748 P2d 473, 45 St. Rep. 89 (1988). See also St. v. Christianson, 1999 MT 156, 295 M 100, 983 P2d 909, 56 St. Rep. 613 (1999).

No Discretion to Issue Probationary Driver's License: A District Court Judge clearly does not have the power to issue a probationary license in a court hearing to determine habitual traffic offender status under 61-11-210. State ex rel. Majerus v. Carter, 214 M 272, 693 P2d 501, 41 St. Rep. 2468 (1984).

Judge's Reappointment to Finish Case Started Before Retirement: That trial Judge retired prior to his issuance of orders in the case at issue did not make the orders void. Under the recent decision in State ex rel. Wilcox & Bradley v. District Court, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984), the trial Judge had authority to perform all functions of an active District Judge, including the issuance of final orders and judgments. In re Pegg's Estate, 209 M 71, 680 P2d 316, 41 St. Rep. 558 (1984). (Annotator's Note: The District Court's records indicate that the Judge retired after beginning work on the case and was reappointed to finish the case.)

Retired Judges Eligible for Assignment for Temporary Service: The term "other judges" in subsection (3) of Art. VII, sec. 6, Mont. Const., includes retired judges. That subsection empowers the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, upon request of a District Judge, to assign retired judges for temporary service to any judicial district or county in Montana. Further, that provision is a constitutional grant of power exclusive of any statutory grant by the Legislature. State ex rel. Wilcox v. District Court, 208 M 351, 678 P2d 209, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984).

Habeas Corpus — No Jurisdiction to Declare Children Dependent and Neglected: In a consolidated proceeding based on a petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus by a natural parent and a petition by a nonparent for guardianship, the court was without jurisdiction to find the children involved dependent and neglected and to enter an order granting custody to the nonparent petitioners. Unless 41-3-401 (renumbered 41-3-422) is followed, the court is without jurisdiction to deprive the parent of custody. In re the Marriage of Schultz v. Schultz, 183 M 20, 597 P2d 1174, 36 St. Rep. 1993 (1979), following Guardianship of Aschenbrenner 182 M 540, 597 P2d 1156 (1979), and Guardianship of Evans, 179 M 438, 587 P2d 372 (1978). However, see also In re L.E.B., 259 M 492, 856 P2d 1382, 50 St. Rep. 895 (1993), in which Aschenbrenner was distinguished in a case brought under adoption proceedings rather than guardianship proceedings.

Absence of Judge From County: When a District Judge was invited to another district to hear and determine an action to quiet title but at chambers in his own county sustained a motion for judgment on the pleadings, the judgment so rendered was made without jurisdiction. Eustance v. Francis, 52 M 295, 157 P 573 (1916).

Temporary Judge: The power of a Judge at chambers to determine any matter left pending in the district into which he has been called ceases when he has returned to his own district. State ex rel. Mannix v. District Court, 51 M 310, 152 P 753 (1915).

Contempt of Court: Where there has been disobedience of an order made at a term of court, the Judge at chambers in vacation has power to punish the same as a contempt. State ex rel. N. Pac. Ry. v. Loud, 24 M 428, 62 P 497 (1900).

Guidelines for Determining Whether Indian Tribe Has Waived Sovereign Immunity in Contract — Inapplicability of Statute of Frauds to Question of Subject Matter Jurisdiction: Plaintiff contended that he signed a 7-year contract with the Crow Tribe to provide consulting services and to act as a program manager for the planning and construction of a power plant on tribal property and that the tribe breached the contract and failed to pay him. The tribe moved to dismiss on grounds that the District Court lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction because of the tribe's sovereign immunity. The District Court denied the motion but reserved the right to readdress the issue of subject matter jurisdiction. Following further discovery, neither party could produce a signed copy of the alleged contract. The District Court concluded that because the alleged contract was for employment for more than 1 year, the statute of frauds applied and noted that although plaintiff's performance would normally create an exception to the statute of frauds pursuant to the court's equitable powers, to exercise that power in this case would circumvent the tribe's sovereign immunity in contravention of federal law. The District Court further concluded that although there was an express agreement that was partially performed and that the agreement contained a waiver of tribal immunity from suit in state court, as indicated by affidavits submitted by plaintiff and the tribal presiding officer, because of the fact that a signed copy of the contract was not produced, there was insufficient evidence to overcome the presumption against waiver of tribal immunity, so the action was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Plaintiff appealed, and the Supreme Court reversed. The Montana statute of frauds in 28-2-903 limits the enforceability of certain contracts but does not affect a District Court's subject matter jurisdiction, so a District Court need not consider the statute of frauds when determining subject matter jurisdiction; furthermore, the court does not need to invoke its equitable powers to find jurisdiction. Rather, the question facing the District Court was whether the tribe clearly and unequivocally waived its sovereign immunity. The Supreme Court found that plaintiff's complaint alleged sufficient facts that, if true, would vest the District Court with subject matter jurisdiction. The tribe produced no evidence to refute the affidavits or to controvert the recollections of the affiants. Absent any factual issue to resolve, the Supreme Court concluded that plaintiff presented undisputed evidence proving the establishment of a contract that included an unequivocal waiver of sovereign immunity, so dismissal of the complaint by the District Court on jurisdictional grounds constituted reversible error. Bradley v. Crow Tribe of Indians, 2003 MT 82, 315 M 75, 67 P3d 306 (2003).

No State Jurisdiction of Indian Reservation Commercial Transactions — Preemption by Tribal Jurisdiction: A state District Court did not have primary subject matter jurisdiction over a civil debt action arising out of a commercial transaction on an Indian reservation and brought by a non-Indian creditor against an enrolled tribal member debtor, both of whom resided on the reservation. State assumption of such jurisdiction interfered with tribal sovereignty and the tribe's right of self-government. Therefore, the state court's jurisdiction over the commercial transaction was preempted by tribal jurisdiction. Geiger v. Pierce, 233 M 18, 758 P2d 279, 45 St. Rep. 1257 (1988), followed in Balyeat Law, PC v. Pettit, 1998 MT 252, 291 M 196, 967 P2d 398, 55 St. Rep. 1038 (1998) (the state has no jurisdiction over an action to collect a debt for medical bills arising out of transactions, either on or off the reservation, brought by a non-Indian creditor against an enrolled tribal member residing on a reservation whose spouse incurred the debt but who engaged in no significant off-reservation contacts so as to subject herself to state jurisdiction).

Jurisdiction to Issue Investigative Subpoenas: The plain language of 46-4-301 vests every District Court Judge with the power to issue investigative subpoenas with no jurisdictional limitation. There simply is no requirement, explicit or implicit, that the subpoena be issued by the sitting judge of the district where the crime allegedly occurred. The venue statutes have no application to the jurisdictions of any District Court to issue such subpoenas, which jurisdiction is coextensive with the state boundaries. St. v. Holmes, 212 M 526, 687 P2d 662, 41 St. Rep. 1535 (1984).

Actions by Judge Not Assigned:

Where judge of the second department assumed jurisdiction of a divorce suit, even though under the rules it was properly assignable to the first department, it was beyond the power of the judge of the first department to interfere in any way and proceedings wherein he set aside the divorce were void. Nature of Departments: Where the District Court is divided into departments, the court presided over by each of the Judges is the District Court and not a departmental court; neither department is a court of concurrent jurisdiction to the other, and in the absence of rules either judge has full authority to proceed in any matter properly before the court. Order Signed During Judge's Term of Office, but Not Filed Until After Expiration of Judge's Term, Considered Binding: One day before the expiration of her legal term of office, a District Court Judge signed an order affirming an administrative decision in a labor dispute, but the order was not filed until 3 days after the judge's term of office expired. The judge's successor struck the order and directed further proceedings. The union then petitioned the Supreme Court for supervisory control, contending that striking the original order was a mistake of law. The Supreme Court agreed, applying Plumb v. District Court, 279 M 363, 927 P2d 1011 (1996), and accepted supervisory control because of the absence of a plain, speedy, or adequate remedy at law. The court noted that states generally recognize that judgments undergo three phases of final development, including rendition, reduction to writing, and entry, but that states vary in their determination of the stage at which a judgment binds the parties before the court. The court determined that the case most directly on point to the facts in the present case was Cirro Wrecking Co. v. Roppolo, 605 NE 2d 544 (Ill. 1992). The filing of the District Court's order was merely a ministerial function performed by the Clerk of the District Court. The judgment was otherwise properly rendered during the pendency of the judge's term and was binding on the parties at that point, even though it was entered by the clerk after the judge's vacation of office.

Further, for purposes of commencing time periods, judgments continue to take effect from the date on which they are filed with the clerk, so that a fixed date is established and known to the parties. Int'l Ass'n of Firefighters, Local No. 8 v. District Court, 2002 MT 17, 308 M 183, 40 P3d 396 (2002).

Retention of Passport Execution Fees by Clerk of District Court: Because the execution of passport applications is not an official duty imposed upon a Clerk of District Court by state statute and since the Legislature has not enacted a specific statute with regard to the disposition of execution fees, the Clerk has no duty to remit the fees to the county general fund. Case Notes

Full-Time District Court Reporters Subject to Statutory Workweek Requirement — Recordkeeping Required — Designation of Court Reporter's "Workstation": A District Court reporter who is treated as a full-time salaried county employee is subject to the statutory 40-hour workweek requirement in 7-5-2108, and recordkeeping to document a court reporter's working hours, including overtime, annual leave, and sick leave, must be as determined by the District Court Judge who employs the court reporter. However, any method used to fulfill these requirements must comport with the District Court Judge's authority to control court assistants because allowing a Board of County Commissioners to enforce county personnel policies on court reporters would infringe on that authority. Any mandatory location of work for a court reporter that is set by anyone but the District Court Judge would interfere with the necessary flexibility of the judge. Thus, a court reporter's "workstation" is wherever that reporter is required to be to perform the duties for the judge for whom that court reporter works. (See 2001 amendment.) Bd.

of County Comm'rs v. District Court, 2000 MT 258, 301 M 496, 10 P3d 805, 57 St. Rep. 1061 (2000).

Court Reporter Salary Dispute — Writ of Supervisory Control Appropriate: The Board of Lewis and Clark County Commissioners set the salary for court reporters, based on its interpretation of the 1997 amendment to this section. The salary did not include fringe benefits because the statute states that a court reporter is to receive the base salary "and no other compensation except as provided in 3-4-604", which allows a court reporter to collect only certain fees for providing transcripts. The District Court Judges ordered the Board to give the court reporters the maximum raise allowed and to continue their benefits at the prior level. The Board appealed the order directly to the Supreme Court. The judges contended that the appeal was improper because the Board filed no appropriate underlying civil action, whether a petition for a writ of mandamus, a petition for a writ of prohibition, or another action, and sought to have the appeal dismissed. The Board characterized the judges' order as a final appealable order rather than an administrative action. The Supreme Court found some merit to both arguments. Applying the rationale in Awareness Group v. School District, 243 M 469, 795 P2d 447 (1990), the court found that neither a writ of mandamus nor a writ of prohibition was appropriate and that they would not provide meaningful relief because it would be futile to seek to prohibit or to compel an act already accomplished. While granting the judges' motion to dismiss without prejudice to the underlying merits of the case, the Supreme Court held that if the Board decided to do so, it could file a petition for a writ of supervisory control with the Supreme Court, pursuant to Rule 17, M.R.App.P. (Title 25, ch. 21), and could raise whatever legal questions that it determined were at issue. If the Supreme Court determined it necessary, it could then remand for an evidentiary hearing in a neutral District Court in the same manner as in Gallatin County v. District Court, 281 M 33, 930 P2d 680 (1997). (See 2001 amendment.) In re District Court Budget Order, 1998 MT 4, 287 M 137, 952 P2d 427, 55 St. Rep. 9 (1998).

Court Reporter Failing to File Trial Notes — Not a Denial of Trial Transcript: Petitioner was not denied due process on the grounds that he was denied a transcript of his criminal trial when the court reporter failed to file his notes with the Clerk of Court, as required by this section. The defendant attempted to get a free transcript as provided by 3-5-604 but failed to allege anything to warrant moving any court's discretion to order one; therefore, he was not denied a transcript merely because the court reporter kept his notes. Spurlock v. Crist, 188 M 449, 614 P2d 498, 37 St. Rep. 1146 (1980).

Waiver of Reporter: Defendant, an experienced lawyer who was warned by the court of the consequences, waived his right to question the court's discretion by actively participating in the trial after his request for a reporter had been denied. Niewoehner v. District Court, 142 M 1, 381 P2d 464 (1963).

Attendance Within Court's Discretion:

The court may in its discretion dispense with the stenographer's services in the absence of a request by the parties or one of them that he be present. In view of the importance of preserving a record in controverted matters, the court should, in the absence of an express stipulation waiving the recording of the testimony, inquire of the contending parties whether a record is desired; and where the testimony is not taken the records should show the reason, whether by stipulation or because of the court's exercise of its discretion. State ex rel. Stimatz v. District Court, 105 M 510, 74 P2d 8 (1937).

Where County Attorney during argument attempted repeatedly to present to jury the fact of an attempt to commit a second robbery although there was no evidence of such offense in the record, and defense counsel objected thereto and requested the attendance of the official stenographer, the court's refusal to comply with his request was an abuse of discretion. St. v. Hogan, 100 M 434, 49 P2d 446 (1935), distinguished in State ex rel. Stimatz v. District Court, 105 M 510, 74 P2d 8 (1937).

Exceptions to Rulings: An exception to an adverse ruling by the District Court is a matter of right, not one of grace or discretion on the part of the court, and when taken, the court stenographer must enter it, any opinion of the trial court to the contrary notwithstanding. St. v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 53 M 104, 161 P 953 (1916).

Payment of Fees: The fees for stenographers must be paid to official stenographers appointed by the court. Mont. Ore Purchasing Co. v. Boston & Mont. Consol. Copper & Silver Min. Co., 27 M 288, 70 P 1114 (1902).

Mandamus: Mandamus lies to compel the stenographer to write out and file a list of the objections, rulings, and exceptions occurring on the trial, where the order of the trial court is insufficient. State ex rel. Kranich v. Supple, 22 M 184, 56 P 20 (1899); explained in State ex rel. Donovan v. Ledwidge, 27 M 197, 70 P 511 (1902).

Case Notes

Court Reporter Failing to File Trial Notes — Not a Denial of Trial Transcript: Petitioner was not denied due process on the grounds that he was denied a transcript of his criminal trial when the court reporter failed to file his notes with the Clerk of Court as required by 3-5-603. The defendant attempted to get a free transcript, as provided by this section, but failed to allege anything to warrant moving any court's discretion to order one; therefore, he was not denied a transcript merely because the court reporter kept his notes. Spurlock v. Crist, 188 M 449, 614 P2d 498, 37 St. Rep. 1146 (1980).

Indigent Criminal Defendants:

Proper showing must be made to the District Court that a defendant in a criminal case is unable to pay for a transcript so as to secure an order that it be furnished him and paid for by the county. (Under a 1985 amendment to this section payment is by the state, county, or both.) St. v. Davis, 139 M 616, 362 P2d 1013 (1961).

Where a defendant convicted of crime is unable to meet the expense incident to procuring a transcript of the evidence to enable him to present his appeal to the Supreme Court for review, it is the duty of the court to order the county to pay therefor. (Under a 1985 amendment to this section payment is by the state, county, or both.) State ex rel. Parmenter v. District Court, 111 M 453, 110 P2d 971 (1941).

Appeals to Supreme Court: This section governs only the furnishing of copies of the transcript of record for use in the trial court and has nothing to do with appeals to the Supreme Court. Sullivan v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 124 M 364, 224 P2d 135 (1950).

Certiorari Proceedings: Although it is the duty of the Clerk of Court to prepare the return required by the Supreme Court on issuance of a Writ of Certiorari, the court to which the Writ is directed has the power to order the court stenographer to prepare not only a transcript of the evidence heard in the particular case but the entire transcript, as one of his implied duties, without extra compensation. Pelletier v. Glacier County, 107 M 221, 82 P2d 595 (1938).

Waiver of Reporter: A party is entitled to a record of the testimony only when the stenographer has in fact attended the trial or hearing, not when the services of the stenographer have been dispensed with by the court, either by waiver or agreement of the parties or by the court's exercise of its discretion. State ex rel. Stimatz v. District Court, 105 M 510, 74 P2d 8 (1937).

Fees of Clerk: Charges by stenographer were considered excessive. Mont. Ore Purchasing Co. v. Boston & Mont. Consol. Copper & Silver Min. Co., 33 M 400, 84 P 706 (1905).

Fees of Reporters:

The stenographer may not require the State or its Attorney General to pay the amount of his fees in advance. State ex rel. Donovan v. Ledwidge, 27 M 197, 70 P 511 (1902).

Fees paid court stenographers for transcribing testimony from their notes are chargeable as part of the costs. State ex rel. King v. District Court, 25 M 1, 63 P 402 (1901), explained in Gahagan v. Gugler, 103 M 521, 63 P2d 145 (1936).

Mandamus:

The appropriate remedy to compel the court stenographer to furnish the transcript in a civil cause is a Writ of Mandate. State ex rel. Donovan v. Ledwidge, 27 M 197, 70 P 511 (1902).

Where the stenographer failed to furnish an indigent defendant with a copy of the transcript when ordered to do so under this section, the Supreme Court will not compel obedience thereto by mandamus. State ex rel. Dempsey v. District Court, 24 M 566, 63 P 389 (1901), distinguished in State ex rel. Donovan v. Ledwidge, 27 M 197, 70 P 511 (1902).

Attorney General's Opinions

Transcript Fees: Prior to the 1981 amendment this section provided for a 7 ½ cents per folio page fee, and the Attorney General issued an opinion stating that court reporters may only charge 7 ½ cents per folio, as defined in 1-1-203, per copy for transcripts to be used on appeal to the Supreme Court. The charge applies to each page of the original and copies, including the title pages and the index pages. 37 A.G. Op. 85 (1977).

Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

Chapter 585 in (1)(h) near middle after "trials if" substituted "similar expenses" for "those expenses" and at end substituted "district court fund or the county general fund in any previous year" for "district court budget in fiscal year 1998 or fiscal year 1999". Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: (Temporary version) Chapter 278 in (4)(a) at end substituted "7-6-4023" for "7-6-2352"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

(Version effective July 1, 2002) Chapter 585 substituted (1), (1)(a), and (1)(b) establishing state-funded district court program and delineating district court costs for former (1)(a) that read: "(1) To the extent that revenue is available under 61-3-509, the state shall fund:

(3) All revenue disbursed under this section must be deposited in and credited to the district court fund. If a district court fund does not exist, the revenue must be deposited in the county general fund for district court operations.

(4) If money appropriated for the expenses listed in subsection (1):

(a) exceeds the amount necessary to fully fund those expenses, the remaining excess amounts must be used for district court grants as provided in 7-6-2352; or

(b) is insufficient to fully fund those expenses, the county is responsible for payment of the balance"; inserted (2) delineating what costs are not district court costs; inserted (3) providing that the state will fund certain percentage of expenses of appellate defender program and district court expenses related to involuntary commitment proceedings and youth court proceedings; inserted (4) providing for state reimbursement of indigent defense in criminal cases and appointed counsel in child abuse and neglect proceedings up to amount of appropriation; and made minor changes in style. Subsections (3)(b) and (4)(b) terminate June 30, 2003.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 394 inserted (1)(d) itemizing expenses to be funded by the state pertaining to certain proceedings involving a youth; in (2) near end after "through" substituted "(1)(d), the district court grant program as described in subsection (4)(a)" for "(1)(c)"; inserted (3) concerning deposit of revenue; in (4)(a) after "expenses" deleted "up to $500,000 of the excess amount must be used for youth court and probation foster care placements if the department of corrections certifies to the supreme court that appropriations for youth court and probation foster care placements will be inadequate to fund those costs and"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

1995 Amendment — Coordination Instruction: Chapter 535 in (1)(a)(ii), at beginning, inserted "fees for"; in (1)(a)(v), at beginning, inserted "expenses for"; deleted (1)(f) that read: "(f) expenses of the appellate defender commission and the office of appellate defender"; in (1)(a)(vi), at beginning, inserted "expenses for"; inserted (1)(b) regarding funding of District Court expenses in postconviction and habeas corpus proceedings; inserted (1)(c) regarding funding of certain state expenses in federal habeas corpus cases; substituted (2) regarding statutory appropriation of excess funding for the appellate defender program for former language that read: "The revenue received under 61-3-509 is statutorily appropriated, as provided in 17-7-502, to the supreme court for funding the expenses listed in subsection (1) and the costs of administering this section"; in (3)(a), near beginning after "expenses", substituted "up to $500,000 of the excess amount must be used for youth court and probation foster care placements if the department of family services certifies to the supreme court that appropriations for youth court and probation foster care placements will be inadequate to fund those costs and remaining excess amounts" for "the excess amount"; in (3)(b), after "expenses", deleted "the appellate defender commission and the office of appellate defender must be funded first and"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

Section 2, Ch. 535, L. 1995, provided: "If both [this act] [Senate Bill No. 127] and Senate Bill No. 83 are passed and approved and if both include a section that amends 3-5-901, then 3-5-901 must read as follows". (See 1995 Session Law for text.) Senate Bill No. 83 was approved April 21, 1995, as Ch. 509, L. 1995, and included an amendment to 3-5-901. Therefore, the version of 3-5-901 in sec. 2, Ch. 535, L. 1995, is the effective version and has been codified accordingly.

Code Commissioner Change — Correction: Pursuant to sec. 2, Ch. 546, L. 1995, the Code Commissioner substituted Department of Corrections for the erroneous substitution of Department of Public Health and Human Services for Department of Family Services.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 330 in (1), after "extent that", substituted "revenue is available under 61-3-509" for "money is appropriated"; in (2) substituted statutory appropriation of revenue for funding expenses and costs for "The supreme court administrator, in consultation with the district judges for each judicial district, shall include within the supreme court's biennial budget request to the legislature a request for funding the expenses listed in subsection (1)"; deleted former (3)(b) that read: "(b) If no money is appropriated, the county is responsible for payment of all expenses"; and inserted (4) providing that money deposited in the state general fund during fiscal year 1992 in excess of the legislative appropriation is statutorily appropriated to the Supreme Court for District Court and courts of limited jurisdiction automation purposes during the 1995 biennium. Amendment effective April 13, 1993.

Termination Date Repealed: Section 1, Ch. 323, L. 1993, repealed sec. 13, Ch. 781, L. 1991, which would have terminated the 1991 amendments to this section regarding the Appellate Defender Commission effective July 1, 1993. The effect of the repealer is to make the amendments permanent. Repealer effective April 12, 1993.

Termination: Section 7, Ch. 330, L. 1993, provided: "The amendment to 3-5-901, enacting subsection (4) for purposes of the 1995 biennium, terminates July 1, 1995."

Judicial Unification and Finance Commission: Chapter 632, L. 1993, provided for the establishment of a Judicial Unification and Finance Commission, effective July 1, 1993, and terminating June 30, 1995. Because of the temporary nature of the Commission, Ch. 632, L. 1993, was not codified.

1991 Amendments: Chapter 704 in (1), at beginning, deleted "Effective July 1, 1985"; and in (2), near beginning, substituted "supreme court administrator" for "department of commerce" and near middle substituted "supreme court's" for "department's". Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Chapter 781 inserted (1)(f) to include expenses of Appellate Defender Commission and Office of Appellate Defender; in (2), after "judicial district", inserted "and the appellate defender commission"; and in (3)(a)(ii), before "county", inserted language concerning first funding Appellate Defender Commission and Office of Appellate Defender. Amendment effective May 17, 1991, and terminates July 1, 1993.

1991 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 781, L. 1991, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 2] [2-15-1020] grants the appellate defender commission rulemaking authority for the conduct of the commission's affairs. It is the intent that the commission adopt rules of procedure necessary to implement and carry out the duties of the commission."

1987 Amendment: Inserted (3)(a)(i) stating that if money appropriated for expenses listed in subsection (1) exceeds what is needed, the excess must be used as provided in 7-6-2352.

1985 Amendment: In (2) near beginning substituted "department of commerce" for "supreme court administrator, under the direction of the supreme court and"; and near middle of (2) before "biennial budget request" substituted "department's" for "supreme court's".

Case Notes

Reimbursement for Costs Incurred in Procuring Witness Testimony: Hardaway sought reimbursement for costs incurred in procuring the testimony of two out-of-state witnesses, one who appeared in person under subpoena and one who was deposed telephonically. The District Court denied reimbursement because Hardaway's counsel was retained rather than court-appointed. However, the only prerequisites that appear in the applicable statutes are that the court has revenue available and that the witness be subpoenaed. The procedural requirements of 46-15-113 for compelling the attendance of an out-of-state witness do not apply to an out-of-state witness who voluntarily appears and acknowledges service of a subpoena. Further, under 46-15-202, costs of a telephonic deposition are within the scope of a reimbursable deposition. The statutes do not distinguish between court-appointed and retained attorneys, but rather rely on the indigency of the defendant. Hardaway was declared indigent and remained so throughout the proceedings and, as such, was entitled to reimbursement for witness costs and deposition costs. St. v. Hardaway, 1998 MT 224, 290 M 516, 966 P2d 125, 55 St. Rep. 936 (1998).

County Employment of Independent Contractor to Provide Legal Services: There is no express prohibition under Montana law preventing a county from entering into an independent contractor relationship for the provision of legal services. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

State Funding of Legal Defense Expenses of Indigent Defendants Limited to District Courts: The 2001 amendments to 46-8-201 and this section revised the manner in which District Courts are funded by providing for state assumption of most costs. However, the amendments did not revise funding for Justices' Courts, and nothing indicates that the Legislature intended to include costs associated with indigent defendants in Justices' Courts. Under 46-8-201, costs of remuneration for counsel appointed for indigent criminal defendants are paid by the state, but payments are limited to District Court criminal cases only. 49 A.G. Op. 21 (2002).

County, Not State, Required to Fund Legal Expenses of Indigent Juvenile Under Youth Court Act: Youth Court defense expenses are not included in this section as a specific expense that the state is required to fund; thus, the Legislature did not intend the state to be responsible for funding Youth Court expenses. Rather, pursuant to 41-5-104 and 41-5-111, the Board of County Commissioners is required to fund the legal defense expenses of an indigent youth against whom a petition has been filed in Youth Court. 48 A.G. Op. 16 (2000).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 585 substituted "shall establish procedures for disbursement of funds for payment of district court expenses listed in 3-5-901 and record payments at a detailed level for budgeting and auditing purposes" for "shall:

(2) require the use of a uniform accounting system in accordance with 2-7-504 by the counties in reporting court expenses at a detailed level for budgeting and auditing purposes"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2002.

1991 Amendments: Chapter 489 in (2), after "system", inserted "in accordance with 2-7-504"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) provide for annual auditing of district court expenses to assure normal operations and consistency in reporting of expenditures"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1992.

Chapter 704 in introductory clause substituted "supreme court administrator" for "department of commerce"; in (2), at beginning, substituted "require the use of" for "develop" and before "by the counties" deleted "for use"; and in (3), at beginning, substituted "require" for "provide for". Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 30, Ch. 489, L. 1991, provided: "(1) Except as provided in (2), [this act] is effective July 1, 1992, and applies to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1992.

(2) The department of commerce may adopt rules to implement [this act] to become effective July 1, 1992."

Case Notes

Jurisdiction Over Municipal Court Protection Order: The Missoula County District Court issued a permanent injunction, based on a stalking violation of 45-5-220, prohibiting Gillispie from contacting his former wife "by a third person, except by telephone or correspondence through her attorney of record". Gillispie admitted contacting his former wife's mother in Missoula and was charged with and convicted in Municipal Court of an order of protection violation pursuant to 45-5-626. On appeal, Gillispie contended that the Municipal Court did not have jurisdiction over the offense. A Municipal Court has geographic jurisdiction over misdemeanors coextensive with the jurisdiction of Justices' Courts located in the same county. Although neither Gillispie nor the former wife was present in Missoula County at the time of the prohibited phone call, the former wife's mother received the call in Missoula County. Thus, the Municipal Court was vested with jurisdiction over the misdemeanor order of protection violation when the necessary result of Gillispie's third-party contact by telephone was committed within Missoula County. Missoula v. Gillispie, 1999 MT 268, 296 M 444, 989 P2d 401, 56 St. Rep. 1085 (1999).

Attorney General's Opinions

Cities' Use of County Jails: Because the consent of the County Commissioners is required before a municipality may use the county jail, it was not presumed that consent was meaningless and, therefore, counties may refuse the use of county jails for confinement of persons accused or convicted of violating local ordinances. Likewise, a county may charge a municipality for maintaining prisoners committed to county jail at the request of a municipal police department in the course of enforcing local ordinances and state laws. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

Authority of Municipal Court to Commit Mentally Incapacitated Defendant: A plain reading of this section provides that Municipal Courts have all powers and duties of District Courts over matters within their jurisdiction, including the power and duty to commit mentally incapacitated criminal defendants to the Department of Public Health and Human Services, pursuant to the procedures and requirements of Title 46, if the Municipal Court determines that the defendant suffers from a mental disease or defect and lacks the fitness to proceed to trial. If there is any question regarding a Municipal Court's commitment of a criminal defendant, the issue may be appealed to the District Court pursuant to 3-5-303. Great Falls v. Case Notes

No District Court Error in Failing to Hold Trial De Novo in Municipal Court Appeal: Campbell was charged in Missoula Municipal Court with criminal trespass, disorderly conduct, and obstructing a police officer. Campbell failed to appear for trial and was tried in absentia and convicted on all charges. Campbell appealed to District Court, was notified of the appropriate Municipal Court appeal procedure in this section, and was given 10 days to file a brief. Campbell failed to file a brief, so the District Court dismissed the appeal and remanded to Municipal Court for further proceedings. Campbell appealed to the Supreme Court on grounds that the District Court should have conducted a trial de novo pursuant to 46-17-311. The Supreme Court disagreed. Campbell's appeal was from a Municipal Court and thus was governed by this section, rather than 46-17-311, so the appeal was confined to review of the record and questions of law. The District Court did not err in failing to conduct a trial de novo, and dismissal of Campbell's appeal for failure to file a brief was affirmed. Missoula v. Campbell, 2001 MT 271, 307 M 286, 37 P3d 670 (2001).

No District Court Jurisdiction of Appeal From Municipal Court When Defendant Not Incarcerated and Fine Less Than $300: Koestner was convicted in Municipal Court of reckless driving and was fined $175, court costs of $20, and a witness fee of $10, and no jail time was ordered. Koestner appealed the conviction and the denial of a request for a jury trial to District Court, but that court concluded that it did not have jurisdiction to hear the appeal. Koestner appealed to the Supreme Court, arguing that under the Montana Uniform Municipal Court Rules of Appeal to District Court (Title 25, ch. 30, part 2100), a city must have an ordinance in place to trigger the statutory amount necessary to bring an appeal and that because the city never presented evidence that such an ordinance existed, the District Court had jurisdiction under this section to review the Municipal Court decision. The Supreme Court agreed that because Koestner was not incarcerated and the fine imposed was less than $300, the District Court properly concluded that it was bound by Rule 1(b)(2), U.M.C.R.App. (Title 25, ch. 30, part 2100), which limits appeals in criminal cases to those in which the minimum amount in controversy is greater than $300, unless jail time is ordered. Although Koestner, under Rule 3, U.M.C.R.App., could have petitioned the District Court to hear the appeal in the interests of justice, no petition was filed. Koestner's arguments regarding lack of a city ordinance were not raised before the District Court, and the Supreme Court declined to address the issue for the first time on appeal. Kalispell v. Koestner, 2001 MT 53, 304 M 315, 21 P3d 622 (2001).

District Court Exceeding Scope of Appellate Review — Abuse of Discretion in Applying Particularized Suspicion of DUI to Traffic Stop Triggered by Report of Vandalism: Robertson was stopped after a vehicle of the description that he was driving was reported leaving the scene of a vandalism. He was subsequently convicted of DUI in City Court and appealed to District Court on grounds that his right to confront witnesses was denied and that the city had not sustained the necessary burden of proof to support the conviction. The District Court remanded to the City Court for dismissal on grounds that the arresting officer did not have a sufficient particularized suspicion to justify the investigative stop for DUI. However, the issue of a sufficient particularized suspicion was never raised or ruled on in City Court by either Robertson or the city. When a District Court exercises its power of appellate review, it must refrain from deciding issues not properly raised or objected to in the court below; thus, the District Court abused its discretion by exceeding the scope of its appellate review in addressing the issue of particularized suspicion, so the Supreme Court reversed the order of the District Court dismissing the City Court judgment against Robertson. Missoula v. Robertson, 2000 MT 52, 298 M 419, 998 P2d 144, 57 St. Rep. 250 (2000). See also Missoula v. Asbury, 265 M 14, 873 P2d 936, 51 St. Rep. 383 (1994), and St. v. Herrera, 1998 MT 173, 289 M 499, 962 P2d 1180 (1998).

Proper Cross-Appeal of Adverse District Court Decision Regarding City Court Denial of Motion for Continuance: The established doctrine governing appeals to all appellate courts is that a party must cross-appeal if the party seeks to change any part of the judgment below. Further, the Montana Supreme Court follows the rule that it has jurisdiction only over those issues addressed in the appeal or in a properly filed cross-appeal, not jurisdiction over the entire case. Conversely, it is also the general rule that a cross-appeal is not necessary to enable a prevailing party to defend its judgment on any ground properly raised below, whether or not that ground was relied upon, rejected, or even considered by the court below. The proper way for a respondent to raise an issue before the Supreme Court, if the issue would support the decision below and is an issue that the court below did not address because it found another issue to be dispositive, is to assert the issue in the brief to the Supreme Court and fully discuss it. If a respondent does not assert and fully discuss the issue, the Supreme Court may in its discretion: (1) review the issue itself; (2) decide that the respondent has waived the right to review of the issue; or (3) remand to the court below for a decision on the issue. Here, issues raised by respondent that the District Court declined to address, having found another issue dispositive, undoubtedly supported the District Court's decision reversing the City Court's judgment. Thus, because the respondent sufficiently asserted the issues and both parties fully briefed each one, the Supreme Court concluded that the respondent had properly cross-appealed and that it was proper to review the respondent's issues on appeal. City Not Liable for City Judge's Civil Rights Violations — City Judge Acts Under State Authority: Claims of the indigent defendants, who were not effectively informed by a City Judge of their right to appointed counsel, were properly dismissed. Under Montana law, a City Judge's acts and decision in advising defendants of the right were performed under the state's authority rather than the city's authority, thereby precluding imposition of civil rights liability on the city. Further, the indigent defendants did not have standing to seek declaratory and injunctive relief. There are other remedies for indigent defendants in future situations—they can file a complaint with the state body charged with overseeing judicial conduct, they can appeal their convictions to a higher court, and they can sue a judge individually because a judge does not enjoy judicial immunity for unconstitutional behavior when the facts are sufficient to grant declaratory or injunctive relief. Eggar v. Livingston, 40 F3d 312 (9th Cir. 1994).

Failure to Present Issue to First Level Appellate Court as Precluding Consideration at Second Appellate Level: At their initial trial in Municipal Court, defendants raised an issue of reliance on treaties entered into by the United States, but the issue was not raised at the first level of appeal when the case was considered by the District Court pursuant to this section. As a result, the issue was held to be not properly before the Supreme Court at the second level of appeal. Missoula v. Asbury, 265 M 14, 873 P2d 936, 51 St. Rep. 383 (1994), followed in Missoula v. Robertson, 2000 MT 52, 298 M 419, 998 P2d 144, 57 St. Rep. 250 (2000).

3-6-201. Number of judges — election — term of office.

Compiler's Comments

1991 Amendment: Inserted (1) providing that the governing body of a city shall determine by ordinance the number of judges required to operate the municipal court; in (2) substituted "election, as provided in 13-1-104(2)" for "city election"; at beginning of (3) inserted exception clause, after "municipal" inserted "court", and after "election of" substituted "district court judges" for "nonpartisan city officials"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

3-6-202. Qualifications — certification — training.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 389 in (1) near end increased law practice requirement for municipal judges from 2 years to 3 years; in (2) near beginning after "judge" substituted "shall reside in the county in which the court is located and shall meet the residency requirements provided in 3-10-204" for "must be a resident and voter in the city in which he is elected at the time of his election"; substituted (3) through (7) concerning certification and training of a municipal court judge for former (3) through (5) that read: "(3) A municipal court judge must be certified as provided in 3-1-1502 or 3-1-1503 prior to assuming office.

(4) There must be two mandatory annual training sessions supervised by the supreme court for all elected and appointed municipal court judges. One of the training sessions may be held in conjunction with the Montana magistrates' association convention. Actual and necessary travel expenses, as defined and provided for in 2-18-501 through 2-18-503, and the costs of registration and books and other materials must be paid to the elected or appointed municipal court judge for attending the sessions by the city in which he holds or will hold court and must be charged against that city.

(5) Each municipal court judge shall attend the training sessions provided for in subsection (4). Failure to attend disqualifies a judge from office and creates a vacancy in the office. However, the supreme court may excuse a municipal court judge from attendance because of illness, a death in the family, or any other good cause"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

Grandfather Clause: Section 13, Ch. 389, L. 2003, provided: "An incumbent justice of the peace on [the effective date of this act] [effective July, 1, 2003], in a county in which a justice's court established as a court of record is established, who meets the minimum education requirements for a justice of the peace is eligible to run for the justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record in that county at the next and subsequent elections held for the justice of the peace for the justice's court established as a court of record unless the justice of the peace has a break in service."

1991 Amendment: Inserted (3) requiring certification of municipal court judge; inserted (4) establishing mandatory annual training sessions; and inserted (5) requiring municipal court judge to attend training sessions. Amendment effective April 2, 1991.

Supreme Court Orders: "The following Montana Supreme Court order, signed by all seven justices, was issued on June 10[, 2003]:

IN THE MATTER OF ESTABLISHING GREATER TRAINING REQUIREMENTS FOR MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGES AND FOR JUSTICES OF THE PEACE OF JUSTICE'S COURTS ESTABLISHED AS COURTS OF RECORD

Pursuant to Sec. 3, Ch. 389, L. 2003, the 2003 Montana Legislature, among other things, adopted certain amendments to §3-6-202, MCA. Specifically, §3-6-202, MCA, now provides in pertinent part:

(4) A municipal court judge shall complete a minimum of 15 hours of continuing judicial education requirements each year or a greater number established by the supreme court. Attendance at the two annual training sessions under 3-10-203 may fulfill the requirement provided for in this subsection.

(5) Completion of a course approved for continuing judicial or legal education hours applies to the judicial education requirements under subsection (4).

Similarly, Sec. 6, Ch. 389, L. 2003, amended §3-10-203, MCA by providing, in pertinent part:

(4) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, must meet the requirements provided for in [section 10].

In that regard, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, provides in pertinent part:

(2) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, shall complete a minimum of 15 hours of continuing judicial education requirements each year or a greater number established by the supreme court. Attendance at the two annual training sessions under 3-10-203 may fulfill the requirement provided for in this subsection.

(3) completion of a course approved for continuing judicial or legal education hours applies to the judicial education requirements under subsection (2).

Aside from whatever other judicial or legal education courses a municipal court judge or a justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record may choose to complete, this Court has determined that attendance of such judges and justices at the two mandatory annual training sessions prescribed by §3-10-203, MCA, must also be required.

These two mandatory annual training sessions provide judicial education directed specifically at Montana statutory and jurisprudential law and provide information relating to the efficient operation and standards of justice and judicial services expected from all courts of limited jurisdiction in Montana. Moreover, these two annual training sessions prepare the judges and justices of the courts of limited jurisdiction for the certification test which is prerequisite to the Commission on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction issuing certificates of completion of a course of education and training prescribed by §3-1-1502 and 1503, MCA.

Therefore, this Court has determined that municipal court judges and justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record are required to complete a greater number of hours of judicial education than the minimum hours specified in Secs. 3 and 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003. Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 3, Ch. 389, L. 2003 and §3-6-202(4) and (5), MCA, all municipal court judges shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, and §3-10-203(4), MCA, all justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be effective July 1, 2003."

Case Notes

Municipal Ordinance Prohibiting Outside Employment by Municipal Judge Void: The city of Bozeman passed municipal ordinance 2.06.050 prohibiting the Municipal Court Judge from obtaining outside employment. The city contended that under this section, it was allowed to enact an ordinance governing the qualifications of the judge, as long as the ordinance did not violate Art. VII, sec. 9, Mont. Const., and also argued that the ordinance was consistent with 3-1-604, which precludes a Municipal Court Judge from practicing law in that judge's own court. The Supreme Court agreed with the District Court that the ordinance was void because it conflicted with 3-1-604 when read in conjunction with 3-1-601. The legislative history also demonstrated that the statutes are intended to allow Municipal Court Judges to practice law in courts other than their own in order to supplement their income. Although the constitutional provision prohibits a District Court Judge from the outside practice of law and this section requires a Municipal Court Judge to have the same qualifications as a District Court Judge, qualifications should not be confused with restrictions. Although 3-1-604 does not affirmatively declare that Municipal Court Judges can practice law outside their own courts, its intent is clear. The ordinance conflicted with the statutes and was therefore void. Carlson v. Bozeman, 2001 MT 46, 304 M 277, 20 P3d 792 (2001).

CHAPTER 7
WATER COURTS

Chapter Case Notes

Failure to Participate in Water Court Hearing — Attorney Fees Assessed as Sanction for Defense of Unreasonable Appeal: Despite warnings from the Water Court of the consequences, plaintiffs chose not to participate in a Water Court hearing, thereby creating no record of their issues and preserving none of their arguments for appeal. They appealed anyway, contending that the Water Court's findings were in error. The Supreme Court first found that the findings and conclusions were correct, then sanctioned plaintiffs pursuant to Rule 32, M.R.App.P. (Title 25, ch. 21), finding that defendant was entitled to attorney fees incurred in defending an appeal that was taken without any substantial or reasonable grounds, that delayed the case, and that wasted the resources of defendant and the Supreme Court. Swinger v. Collins, 1999 MT 202, 295 M 447, 984 P2d 151, 56 St. Rep. 787 (1999).

Federal Reserved Water Rights — Dismissal of Federal Court Actions — Judicial Administration: When the United States brings actions in federal court for a general adjudication of Indian and other federal reserved water rights under 28 U.S.C. 1345, the actions are properly dismissed because the state courts have concurrent jurisdiction as a result of the McCarran Amendment, because the State has established a comprehensive system under state law for adjudication of all water rights in the state, including federal reserved rights, and because the policy of wise judicial administration announced in Colorado River Conservation District v. U.S., 424 US 800 (1976), requires the court to defer to the state system for efficient adjudication of these rights. N. Cheyenne Tribe v. Tongue River Water Users Ass'n, 484 F. No Departmental Rulemaking Authority Regarding Water Claims — Jurisdiction in Water Courts — Rulemaking Reserved to Supreme Court: Legislation in 1979 placed the procedure for adjudication of water claims in the Water Courts and reserved the power of rulemaking with respect to pending judicial proceedings to the Supreme Court. Lacking express legislative authority, neither the Board nor Department of Natural Resources and Conservation has any rulemaking authority with respect to procedures in the adjudication of water rights before the Water Courts, and the Montana Administrative Procedure Act does not supply such authority. District Court Error in Restraining Use of Contracted Irrigation Water: Micks contracted to purchase the right to 775 acre feet of water from the Deadman"s Basin Water Users Association, to be appropriated from the Deadman's Basin Reservoir, in order to irrigate a hay crop. In April 2000, the District Court appointed two Water Commissioners to distribute the reservoir water pursuant to a rotation plan. In August 2000, the District Court, on its own motion, found that the water level in the reservoir had reached a critical level, that the remaining water was necessary to maintain domestic, municipal, stock, and wildlife usage, and that the irrigation of crops from the river was prohibited as long as the reservoir level remained critically low. Micks determined that he had used only 431 acre feet of his contracted 775 acre feet, and based on his limited usage and other reasons, he presumed that the District Court prohibition did not apply to him, so he continued to irrigate his hay crop. Micks' continued irrigation was discovered, and he was ordered by the District Court to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for failure to comply with the prohibition order. Micks requested that the District Court reconsider its order, but the request was denied, so Micks appealed. The Supreme Court noted that under Mildenberger v. Galbraith, 249 M 161, 815 P2d 130 (1991), and Baker Ditch Co. v. District Court, 251 M 251, 824 P2d 260 (1992), the jurisdiction to interpret and determine existing water rights rests exclusively with the Water Courts and that although the District Court has the authority to supervise the distribution of previously adjudicated water or to enforce an existing water decree and may in certain cases fill in a pre-1973 decree with further delineations, such as time or season of use and acreage of application, in this case, the District Court made a priority determination regarding domestic and irrigation water consumption based on the court's own inclinations, exceeding its authority to simply fill in a water decree with further delineations. Micks' contract unambiguously required a pro rata reduction in water distribution when an inadequate amount existed to satisfy outstanding water purchase contracts. Therefore, the District Court erred as a matter of law when it employed a first come, first served policy in contravention of the water contract. Denial of Micks' motion to reconsider the prohibition order was reversible error, and his motion to restrain the Water Commissioners from interfering with use of Deadman's Basin Reservoir irrigation water to which he was entitled should have been granted. In re Petition of Deadman's Basin Water Users Ass'n to Appoint Water Comm'r to Distribute Stored Water, 2002 MT 15, 308 M 168, 40 P3d 387 (2002).

Jurisdiction of District Court to "Update" Old Water Rights Decree — Statute Governing Complaints by Dissatisfied Users Inapplicable: Pursuant to a previous writ of supervisory control, a remand to the District Court, and findings entered by the Senior Water Master, the Supreme Court found that the Order Authorizing Updated Decree, entered by the judges of the Fourth Judicial District in January of 1989, was beyond the jurisdiction of the District Court. The order was intended to deal with the problem of a 1902 water rights decree by a District Court, in which the judge adjudicated 27 water rights on Carlton Creek, that had become so brittle with age and damaged by time that the decree could not be readily handled. In the process of updating and reissuing the 1902 order, the Supreme Court found that the Fourth Judicial District Judges had actually made a de facto adjudication of water rights in an overly appropriated drainage and that that adjudication had been undertaken without notice and hearing to the holders of certain of those water rights. Citing Mildenberger v. Galbraith, 249 M 161, 815 P2d 130 (1991), and Baker Ditch Co. v. District Court, 251 M 251, 824 P2d 260 (1992), the Supreme Court held that under 85-2-234(6), it is within the sole jurisdiction of the Water Court to determine such things as priority dates, flow rates, place of use, and means of diversion with respect to a water right. The Supreme Court also held that the matters adjudicated by the decree were not within the scope of matters cognizable under 85-5-301 because that section concerns the correct administration of a water rights decree while the Updated Decree attempts to change the terms of the decree itself. For these reasons, the Supreme Court vacated the 1989 Updated Decree. State ex rel. Jones v. District Court, 283 M 1, 938 P2d 1312, 54 St. Rep. 460 (1997).

No Departmental Rulemaking Authority Regarding Water Claims — Jurisdiction in Water Courts — Rulemaking Reserved to Supreme Court: Legislation in 1979 placed the procedure for adjudication of water claims in the Water Courts and reserved the power of rulemaking with respect to pending judicial proceedings to the Supreme Court. Lacking express legislative authority, neither the Board nor Department of Natural Resources and Conservation has any rulemaking authority with respect to procedures in the adjudication of water rights before the Water Courts, and the Montana Administrative Procedure Act does not supply such authority. Functions of the Department respecting water claims are limited to rendering assistance to the Water Judges as set out in 85-2-243. In re Dept. of Natural Resources and Conservation, 226 M 221, 740 P2d 1096, 44 St. Rep. 604 (1987).

Jurisdiction of Water Judge Beyond Boundaries of Water Division: The apparent purpose of 3-7-501(2) is to recognize the parochial nature of water usage and assure that Water Judges are conversant with the history of water usage when making water adjudications. The provisions of 3-7-213 (now repealed) must be interpreted in conjunction with the provisions of 3-7-501. A reading of the two sections together indicates that the intent of the Legislature was to provide that a District Judge, sitting as a Water Judge, could not serve beyond the boundaries of his division absent the showing required by 3-7-213 (now repealed). Granite Ditch Co. v. Anderson, 204 M 10, 662 P2d 1312, 40 St. Rep. 630 (1983), followed in Marks v. District Court, 239 M 428, 781 P2d 249, 46 St. Rep. 1804 (1989).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 6 in (1) at end of introductory clause substituted "justice's court" for "justice of the peace"; in (1)(a) after "enable" substituted "the justice of the peace and the clerk of justice's court, if any, to conduct business" for "him to perform his duties"; in (1)(b) near middle substituted "court" for "judicial office"; inserted (2) allowing for a clerk of justice's court; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

Case Notes

Separation of Powers Doctrine Not to Preclude Compliance With Employee Grievance Procedure by Justice's Court: A Justice of the Peace involved in a disciplinary action against the court office manager contended that a grievance hearing before the County Commission would violate the separation of powers doctrine by interfering with the independence of the court by requiring the Justice of the Peace to be an adverse witness against court personnel, allowing the Justice of the Peace's decision on personnel matters to be overruled by another branch of government, and possibly requiring the Justice of the Peace to accept an employee believed to be unsatisfactory. However, as established in Hillis v. Sullivan, 48 M 320, 137 P 392 (1913), the hiring by the County Commission of a clerk to assist a court does not violate the separation of powers doctrine. In addition, the County Commission is statutorily required to provide a Justice of the Peace with clerical assistance. Thus, a grievance hearing before the County Commission does not violate the separation of powers doctrine because the County Commission's independent hiring of the office manager is consistent with the doctrine; nor does the County Commission's hearing of the grievance constitute an exercise of authority belonging to the Judicial Branch. Clark v. Dussault, 265 M 479, 878 P2d 239, 51 St. Rep. 642 (1994).

Agreement by County Commission to Pay Justice Court Expenses — Failure to Object — Appeal Precluded: A Justice of the Peace requested approval of funds from the County Commission for employment of a temporary clerical assistant. The County Commission initially refused to approve the funds. The claim was then submitted for certification pursuant to Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), and was subsequently certified as an actual and necessary expense incurred in the performance of actual duties of the Justice Court. When the bill was still not paid, the Justice of the Peace filed a petition for a contempt order against the County Commissioners for failure to pay the certified claim. The order was amended to include attorney fees. The County Commission then agreed to pay the claim and did not oppose the motion to amend, nor did it file a responsive brief. However, it later alleged error. The Supreme Court held that the County Commission waived the right to appeal by agreeing to pay the claim and then failing to object to the District Court order to pay the claim and taking no further action to challenge the claim. In re Certain Justice Court Expenses, 264 M 510, 872 P2d 795, 51 St. Rep. 372 (1994).

Claim of Justice's Court for Unbudgeted Actual and Necessary Expenses: When Justice of Peace filed claim to pay necessary extra clerical assistance, County Commissioners did not have discretion to disallow claim under section 16-1906, R.C.M. 1947 (renumbered 7-6-2323 through 7-6-2325, 7-6-2327, and 7-6-2328, all sections now repealed), as section 93-412, R.C.M. 1947 (now 3-10-103 and 3-10-209), prevailed. When a specific statute conflicts with a general statute, the specific controls over the general to the extent of any repugnancy. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975). (Annotator's Comment: In this case Supreme Court exercised supervisory powers to provide a procedure to prevent future actual or potential conflict between the Board of County Commissioners and Justice's Courts.)

Mandamus — Payment of Clerical Expenses: County Commissioners can be compelled to pay for necessary clerical expenses under this section and 3-10-209 when necessity is shown for the performance of duties. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

Attorney General's Opinions

Duty of Boards of County Commissioners to Accept and Pay Claims for Actual and Necessary Clerical Expenses of Justice's Court: Under this section, a duty is created on the part of Boards of County Commissioners to accept and pay claims for actual and necessary clerical expenses associated with the operation of Justices' Courts. If disputes arise regarding payment of those expenses, the procedural rule in State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), applies. Although Boards may have some budgetary discretion when considering payment of actual and necessary court expenses, the statutes governing the county budgeting process do not preclude application of the Browman rule when disputes arise. 49 A.G. Supreme Court Orders: "The following Montana Supreme Court order, signed by all seven justices, was issued on June 10[, 2003]:

IN THE MATTER OF ESTABLISHING GREATER TRAINING REQUIREMENTS FOR MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGES AND FOR JUSTICES OF THE PEACE OF JUSTICE'S COURTS ESTABLISHED AS COURTS OF RECORD

Pursuant to Sec. 3, Ch. 389, L. 2003, the 2003 Montana Legislature, among other things, adopted certain amendments to §3-6-202, MCA. Specifically, §3-6-202, MCA, now provides in pertinent part:

(4) A municipal court judge shall complete a minimum of 15 hours of continuing judicial education requirements each year or a greater number established by the supreme court. Attendance at the two annual training sessions under 3-10-203 may fulfill the requirement provided for in this subsection.

(5) Completion of a course approved for continuing judicial or legal education hours applies to the judicial education requirements under subsection (4).

Similarly, Sec. 6, Ch. 389, L. 2003, amended §3-10-203, MCA by providing, in pertinent part:

(4) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, must meet the requirements provided for in [section 10].

In that regard, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, provides in pertinent part:

(2) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, shall complete a minimum of 15 hours of continuing judicial education requirements each year or a greater number established by the supreme court. Attendance at the two annual training sessions under 3-10-203 may fulfill the requirement provided for in this subsection.

(3) completion of a course approved for continuing judicial or legal education hours applies to the judicial education requirements under subsection (2).

Aside from whatever other judicial or legal education courses a municipal court judge or a justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record may choose to complete, this Court has determined that attendance of such judges and justices at the two mandatory annual training sessions prescribed by §3-10-203, MCA, must also be required.

These two mandatory annual training sessions provide judicial education directed specifically at Montana statutory and jurisprudential law and provide information relating to the efficient operation and standards of justice and judicial services expected from all courts of limited jurisdiction in Montana. Moreover, these two annual training sessions prepare the judges and justices of the courts of limited jurisdiction for the certification test which is prerequisite to the Commission on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction issuing certificates of completion of a course of education and training prescribed by §3-1-1502 and 1503, MCA.

Therefore, this Court has determined that municipal court judges and justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record are required to complete a greater number of hours of judicial education than the minimum hours specified in Secs. 3 and 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003. Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 3, Ch. 389, L. 2003 and §3-6-202(4) and (5), MCA, all municipal court judges shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, and §3-10-203(4), MCA, all justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be effective July 1, 2003."

Case Notes

Substitute Justice of the Peace Not Duly Authorized or Properly Called — Search Warrants Invalid: A Justice of the Peace submitted a written waiver request form for proposing substitute Justices of the Peace but failed to create a list of proposed substitutes as required in 3-10-231. One of the designated substitutes took the judicial oath of office, but not in the form required by Art. III, sec. 3, Mont. Const. The substitute justice was called by a Deputy Sheriff, who requested warrants allowing a search of defendant's property. The warrants were issued and executed, but the warrants were challenged by defendants on the grounds that the warrants were not issued by a properly authorized substitute justice. The state argued that the authorization and call-in of the substitute justice were in substantial compliance with the law and that any technical errors in the procedures should not operate to suppress evidence. Applying Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319 (1994), the Supreme Court held that substantial compliance was insufficient. The procedure used in authorizing the substitute justice with a variant form of the constitutional oath of office was a major discrepancy in the authorization process, and the procedure of providing law enforcement with a menu of substitutes from which to choose clearly violated Potter. The substitute Justice of the Peace was not duly authorized, thus the warrants issued by the substitute were void ab initio. St. v. Vickers, 1998 MT 201, 290 M 356, 964 P2d 756, 55 St. Rep. 859 (1998), distinguishing U.S. v. Leon, 468 US 897, 82 L Ed 2d 677, 104 S Ct 3405 (1984).

Similarly, Sec. 6, Ch. 389, L. 2003, amended §3-10-203, MCA by providing, in pertinent part:

(4) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, must meet the requirements provided for in [section 10].

In that regard, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, provides in pertinent part:

(2) A justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record, provided for in 3-10-101, shall complete a minimum of 15 hours of continuing judicial education requirements each year or a greater number established by the supreme court. (3) completion of a course approved for continuing judicial or legal education hours applies to the judicial education requirements under subsection (2).

Therefore, this Court has determined that municipal court judges and justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record are required to complete a greater number of hours of judicial education than the minimum hours specified in Secs. 3 and 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003. Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 3, Ch. 389, L. 2003 and §3-6-202(4) and (5), MCA, all municipal court judges shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that pursuant to Article VII, Section 2(2) of the Constitution of Montana, Sec. 10, Ch. 389, L. 2003, and §3-10-203(4), MCA, all justices of the peace for justice's courts established as courts of record shall attend the two mandatory annual training sessions provided for in §3-10-203, MCA, in addition to whatever other courses of continuing judicial or legal education they may choose to complete.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be effective July 1, 2003."

2003 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 114 in (1) deleted reference to subsection (1) of 7-4-2504. Amendment effective October 1, 2003.

Chapter 389 in (1) at beginning inserted "Subject to subsections (2) through (4)"; inserted (4) setting the salary of the justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

Grandfather Clause: Section 13, Ch. 389, L. 2003, provided: "An incumbent justice of the peace on [the effective date of this act] [effective July, 1, 2003], in a county in which a justice's court established as a court of record is established, who meets the minimum education requirements for a justice of the peace is eligible to run for the justice of the peace for a justice's court established as a court of record in that county at the next and subsequent elections held for the justice of the peace for the justice's court established as a court of record unless the justice of the peace has a break in service."

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 in (1) in first sentence after "resolution and" deleted "may, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year" and at end after "7-4-2504(1)" deleted "set their salaries at the prior fiscal year level if that does not result in a reduction in salary" and deleted former second sentence that read: "Salaries must meet the minimum requirements established by this section"; deleted former (2) and (3) that read: "(2) If the salary of the justice of the peace was determined on a fee basis for the years 1971 and 1972, he shall receive a monthly salary of not less than one-eighteenth of the total fees, civil and criminal, collected by the justice or his predecessor in office during the 2 years 1971 and 1972.

(3) If the salary of the justice of the peace was determined on a nonfee basis for the years 1971 and 1972, the justice shall be paid not less than the highest salary earned by the justice or his predecessor for the years 1971 and 1972"; at end of (2) after "county" deleted "except as provided for in subsections (1) and (5)"; in (3) inserted second sentence prohibiting reduction of justice's salary during term of office; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1986 Amendment: In first sentence of (1) following "resolution", inserted remainder of sentence relating to setting salaries at the prior fiscal year level; and at end of (4) inserted reference to subsection (1).

Case Notes

Apparent Intent of Legislature to Improve Salaries: Court applied ordinary rules of grammar to the provisions of this section relating to nonfee Justices of the Peace that raised minimum salaries to level comparable to other county elected officials by combining 1971 and 1972 rates so as to insure significant improvement of the Justice's Court system as contemplated by the 1972 Montana Constitution. 1983 Amendment: Changed "justice" to "justice's court".

Attorney General's Opinions

Justice of the Peace Not Precluded From Acting as City Judge During Justice Court Office Hours: The office hours of a Justice Court are set by the County Commissioners, and during those hours, the court is always open for the transaction of business, such as the filing of court documents with the Clerk of Court. However, a Justice of the Peace is not statutorily required to be present in Justice Court during every hour the Justice Court is open for business. Thus, a Justice of the Peace is not precluded from acting as a city judge during office hours of the Justice Court. 43 A.G. Op. 49 (1989), overruling 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983), to the extent that it concludes that the Board of County Commissioners sets the hours of the Justice of the Peace.

Justice's Court to Be Open on All Working Days — Limited Office Hours of Justice Permitted: A Justice's Court is always open for the transaction of business except on legal holidays and nonjudicial days. However, the office hours that must be kept by a Justice of the Peace each day are set by the County Commissioners and need not include hours on every day that the Justice's Court is open for the transaction of business. 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983).

Justice of the Peace — Deduction From Full-Time Status: Absent a voluntary waiver by the incumbent, the proper time at which to reduce a full-time Justice of the Peace position to a part-time position is before the next election. 38 A.G. Op. 90 (1980).

Office Closure: The Justice of the Peace who is located at the county seat cannot close that court 1 day a week in order to hold Justice's Court in another city. 35 A.G. Op. 99 (1974).

3-10-209. Expenses.

Case Notes

Agreement by County Commission to Pay Justice Court Expenses — Failure to Object — Appeal Precluded: A Justice of the Peace requested approval of funds from the County Commission for employment of a temporary clerical assistant. The County Commission initially refused to approve the funds. The claim was then submitted for certification pursuant to Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), and was subsequently certified as an actual and necessary expense incurred in the performance of actual duties of the Justice Court. When the bill was still not paid, the Justice of the Peace filed a petition for a contempt order against the County Commissioners for failure to pay the certified claim. The order was amended to include attorney fees. The County Commission then agreed to pay the claim and did not oppose the motion to amend, nor did it file a responsive brief. However, it later alleged error. The Supreme Court held that the County Commission waived the right to appeal by agreeing to pay the claim and then failing to object to the District Court order to pay the claim and taking no further action to challenge the claim. In re Certain Justice Court Expenses, 264 M 510, 872 P2d 795, 51 St. Rep. 372 (1994).

Claim of Justice's Court for Unbudgeted Actual and Necessary Expenses: When Justice of Peace filed claim to pay necessary extra clerical assistance, County Commissioners did not have discretion to disallow claim under section 16-1906, R.C.M. 1947 (renumbered 7-6-2323 through 7-6-2325, 7-6-2327, and 7-6-2328, all sections now repealed), as section 93-412, R.C.M. 1947 (now 3-10-103 and 3-10-209), prevailed. When a specific statute conflicts with a general statute, the specific controls over the general to the extent of any repugnancy. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975). (Annotator's Comment: In this case Supreme Court exercised supervisory powers to provide a procedure to prevent future actual or potential conflict between the Board of County Commissioners and Justice's Courts.)

Mandamus — Payment of Clerical Expenses: County Commissioners can be compelled to pay for necessary clerical expenses under this section and 3-10-103 when necessity is shown for the performance of duties. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

Attorney General's Opinions

Duty of Boards of County Commissioners to Accept and Pay Claims for Actual and Necessary Clerical Expenses of Justice's Court: Under 3-10-103, a duty is created on the part of Boards of County Commissioners to accept and pay claims for actual and necessary clerical expenses associated with the operation of Justices' Courts. If disputes arise regarding payment of those expenses, the procedural rule in State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), applies. Although Boards may have some budgetary discretion when considering payment of actual and necessary court expenses, the statutes governing the county budgeting process do not preclude application of the Browman rule when disputes arise. 49 A.G. 1997 Amendment: Chapter 150 in (1) substituted "3-1-803 and 3-1-805" for "subdivision 1, 2, or 3" and at end, after "preside", deleted "in his behalf"; in (2)(a) inserted introductory clause relating to requirements to qualify substitute Justice of the Peace; at end of (2)(a)(i), after second sentence, deleted "The county commissioners shall administer the oath of office to each"; inserted (2)(a)(ii) requiring sitting Justice of the Peace to obtain waiver of training for substitutes; in (2)(a)(iii), after "list", inserted "provided for in subsection (2)(a)(i), shall subscribe to the written oath of office" and inserted second sentence allowing oath to be subscribed before member of Board of County Commissioners or any other authorized officer; inserted (2)(b) requiring list, oath, and approval and waiver to be filed with County Clerk; inserted (2)(c) allowing County Clerk to provide list of substitutes to local law enforcement; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 25, 1997.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 150, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, in Potter v. District Court, 266 Mont. 384 (1994), the Montana Supreme Court ordered the suppression of evidence obtained under search warrants issued by an acting Justice of the Peace who had not been properly qualified; and

WHEREAS, the Montana Supreme Court found that compliance with the statutory scheme for qualifying substitutes for Justices of the Peace is mandatory and that failure to follow the statutory requirements may result in an unqualified substitute attempting to act in a judicial capacity without authority; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that clarification of the statutory scheme for qualifying substitutes for Justices of the Peace may avoid future problems in which an unqualified substitute attempts to act in a judicial capacity and may avoid the consequences associated with such a situation.

THEREFORE, the Legislature of the State of Montana finds it appropriate to clarify the statutory scheme for qualifying substitutes for Justices of the Peace."

1991 Amendment: In (2) inserted second sentence regarding qualifications of persons listed, in third sentence, after "list", deleted "within the ensuing 30 days or", after "soon" deleted "thereafter", and after "possible" inserted "after the person has received a waiver of training from the supreme court". Amendment effective April 2, 1991.

1985 Amendment: Inserted (2) requiring Justice of the Peace to provide a list of persons qualified to hold court in his place during a temporary absence and requiring them to take an oath; in (3) substituted text authorizing Justice of the Peace or County Commissioners to call in a substitute for the Justice if he is sick, disabled, or absent for former text that read: "Whenever a justice is sick, disabled, or absent and the county commissioners find that there is a delay in the proper administration of justice or the county attorney makes a written request, another justice, if there is one readily available, or a city judge or some other qualified person shall be called in to hold court for the absent justice until his return"; and in (4) in last sentence, after "county", substituted "the justice of the peace may designate another person" for "the county commissioners shall handle the situation".

Case Notes

Substitute Justice of the Peace Not Duly Authorized or Properly Called — Search Warrants Invalid: A Justice of the Peace submitted a written waiver request form for proposing substitute Justices of the Peace but failed to create a list of proposed substitutes as required in this section. One of the designated substitutes took the judicial oath of office, but not in the form required by Art. III, sec. 3, Mont. Const. The substitute justice was called by a Deputy Sheriff, who requested warrants allowing a search of defendant's property. The warrants were issued and executed, but the warrants were challenged by defendants on the grounds that the warrants were not issued by a properly authorized substitute justice. The state argued that the authorization and call-in of the substitute justice were in substantial compliance with the law and that any technical errors in the procedures should not operate to suppress evidence. Applying Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319 (1994), the Supreme Court held that substantial compliance was insufficient. The procedure used in authorizing the substitute justice with a variant form of the constitutional oath of office was a major discrepancy in the authorization process, and the procedure of providing law enforcement with a menu of substitutes from which to choose clearly violated Potter. The substitute Justice of the Peace was not duly authorized, thus the warrants issued by the substitute were void ab initio. St. v. Vickers, 1998 MT 201, 290 M 356, 964 P2d 756, 55 St. Rep. 859 (1998), distinguishing U.S. v. Leon, 468 US 897, 82 L Ed 2d 677, 104 S Ct 3405 (1984).

Legal Qualifications of Justice of the Peace: According to applicable statutes and the rules of the Commission on Courts of Limited Jurisdiction, before a person is legally qualified to serve as a substitute Justice of the Peace, the following requirements must be met: (1) within 30 days of taking office, the elected or appointed Justice of the Peace must create a list of persons who are qualified to act in the sitting judge's absence when no other Justice or City Court Judge is available; (2) the sitting Justice of the Peace must request and obtain from the Commission a waiver of training for the substitute judge and show that the substitute judge is of good moral character and has good community support, a sense of community standards, and a basic knowledge of court procedure; and (3) the substitute judge must be sworn in by the County Commissioners. (See 1997 amendment.) A search warrant issued by a substitute judge in a case in which these qualifications were not met was held to be void ab initio because the statutory procedures to make him a judge and to vest him with the power to perform judicial functions had not been followed. Evidence seized pursuant to the warrant was suppressed. Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319, 51 St. Rep. 853 (1994).

Sitting Judge to Be Called Prior to Calling of Substitute Judge: In addition to the legal qualifications of a substitute judge, a sitting Justice of the Peace must first attempt to call in another Justice of the Peace, if there is one readily available, or a City Court Judge before resorting to calling in a qualified substitute judge from the list of substitute judges. A search warrant issued by a substitute judge in a case in which this procedure was not followed was held to be void ab initio because the statutory procedures to make him a judge and to vest him with the power to perform judicial functions had not been followed. Evidence seized pursuant to the warrant was suppressed. Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319, 51 St. Rep. 853 (1994).

Attorney General's Opinions

When Substitute Justice of the Peace May Be Called — Reliance on Letters of Unavailability: How a substitute Justice of the Peace is selected depends on the reasons for the absence of the sitting Justice of the Peace. If the sitting Justice of the Peace is disqualified pursuant to 3-1-803 or 3-1-805, only another Justice of the Peace may be called in and the substitute may not be a person qualified pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. If the sitting Justice of the Peace is sick, disabled, or absent, another Justice of the Peace or City Judge may be called in if available or a person may be called in who is qualified pursuant to subsection (2) of this section if another Justice of the Peace or City Judge is not readily available. If the sitting Justice of the Peace is on vacation or in training, the substitute is to be chosen in the same manner as if the sitting Justice of the Peace is sick, disabled, or absent, as long as there is not another Justice of the Peace from the county of the sitting Justice of the Peace. In determining who is available to act as a substitute, the sitting Justice of the Peace may rely on letters from other Justices of the Peace and City Judges that they are unavailable. However, after a reasonable time, the sitting Justice of the Peace should contact those who wrote the letters to determine if they are still unavailable. 48 A.G. Op. 11 (2000). See also 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983), and Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319 (1994).

County Residency Not Required of Acting Justice of the Peace: An acting Justice of the Peace who is called to act pursuant to this section and who is otherwise qualified to serve under 3-10-202 need not be a resident of the county where the court sits. 43 A.G. Op. 51 (1990).

Authority to Select Substitute Justice of the Peace — Substitution Choices: A Justice of the Peace has the primary authority to select his substitute during temporary absences. In the event the justice is sick, disabled, or absent and is unable to call in a substitute, one may be called in by the County Commissioners. The Justice of the Peace or the County Commissioners must look to the following substitution choices: (1) another justice, if available; (2) a city judge; or (3) a qualified person from the list provided for in subsection (2) of this section. In the event the Justice of the Peace is on vacation or attending a training session, if there is no other justice in the county, the Justice of the Peace must look to the same substitution choices. 43 A.G. Op. 49 (1989).

Qualifications for List of Temporary Substitute Justices: In order to be eligible for the list of persons provided by a Justice of the Peace as temporary substitute justices, persons must meet the qualifications set forth in 3-10-202(2) and the residency requirements of 3-10-204. 42 A.G. Op. 4 (1987).

No Requirement of Specific Length of Time of Absence of Justice Prior to Appointment of Substitute: There is no specific length of time for which a regular Justice of the Peace must be absent before the County Commissioners can appoint an acting Justice of the Peace. (See 1985 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983).

Acting Justice Not to Be Appointed in Advance: The Board of County Commissioners may not appoint an acting Justice of the Peace, in advance, to act whenever a Justice is sick, disabled, or absent. (See 1985 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983).

"Other Qualified Person" Not to Replace Disqualified Justice: Prior to the 1985 amendment, in a county where there was only one Justice of the Peace and the Justice was disqualified under 3-10-231(1), a Justice from a neighboring county had to be called in as a replacement. Section 3-10-231 did not authorize calling in "some other qualified person" in this situation. 40 A.G. Op. 26 (1983).

Jurisdiction of Justices' Courts

Part Case Notes

Jurisdiction Required Before Judgment Effective: It is fundamental that a court rendering a decision in a particular case have jurisdiction over the parties. When the judgment roll on its face shows that the court was without jurisdiction to render the judgment, its pronouncement is in fact no judgment and cannot be enforced. No right can be derived from it. All proceedings founded upon it are invalid and ineffective for any purpose. Ciotti v. Hoover, 237 M 462, 774 P2d 406, 46 St. Rep. 969 (1989), following Apple v. Edwards, 123 M 135, 211 P2d 138 (1949).

Case Notes

Remedy for Criminal Prosecution of Public Nuisance: Panasuk, convicted in City Court of misdemeanor criminal public nuisance charges under 45-8-111, contended that because Rule 4(B), M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20), 25-31-102, and this section preclude a nonrecord court from hearing actions involving the title to or possession of real property, jurisdiction for prosecution of the public nuisance charge must lie with the District Court. He cited 45-8-112 as authority that any action to abate a nuisance must be brought in the name of the state and that because abatement is a form of injunctive relief, the District Court has exclusive jurisdiction. He also argued that 27-30-202 provides the exclusive civil and criminal remedies for public nuisance. His claims were dismissed for the following reasons: (1) charges filed under 45-8-111 were criminal rather than related to a civil action involving title to or possession of real property, which is regulated by the sections cited by Panasuk; (2) the remedy created by 27-30-202 has been supplemented by subsequent legislative action regarding a City Court's jurisdiction over misdemeanors and by the enactment of 46-17-101, which requires that all prosecutions brought in City Court be commenced by a sworn complaint; and (3) because Panasuk's interpretation would result in a direct contradiction between 27-30-202 and statutes subsequently enacted, the argument that 27-30-202 provides the exclusive remedies for public nuisance is erroneous. Billings v. Panasuk, 253 M 403, 833 P2d 1050, 49 St. Rep. 499 (1992).

Prosecutor's Quasi-Judicial Immunity From Civil Action: Plaintiff's civil action against a County Attorney, based upon alleged unlawful arrest by certain policemen and challenging the legality of the criminal prosecution against him, must be dismissed because the County Attorney enjoys absolute immunity for prosecutorial actions done in a quasi-judicial capacity. Hall v. Lympus, 478 F. Supp. 644, 36 St. Rep. 1692 (D.C. Mont. 1979).

Jurisdictional Amounts: The jurisdiction of a Justice of the Peace, in an action for a fine, penalty, or forfeiture, is not dependent upon the amount that the plaintiff might recover but upon the amount that he demands. Reynolds v. Smith, 48 M 149, 135 P 1190 (1913).

Actions Arising on Contract: This section does not clothe Justice's Courts with jurisdiction to entertain an action brought against a Sheriff for damages for nonperformance of an official duty and to recover a penalty imposed for its nonperformance, such an action not being one arising on contract. Oppenheimer v. Regan, 32 M 110, 79 P 695 (1905).

Attorney General's Opinions

Validity of Ordinance Allowing Escalating Penalty for Failure to Obtain Business License: A Lewistown city ordinance that allows an escalating monthly penalty for failure to obtain a local business license is valid despite Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983). The Shea case determined that escalating penalties for parking violations were criminal penalties and violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const. In analyzing the Lewistown ordinance, the Attorney General observed that the crucial issue is whether the penalty imposed is civil or criminal in nature. Applying the five factors outlined in Brown v. Multnomah County District Court, 570 P2d 52 (Ore. 1977), he concluded that the instant ordinance imposed civil penalties and that the ordinance was valid. 40 A.G. Op. 75 (1984).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 393 in (1)(a) at beginning inserted exception clause; inserted (2) concerning district court concurrent jurisdiction over certain misdemeanors; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 223 in (2), before "violations", inserted "misdemeanor"; inserted (4) regarding concurrent jurisdiction of violations of fish and game statutes; and made minor changes in style.

1985 Amendments: Chapter 52 inserted (6) relating to misdemeanor violations of Title 81, chapter 8, part 2.

Chapter 318 in (3) substituted "punishable by a fine exceeding $500 or imprisonment exceeding 6 months or both such fine and imprisonment" for "punishable by a fine only not exceeding $1,500".

1983 Amendments: Chapter 601 inserted (5) relating to violations of Title 61, chapter 10.

Chapter 612, in (1), deleted from end "excluding jurisdiction in cases commenced under Title 45, chapter 9, except to act as examining and committing courts and to conduct preliminary hearings as provided in subsection (4)".

Case Notes

Jurisdiction Over Municipal Court Protection Order: The Missoula County District Court issued a permanent injunction, based on a stalking violation of 45-5-220, prohibiting Gillispie from contacting his former wife "by a third person, except by telephone or correspondence through her attorney of record". Gillispie admitted contacting his former wife's mother in Missoula and was charged with and convicted in Municipal Court of an order of protection violation pursuant to 45-5-626. On appeal, Gillispie contended that the Municipal Court did not have jurisdiction over the offense. A Municipal Court has geographic jurisdiction over misdemeanors coextensive with the jurisdiction of Justices' Courts located in the same county. Although neither Gillispie nor the former wife was present in Missoula County at the time of the prohibited phone call, the former wife's mother received the call in Missoula County. Thus, the Municipal Court was vested with jurisdiction over the misdemeanor order of protection violation when the necessary result of Gillispie's third-party contact by telephone was committed within Missoula County. Missoula v. Gillispie, 1999 MT 268, 296 M 444, 989 P2d 401, 56 St. Rep. 1085 (1999).

Expungement of Two of Three Prior DUI and BAC Convictions — Lack of District Court Jurisdiction — Felony Charge Dismissed: Sidmore was arrested for DUI in March 1996. His driving record revealed that he had a 1988 Idaho DUI conviction, a 1994 Montana DUI conviction, and a 1990 Montana BAC conviction. Pursuant to 61-8-714, Sidmore was charged with felony DUI, fourth offense. Sidmore agreed that under 61-8-714, both BAC and DUI convictions can be counted to determine the total number of convictions that a defendant has received. However, under the 1989 version of 61-8-722, Sidmore did not receive a subsequent BAC conviction within the 5-year period following the 1990 BAC conviction nor did the 1994 DUI conviction prevent expungement of the 1990 BAC conviction, so the 1990 BAC conviction was expunged from the record. Further, under the 1987 version of 61-8-714, Sidmore did not receive a subsequent DUI conviction within the 5-year period following the 1988 Idaho DUI conviction nor did the 1990 BAC conviction prevent expungement of the 1988 Idaho DUI conviction, so the 1988 Idaho DUI conviction was also expunged from the record, making the 1994 DUI conviction the only prior conviction that could be counted to support the felony DUI charge. Thus, under this section, the Justice's Court retained jurisdiction of the misdemeanor 1996 offense and the District Court erred in denying Sidmore's motion to dismiss the felony DUI charge for lack of jurisdiction. St. v. Sidmore, 286 M 218, 951 P2d 558, 54 St. Rep. 1381 (1997).

Fish and Game Restitution Not Within Jurisdiction of Justice Court: The Justice Court imposed a $515 fine, suspended fishing privileges, and ordered restitution in an amount necessary to mitigate the effects of the violation to be paid by a plaintiff who had intentionally introduced fish into Lake Mary Ronan. On appeal, the Supreme Court vacated the conviction and sentence, holding that the potentially limitless fine that could be imposed to mitigate the effects of a violation of the fish and game statute is inconsistent with the statute that grants Justices' Courts jurisdiction over violations of fish and game statutes that are punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000. (See 1993 amendment.) Moseley v. Lake County Justice Court, 256 M 206, 845 P2d 732, 50 St. Rep. 28 (1993).

Misdemeanor Criminal Contempt — Jurisdiction Properly Exercised — Denial of Application for Writ of Certiorari Proper: The District Court properly denied defendant's application for a Writ of Certiorari to review his Justice's Court criminal contempt conviction. The Justice's Court clearly had jurisdiction under this section of a misdemeanor criminal contempt action. Thus, one of the three indispensable requisites to the granting of a Writ, that an inferior board has exceeded its jurisdiction, is absent. St. v. McAllister, 218 M 196, 708 P2d 239, 42 St. Rep. 1515 (1985).

Justice's Court — No Authority to Vacate Conviction and Order Alteration of Driver's Civil Records: A Justice's Court does not have authority to vacate a conviction or to direct alteration of the records of the Division of Motor Vehicles. Therefore, a Justice's Court could not order the Division to strike a prior DUI conviction and not consider it in revoking the driver's license on a second conviction. The District Court properly granted the Division's motion to quash a Writ of Mandate issued by the District Court staying the actions of the Division. Lancaster v. Dept. of Justice, 218 M 97, 706 P2d 126, 42 St. Rep. 1425 (1985).

Criminal Contempt and Contempt of Court Distinguished — District Court Without Jurisdiction to Try Criminal Contempt: Criminal contempt, a misdemeanor crime defined in 45-7-309, is an offense against society prosecuted by the state, whereas contempt of court is a judicial power arising out of Art. VII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., and Title 3 that allows a court to enforce its own judgments and maintain decorum in its proceedings. Thus, while only the District Court could have found the defendant in contempt of court for failure to pay a fine from a criminal proceeding of that court, it lacked jurisdiction to try a misdemeanor criminal contempt action for failure to pay the fine because criminal contempt, like most other misdemeanors, must be brought in Justice's Court. St. v. Abrams, 209 M 508, 680 P2d 585, 41 St. Rep. 871 (1984).

District Court Jurisdiction Over DWI Charge: Jurisdiction of the District Court over criminal matters depends on the maximum sentence that can be imposed for committing the crime. When the maximum sentence increases to give the District Court jurisdiction because of repeated DWI offenses, proof of prior offenses does not become an element that must be proved at trial and can be proved at any time until sentencing. Thus, failure to introduce evidence of prior convictions at trial does not deprive the District Court of jurisdiction. St. v. Campbell, 189 M 107, 615 P2d 190, 37 St. Rep. 1337 (1980).

Jurisdiction Retained: Where District Court's jurisdiction is originally invoked by an information charging a felony, it is not lost by State subsequently reducing the charge to only a lesser included misdemeanor. St. v. Shults, 169 M 33, 544 P2d 817, 33 St. Rep. 20 (1976).

Justices of the Peace — Authority to Issue Search Warrants for Dangerous Drugs: Justices' Courts are constitutionally created, and when the Legislature has had the opportunity to limit their jurisdiction and has not seen fit to do so, a legislative intent to authorize the practice of Justices' Courts issuing search warrants is presumed as a Justice of the Peace meets the standard of "a neutral and detached magistrate" to examine the application for a search warrant and determine whether reasonable cause exists for its issuance. St. v. Snider, 168 M 220, 541 P2d 1204, 32 St. Rep. 1056 (1975).

Driving While Under Influence of Intoxicating Liquor: Since the offense of driving a vehicle on a highway while under the influence of intoxicating liquor is a misdemeanor, it falls within the jurisdiction of a Justice of the Peace under this section. Wilson v. Brodie, 148 M 235, 419 P2d 306 (1966).

Maximum Penalties: Prior to a 1985 amendment, a Justice of the Peace had no jurisdiction of a misdemeanor where the offense charged was punishable by a fine exceeding $500 or imprisonment of more than 6 months. State ex rel. Freebourn v. District Court, 105 M 77, 69 P2d 748 (1937).

Petit Larceny: Justices of the Peace have exclusive jurisdiction of petit larceny (no longer an offense in Montana; see, generally, Title 45, ch. 6, part 3). In re Jones, 46 M 122, 126 P 929 (1912).

Cohabitation: The offense of living together in open and notorious cohabitation in a state of fornication (no longer an offense in Montana) was a misdemeanor and fell within the jurisdiction of a Justice of the Peace. Hosoda v. Neville, 45 M 310, 123 P 20 (1912).

Venue of Justices: A Justice of the Peace elected in one township was held to have jurisdiction of an offense against local option committed in another township in the same county. St. v. O'Brien, 35 M 482, 90 P 514 (1907).

Constitutional Basis: In 1903, the sections of the statute enumerating the classes of cases of which a Justice of the Peace could take cognizance confined them strictly to the constitutional limitations in the 1889 Constitution. Shea v. Regan, 29 M 308, 74 P 737 (1903).

Attorney General's Opinions

Concurrent Jurisdiction Over Certain Misdemeanors: Misdemeanor prosecutions that are within the concurrent jurisdictions of both a City Court and a Justice's Court may at the election of the prosecuting officer be brought in either court. Prosecution of such offenses must be instituted in the name of the state. 37 A.G. Op. 42 (1977).

Private Citizen Without Power to Prosecute Complaint: Since the term "magistrate" includes Justices of the Peace in section 16-3101, R.C.M. 1947 (now 2-15-501, 7-4-2711 through 7-4-2713, and 7-4-2715 through 7-4-2717), the County Attorney is charged with the responsibility of prosecuting complaints in Justices' Courts and a Justice of the Peace cannot allow a private citizen to prosecute a complaint. However, a County Attorney is vested with normal discretion and need not file and prosecute every individual's complaint when there is insufficient evidence to warrant prosecution or when such a prosecution would not be in the interests of justice. 36 A.G. Op. 47 (1975).

District Court Jurisdiction Over Gambling Acts: Pursuant to 46-2-201, District Courts have exclusive jurisdiction over violations of the Montana Card Games Act, the Bingo and Raffles Law, and the sports pools law. 35 A.G. Op. 86 (1974).

Attorney General's Opinions

Enforcement of Out-of-County Justice's Court Judgments: An execution issued by a Justice's Court may be enforced only within the county in which the Justice's Court has territorial jurisdiction. To enforce a Justice's Court judgment in a different county, the procedures of 25-31-912 and 25-31-913 (both repealed) must be followed. Under those provisions, an abstract of the Justice's Court judgment may be entered in the judgment docket of the District Court and the Clerk of the District Court may then issue an execution directed to the Sheriff of any county in the state. An execution issued pursuant to 25-31-913 (now repealed) is enforceable in the same manner as an execution issued on a judgment of the District Court. 37 A.G. Op. 126 (1978).

Case Notes

Appearance of Accused Through Attorney Allowed Unless Personal Appearance Ordered: Section 46-16-120 clearly allows persons charged with misdemeanor offenses to appear through their attorney only, unless the court specifically requires a personal appearance by the accused. In this case, a Justice of the Peace specifically ordered the defendant to "make all court appearances" but did not order the defendant to appear in person. Therefore, an appearance by the defendant's attorney satisfied the statute, and it was error for the defendant to be held in contempt for failure to appear. St. v. Voth, 270 M 349, 892 P2d 537, 52 St. Rep. 225 (1995).

Crime of Criminal Contempt — Section Not a Limitation: The provisions of this section apply only to the judicial contempt power vested in the courts by Art. VII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., and Title 3; they do not limit a Justice's Court's power to try and sentence for the misdemeanor crime of criminal contempt found at 45-7-309. St. v. Abrams, 209 M 508, 680 P2d 585, 41 St. Rep. 871 (1984).

Criminal Contempt and Contempt of Court Distinguished — District Court Without Jurisdiction to Try Criminal Contempt: Criminal contempt, a misdemeanor crime defined in 45-7-309, is an offense against society prosecuted by the state, whereas contempt of court is a judicial power arising out of Art. VII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., and Title 3 that allows a court to enforce its own judgments and maintain decorum in its proceedings. Thus, while only the District Court could have found the defendant in contempt of court for failure to pay a fine from a criminal proceeding of that court, it lacked jurisdiction to try a misdemeanor criminal contempt action for failure to pay the fine because criminal contempt, like most other misdemeanors, must be brought in Justice's Court. Persons Authorized to Serve Summons: This section did not affect section 93-6711, R.C.M. 1947 (pertinent part in 25-31-408, now repealed), authorizing a nonofficial person to serve a Justice's summons. State ex rel. Reagan v. Harrington, 31 M 294, 78 P 484 (1904).

Liability of Justice: An official act of a special officer, for which a Justice of the Peace will be liable, is what is done under color of or by virtue of his office but in excess of his authority. Ramsey v. Burns, 27 M 154, 69 P 711 (1902).

Proof of Service: When service of summons in an action pending in a Justice's Court is made by a person appointed by the Justice, proof of service must be made by affidavit. Layton v. Trapp, 20 M 453, 52 P 208 (1898).

No Error in City Court's Denial of Motion for Continuance After Similar Motions Granted: Over 2 years after charges were filed and after numerous motions of continuance were granted, a trial date was set pursuant to Robertson's motion for continuance to permit him to make travel arrangements after moving to California. Three weeks before trial, Robertson again moved for a continuance on the same grounds, but the City Court declined to grant it, and Robertson was tried in absentia. However, it was Robertson, not the court, who caused the trial to go forward without him. Not only did he have ample time to arrange for an appearance in Montana, but rescheduling trial dates upon motion is within the trial court's discretion and will be affirmed absent a showing that the court abused its discretion by acting arbitrarily without conscientious judgment or exceeding the bounds of reason, resulting in substantial injustice. Missoula v. Robertson, 2000 MT 52, 298 M 419, 998 P2d 144, 57 St. Rep. 250 (2000). See also Campbell v. Canty, 1998 MT 278, 291 M 398, 969 P2d 268 (1998).

City Not Liable for City Judge's Civil Rights Violations — City Judge Acts Under State Authority: Claims of the indigent defendants, who were not effectively informed by a City Judge of their right to appointed counsel, were properly dismissed. Under Montana law, a City Judge's acts and decision in advising defendants of their right were performed under the state's authority rather than the city's authority, thereby precluding imposition of civil rights liability on the city. Further, the indigent defendants did not have standing to seek declaratory and injunctive relief. There are other remedies for indigent defendants in future situations—they can file a complaint with the state body charged with overseeing judicial conduct, they can appeal their convictions to a higher court, and they can sue a judge individually because a judge does not enjoy judicial immunity for unconstitutional behavior when the facts are sufficient to grant declaratory or injunctive relief. Eggar v. Livingston, 40 F3d 312 (9th Cir. 1994).

Jurisdiction Required Before Judgment Effective: It is fundamental that a court rendering a decision in a particular case have jurisdiction over the parties. When the judgment roll on its face shows that the court was without jurisdiction to render the judgment, its pronouncement is in fact no judgment and cannot be enforced. No right can be derived from it. All proceedings founded upon it are invalid and ineffective for any purpose. Ciotti v. Hoover, 237 M 462, 774 P2d 406, 46 St. Rep. 969 (1989), following Apple v. Edwards, 123 M 135, 211 P2d 138 (1949).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 292 deleted (2) that read: "(2) Police court is hereby renamed city court, and all references to police court or police judges in the Montana Code Annotated shall be considered amended to read city court or city judge"; and made minor changes in style.

1987 Amendment: In (1) inserted second sentence requiring the judge to establish regular sessions.

Case Notes

Limited Jurisdiction: Police courts (now city courts), like Justices' Courts, were courts of limited jurisdiction and had only such authority as was expressly conferred upon them. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 283 P 430 (1929).

Attorney General's Opinions

Legality of Evening City Court Hours: A City Judge is not prohibited by 3-1-301, 3-1-302, or this section from establishing regular sessions of the court during evening hours as long as regular sessions are not convened on Sundays or other legal holidays and the court is open for business on judicial days. These sections place no limitations on the hours of business. Although 7-4-102 requires that City Court offices be open for business continuously from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on weekdays, this does not prohibit a City Judge from setting office hours after 5 p.m. on weekdays. As long as the office is open during the required hours for the transaction of business, such as the filing of court documents with the clerk, the City Judge may set additional hours for regular court sessions. 43 A.G. Op. 61 (1990).

3-11-102. Concurrent jurisdiction.

Compiler's Comments

1987 Amendment: In (1), near middle after "misdemeanors", deleted "punishable by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding 6 months or by both fine and imprisonment" and inserted remainder of subsection giving court concurrent jurisdiction over proceedings under chapter 10, part 3, of this title.

Case Notes

Authority of City Court to Try DUI Charge Under State Statute — No Error in District Court Failure to Dismiss: McCarvel was charged in Billings City Court with DUI in violation of 61-8-401. McCarvel moved to dismiss on the grounds that he was charged with a violation of a state statute rather than a city ordinance. The City Court refused to dismiss. McCarvel was convicted by a jury and took a de novo appeal to the District Court. The District Court refused to dismiss and McCarvel pleaded guilty. The Supreme Court held that the Billings City Court had jurisdiction over the DUI offense concurrent with the Justice's Court. Because McCarvel was charged with a violation of a state statute rather than a city ordinance, the language of the city ordinance was immaterial. Billings v. McCarvel, 262 M 96, 863 P2d 441, 50 St. Rep. 1460 (1993).

City Attorney's Authority to Try City Prosecution of Statutory DUI Violation Upheld: McCarvel was charged in Billings City Court with a violation of the state DUI statute. He was convicted by a jury and appealed to District Court in which, after the District Court refused to dismiss, he pleaded guilty. The Supreme Court held that the city attorney could lawfully prosecute a violation of a state statute in City Court because the City Court had concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice's Court and because it was the city attorney's duty to prosecute on behalf of the city offenses heard in that court. Billings v. McCarvel, 262 M 96, 863 P2d 441, 50 St. Rep. 1460 (1993).

City Court Jurisdiction Over Misdemeanor Public Nuisance Charges: Section 46-2-203 provides a City Court with jurisdiction over criminal misdemeanor charges as authorized by this section. A violation of 45-8-111, maintaining a public nuisance, is clearly a misdemeanor; therefore, a City Court has jurisdiction over a criminal prosecution for public nuisance. Billings v. Panasuk, 253 M 403, 833 P2d 1050, 49 St. Rep. 499 (1992).

Power of State to Enact and Courts to Enforce Laws Regulating Motor Vehicles: Appellant, appearing pro se, challenged as unconstitutional laws requiring driver's license, mandatory insurance, and vehicle registration. The Supreme Court held that the issues raised by the appellant were frivolous, unreasonable, and groundless in that the court had previously recognized the state's power to regulate motor vehicles in the interests of public safety at the expense of individual rights. Whitefish v. Hansen, 237 M 105, 771 P2d 976, 46 St. Rep. 657 (1989).

Search Warrants: Police magistrates (now City or Municipal Judges) have never been given authority by the Legislature to issue search warrants, and therefore a search warrant issued by such magistrate must be void. St. v. Tropf, 166 M 79, 530 P2d 1158 (1975), applied, with regard to substitute judges, in Potter v. District Court, 266 M 384, 880 P2d 1319, 51 St. Rep. 853 (1994).

Nature of Departments: Where the District Courts are divided into departments, the court presided over by each of the Judges is the District Court and not a departmental court; neither department is a court of concurrent jurisdiction with the other, and in the absence of rules either Judge has full authority to proceed in any matter properly before the court. State ex rel. P.S.C. v. Great N. Util. Co., 86 M 442, 284 P 772 (1930).

Misdemeanors: A Justice of the Peace had jurisdiction under this section, as it existed prior to 1903 amendment, over misdemeanors committed in a town or city within his township. In re Ryan, 20 M 64, 50 P 129 (1897).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Court Jurisdiction of Third Offense DUI: Prior to 1987, a city court had jurisdiction of a third offense DUI only if that offense was adopted as a city ordinance and prosecuted as such by the city attorney. The 1987 amendment to 3-11-102 enabled third offense DUI to be prosecuted in city court as a violation of state law as well. 42 A.G. Op. 34 (1987).

Jurisdiction Over DUIs: A City Court may issue an arrest warrant in the name of the state of Montana when a violation of 61-8-401 is charged. 41 A.G. Op. 95 (1986).

Responsibility to Prosecute Misdemeanors in City Court: The City Attorney has primary responsibility to prosecute in City Court offenses committed in the city limits and charged as violations of state law. 37 A.G. Op. 62 (1977).

Concurrent Jurisdiction Over Certain Misdemeanors: Misdemeanor prosecutions which are within the concurrent jurisdictions of both a City Court and a Justice's Court may at the election of the prosecuting officer be brought in either court. Prosecution of such offenses must be instituted in the name of the state. 37 A.G. Op. 42 (1977).

Necessity of Ordinance or Resolution to Implement City Court Misdemeanor Jurisdiction: Statutory jurisdiction granted City Courts by 3-11-102 is self-executing, and a city or town does not need to take any affirmative action by resolution or ordinance to effect such jurisdiction. 37 A.G. Op. 42 (1977).

3-11-103. Exclusive jurisdiction.

Compiler's Comments

1991 Amendment: In (2), (3), (4), and (5) increased amount from $2,500 to $5,000.

1985 Amendment: Substituted "$2,500" for "$300" throughout.

Case Notes

Penalty Assessment of Fines: Statute providing for penalty assessments in addition to fines was void for indirectly enlarging jurisdiction of Justices' courts and police courts (now city courts) in terms of maximum fine which might have been imposed. State ex rel. Sanders v. Butte, 151 M 171, 441 P2d 190 (1968).

Defect in Complaint: The mere fact that an action for the violation of a city ordinance was entitled in the name of the "town" did not deprive the police court (now city court) of jurisdiction. State ex rel. Moreland v. Police Court, 87 M 17, 285 P 178 (1930).

Limited Jurisdiction: Police courts (now city courts), like Justices' Courts, were courts of limited jurisdiction and had only such authority as was expressly conferred upon them. State ex rel. Marquette v. Police Court, 86 M 297, 283 P 430 (1929).

False Imprisonment: A police (now city court) magistrate had jurisdiction to determine the validity of a town ordinance for a violation of which he sentenced plaintiff in an action for false imprisonment to serve a term in the county jail. Shampagne v. Keplinger, 78 M 114, 252 P 803 (1927).

Exclusive Jurisdiction of J.P. Designated to Act: A Justice of the Peace designated by the Town Council to act as police judge (now city court judge) had exclusive jurisdiction of all cases arising under the ordinances, in addition to his jurisdiction as a Justice. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912).

Prosecution in Name of Municipality: Prosecutions for violations of local ordinances must be conducted in the name of the municipality. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912).

Removal of Snow and Ice: Noncompliance with an ordinance making it the duty of an occupant of premises within the limits of a city to keep a sidewalk free from snow and ice was not in its essence a crime or misdemeanor, and actions arising therefrom were properly prosecuted in the name of the city. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912); Helena v. Kent, 32 M 279, 80 P 258 (1905). See also State ex rel. Butte v. District Court, 37 M 202, 95 P 841 (1908).

Vagrancy: The police court (now city court) of a city or town had exclusive jurisdiction of all proceedings for the violation of an ordinance defining vagrancy. State ex rel. Butte v. District Court, 37 M 202, 95 P 841 (1908).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 292 inserted (1) allowing a city governing body to determine the number of judges required to operate the City Court; and made minor changes in style.

1987 Amendment: In (2), near beginning, inserted "city or" and at end substituted "or until the agreement provided for in 3-11-205 terminates" for "unless the council terminates the designation".

1983 Amendment: In (1) after "An elected" inserted "or appointed".

1981 Amendment: Substituted "An elected" for "In cities of the first, second, and third class, the" at the beginning of (1); added (2) setting term of a Justice of the Peace acting as City Judge under 3-11-205.

3-11-202. Salary — qualifications.

1989 Amendment: Inserted (1)(b) requiring county residency for a City Judge; at beginning of (1)(c) inserted "satisfy"; and made minor changes in punctuation.

1987 Amendment: Inserted (1) relating to required qualifications; and at end of (2) inserted "or resolution".

Transition: Section 16, Ch. 528, L. 1979, provided: "A judicial officer, as defined in 1-1-202, who is occupying his judicial office on the effective date of this act shall continue to be paid expenses on the same basis as he is receiving them on the effective date of this act until the expiration of his term of office. All judicial officers who take office or begin a new term of office after the effective date of this act shall receive expenses as provided in this act."

Severability: Section 17, Ch. 528, L. 1979, was a severability section.

Trustee of Community College District — Authority to Hold Office: A City Judge is prohibited by Art. VII, sec. 10, Mont. Const., from holding office as an elected trustee of a community college district. 44 A.G. Op. 21 (1991).

3-11-203. When substitute for judge called in.

Compiler's Comments

1987 Amendment: In (1), in introductory clause, and in (2), after "call in", inserted "a city judge" and after "some qualified" substituted "person" for "resident of the city or town"; and inserted (3) allowing City Judges and Justices of the Peace to sit as City Judge upon request.

Attorney General's Opinions

When Qualified Person May Be Called as Substitute for City Judge: A qualified person may be called in as a substitute City Judge when the acting City Judge is sick, absent, unable to act, or disqualified. There is no requirement to contact any City Judge or Justice of the Peace prior to calling in a qualified person. A substitute City Judge may be called in regardless of the availability of another City Judge or Justice of the Peace and whether or not the other justices have expressed that they are unavailable. 48 A.G. Op. 11 (2000).

Limitation on the Power of City Judge to Appoint Replacement: A Justice of the Peace who has been designated to act as a City Judge for a town must himself make the determination that he is "unable to act" under the provisions of this section. That determination does not, however, confer on a City Judge the authority to appoint a regular deputy or substitute City Judge with power and authority to act in all matters the same as the regular City Judge. The City Judge who has determined he is unable to act for any reason may call in a Justice of the Peace or a qualified resident of the town to act in his place, but the substitute may act only as long as the situations listed in this section exist. 38 A.G. Op. 113 (1980).

3-11-205. Justice of the peace or judge of another city as city judge.

Compiler's Comments

1989 Amendment: In first sentence of (1), at end, substituted "justice of the peace or the city judge of another city or town to act as city judge" for "justice court", at beginning of second sentence inserted "The justice of the peace or city judge shall reside in the", at beginning of the third sentence substituted "The city or town" for "to act as city court and", after "such" substituted "judge" for "court", after "county" inserted "the other city or town, or the justice of the peace or the judge", before "payment" deleted "proportionate", near beginning of fourth sentence, after "justice", substituted "of the peace or other city judge" for "court", after "commissioners" inserted "or governing body of the city or town", before "in all cases" substituted "judge" for "court", and near beginning of fifth sentence, after "peace", inserted "or city judge of another city or town"; and made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation.

1987 Amendment: In (1) substituted first two sentences, allowing council to designate Justice's Court to act as City Court and fix funding for the court and stating criteria for when the Justice's Court acts as City Court, for "In a town, the council may designate a justice of the peace of the county in which the town is situated to act as city judge and may by ordinance fix the compensation for his services. The justice of the peace so designated who agrees to act in that capacity shall act as city judge in all cases arising out of violations of ordinances in which the town is a party" and in last sentence, after "town", inserted "or city".

1981 Amendments: Chapter 56 inserted (2) allowing combination of offices of Justice of the Peace and City Judge.

Chapter 269 substituted "who agrees to act in that capacity shall act as city judge" for "may act as city judge" near the middle of (1).

Case Notes

Exclusive Jurisdiction of J.P. Designated to Act: A Justice of the Peace designated by the Town Council to act as police judge (now city court judge) had exclusive jurisdiction of all cases arising under the ordinances, in addition to his jurisdiction as a Justice. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912).

Attorney General's Opinions

Residency for Justice of the Peace Serving as City Judge: A Justice of the Peace may not be appointed to serve as a City Judge in a town in which he does not reside without violating Art. VII, sec. 9, Mont. Const. 41 A.G. Op. 82 (1986). (Annotator's note: However, see 1987 amendment note. The 1987 amendment allows the council to designate a Justice's Court of the county to act as City Court.)

Town Council to Designate City Judge From Justices of the Peace of Same County: The statutes concerning the selection of a City Judge for a town stand in stark contrast to those concerning cities. Title 7 has no provision that requires the appointment of a City Judge by a town in order to implement it. Therefore, a town is not authorized by 7-4-4103 to appoint a City Judge who is not a Justice of the Peace. Rather, 3-11-205 provides for the appointment by the Town Council of a Justice of the Peace of the county in which the town is situated to act as City Judge. The 1975 amendment, which changed the statute to read, "[t]he justice of the peace so designated may act as a police judge in all cases arising out of a violation of ordinances in which the town is a party" from "must act", simply provides a designated Justice of the Peace with some discretion in the performance of his duty as City Judge for a town, where formerly the duty was mandatory. The statute does not authorize the appointment of a City Judge who is not a Justice of the Peace of the county in which the town is situated. The City Judge must be designated by the Town Council. 38 A.G. Op. 80 (1980).

3-11-206. City to provide facilities — conduct of court business — electronic filing and storage of court records.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 6 in (1)(a) substituted "city court" for "judge"; in (1)(a)(i) after "enable the" substituted "judge and the clerk of city court, if any, to conduct business" for "judge to perform the judge's duties"; in (1)(a)(ii) near end substituted "court" for "judicial office"; inserted (1)(b) allowing for a clerk of city court; in (2) at beginning substituted "The provisions of 3-6-302(1) and" for "Except as provided in subsection (2)(b), the provisions of 3-6-301 through"; deleted former (2)(b) that read: "(b) If the governing body of a city establishes by ordinance the position of clerk of city court, 3-6-301 does not apply to the city court"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 174 inserted (3) allowing electronic filing or storage of documents; and made minor changes in style.

Sanctions and Contempt Imposed on Attorney by City Court Invalid: A City Court imposed sanctions on an attorney for failing to appear to defend a client in a DUI case. The attorney argued that he had been required to attend a hearing in District Court and had diligently tried to inform the City Court of the conflict. The City Court refused to revoke the sanctions, adding instead a contempt charge. The Supreme Court ruled that the sanctions were improper in that the City Court acted arbitrarily in imposing them. The Supreme Court went on to reverse the contempt, finding on the basis that the sanctions did not constitute a lawful order and therefore the attorney could not be found in contempt for failing to pay the sanctions. All judicial officers who take office or begin a new term of office after the effective date of this act shall receive expenses as provided in this act."

1981 Amendment: Changed "juror" to "jury panel member" at the beginning of (1); added the last sentence of (1) relating to additional compensation of selected jurors; substituted "shall forfeit per diem and mileage" for "in the discretion of the court, may receive per diem and mileage" at the end of (2).

Attorney General's Opinions

Juror Fees as District Court Costs: Juror fees are District Court costs and may be paid out of the fund established by 7-6-2511. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Compensation Only for Attendance: A juror ("juror" changed to "jury panel member" in 1981) is not in attendance before a court during any period that he is excused and thus may not be compensated for those periods. 27 A.G. Op. 34 (1957).

Travel Compensation: This section places no limitation on the number of trips a juror ("juror" changed to "jury panel member" in 1981) may be compensated for, and he should be compensated his travel mileage for each day he travels between his residence and the county seat. 27 A.G. Op. 34 (1957).

1991 Amendment: In (1), after "criminal actions", inserted "and coroner inquests"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) Jurors in coroner's inquests shall receive a fee of $7.50 per day"; and made minor changes in style.

1985 Amendment: In (1) at beginning of first sentence, substituted "A jury panel member" for "Jurors in courts not of record" and near middle of first sentence, after "$12 per day" inserted "for attendance before a court not of record and a mileage allowance, as provided in 2-18-503, for traveling each way between his residence and the court. A jury panel member selected for a case shall receive an additional $13 per day while serving"; and inserted (4) relating to forfeit of per diem and mileage by a juror excused on his own motion or a special juror not sworn in.

Case Notes

Declaratory Judgment on Requiring Prepayment of Jury Fees by Party Demanding Jury: The Supreme Court took original jurisdiction of, and heard, a petition for a declaratory judgment that it was unconstitutional to require prepayment, by a party requesting a civil jury trial, of each day's jury fees at or before the end of the prior day. The requirement was contained in Rule 14F, M.J.C.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 22). There was a justiciable controversy of statewide impact in that the rule applied to all justice courts; delay could abridge vital constitutional rights of litigants; the purpose of the declaratory judgment would serve the office of a writ, and the court has jurisdiction to issue, hear, and determine writs; and it would promote judicial economy to accept jurisdiction rather than force piecemeal litigation on the constitutionality of the rule. The court said that the prepayment requirement was contained in the rule and 3-15-203, which provided that "In civil actions, the jurors' fees must be paid by the party demanding the jury and taxed as costs against the losing party", and declared both the statute and rule unconstitutional. Hammer v. Justice Court, 222 M 35, 720 P2d 281, 43 St. Rep. 1040 (1986).

3-15-204. Duties of clerk as to jurors.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 152 in (2) near middle before "warrant" inserted "county"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 26, 2003.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: (Version effective on occurrence of contingency) Chapter 473 inserted (4) requiring clerk of court in county where asbestos-related claim is tried to perform outlined duties and requiring costs incurred by clerks to be paid from asbestos claims administration fund; and made minor changes in style.

Chapter 585 in (3) substituted "The amount specified in the warrant must be paid by the state as provided in 3-5-901 and 3-5-902" for "On presentation of such warrant to the county treasurer, the amount specified in the warrant must be paid out of the general fund unless the county has a district court fund. If the county has a district court fund, the amount must be paid out of such fund"; deleted former (4) that read: "(4) The clerk must make a detailed statement containing a list of the jurors and the amount of fees and mileage earned by each and file the same with the clerk of the board of county commissioners on the first day of every regular meeting of the board. No quarterly salary must be paid the clerk until such statement is filed. The board must examine such statement and see that it is correct"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2002.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 473, L. 2001, provided: "WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that there are a large number of asbestos-related claims by Montana citizens that are primarily within the venue of the 19th Judicial District; and

WHEREAS, the large number of asbestos-related claims will impede the ability of the single District Court Judge in the 19th Judicial District to handle the normal case load of the District and will raise several potential conflicts of interest; and

WHEREAS, it is imperative that asbestos-related claims be dealt with expeditiously in order to allow Montana citizens with life-threatening illnesses to receive a speedy resolution of their claims; and

WHEREAS, Article VII, section 1, of the Montana Constitution allows additional courts to be provided by law."

Saving Clause: Section 55, Ch. 585, L. 2001, was a saving clause.

1985 Amendment: In (3) after "general fund", inserted requirement that payment be out of district court fund if there is one.

1983 Amendment: In (2), after "service, a" substituted "warrant" for "certificate taken from a book containing a stub with a like designation"; after "by himself" deleted "under seal"; and in (3), substituted "warrant" for "certificate" twice.

Case Notes

Payment of Jurors: This section is mandatory both as to the duty of the Clerk and of the Treasurer, for the word "must" indicates that the duty of the Clerk becomes imperative as soon as a juror is entitled to his pay. It also indicates that the duty of the Treasurer is imperative as soon as a certificate ("certificate" was changed to "warrant" by a 1983 amendment) properly issued by the District Court Clerk is presented to him. 2001 Amendments — Composite Section: (Version effective on occurrence of contingency) Chapter 473 in (3)(a) inserted exception clause; inserted (3)(b) requiring costs collected by asbestos claims court to be deposited in asbestos claims administration fund; and made minor changes in style.

Chapter 585 in (3) substituted "Costs collected under this section must be forwarded to the state treasurer for deposit in the state general fund" for "Costs collected under this section must be deposited in the county general fund unless the county has a district court fund. If the county has a district court fund, the costs must be deposited in the district court fund." Amendment effective July 1, 2002.

Code Commissioner Instruction: Pursuant to sec. 47, Ch. 257, L. 2001, in (3) in version effective July 1, 2002, and in (3)(a) in contingent version the code commissioner changed "state treasurer" to "department of revenue".

Saving Clause: Section 55, Ch. 585, L. 2001, was a saving clause.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 356 in (1), near middle after "continuance and", inserted "then" and near end, after "3-15-201", deleted "and such other costs as may have been incurred by the court"; inserted (2) regarding assessment of certain reasonable public expenses; and made minor changes in style.

1985 Amendment: At end inserted requirement that payment be out of district court fund if there is one.

Part 3
Jurors — Competency and Excuses

3-15-301. Who competent.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 441 in introductory language inserted first sentence providing that it is state policy that all qualified persons serve on juries and at beginning of second sentence inserted exception clause and after "person is" deleted "a registered elector whose name appears on the most recent list of all registered electors, as prepared by the county registrar"; inserted (1), (2), and (3) providing qualifications to be juror; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

Applicability: Section 10, Ch. 441, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies to combined jury lists compiled partly from the lists submitted under [section 1] [61-5-127] by the department of justice to the clerks of the district courts on and after the second Monday of May 2006."

Case Notes

Constitutionality: This section was held constitutional as providing a true cross section of the community and hence not violative of equal protection requirements. Defendants did not prove that the jury selection system was disadvantageous to a cognizable class or that the disadvantage, if any, was occasioned by discrimination in the selection process. St. v. Fitzpatrick, 174 M 174, 569 P2d 383 (1977).

Former Law — Jury Selection Based on Assessment Roll Not Violative of Equal Protection of the Law: Using the definition that an impartial jury is one where potential membership is drawn from a "cross section of the community", court held that the class of people who pay no property taxes is not such a definable class as to provide a basis for objection on an equal protection ground, as all persons who do not pay taxes are not necessarily poor. St. v. Taylor, 168 M 142, 542 P2d 100 (1975).

System for Juror Qualifications — Constitutional: Argument that since Legislature enacted different system for juror qualifications based on most recent list of registered electors rather than last assessment roll, without providing for jury selection commissions to meet after effective date of statute, and therefore no list of eligible jurors was available, failed because of Supreme Court's interpretation that various county jury selection commissions must meet as soon as possible after effective date of statute, invoking court's rulemaking power, under Art. VII, sec. 2(3), Mont. Const., by supplying a meeting and selection date. State ex rel. Bennick v. District Court, 167 M 389, 538 P2d 1369 (1975).

Taxpayers of School District: In an action by school district against fire insurers for loss of school building, taxpayers of district were not disqualified to act as jurors. School District v. Globe & Republic Ins. Co. of America, 142 M 220, 383 P2d 482 (1963).

Sanity of Juror: Under this section and section 93-1303, R.C.M. 1947 (now 3-15-303), a person is not qualified to act as a juror unless he is in possession of his natural faculties. St. v. Bucy, 104 M 416, 66 P2d 1049 (1937).

1981 Amendment: In (2) substituted "when it satisfactorily appears that the person should be excused under 3-15-313" for "when it satisfactorily appears that the person is exempt and claims the benefit of exemption".

3-15-313. Who may be excused — affidavit to claim excuse — permanent exclusion for chronically incapacitated.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 345 inserted (3) providing that a person who is chronically incapacitated may file an affidavit with the jury commissioner and, upon approval of the court, may be permanently excused from jury service; inserted (4) establishing what constitutes chronic incapacity for the purpose of being permanently excused from jury service; and made minor changes in style.

1983 Amendment: Near beginning of (1), after "The court" inserted "or jury commissioner with the approval of the court"; in (2), substituted "jury commissioner" for "clerk of the court" twice; in last sentence of (2), after "The court" inserted "or jury commissioner with the approval of the court"; and deleted former (3), which read: "A person may also be excused from jury service upon presentation of his excuse to the court as provided in 3-15-507."

1981 Amendment: Substituted subsections (1) and (2), mandating an excuse in a case of undue hardship and providing a procedure for an affidavit to claim the excuse, for former text that read: "A juror must not be excused by a court for a slight or trivial cause or for hardship or inconvenience to his business but only when material injury or destruction to his property or property entrusted to him is threatened or when his own health or the sickness or death of a member of his family requires his absence."

Case Notes

Failure of Prospective Juror to File Affidavit to Be Excused From Particular Trial Not Violative of Right to Impartial Jury: Defendant argued that under this section, the submitting of affidavits by those jurors who claim an undue hardship is mandatory and that failure to do so created a material deviation in procuring a jury and was therefore a denial of defendant's constitutional right to an impartial jury. However, once a juror is drawn from the pool, he may, without filing an affidavit, attempt to demonstrate an undue hardship so as to be excused on a particular jury panel. Failure to file an affidavit at that stage of the jury selection process does not constitute a deviation in jury selection sufficient to warrant violation of the right to an impartial jury. St. v. Henry, 241 M 524, 788 P2d 316, 47 St. Rep. 476 (1990).

Improper Questioning and Excusing of Prospective Jurors by Court Clerk: In depositor's suit against bank, the court's clerks examined the prospective jurors, using questions given the clerks by depositor's counsel, without notice to bank's counsel. The clerks asked if the prospective jurors had business or transactions with the bank and released some prospective jurors based on their answers to the questions, thus excusing them for cause without notice to bank's counsel or a ruling by the court. This occurred before an initial jury panel was called. This action violated the procedure set out in 25-7-221, 25-7-224, and Rules 47(a) and 47(b), M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20); was outside the type of action permitted by 3-15-313; and constituted reversible error requiring a new trial. Tribby v. NW. Bank of Great Falls, 217 M 196, 704 P2d 409, 42 St. Rep. 1133 (1985).

Grounds for Excuse: A District Judge has the right to excuse jurors called for service who are incompetent for any of the reasons enumerated in section 93-1301, R.C.M. 1947 (now 3-15-301), but under this section (as it read prior to the 1981 amendment), a juror could not be excused for slight or trivial cause or for hardship or inconvenience to his business. 2003 Amendment: Chapter 441 throughout section substituted "combined list" for "list" or "jury list"; in (1) in first sentence in two places inserted "working with the office of the secretary of state" and inserted second sentence providing that the officers shall submit a combined list to the district court ensuring that a person's name does not appear more than once on the list; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

Applicability: Section 10, Ch. 441, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies to combined jury lists compiled partly from the lists submitted under [section 1] [61-5-127] by the department of justice to the clerks of the district courts on and after the second Monday of May 2006."

1999 Amendment: Chapter 241 in (1) deleted former third sentence that read: "The numbers must be consecutive from "1" to the total number of jurors." Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 345 at beginning of (1) inserted "Subject to subsection (2)"; inserted (2) providing that the list of persons qualified to serve as jurors may not include a person permanently excluded from jury service under 3-15-313; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: Inserted fourth sentence providing that a person's name may not appear on a jury list for more than one court during a 1-year term.

Case Notes

Fair and Impartial Jury: The jury was selected in substantial compliance with the law, and defendant's claim that he was denied a fair and impartial jury must fail. Having more numbers in the jury box than names on the jury list does not destroy the validity of the panel drawn; notifying jurors by telephone is permissible; having less jurors appear than were drawn does not invalidate a trial, as a defendant has no right to select a particular juror. St. v. Coleman, 177 M 1, 579 P2d 732, 35 St. Rep. 560 (1978).

Jury Selection — Constitutionality: A variation between the percentage of Air Force personnel in the county and the percentage of their representation on the jury panel, as taken from the assessment roll, does not reflect a constitutional infirmity in the selection method. St. v. Stewart, 175 M 286, 573 P2d 1138 (1977).

Former Law — Jury Selection Based on Assessment Roll Not Violative of Equal Protection of the Law: Using the definition that an impartial jury is one where potential membership is drawn from a "cross section of the community", court held that the class of people who pay no property taxes is not such a definable class as to provide a basis for objection on an equal protection ground, as all persons who do not pay taxes are not necessarily poor. Duplication of Names: Allegation in challenge to the panel that many names were included more than once on the jury list was sufficient to require the court to hear the facts to determine whether there had been a material variation from the statutory procedure in making up the jury list. St. v. Chapman, 139 M 98, 360 P2d 703 (1961).

Presumption of Regularity: The presumption that jury lists were made up according to law prevails until an offer of proof to the contrary is actually made. St. v. Bowser, 21 M 133, 53 P 179 (1898).

3-15-403. Lists delivered to clerk.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 441 in (1) deleted former first sentence that read: "A list of the names of the persons selected, showing the place of residence and other proper particulars regarding each of them, so far as those particulars can be conveniently ascertained, must be made out and signed by the officers or a majority of them" and at beginning of first sentence substituted "The combined list prepared under 3-15-402 must be delivered by the office of the secretary of state" for "Within 15 days after the meeting, the list must be delivered by those officers" and at end after "office" inserted "no later than 5 business days after the receipt of the combined list"; in (2) near beginning after "jury" substituted "lists filed under subsection (1) and compiled under 3-15-404 and 46-17-202" for "list"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) If the clerk of court is satisfied that a person whose name is drawn is deceased or mentally incompetent or has permanently moved from the county, the name of the person must be omitted from the jury list. The reason for the omission must be entered in the minutes of the court"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 241 inserted (2) requiring retention of copy of latest jury list and description of approved computerized random selection process, if used; inserted (3) allowing clerk of court to omit certain names from jury list; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

1981 Amendment: Changed "5 days" to "15 days" at the beginning of the last sentence.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 441 in (3) at end of sixth sentence inserted "filed under 3-15-403"; in (4) near middle after "jurors" substituted "filed under 3-15-403" for "prepared under the provisions of 3-15-402"; inserted (5) providing that a person's name may not appear on more than one court's jury list during a 1-year term; inserted (6) requiring the clerk of court to prepare a jury list for each division of the district court; and inserted (7) providing procedure for the omission of a person's name from a jury list. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

Applicability: Section 10, Ch. 441, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies to combined jury lists compiled partly from the lists submitted under [section 1] [61-5-127] by the department of justice to the clerks of the district courts on and after the second Monday of May 2006."

1999 Amendment: Chapter 241 inserted (1) providing that clerk of court is jury commissioner; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

1985 Amendment: Inserted (1) allowing County Jury Commissioner to use either a jury box or a computer database to select jurors; in (2) at beginning of first sentence, inserted "If a county uses a jury box for selection of jurors" and substituted "jury commissioner" for "clerk", and at end of first sentence, substituted "subsection" for "section"; and inserted (3) requiring Commissioner to have the juror list prepared under 3-15-402 entered into the data base if a computerized data base is used to select jurors.

Case Notes

Fair and Impartial Jury: The jury was selected in substantial compliance with the law, and defendant's claim that he was denied a fair and impartial jury must fail. Having more numbers in the jury box than names on the jury list does not destroy the validity of the panel drawn; notifying jurors by telephone is permissible; having less jurors appear than were drawn does not invalidate a trial, as a defendant has no right to select a particular juror. St. v. Coleman, 177 M 1, 579 P2d 732, 35 St. Rep. 560 (1978).

Duplication of Names: An allegation in a challenge to the panel that many names were included more than once on the jury list was sufficient to require the court to hear the facts to determine whether there had been a material variation from the statutory procedure in making up the jury list. St. v. Chapman, 139 M 98, 360 P2d 703 (1961).

Use of Capsules: Where a jury venire was drawn from a jury box in which there had been inserted approximately 30,000 numbers enclosed in separate black capsules and approximately 15,000 numbered slips of unfolded paper not enclosed in capsules, it was proper to issue a Writ of Prohibition restraining the Judge from calling civil and criminal cases to be tried before the jury venire. State ex rel. Henningsen v. District Court, 136 M 354, 348 P2d 143 (1959).

Jurors Called But Not Serving: When a panel of 89 persons was called and sworn as jurors for the term but was discharged before serving at any trial, such jurors had not served within the meaning of this section and it was proper to return such names to jury box No. 1 and not jury box No. 2. St. v. Allison, 122 M 120, 199 P2d 279 (1948).

Expiration of Term: Under this section, the persons selected by the jury commissioners in January of one year are, after the filing of the list containing their names with the Clerk of the Court, the regular jurors, the persons liable to be drawn for jury service until a new list is selected in January of the next succeeding year and filed, upon which filing the list of the preceding year becomes functus officio and thereafter a panel may no longer be drawn from such list. State ex rel. Clark v. District Court, 86 M 509, 284 P 266 (1930), distinguished in State ex rel. Adami v. Lewis & Clark County, 124 M 282, 220 P2d 1052 (1950).

Action After Expiration of Term: A grand jury organized in one year could return a valid indictment the next year despite the fact the jury list for the latter year had been made and filed before the date of the indictment. The term of service in the statute referred to the term during which a jury could be selected from the jury list and not to the term during which the actual duties were to be performed. State ex rel. Part 5
Trial Juries — District Court

Part Case Notes

Case Remanded Because Jury Improperly Summoned — Sufficient Evidence to Support Convictions for Felony Assault and Aggravated Burglary: Lopez was convicted of felony assault and aggravated burglary. On appeal, it was held that the District Court should not have denied Lopez's motion to strike the jury because under St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204 (2000), summoning a jury by telephone violates 3-15-505 (now repealed) and frustrates the random nature of the jury process. Lopez contended that the state did not meet its burden of proving the elements of either crime and that he should not be retried on those charges. The Supreme Court disagreed, finding that the state offered sufficient evidence to prove both offenses, and remanded for retrial. St. v. Lopez, 2001 MT 97, 305 M 218, 26 P3d 745 (2001).

Substantial Compliance Required With Statutes Providing for Method of Jury Panel Selection — Right to Speedy and Public Trial by Impartial Jury Implicated: Prior to Highpine's trial, the Clerk of District Court sent out questionnaires and summonses to potential jurors and then drew 200 names from the pool of those who returned the questionnaires. The clerk then served notice to the jurors by telephone. Those jurors who either failed to return the questionnaires or did so without including phone numbers were not contacted at all. Those who did not respond to the clerk's phone call were not contacted again once the requisite number of jurors had been contacted. Section 3-15-505 (now repealed) required that when "a person fails to respond to the notice, the clerk shall certify the failure to the sheriff, who shall then serve notice personally on such person and require a response to the notice". The District Court held that Highpine was not prejudiced by the clerk's method of selecting the jury panel. Highpine presented evidence to the Supreme Court of the number of Native American households that do not have telephones and are therefore disproportionately excluded from the panel as a result of the procedure used by the clerk. The Supreme Court held that the practice of the clerk did not substantially comply with the requirements of statute and pointed out, citing St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204 (2000), that a defendant's right to challenge a jury panel for substantial noncompliance with statutory procedures is directly connected to that defendant's right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury. The Supreme Court held that the District Court erred when that court held that Highpine was not prejudiced by the actions of the clerk, reversed the District Court, and remanded the case for a new trial. St. v. Highpine, 2000 MT 368, 303 M 422, 15 P3d 938, 57 St. Rep. 1573 (2000).

Compiler's Comments

1999 Amendment: Chapter 241 at beginning of (1) substituted "If" for "At least once each year in each county, when"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) A district court may draw more than one trial jury in a given year if, in the opinion of the judge or judges thereof, the service of the trial jury in attendance has been unduly demanding, and in such case the trial jury in attendance may be excused by the court from further jury duty in that year"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

1983 Amendment: In last sentence of (1), substituted "must be at the discretion of the court" for "which time may be at the same term in which the jurors are drawn or at the next succeeding term, in the discretion of the court".

Section Not Codified: The part of section 93-315, R.C.M. 1947, that is redundant with 3-15-501, MCA, was not codified in the MCA. This provision has not been repealed and is still valid law. Reference may be made to sec. 1, Ch. 144, L. 1959.

Case Notes

Failure to Summon Entire Panel by Telephonic Juror Summoning — New Trial Warranted: Of the 200-juror panel randomly drawn for Lamere's murder trial, over one-third of the prospective jurors were excluded from possible jury service by virtue of the manner in which a telephone-only notification method skewed the random nature and objectivity of the statutory jury selection procedures. By failing to summon the entire panel or array drawn for the trial, the purpose of juror notification was undermined. Jury duty cannot be lightly shirked, as a telephone summoning system allowed, without doing violence to the democratic nature of the jury system. Because the substantial failure to comply with the statutory requirements materially undermined the jury selection process, Lamere was granted a new trial. St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204, 57 St. Rep. 214 (2000), following Thiel v. S. Pac. Co., 328 US 217, 90 L Ed 1181, 66 S Ct 984 (1946), and applied retroactively in Robbins v. St., 2002 MT 116, 310 M 10, 50 P3d 134 (2002). See also St. v. Groom, 49 M 354, 141 P 858 (1914), and State ex rel. School District v. Carroll, 87 M 45, 284 P 1008 (1930).

Substantial Compliance Standard Clarified With Regard to Statutory Process for Forming Jury: The objective statutory procedures established by the Legislature for the random selection of jurors are intended to protect a defendant's fundamental right to a fair and impartial jury and must be substantially complied with. Under Montana case law, the substantial compliance standard is not an absolute rule inasmuch as it permits minor deviations from statutory procedure. These technical deviations do not constitute a substantial failure to comply and therefore do not give rise to a presumption of prejudice. In clarifying the substantial compliance standard, the Supreme Court took guidance from federal case law developed under the federal Jury Selection and Service Act of 1968, 28 U.S.C. 1861, et seq. In order to establish a violation under the federal Act, a defendant must show that the government substantially failed to comply with the methods set forth by statute for jury selection. Substantial failure has been construed as a violation that contravenes one of two basic principles: (1) random selection of jurors; and (2) determination of juror disqualification, excuses, exemptions, and exclusion on the basis of objective criteria. A successful challenge to the jury panel may be founded only on a material departure from the law, a deviation amounting to more than a technical irregularity. Thus, a substantial or material statutory departure that affects the random nature or objectivity of the jury selection process establishes a violation independently of the departure's consequences in an individual case, while a technical or nonmaterial violation constitutes nonprejudicial error under the substantial compliance standard. St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204, 57 St. Rep. 214 (2000), overruling St. v. Robbins, 1998 MT 297, 292 M 23, 971 P2d 359, 55 St. Rep. 1213 (1998).

Telephone Jury-Summoning Procedure Violative of Statutory Selection Process — Showing of Substantial Compliance, Not Prejudice, Required — Reversible Error: Lamere, charged with killing Brownlee, filed a pretrial motion to strike the jury panel, but the motion was denied. The question on appeal was whether the District Court erred in concluding that Lamere failed to show that the telephone-dependent summoning procedure used in Cascade County prejudiced Lamere's substantial rights to a jury drawn and summoned according to law. The Supreme Court applied St. v. Robbins, 1998 MT 297, 292 M 23, 971 P2d 359, 55 St. Rep. 1213 (1998), in holding that the method of summoning jurors by telephone failed to comply with statutes governing the impaneling of a jury because jurors were neither served by mail nor served personally by the Sheriff. However, to warrant reversal, Robbins also required a showing of actual prejudice in addition to a substantial failure to comply with statutory law in drawing a jury panel. The Supreme Court chose to return to the per se rule of reversal for failure to substantially comply with statutes governing procurement of a trial jury, overruling the Robbins requirement of prejudice. The decision turned on the U.S. Supreme Court's contemporary distinction between trial error, to which harmless error review applies, and structural error, to which harmless error review is inapplicable (see Johnson v. U.S., 520 US 461, 137 L Ed 2d 718, 117 S Ct 1544 (1997), and its predecessors). In Lamere's case, the automatic rule of reversal prevailed because errors in the jury selection process are structural in nature, affecting the very framework within which a trial proceeds—errors that indelibly affect the essential fairness of the trial itself. A material failure to substantially comply with Montana statutes governing procurement of a trial jury may not be treated as harmless error because: (1) it precedes the presentation of evidence to the jury and cannot be analyzed as a mere trial error without resorting to speculation; (2) it precedes the trial process and cannot be quantitatively assessed for its prejudicial impact relative to the evidence introduced at trial; (3) it affects the very framework within which the trial proceeds; and (4) the impartiality of the jury goes to the very integrity of the justice system and because the right to an impartial jury is so essential to the concept of a fair trial that its violation cannot be considered harmless error. The substantial compliance standard vindicates not only the rights of the individual defendant but also the rights of the public in ensuring that the jury system remains inviolate, protecting a defendant's right to an impartial jury by encouraging reasonably strict compliance with statutory procedures intended to implement the fair cross-section guarantee of the sixth amendment of the U.S. Constitution. St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204, 57 St. Rep. 214 (2000), following Chapman v. Calif., 386 US 18, 17 L Ed 2d 705, 87 S Ct 824 (1967), Satterwhite v. Tex., 486 US 249, 100 L Ed 2d 284, 108 S Ct 1792 (1988), and Ariz. v. Fulminante, 499 US 279, 113 L Ed 302, 111 S Ct 1246 (1991), followed in St. v. Lopez, 2001 MT 97, 305 M 218, 26 P3d 745 (2001), and applied retroactively in Robbins v. St., 2002 MT 116, 310 M 10, 50 P3d 134 (2002).

Improper Telephonic Notification of Jury Selection — Harmless Error: Rather than the statutory method of summoning jurors, the District Court Clerk sought to notify available jurors by telephone. If the juror was unavailable by telephone, the Clerk moved to the next name on the list. Robbins objected to the procedure, asserting that the 5-day mandate of 46-16-112 was not applicable to his motion to strike the venire and that the trial court erred by concluding that the challenge to the summoning process was untimely. The District Court found that the Clerk had substantially complied with the relevant statutes, but the Supreme Court disagreed, holding that the Clerk failed to comply with 3-15-505 (now repealed). However, because Robbins failed to adduce any actual prejudice in the summoning procedure, the error was held to be harmless. St. v. Robbins, 1998 MT 297, 292 M 23, 971 P2d 359, 55 St. Rep. 1213 (1998), followed, with regard to improper use of telephonic summoning of jurors, but overruled, with regard to applicability of the harmless error standard in 46-20-701 and the requirement of an actual showing of prejudice to sustain a challenge to the jury panel under the substantial compliance standard, in St. v. Lamere, 2000 MT 45, 298 M 358, 2 P3d 204, 57 St. Rep. 214 (2000).

Right to Draw From Box No. 3: Where 70 jurors were drawn from jury box No. 1, there was no abuse of discretion in not drawing more, and no constitutional rights were violated by drawing from jury box No. 3 after the original panel was exhausted. St. v. Hay, 120 M 573, 194 P2d 232 (1948), distinguished in St. v. Porter, 125 M 503, 242 P2d 984 (1952).

Summoning Jury by Interested Sheriff: The facts that the victim of a homicide was a Deputy Sheriff and that the Sheriff was a witness for the state did not disqualify the latter or his deputies from summoning the jury on the theory that they were interested in the outcome of the prosecution. St. v. Heaston, 109 M 303, 97 P2d 330 (1939).

Summons for Jury Service: The fact that the summons under which jurors were ordered to appear for service as petit jurors contained a note appended thereto that if they had any reason why they should not serve they should return the summons personally to the judge and present their excuses to him did not render the summons illegal. State ex rel. School District v. Carroll, 87 M 45, 284 P 1008 (1930).

Completion of Panel: A jury panel or array selected for the trial of cases in the District Court is not complete until the jurors are accepted for service and their names are placed in the trial juror box; only then can it be said that the array is impaneled. State ex rel. Clark v. District Court, 86 M 509, 284 P 266 (1930).

Nonprejudicial Irregularity: Where the trial court, instead of ordering a panel of regular jurors drawn in a number deemed by it sufficient for the term had them drawn under three successive orders as occasion required, defendant was not in position to complain of the procedure followed, he not having been prejudiced thereby. St. v. Vuckovich, 61 M 480, 203 P 491 (1921).

Mandatory Provisions: Provisions governing the drawing of a jury panel are mandatory. St. v. Landry, 29 M 218, 74 P 418 (1903).

Chapter Attorney General's Opinions

Reapportionment — Holdover Senators: Article V, sec. 3, Mont. Const., provides that state Senators be elected to 4-year terms on a staggered basis. The constitution and statutes provide no authority for changing Senators' terms after reapportionment. The reapportionment plan is the responsibility of the Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission. The Commission has the inherent authority under Art. V, sec. 14, Mont. Const., to do what is necessary to implement a plan that complies with the state's laws. How to deal with holdover Senators is the responsibility of the Commission. The terms of office of members of the Montana State Senate who were elected in 1982 may not be shortened as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Op. 2 (1983).

Reapportionment Commission — Exclusive Power to Apportion Legislative and Congressional Districts: The Reapportionment Commission has the exclusive power to determine the size of the legislative houses and the geographical makeup of the legislative and congressional districts, subject only to the restrictions of Art. V, Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Constitutional Grant of Power to Apportion — Historical and Current: Prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the apportionment power was granted to the Legislature. See Art. VI, 1889 Mont. Const. However, with the adoption of the new Constitution, the people of this state divested the Legislature of all power concerning apportionment of the Legislature, except for the power of recommendation in Art. V, sec. 14, 1972 Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Reapportionment Plan Becomes Law: Upon submission of the apportionment plan, proposed by the Reapportionment Commission, to the Secretary of State, the plan becomes law and all previous statutory provisions in conflict with that plan are, in effect, repealed. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Legislative Determination of Size of Legislative Assembly — Not Controlling: The Reapportionment Commission was not bound by a legislative determination of the size of the legislative assembly, and sections 43-106.6 and 43-106.7, R.C.M. 1947 (repealed by sec. 1, Ch. 14, L. 1975), enacted prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, are not controlling. (See 1987 amendment to 5-1-101.) 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Contingent Effective Date: Section 7, Ch. 477, L. 1983, provided: "This act becomes effective October 1, 1985, if House Bill No. 151, which requires a constitutional amendment to accelerate Montana's congressional redistricting, is passed by the legislature and approved by the electorate. If the legislature does not pass House Bill No. 151 or the electorate does not approve the constitutional amendment, this act is void." House Bill No. 151 (Ch. 421, L. 1983) was approved by the electorate as Constitutional Amendment No. 14 at the election held Nov. 6, 1984, by a vote of 214,956 to 109,813.

Part Case Notes

2002 Redistricting Plan — Legislative Attempts to Change Plan Unconstitutional: Following legislative action pertaining to legislative redistricting, the Commission tendered its plan to the Secretary of State for filing, but the Secretary of State refused to file it. The District Court found that the legislative enactments were unconstitutional and void. The Secretary of State is required to file the Commission's plan, and refusal to do so violates the Montana Constitution. The Secretary of State does not have standing to seek a declaratory judgment on the constitutionality of the Commission's plan. Brown v. Mont. Districting & Apportionment Comm'n, Cause No. ADV-2003-72, First Judicial District Decision and Order, July 2003.

1992 Redistricting Plan — Totality of Circumstances — Lower Court Decision Not Clearly Erroneous: The District Court did not clearly err in determining that the totality of circumstances did not establish vote dilution in the districts where plaintiffs resided. Old Person v. Brown, 312 F3d 1036 (9th Cir. 2002).

1992 Redistricting Plan — No Vote Dilution — Unavailability of Adequate Remedy: On remand to District Court, the court found that plaintiffs had limited standing and failed to show vote dilution in specific legislative districts where they resided. Even if vote dilution had been shown, the claim failed because of unavailability of an adequate remedy because of fast-approaching 2002 elections, the last elections to be conducted under the 1992 plan. Old Person v. Brown, 182 F. Supp. 2d 1002 (D.C. Mont. 2002), affirmed in 312 F3d 1036 (9th Cir. 2002).

1992 Redistricting Plan — District Court Error in Application of Third Prong of Gingles Test: American Indian plaintiffs filed an action in District Court alleging that the 1992 redistricting plan for Montana's state House of Representatives and Senate diluted the voting strength of American Indians in violation of sec. 2 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and that the Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission adopted the plan with a discriminatory purpose, also in violation of the Voting Rights Act. In Old Person v. Cooney, No. CV-96-00004-PGH (D.C. Mont. 1999), the District Court rejected all claims by the plaintiffs, ruling that the Commission did not discriminate against Montana Indians and that the 1992 redistricting plan did not have the effect of discriminating against the state's Indian voters because the plaintiffs had not proved that non-Indians voted as a bloc to defeat Indian-preferred candidates. On appeal, the Ninth Circuit Court affirmed the District Court's ruling that the plaintiffs had not demonstrated that Montana's 1992 redistricting plan was adopted with a discriminatory purpose in violation of the Voting Rights Act. However, the Ninth Circuit Court reversed and remanded the lower court's decision, ruling that the District Court erred in its application of the third prong of the Gingles test and that this error resulted in a clearly erroneous finding that white bloc voting was not legally significant. The Ninth Circuit Court also concluded that the District Court erred in finding proportionality between the number of legislative districts in which American Indians constituted an effective majority and the American Indian share of the voting age population in Montana. Because this error may have affected the District Court's ultimate finding that, in the totality of circumstances, no dilution of American Indian voting strength had occurred, the Ninth Circuit Court reversed the District Court's judgement and remanded the case for further proceedings. On remand, a trial date of November 2001 was set to consider evidence pertaining strictly to the Ninth Circuit Court's remand relating to the District Court's previous finding of proportionality and whether, considering the totality of the circumstances, Montana's 1992 redistricting plan diluted American Indian voting strength. Old Person v. Cooney, 230 F3d 1113, (9th Cir. 2000) (Old Person I).

Application of 1983 Reapportionment Commission Criteria — Balancing of Criteria: The 1983 Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission established five criteria to follow in redistricting that addressed governmental boundaries, geographic boundaries, communities of interest, consideration of existing district boundaries, and an attempt to stay within a 5% plus or minus deviation from the ideal district population. The court held that these criteria were considerations and that conflicts between them as they existed within a district or between districts must be balanced in arriving at a plan embracing the entire state. The Commission had to interpret its own criteria, such as what constituted a community of interest and the possible ripple effects of any particular change; thus, when the Commission made a good faith effort to balance the criteria, the reapportionment plan could not be struck down on the contention that the Commission failed to exactly follow its own criteria. McBride v. Mahoney, 573 F. Supp. 913, 40 St. Rep. 1907 (D.C. Mont. 1983).

1983 Reapportionment Plan — Total Population Deviation Over Ten Percent Upheld — Legitimate State Interests: In the 1983 reapportionment plan, the total population deviation between House districts was 10.94% and between Senate districts was 10.18%, which created a prima facie case of discrimination because the totals exceeded 10%. To be upheld, the deviations must be justified by legitimate state objectives. The court determined that legitimate state objectives were stated in criteria established by the Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission. The criteria addressed governmental boundaries, geographic boundaries, communities of interest, consideration of existing district boundaries, and an attempt to stay within a 5% plus or minus deviation from the ideal population. McBride v. Mahoney, 573 F. Supp. 913, 40 St. Rep. 1907 (D.C. Mont. 1983).

Projected Population as Basis for Reapportionment: A reapportionment plan will not be struck down for failure to consider projected population growth when the Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission did not consider population projections and it was not presented with data that would have enabled it to apply population projections in a systematic manner. McBride v. Mahoney, 573 F. Supp. 913, 40 St. Rep. 1907 (D.C. Mont. 1983).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

When Plan to Be Submitted — Recess and Reconvening: The Districting and Apportionment Commission is required under 5-1-109 to submit its plan to the 47th Legislature if census data is available in December 1980. The Legislature may recess and reconvene at a later date and still be within its regular session to receive and make recommendations, according to 5-1-110, on the Commission's plan. 38 A.G. Op. 99 (1980).

Procedure for Submitting Reapportionment Plan: The reapportionment plan should be submitted, with a cover letter signed by each Commission member, to each house of the Legislature by the 10th day of the legislative session, and within 30 days of the return of the reapportionment plan from the Legislature, the final plan should be submitted, with a cover letter signed by each Commission member, to the Secretary of State for filing. 35 A.G. Op. 50 (1973).

Reapportionment Commission — Exclusive Power to Apportion Legislative and Congressional Districts: The Reapportionment Commission has the exclusive power to determine the size of the legislative houses and the geographical makeup of the legislative and congressional districts, subject only to the restrictions of Art. V, Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Constitutional Grant of Power to Apportion — Historical and Current: Prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the apportionment power was granted to the Legislature. See Art. VI, 1889 Mont. Const. However, with the adoption of the new Constitution, the people of this state divested the Legislature of all power concerning apportionment of the Legislature, except for the power of recommendation in Art. V, sec. 14, 1972 Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Reapportionment Plan Becomes Law: Upon submission of the apportionment plan, proposed by the Reapportionment Commission, to the Secretary of State, the plan becomes law and all previous statutory provisions in conflict with that plan are, in effect, repealed. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Legislative Determination of Size of Legislative Assembly — Not Controlling: The Reapportionment Commission was not bound by a legislative determination of the size of the legislative assembly, and sections 43-106.6 and 43-106.7, R.C.M. 1947 (repealed by sec. 1, Ch. 14, L. 1975), enacted prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, are not controlling. Therefore, the apparent result of sec. 11(3), Ch. 546, L. 2003, is to apply the repeal of Ch. 3, L. 2003, only to proceedings for redistricting based on the 2010 decennial census.

1983 Amendment: Inserted (1) relating to filing of the plan for Congressional districts; in (2) in two places before "plan" inserted "legislative redistricting", and near end of (2) after "secretary of state" deleted ". 5-1-115. Redistricting criteria.

Compiler's Comments

Coordination — Applicability: Section 1, Ch. 3, L. 2003, and sec. 1, Ch. 546, L. 2003, both enacted redistricting criteria. The criteria contained in sec. 1, Ch. 3, L. 2003, are also contained in and expanded upon in sec. 1, Ch. 546, L. 2003. Therefore, the code commissioner has codified both sections as 5-1-115. Section 1, Ch. 3, L. 2003, was effective February 4, 2003, and applies retroactively to any legislative redistricting plan of the districting and apportionment commission that was not filed with the secretary of state on February 4, 2003. Section 11(3), Ch. 546, L. 2003, a coordination section, repealed Ch. 3, L. 2003, effective October 1, 2003. However, sec. 12, Ch. 546, L. 2003, provides that Ch. 546, L. 2003, applies to proceedings begun after October 1, 2003, for the redistricting based on the 2010 decennial census. Therefore, the apparent result of sec. 11(3), Ch. 546, L. 2003, is to apply the repeal of Ch. 3, L. 2003, only to proceedings for redistricting based on the 2010 decennial census.

Section 1, Ch. 3, L. 2003, provided: "Redistricting criteria. (1) In the drawing of legislative districts, the districting and apportionment commission shall comply with the following criteria:

(a) the districts must be compact and contiguous; and

(b) the districts must be as equal as practicable.

(2) For the purposes of this section, "as equal as practicable" means within a plus or minus 1% relative deviation from the ideal population of a district as calculated from information provided by the federal decennial census."

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 278, L. 2003, provided: "WHEREAS, the Montana Constitution and the verbatim transcripts of the 1972 Constitutional Convention do not address the assignment of holdover senators to districts following the drawing of new legislative districts pursuant to Article V, section 14, of the Montana Constitution; and

WHEREAS, the Montana Supreme Court has consistently held that the Constitution is a limit on rather than a grant of legislative authority, beginning with State ex rel. Evans v. Stewart, 53 Mont. 18, 161 P. 309 (1916); and

WHEREAS, in spite of the lack of a constitutional limit on legislative authority, the Legislature has acquiesced in the assignment of holdover senators by the Districting and Apportionment Commission because of the fair and nonpartisan assignments that have traditionally occurred; and Repealer: Section 1, Ch. 278, L. 2003, provided: "Section 3 of the districting and apportionment plan of 2003, the transition provision assigning holdover senators to new legislative districts, is repealed." Effective April 9, 2003.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 3, Ch. 278, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to the districting and apportionment plan adopted by the districting and apportionment commission on February 5, 2003."

including 58 members of the Montana House of Representatives and 25 members of the Montana Senate during the 1997 legislative session, was properly dismissed as to state legislators because they have absolute common-law immunity against civil suits for legislative actions. Reapportionment Commission — Exclusive Power to Apportion Legislative and Congressional Districts: The Reapportionment Commission has the exclusive power to determine the size of the legislative houses and the geographical makeup of the legislative and congressional districts, subject only to the restrictions of Art. V, Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Constitutional Grant of Power to Apportion — Historical and Current: Prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the apportionment power was granted to the Legislature. See Art. VI, 1889 Mont. Const. However, with the adoption of the new Constitution, the people of this state divested the Legislature of all power concerning apportionment of the Legislature, except for the power of recommendation in Art. V, sec. 14, 1972 Mont. Const. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Reapportionment Plan Becomes Law: Upon submission of the apportionment plan, proposed by the Reapportionment Commission, to the Secretary of State, the plan becomes law and all previous statutory provisions in conflict with that plan are, in effect, repealed. 35 A.G. Op. 12 (1973).

Legislative Determination of Size of Legislative Assembly — Not Controlling: The Reapportionment Commission was not bound by a legislative determination of the size of the legislative assembly, and sections 43-106.6 and 43-106.7, R.C.M. 1947 (repealed by sec. 1, Ch. 14, L. 1975), enacted prior to the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, are not controlling. 35 A.G. Section Not Codified: Section 43-202.1, R.C.M. 1947, stating that the purpose of the act was to implement Art. V, sec. 9, Mont. Const., was not codified in the MCA. This clause has not been repealed and is still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 1, Ch. 91, L. 1977.

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of Term Limit Provisions to Appointed Senators — Definitions: Regarding the status of state Senators appointed upon the death or resignation of the incumbent to fill an unexpired term of office that began in 1991, the word "terms" refers to time served in terms beginning or ending before or after January 1993. The word does not refer to a particular date and does not simply exclude or include years prior to the date, but rather includes time by reference to the beginning or ending date of a term of office. Further, the word "year" does not refer strictly to a calendar year of 12 months when used in the context of legislative terms of office because a term does not necessarily begin on the first day of a calendar year. Applying the word "year" in such a strict manner would lead to an unintended, absurd result. A term of office for a state Senator is 4 years beginning on the first Monday in January in the year following the general election. If a Senator accedes to office by appointment or election, that Senator serves to complete the term of the person originally elected. Thus, for a Senator continually serving from the date of appointment or election to fill the unexpired portion of a term that began when the original incumbent took office in 1991, the first term of office counted toward the term limit is the term beginning in January 1995. 47 A.G. Op. 9 (1997).

Reapportionment — Holdover Senators: Article V, sec. 3, Mont. Const., provides that state Senators be elected to 4-year terms on a staggered basis. The constitution and statutes provide no authority for changing Senators' terms after reapportionment. The reapportionment plan is the responsibility of the Montana Districting and Apportionment Commission. The Commission has the inherent authority under Art. V, sec. 14, Mont. Const., to do what is necessary to implement a plan that complies with the state's laws. How to deal with holdover Senators is the responsibility of the Commission. The terms of office of members of the Montana State Senate who were elected in 1982 may not be shortened as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Op. 2 (1983).

Case Notes

Constitutional Convention Delegate: State and local officers who are prohibited from holding more than one office may not serve as delegates to a State Constitutional Convention. A delegate to a constitutional convention is a "state officer" holding a public office of a civil nature. 42nd Legislative Assembly v. Lennon, 156 M 416, 481 P2d 330 (1971).

Definition of "Civil Office": A position of employment is a civil office if: (1) it must be created by the Constitution or the Legislature or a municipality pursuant to authority delegated to it; (2) it must possess a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power of government to be exercised for benefit of the public; (3) the powers and duties must be defined, either directly or impliedly, by the Legislature or through legislative authority; (4) the duties must be performed independently and without control of a superior power, unless they are those of an inferior or subordinate office, created or authorized by the Legislature and by it placed under the control of a superior office or body; and (5) it must have permanency and continuity, and the incumbent must take and file an oath, hold a commission, and give an official bond, if required by proper authority. State ex rel. Barney v. Hawkins, 79 M 506, 257 P 411 (1927).

Attorney General's Opinions

Legislator Prohibited From Appointment to Board of Review: Membership on the Board of Review established in 30-16-302 is considered a public office of a civil nature pursuant to the five-part test in State ex rel. Barney v. Hawkins, 79 M 506, 257 P 411 (1927). Therefore, Art. V, sec. 9, Mont. Const., and this section prohibit the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives from appointing a legislator as a member of the Board of Review, including appointment as a nonvoting member. Because of the prohibition against the appointment of a legislator to a civil office during the legislator's term of office, the President and Speaker may appoint only a nonlegislator as a member of the Board of Review. 49 A.G. Op. 15 (2002).

Mayor Prohibited From Serving as Legislator: An elected Mayor holds a "public office of a civil nature" as defined in State ex rel. Barney v. Hawkins, 79 M 506, 257 P 411 (1927). The office of Mayor is vested with a portion of the sovereign power of government which is executive in character. A Mayor is therefore prohibited by Art. V, sec. 9, Mont. Const., from serving as a member of the Legislature while serving as Mayor. 41 A.G. Op. 79 (1986).

Municipal Officer Holding "Public Office of Civil Nature" Disqualified From Service in Legislature: A municipal officer who holds "public office of a civil nature", as that phrase is defined in State ex rel. Barney v. Hawkins, 79 M 506, 257 P 411 (1927), is prohibited by Art. V, sec. 9, Mont. Const., from serving as a member of the Legislature during his continuance in municipal office. 40 A.G. Op. 46 (1984).

Political Caucuses Considered Person Subject to Suit: A political party caucus is by definition considered an unincorporated association or body of two or more persons having a joint or common interest. Drawing no distinction between presession and session caucuses, the Supreme Court held, on the basis of the plain language in Rule 4A, M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20), that a political party caucus is a person subject to court jurisdiction. Assoc. Press v. Mont. Senate Republican Caucus, 286 M 172, 951 P2d 65, 54 St. Rep. 1360 (1997).

A legislator choosing to receive remuneration for services performed shall file a request to receive payment under this subsection with the legislative services division. A legislator exercising the option to receive remuneration for services performed may not receive more remuneration than legislators paid pursuant to subsections (1) and (4). Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of Term Limit Provisions to Appointed Senators — Definitions: Regarding the status of state Senators appointed upon the death or resignation of the incumbent to fill an unexpired term of office that began in 1991, the word "terms" refers to time served in terms beginning or ending before or after January 1993. The word does not refer to a particular date and does not simply exclude or include years prior to the date, but rather includes time by reference to the beginning or ending date of a term of office. Further, the word "year" does not refer strictly to a calendar year of 12 months when used in the context of legislative terms of office because a term does not necessarily begin on the first day of a calendar year. Applying the word "year" in such a strict manner would lead to an unintended, absurd result. A term of office for a state Senator is 4 years beginning on the first Monday in January in the year following the general election. If a Senator accedes to office by appointment or election, that Senator serves to complete the term of the person originally elected. Thus, for a Senator continually serving from the date of appointment or election to fill the unexpired portion of a term that began when the original incumbent took office in 1991, the first term of office counted toward the term limit is the term beginning in January 1995. 47 A.G. Op. 9 (1997).

Power of Legislative Standing Committee to Meet During Special Session to Investigate Matter Not Within Call: There is no express or implied constitutional or statutory limitation circumscribing the interim investigative activity of a legislative standing committee, including activity during a special session. Therefore, a standing committee of the Legislature not formally discharged prior to the final adjournment of the preceding session may meet during a special session for the purpose of gathering information and taking testimony on a matter not within the call of the special session. 43 A.G. CHAPTER 4
BILLS

Chapter Case Notes

Statutory Expansion of Jurisdiction: When statutes are enacted by the Legislature that expand previously enacted statutes by broadening the jurisdiction of an administrative agency, the statutes are to be construed in relation to one another, and for construction purposes, considered as forming one consistent body of law. Gwynn v. Eureka, 178 M 191, 582 P2d 1262 (1978).

Chapter Attorney General's Opinions

Statement of Intent Not to Be Used in Interpretation of Clearly Written Statute: Chapter 452, L. 1981, made several substantive changes in the laws relating to health service corporations. The bill's statement of intent, adopted under 5-4-404 (now repealed), stated that certain provisions of the bill were to be implemented only if additional funds were appropriated for their implementation. The Attorney General applied the rule of statutory interpretation that when legislative intent can be determined from a reading of a statute, it is improper to go further in construing the meaning of that statute, and held that the clear meaning of the law must be carried out, regardless of the contents of the statement of intent. 39 A.G. Op. 68 (1982).

1980 Initiative Title: The title to Initiative No. 85, 1980, read: "An act to require public disclosure of money spent to influence action of a public official. All individuals or businesses who employ lobbyists and spend more than $1000 a year to promote or oppose official action of a public official must give a complete accounting of all money spent. The proposal does not apply to individual citizens lobbying on their own behalf. Elected officials are required to publicly disclose their business interests. Chapter Case Notes

Lobbying — Initiative 85 — Attorneys — Constitutionality: Initiative 85, as emended in Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981), is not so vague as to be unconstitutionally uncertain, nor does it intrude on the power of the Supreme Court to regulate the conduct of attorneys. The act applies equally to attorneys and nonattorneys acting in the nonlegislative lobbying field. The right of the court to supervise the conduct of the members of the bar is undiminished by any provision of the Initiative. St. Bar of Mont. v. Krivec, 193 M 477, 632 P2d 707, 38 St. Rep. 1322 (1981).

Ministerial Acts Not Covered: An attorney procuring the performance of a purely ministerial act by a public official, an act that could otherwise be required by mandamus, is not procuring an official to exercise a legislative function and is not acting within the intent and purpose of Initiative 85. St. Bar of Mont. v. Krivec, 193 M 477, 632 P2d 707, 38 St. Rep. 1322 (1981).

Public Service Commission — Quasi-Judicial: Attorneys acting on behalf of clients or for themselves in quasi-judicial proceedings before the Public Service Commission are not covered by Initiative 85. St. Bar of Mont. v. Krivec, 193 M 477, 632 P2d 707, 38 St. Rep. 1322 (1981).

Case Notes

Exemptions for Montana Citizens Unconstitutional: Prior to 1983 amendment, the exemption provided in 5-7-101(2) and 5-7-102(5)(b)(i) from Initiative 85 for Montana citizens was constitutionally impermissible under the Privileges and Immunities Clause of the United States Constitution. There is no basis for creating an exception solely for individual Montana citizens. Citizens of other states may have an interest in some official action in Montana that warrants their efforts to influence the outcome of that action in Montana. The word "Montana" was void and without effect in both sections. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Case Notes

Quasi-Judicial Capacity — Public Service Commission: In general, when the law commits to any officer the duty of looking into facts and acting upon them, not in a way that is specifically directed but with discretion, the function is termed quasi-judicial; thus, attorneys acting on behalf of clients or for themselves in quasi-judicial proceedings before the Public Service Commission are not covered by Initiative 85. St. Bar of Mont. v. Krivec, 193 M 477, 632 P2d 707, 38 St. Rep. 1322 (1981).

Definition Subsections Impermissibly Vague: Subsections (7)(c)(iv), (7)(c)(v), and (7)(f) of 5-7-102, enacted by Initiative 85 (deleted in 1983 amendment), are impermissibly vague, unconstitutional, and therefore void. (Following U.S. v. Dupree, 544 F2d 1050 (9th Cir. 1976).) The court asks rhetorically: Is there a form of "proper" economic reprisal? How does a lobbyist determine when he may retaliate lawfully against a public official? Can conduct which is potentially criminal be defined as "any means other than" the permitted means of argument on the merits? To "reflect discredit" is not sufficiently definite to give a person of ordinary intelligence fair notice that his conduct is forbidden. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Prohibition Against Influencing Quasi-Judicial Public Officials — Void: Subsection (7)(d) of 5-7-102, contained in Initiative 85 (deleted in 1983 amendment), is void. It is inconsistent with the intention of a law enacted to regulate lobbying for it to also regulate conduct that is, by the terms of the statute, not lobbying. (See subsection 5-7-102(4)(b), enacted by Initiative 85.) Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Prohibition Against Soliciting Lobbying Efforts as Unconstitutional: Subsection (8)(b) of 5-7-102 from Initiative 85 (deleted in 1983 amendment) is unconstitutional and void for vagueness. Facially, subsection (8)(b) constitutes a more drastic infringement on freedom of the press and freedom of speech than was present in Mills v. Alabama, 384 US 214 (1966). Further, the court is unable to find any compelling state interest which requires the inclusion of subsection (8)(b) in Initiative 85. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Prohibition Against Voters' Promise of Support as Unconstitutional: Section 5-7-102(7)(c)(i), contained in Initiative 85 (deleted in 1983 amendment), is an unconstitutional infringement of the right of free speech and is therefore void. The prohibited conduct is nothing more than a standard and accepted means of involvement in the political process. It is a free expression of the only real power an elector possesses. Criticism of government is at the very center of the constitutional protection of free speech. No law could stand that would prevent an elector from voting for or against an incumbent. Likewise, no law can stand that would prevent a voter from expressing to an elected official an intention to vote for or against that official if certain action is or is not taken. Further, the first amendment applies to associations as well as individuals and protects the right of associations to engage in advocacy on behalf of their members. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Unprofessional Conduct of Lobbyists and Principals Limited in Construction: The Supreme Court of Montana construes subsection (7)(a) of 5-7-102, enacted by Initiative 85, to limit "unprofessional conduct" to violations of any of the provisions of this chapter by a lobbyist or principal, not by an elected official. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Case Notes

Statute Requiring "Necessary" Rules Requires Rulemaking Hearing — Mandamus Proper Remedy: Pursuant to 2-4-315 and this section, Common Cause submitted a petition to the Commissioner of Political Practices requesting the adoption of a definition of "lobbying". When the Commissioner denied the petition, Common Cause brought a petition for mandamus. The District Court dismissed pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6), M.R.Civ.P. (Title 25, ch. 20). The Supreme Court reversed, citing Commonwealth of Pa. v. Nat'l Ass'n of Flood Insurers, 520 F2d 11 (3d Cir. 1975), and holding that the language in this section requiring rules "necessary" to implement the statute mandated the Commissioner to hold a hearing to determine whether rules were necessary. The Supreme Court held that the discretionary authority contained in 2-4-315 to adopt or not adopt a particular rule does not give the Commissioner the authority to avoid altogether the rulemaking required by this section. For this reason, the Supreme Court also held that mandamus was a proper remedy because the Commissioner had a clear legal duty to conduct rulemaking procedures to determine what rules were necessary. ARM 44.12.211 Allocation of time and costs — alternative reporting method.

Case Notes

Accounting Requirements Void for Vagueness: Subsections (5)(a)(i) and (5)(a)(iv) of 5-7-208 (amended to cure unconstitutionality in 1983), enacted by Initiative 85, are void for vagueness. It is impossible to tell when "original and derivative" research is being performed; likewise, the court is unable to determine what additional information ought to be disclosed under the subheading of "news media". Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Language Requiring Nonlobbying Expenses to Be Disclosed — Unconstitutional: The words "regardless of whether it was paid solely" as used in subsection (5)(c) of 5-7-208 (phrase deleted in 1983 amendment) from Initiative 85 are void as a violation of the first amendment right of association which exists as a necessary corollary to the freedoms of speech and assembly. The forced disclosure of contributions and membership fees "regardless of whether . . . paid solely for the purpose of lobbying" compels revelation of information that has no relationship to the ends that the "Lobbying Act" and the Initiative seek to achieve. That some money is in fact spent for lobbying does not lessen the repugnance of 5-7-208(5)(c). Further, the forced disclosure of the name of an individual who contributed $250 reaches too broadly and too blindly into an area that is essential to the exercise of our most basic freedoms. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Title Not Embracing a Bill Section as Rendering Section Void: Subsection (5)(d) of 5-7-208 from Initiative 85 (deleted in 1983 amendment) is not embraced in the title of Initiative 85 and is therefore void. There is insufficient substantive relationship between the title and this subsection. The "Lobbying Act" was not being transformed into a general campaign finances act. Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

5-7-209. Payments prohibited unless reported — penalty for late filing, failure to report, or false statement.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 31 near middle of second sentence after "report" inserted "within the time required by this chapter", after "subject to the" substituted "penalties" for "penalty", inserted reference to 5-7-306(1), and at end deleted "as well as any civil action provided for in that section". Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: Deleted former (2), which read: "No person may be employed as a lobbyist for a compensation dependent in any manner upon the passage or defeat of any proposed or pending official action by a public official or upon any other contingency connected with such action."

1980 Initiative Amendment: Inserted subsection (1) prohibiting a lobbyist or principal from engaging in or authorizing any unprofessional conduct; substituted "official action by a public official" for "legislation", changed "the action" to "such action", and deleted "of the legislature, of either branch thereof, or of any committee thereof" in (2).

Incorporation Into Existing Law: Section 10, Initiative No. 85, 1980 (5-7-302(1)), was enacted without a codification instruction. It was apparently intended to become an integral part of Title 5, ch. 7, and the Code Commissioner has codified it accordingly.

Case Notes

Prohibited Compensation Provision Held Unconstitutional: Section 5-7-302 as amended by Initiative 85 is void because it violates the right to petition the government included in the first amendment to the United States Constitution and Art. II, sec. 6, Mont. Const. Section 5-7-302 unduly infringes the rights of those who, while contemplating neither illegal nor unethical conduct, need or desire to employ a lobbyist on a contingent fee basis in order to advance their interests before a public official. (Section 5-7-302 was amended to cure unconstitutionality in 1983.) Mont. Auto. Ass'n v. Greely, 193 M 378, 632 P2d 300, 38 St. Rep. 1174 (1981).

Composition — Powers and Duties — Personnel

5-11-101. Appointment and composition of council.

Compiler's Comments

1999 Amendment: Chapter 19 in (1) at beginning of second sentence inserted "Subject to subsection (3), the legislative council"; inserted (3) allowing a legislator who would be on the legislative council due to a leadership position and who will not serve the next legislative session due to term limits to designate another legislator to serve on the legislative council; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective February 17, 1999.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 545 in (1), after "consists of", substituted remainder of section regarding Legislative Council membership for former (1) and (2) that read: "(1) four members of the house of representatives appointed by the speaker of the house with the advice of the majority and minority leaders of the house, no more than two of whom may be of the same political party; and

(2) four members of the senate appointed by the committee on committees of the senate, no more than two of whom may be of the same political party"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 27, 1995.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: The appointment of legislators to the council does not constitute an appointment to another civil office in violation of Art. V, sec. 9, Mont. Const. State ex rel. James v. Aronson, 132 M 120, 314 P2d 849 (1957), overruling State ex rel. Mitchell v. Holmes, 128 M 275, 274 P2d 611 (1954).

Method of Appointment: An appointment under this section by the Senate Committee on Committees was effective even though phrased in terms of recommending the appointment to the full Senate. State ex rel. James v. Aronson, 132 M 120, 314 P2d 849 (1957).

Appointments Do Not Need Senate Approval: Appointments under this section made by the Senate Committee on Committees need not be approved by the Senate even though a senate rule provides that committee appointments are subject to ratification by the Senate. State ex rel. James v. Aronson, 132 M 120, 314 P2d 849 (1957).

5-11-102. Term.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendment: Chapter 545 near beginning, after "2 years", substituted remainder of section concerning qualification and appointment for former language that read: "and terminates with the appointment of a new council or on the 50th legislative day of the next regular session following the one in which the appointment was made, whichever event occurs first. A new council shall be appointed no later than the 50th day of each regular session." Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: This section does not violate the limit on the length of a legislative session prescribed by Art. V, sec. 6, Mont. Const. State ex rel. James v. Aronson, 132 M 120, 314 P2d 849 (1957), overruling State ex rel. Mitchell v. Holmes, 128 M 275, 274 P2d 611 (1954).

1987 Amendment: At end of (1) inserted final clause containing citation for subcommittees and authority for statutorily created committees.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: Prior to the 1973 amendment, this section (former section 43-710, R.C.M. 1947) did not violate Art. III, sec. 1, Mont. Const., providing for separation of powers. State ex rel. James v. Aronson, 132 M 120, 314 P2d 849 (1957), overruling State ex rel. Mitchell v. Holmes, 128 M 275, 274 P2d 611 (1954).

Judicial Recourse to Journal:

Except to determine whether on its final passage the names of those voting were entered on the legislative journals, courts may not go behind the duly authenticated enrolled bill. Therefore, recourse may not be had to such journals to ascertain whether a substantial provision and an arrangement of section numbers were embodied in a particular bill, different from the bill as it passed one of the houses. In determining whether an act has been passed, the enrolled bill, signed and approved by the proper officers, is conclusive upon the courts and recourse cannot be had to any other evidence except where the alleged infirmity of the act is based upon a failure to enter the names of those voting upon its final passage, in which case the journals may be consulted. Part 4
Budget Amendments

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of Budget Amendment Process to Statutory Appropriations: Legislative history and case law support the conclusion that the scope of the budget amendment process is restricted to the expenditure of funds by state agencies in excess of their appropriations. The budget amendment process does not apply to "statutory appropriations", which are those appropriations accomplished by legislative enactment, either with or without specific appropriation laws. 1983 Amendment: In first sentence, inserted "as soon as received by the budget director"; in second sentence substituted "which includes a lawfully approved and valid budget amendment" for "except under authority of a budget amendment"; and changed phraseology.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: Empowering the Finance Committee to approve budget amendments is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power, because this power is properly exercisable only by either the entire Legislature or an executive officer or agency, and not by an interim committee. Malicious Prosecution of State Employee — Elements Not Shown: Employer brought suit for malicious prosecution against university employee who initiated an investigation against him, the university counsel who conducted the investigation, and the president of the university. Summary judgment for defendants and dismissal of the suit were proper because two of the prima facie elements of malicious prosecution were not established. The County Attorney, not defendants, initiated and continued the prosecution, and plaintiff's bald assertion that defendants caused the prosecution did not raise a genuine issue as to who initiated it. In addition, the defendants were fulfilling a statutory duty. A second unestablished prima facie element was that the prosecution must have terminated favorably for plaintiff. Here, three charges were brought; plaintiff was acquitted of one, and two were dismissed pursuant to a bargained plea of guilty to a substituted charge arising from the investigation. Vehrs v. Piquette, 210 M 386, 684 P2d 476, 41 St. Rep. 1110 (1984).

Payment of Defense Counsel: The Department of Justice rather than counties is responsible for the payment of counsel for indigent defendants in prosecutions under this section. In re Barron, 170 M 218, 552 P2d 70 (1976).

Scope of Power of Prosecution — Retroactive Effect: The grant of authority in this section covers "public offenses disclosed by an audit of a state agency by the legislative auditor" and does not require individual identification of a particular offense or a particular offender by the Legislative Auditor as a precondition to the Attorney General's authority in such a manner as to defeat the obvious purpose of the legislation. The section may be given retroactive effect. St. v. Cline, 170 M 520, 555 P2d 724 (1976).

Limitation on Scope of Grand Jury Inquiry: When a grand jury was empaneled pursuant to this section, the court had authority to limit the area of the grand jury investigation by its charge given at empanelment and could inquire into the proceedings to ascertain if any instructions were not being followed. In re Grand Jury, 170 M 354, 553 P2d 987 (1976).

Investigative Subpoenas: In conducting investigations under this section, the Attorney General does not have general subpoena power and cannot, without an order of a court in a filed case or order of a grand jury, issue investigative subpoenas. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Nature of Self-Government Local Governments

Part Compiler's Comments

Severability: Section 2, Ch. 345, L. 1975, was a severability section.

Part Case Notes

Regulation of Nude Dancing by Municipality: Under the broad regulatory powers of the twenty-first amendment, a municipality with self-government powers may enact an ordinance that regulates nude and seminude dancing. Billings v. Laedeke, 247 M 151, 805 P2d 1348, 48 St. Rep. 133 (1991).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of City-County Government to Acquire and Operate Electric and Natural Gas Utilities: A consolidated government with self-government powers, such as the city and county of Butte-Silver Bow, has the authority to acquire and operate electric and natural gas utilities both within and outside the boundaries of the local government unit. The Attorney General determined that Butte-Silver Bow was specifically authorized to do so after considering the local government's charter, constitutional ramifications, and whether the exercise of that authority was prohibited by local government law or other statutes applicable to self-government units and was consistent with state provisions in areas affirmatively subjected to state control, as described in 7-1-113. 48 A.G. Op. 14 (2000). See also State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100 (1981), D&F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977 (1986), and Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191 (1990).

Local Government Authority to Provide Alcohol and Drug Abuse Treatment Services: The city of Billings and Yellowstone County proposed to purchase and renovate a building for use by a nonprofit corporation providing treatment for alcohol and drug-related problems. The city proposed to issue industrial revenue bonds (IRBs) to fund a portion of the project, and the county sought a grant from the Montana Coal Board. Under the proposal, title to the building would vest in the nonprofit corporation once the IRBs have been retired. The questions presented were whether: (1) the building in question is a "governmental facility"; (2) a city or county has the power to expend funds for a building the title to which will eventually vest in a private corporation; and (3) contracting with a private corporation is a legitimate means of providing a governmental service. In the opinion of the Attorney General, a local government unit with self-government powers and counties with general government powers are authorized to provide alcohol and drug abuse treatment services under Title 53, ch. 24. Local governments may contract with nonprofit corporations for the provision of such services. A program of alcohol and drug abuse treatment services provided by contract with a private nonprofit corporation is a "governmental service or facility" under 90-6-205 for the purpose of determining eligibility for coal impact assistance. 39 A.G. Op. 31 (1981).

Case Notes

Power of Local Governments to Require All Residents to Connect to City Water Supply: The defendants argued that a city ordinance requiring them to hook up to the city water system violated their right to privacy by denying them the freedom to choose the type of water they wanted to use. The Supreme Court held that the interest asserted did not involve matters so fundamentally affecting the defendants' rights as to invoke constitutional protection. The court also held that a local government's concern with preventing health problems is a legitimate reason for controlling the water supply and a proper exercise of governmental power. Ennis v. Stewart, 247 M 355, 807 P2d 179, 48 St. Rep. 228 (1991).

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Tax on Sale of Attorney's Services — Invalid: A city ordinance imposing an annual tax on every lawyer or law firm carrying on the practice of law, calculated on the basis of gross revenue generated from attorney-client relationships, was held to be an unconstitutional sales tax. The tax was beyond the scope of self-government powers and in violation of 7-1-112, since it was not related to any regulatory control measure for the health or welfare of the city but was a tax on the sale of attorneys' services. Brueggemann v. Billings, 221 M 375, 719 P2d 768, 43 St. Rep. 905 (1986).

Establishment of Refuse Disposal District by County With Self-Governing Power: Title 7, ch. 13, part 2, is not mandatory upon a county charter form of government when it establishes a refuse disposal district and system. That part applies to the establishment of a refuse disposal district by governments that are of general power status, not those with self-government status. Title 7, ch. 13, part 2, does not direct or require a local government to provide a service within the meaning of 7-1-114. Clopton v. Madison County Comm'n, 216 M 335, 701 P2d 347, 42 St. Rep. 851 (1985).

Regulatory Municipal Business License Applicable to Attorneys — Unconstitutional: A business license ordinance enacted by a self-governing municipality requiring municipal licensure of attorneys and that provided for regulation was an unconstitutional encroachment on the Supreme Court's authority to regulate the bar as provided in Art. III, sec. 2, Mont. Const., because the ordinance conditions attorneys' access to the practice of law. The ordinance included police provisions that could conceivably cover standards of practice, prohibited attorneys from carrying on their occupation without procuring a municipal license, required municipal licensure of nonresident attorneys practicing in the municipality, and provided for fines and incarceration for failing to comply with the ordinance. Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

Unconstitutional Regulation of Attorneys — Regulatory Business License Required — Self-Government Powers Municipality: A business license ordinance enacted by a self-governing municipality requiring licensure of attorneys was declared invalid in respect to the attorneys because provisions of the ordinance provided for regulation of the practice of law contrary to the Supreme Court's authority to regulate the bar as provided in Art. III, sec. 2, Mont. Const. The Supreme Court recognized the universe of powers available to self-governing local governments that are not available to general power local governments, but said that such powers are restricted by the Montana Constitution. Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

Power to Prohibit Door-to-Door Solicitation: The city of Billings enacted an ordinance declaring uninvited door-to-door solicitation a nuisance punishable as a misdemeanor. It was argued that a state statute regulating itinerant vendors did not empower a city to prohibit their activities, therefore precluding the ordinance. The Supreme Court disagreed. Under the expanded powers of local self-government provided by Montana's 1972 Constitution, a city possessing those powers may exercise any power not prohibited by the Constitution or state statute. A city possessing self-government powers may prohibit uninvited door-to-door solicitation by itinerant vendors, and a licensing statute does not legalize an activity otherwise prohibited. Any statements to the contrary contained in DeLong v. Downes, 175 M 152, 573 P2d 160 (1977), are expressly overruled. Tipco Corp. v. Billings, 197 M 339, 642 P2d 1074, 39 St. Rep. 600 (1982). See also Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. Op. 47 (1986).

Self-Government Powers — Professional Licensing — Conflict With State Statutes: The city of Helena, operating under a home rule charter, passed an ordinance requiring a license fee of all city businesses. State statutes that prohibit municipalities from imposing license fees on certain professions did not apply because the statutes were not made specifically applicable to self-government units. Home rule governments have all powers not specifically denied by the Montana Constitution, law, or charter. 39 A.G. Op. 60 (1982), overruled in Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

Competitive Bidding Requirements Mandatory: A local government unit with self-government powers cannot supersede by the passage of a resolution or ordinance the competitive bidding requirements set forth in 7-5-4302. 37 A.G. Op. 175 (1978).

County Employment of Independent Contractor to Provide Legal Services: There is no express prohibition under Montana law precluding or preventing a county from entering into an independent contractor relationship for the provision of legal services. Services Under Self-Government Powers — No Doctrine of Implied Preemption: Appellant garbage haulers contended that the Legislature preempted the field of garbage regulation by enacting 7-2-4736. Prior to the 1972 Constitution, cities had only those powers expressly given to them by the Legislature, and if the Legislature considered a subject to be a matter of statewide concern, it could enact laws on the subject and preempt local governments from the field. However, Art. XI, sec. 6, Mont. Const., states that a local government which adopts a self-government charter may exercise any power not prohibited by the Constitution, law, or the charter. The city of Billings adopted a self-government charter in 1976, and this section allows the city to provide services or perform any functions not expressly prohibited. The Supreme Court held in Tipco Corp., Inc. v. Billings, 197 M 339, 642 P2d 1074 (1982), that "the only way the doctrine of pre-emption by the state can co-exist with self-government powers of a municipality is if there is an express prohibition by statute which forbids local governments . . . from acting in a certain area. The doctrine of implied pre-emption, by definition, cannot apply to local governments with self-government powers". Powers specifically denied to local governments are enumerated in 7-1-111 and include the exercise of any power that prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Under 69-12-314, garbage haulers are required to get a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to doing business. The decision by Billings voters that the city should provide garbage services in no way prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public necessity. The Supreme Court held that the city was simply exercising its self-government powers to provide a service for its residents and was taxing them for that service. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986), overruling Billings v. Weatherwax, 193 M 163, 630 P2d 1216, 38 St. Rep. 1034 (1981).

Case Notes

No Presumption That Hookup Fees Reasonable: Seypar, Inc., argued that the sewer district's $500 hookup fee assessed against each of Seypar, Inc.'s, 70 lots was unreasonable. The Supreme Court held that the District Court was wrong in finding that the district was a local self-governing unit and that therefore there was no presumption that the district's fees were reasonable. However, the Supreme Court found that the district had introduced evidence that the fees were reasonable and Seypar, Inc., had presented no contrary evidence. Therefore, Seypar, Inc., it had not met its burden of proof to show that the fees were unreasonable. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. The Supreme Court held that the district did have the power to impose hookup fees under 7-12-2151. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Diefenderfer v. Billings, 223 M 487, 726 P2d 1362, 43 St. Rep. 1934 (1986), distinguished in Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Limitation on Self-Governing Powers: The city of Billings, a self-governing city, adopted an ordinance purporting to supersede all but two sections in Title 7, ch. 33, part 41, relating to municipal fire departments. The firefighters challenged the ordinance. The District Court held that the ordinance was a permissible exercise of a self-government power. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that under the shared sovereignty concept contained in the Montana Constitution, local governments with self-governing powers are limited only by express prohibitions in the constitution, state statute, or the local government charter itself. By statute, a local government may not establish standards or requirements lower or less stringent than those imposed by state law. The court held that because the ordinance did not contain standards governing several areas it purported to supersede, the ordinance provisions were lower or less stringent than the statutory provisions and therefore invalid. A local government must provide any service required by state law. State law requires every city to have a fire department. Pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5(3), Mont. Const., the only statutory provisions a self-governing charter may control over are those establishing executive, legislative, and administrative structure and organization. The ordinance was invalid. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 214 M 481, 694 P2d 1335, 42 St. Rep. 112 (1985), followed in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

Exercise of Power Under Self-Government Charter Not Limited: A county government operating under a self-government charter which elects to provide a service or perform a function that may also be provided or performed by a general power government unit is not subject to any limitation in the provision of such service or performance of that function except to the extent of such limitations as are found in its charter or in state law specifically applicable to self-government units. Thus, where a county government is not limited by its charter concerning whether it can charge a fee for review by the county-appointed land surveyor and where there is no state statute specifically forbidding self-government units from assessing a fee for the review of certificates of survey, the county's prescribed fee is valid. The county in prescribing such a fee is merely exercising a legislative power that as a self-governing unit it shares with the state. State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100, 38 St. Rep. 71 (1981), distinguished in Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Local Development Code Regulating Sale of Alcoholic Beverages Not Preempted by State: Montana's statutory framework for the regulation of alcohol clearly contemplates that cities will impose local zoning that regulates the sale of alcohol. The development code of the city of Red Lodge, a self-governing city, being consistent with and stricter than the state's regulations, was not preempted by state law. Town Pump, Inc. v. Bd. of Adjustment of Red Lodge, 1998 MT 294, 292 M 6, 971 P2d 349, 55 St. Rep. 1205 (1998), overruling State ex rel. Libby v. Haswell, 147 M 492, 414 P2d 652 (1966).

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Independent Exercise of Eminent Domain Power by Joint Airport Board Member: Plaintiffs argued that 67-10-205(2)(c) mandates that a proceeding for eminent domain may not be brought by a single municipal member of a joint airport board but rather only as a joint action with the other signatories. The Supreme Court found this to be an overly narrow interpretation in light of other statutory authority in Title 67, ch. 10, parts 1 and 2, which empowers municipalities to act either jointly or independently, and under the broad grant of power to cities under Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const. By its terms, 67-10-205(2)(c) requires joint action when an eminent domain proceeding is brought pursuant to the authority of the joint airport board; however, it does not preclude action separate and apart from the board. Municipal Tiered Resort Tax Allowed: Resort tax statutes neither prohibit nor explicitly permit a differential tax schedule. However, a differential tax structure is not inconsistent with concerns revealed in the legislative history and may arguably further the express statutory purposes by taxing at a higher rate those businesses drawing more of their customers from tourists than those businesses serving a greater proportion of local residents. Therefore, a municipality with self-governing powers may establish a tiered resort tax schedule providing different tax rates for similar goods or services according to the character of the business in which the goods or services are offered, as long as none of the tax rates exceed 3%. 48 A.G. Op. 25 (2000).

Enactment of Local Government Ordinance Providing That Delinquent Solid Waste Service Charges Become Lien on Property Served: A city-county charter that provided that levies for special services were the obligation of the property owners was not in conflict with state constitutional powers delegated to local governments or with state law governing local governments, nor was it inconsistent with state provisions in an area affirmatively subjected to state control. Therefore, a local government with self-governing powers may enact an ordinance that provides that delinquent solid waste management service charges become a lien on the property served, consistent with the remedy available to a solid waste management district for collecting its delinquent service charges under 7-13-233. 44 A.G. Op. 34 (1992).

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. No Prohibition Against Utility Regulation by Municipality: Appellants argued that the restriction in subsection (5) of this section, which prohibits a local government unit from establishing a rate or price otherwise determined by a state agency, preempted the city of Billings from assessing new utility fees in the form of system development fees for funding the expansion of water and sewer facilities. However, under Title 69, ch. 7, municipal utility rates are not determined by a state agency; rather, unless the rates result in an increase in total revenue of 12% in any 1 year, the exclusive authority to regulate, establish, and change municipal utility rates rests with the city. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Garbage Service Under Self-Government — No Doctrine of Implied Preemption: Appellant garbage haulers contended that the Legislature preempted the field of garbage regulation by enacting 7-2-4736. Prior to the 1972 Constitution, cities had only those powers expressly given to them by the Legislature, and if the Legislature considered a subject to be a matter of statewide concern, it could enact laws on the subject and preempt local governments from the field. However, Art. XI, sec. 6, Mont. Const., states that a local government which adopts a self-government charter may exercise any power not prohibited by the Constitution, law, or the charter. The city of Billings adopted a self-government charter in 1976, and 7-1-102 allows the city to provide services or perform any functions not expressly prohibited. Powers specifically denied to local governments are enumerated in this section and include the exercise of any power that prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Under 69-12-314, garbage haulers are required to get a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to doing business. The decision by Billings voters that the city should provide garbage services in no way prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public necessity. Limitation on Self-Governing Powers: The city of Billings, a self-governing city, adopted an ordinance purporting to supersede all but two sections in Title 7, ch. 33, part 41, relating to municipal fire departments. Const., the only statutory provisions a self-governing charter may control over are those establishing executive, legislative, and administrative structure and organization. The ordinance was invalid. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 214 M 481, 694 P2d 1335, 42 St. Rep. 112 (1985), followed in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Self-Governing Unit Ordinance — State Statute Silent on Subject of Ordinance: A county's ordinance enacted pursuant to a self-government charter that requires payment of a fee for review by the appointed land surveyor of certificates of survey does not prescribe a lower standard than 76-3-611 (requiring review but no fee), is "not less stringent", and therefore, under 7-1-113, is not the exercise of a power inconsistent with state law. Authority of City-County Government to Acquire and Operate Electric and Natural Gas Utilities: A consolidated government with self-government powers, such as the city and county of Butte-Silver Bow, has the authority to acquire and operate electric and natural gas utilities both within and outside the boundaries of the local government unit. The Attorney General determined that Butte-Silver Bow was specifically authorized to do so after considering the local government's charter, constitutional ramifications, and whether the exercise of that authority was prohibited by local government law or other statutes applicable to self-government units and was consistent with state provisions in areas affirmatively subjected to state control, as described in 7-1-113. 48 A.G. Op. 14 (2000). See also State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100 (1981), D&F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977 (1986), and Lechner v. City Authority to Enact Photo-Radar Ordinance: No state agency is given exclusive power to establish administrative rules governing speed of traffic in cities and towns, nor is the enforcement of speed regulations exclusively vested in a state agency. Therefore, the city of Billings, under its self-government charter, is not precluded by statute from enacting a photo-radar ordinance providing either for accountability on the part of the registered owner for illegal speeding by any person operating the vehicle with the owner's permission or for a permissive inference that the registered owner was the speeding violator. 45 A.G. Op. 7 (1993).

Enactment of Local Government Ordinance Providing That Delinquent Solid Waste Service Charges Become Lien on Property Served: A city-county charter that provided that levies for special services were the obligation of the property owners was not in conflict with state constitutional powers delegated to local governments or with state law governing local governments, nor was it inconsistent with state provisions in an area affirmatively subjected to state control. Therefore, a local government with self-governing powers may enact an ordinance that provides that delinquent solid waste management service charges become a lien on the property served, consistent with the remedy available to a solid waste management district for collecting its delinquent service charges under 7-13-233. 44 A.G. Op. 34 (1992).

Public Utility Contractor Not to Install Certain Service Lines in Billings Unless Licensed by State as Plumber — City Required to Check License Qualifications: The city of Billings may not allow public utility contractors to install water and wastewater service lines that extend from the public water or sewer main to a point within the walls of the private property or within 20 feet from any foundation wall of the private residence unless the contractor also has a plumber's license issued by the state. The city is required to determine whether a person applying for a plumbing permit pursuant to the Uniform Plumbing Code is licensed by the state as a plumber if the type of work described in the permit requires licensure as a requisite to performance. 44 A.G. Op. 12 (1991). In clarifying this opinion, the Attorney General noted that work done on a public water supply or public sewer system that does not include work falling within the statutory distances for plumbing or drainage systems does not require a state-issued plumber's license. Therefore, the city of Billings may not allow public utility contractors to install water service lines that extend from the public water main to a point within the walls of the private property or within 20 feet from any foundation wall of the premises, whichever distance is shorter as measured from the foundation wall, or wastewater service lines that extend from the public sewer main to a point within 2 feet from any foundation wall of the premises, unless the contractor also has a plumber's license issued by the state. 44 A.G. Op. 39 (1992).

Extraterritorial Extension of City Zoning Regulations: In the absence of applicable county zoning regulations, 76-2-310 authorizes a city of the first class that has adopted a master plan (now growth policy) to extend its zoning regulations extraterritorially within a 3-mile radius of its corporate limits without reference to county boundary lines. 43 A.G. Op. 22 (1989).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 in (1) inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Severability: Section 172, Ch. 584, L. 1999, was a severability clause.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

Case Notes

System Development Fee as Service Charge, Not Tax: System development fees that are placed in a special fund earmarked for expanding a city's water and sewer facilities or for retiring bonds issued for that purpose, rather than being held in a general revenue fund to be used on projects unrelated to water and sewer systems, are not taxes but service charges, which the city is not prohibited from adopting by this section. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Tax on Sale of Attorney's Services — Invalid: A city ordinance imposing an annual tax on every lawyer or law firm carrying on the practice of law, calculated on the basis of gross revenue generated from attorney-client relationships, was held to be an unconstitutional sales tax. The tax was beyond the scope of self-government powers and in violation of 7-1-112, since it was not related to any regulatory control measure for the health or welfare of the city but was a tax on the sale of attorneys' services. Brueggemann v. Billings, 221 M 375, 719 P2d 768, 43 St. Rep. 905 (1986).

Fee for Occupancy of Motel Room Held a Sales Tax: Where the city of Billings imposed a fee of $1 on each adult transient for each day he occupied a hotel or motel room, the District Court erred in holding that the fee was not a sales tax, prohibited by law, on a service. The fact that the tax is imposed on the occupant rather than upon the passage of possession of the room is not persuasive on the issue of whether the fee is a tax upon a service. The fee is directly connected to the renting of the room, as such a fee is not imposed upon any other type of business. The ordinance imposing the fee is illegal and void. Mont. Innkeepers Ass'n v. Billings, 206 M 425, 671 P2d 21, 40 St. Rep. 1753 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Municipal Tiered Resort Tax Allowed: Resort tax statutes neither prohibit nor explicitly permit a differential tax schedule. However, a differential tax structure is not inconsistent with concerns revealed in the legislative history and may arguably further the express statutory purposes by taxing at a higher rate those businesses drawing more of their customers from tourists than those businesses serving a greater proportion of local residents. Therefore, a municipality with self-governing powers may establish a tiered resort tax schedule providing different tax rates for similar goods or services according to the character of the business in which the goods or services are offered, as long as none of the tax rates exceed 3%. 48 A.G. Op. 25 (2000).

City Authority to Enact Photo-Radar Ordinance: No state agency is given exclusive power to establish administrative rules governing speed of traffic in cities and towns, nor is the enforcement of speed regulations exclusively vested in a state agency. Therefore, the city of Billings, under its self-government charter, is not precluded by statute from enacting a photo-radar ordinance providing either for accountability on the part of the registered owner for illegal speeding by any person operating the vehicle with the owner's permission or for a permissive inference that the registered owner was the speeding violator. 45 A.G. Op. 7 (1993).

Case Notes

Local Development Code Regulating Sale of Alcoholic Beverages Not Preempted by State: Montana's statutory framework for the regulation of alcohol clearly contemplates that cities will impose local zoning that regulates the sale of alcohol. The development code of the city of Red Lodge, a self-governing city, being consistent with and stricter than the state's regulations, was not preempted by state law. Town Pump, Inc. v. Bd. of Adjustment of Red Lodge, 1998 MT 294, 292 M 6, 971 P2d 349, 55 St. Rep. 1205 (1998), overruling State ex rel. Libby v. Haswell, 147 M 492, 414 P2d 652 (1966).

No Mandatory Application of Wastewater Treatment Regulation by Local Board of Health: Under 76-3-501, review and approval or disapproval of a subdivision under the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act may occur only under regulations in effect at the time that an application is submitted to the governing body. The Lewis and Clark County Commission approved the Green Acres subdivision in July 1990, at which time the Lewis and Clark County Board of Health's onsite wastewater treatment regulations mandated shallow standard treatment systems, rather than the present regulation requiring intermittent sand filters. Skinner Enterprises, Inc., argued that the 1990 regulation should be applied pursuant to 76-3-501. However, local boards of health derive authority to regulate subdivisions from 50-2-116, not from the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act. Therefore, the local board's own onsite wastewater treatment regulations did not obligate the local board to apply the 1990 regulation. Further, 50-2-130 allows local boards of health to promulgate regulations that are more stringent than comparable state regulations, notwithstanding the provisions of this section prohibiting a local government from exercising any power inconsistent with state law or administrative regulations. The facts regarding whether shallow-capped drainfields or intermittent sand filters are considered more stringent were not the subject of the present appeal. The discretionary authority of the local board of health to regulate subdivision sanitation by requiring intermittent sand filters was affirmed. Skinner Enterprises, Inc. v. Lewis & Clark County Bd. of Health, 286 M 256, 950 P2d 733, 54 St. Rep. 1398 (1997). In early 1998, prior to trial, the Board again amended the onsite wastewater treatment regulations, superseding the 1995 regulations to which Skinner objected. As a result, the legality of the 1995 amendments were no longer of any practical consequence to the parties and Skinner's objections to the process by which the 1995 amendments were adopted were moot and properly dismissed. Skinner Enterprises, Inc. v. Lewis & Clark City-County Health Dept., 1999 MT 106, 294 M 310, 980 P2d 1049, 56 St. Rep. 438 (1999).

Setting of Municipal Utility Rates Not Subjected to State Control: The setting of rates and charges for municipal utilities has not been affirmatively subjected to state control within the meaning of this section. The enforcement of standards or requirements and the power to establish administrative rules in the area of municipal ratemaking are not vested in any state agency or officer. Rather, 69-7-201 requires the municipal utility, with the concurrence of the municipal governing body, to adopt rules for operating the utility. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Diefenderfer v. Billings, 223 M 487, 726 P2d 1362, 43 St. Rep. 1934 (1986).

Limitation on Self-Governing Powers: The city of Billings, a self-governing city, adopted an ordinance purporting to supersede all but two sections in Title 7, ch. 33, part 41, relating to municipal fire departments. The firefighters challenged the ordinance. The District Court held that the ordinance was a permissible exercise of a self-government power. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that under the shared sovereignty concept contained in the Montana Constitution, local governments with self-governing powers are limited only by express prohibitions in the constitution, state statute, or the local government charter itself. By statute, a local government may not establish standards or requirements lower or less stringent than those imposed by state law. The court held that because the ordinance did not contain standards governing several areas it purported to supersede, the ordinance provisions were lower or less stringent than the statutory provisions and therefore invalid. A local government must provide any service required by state law. State law requires every city to have a fire department. Pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5(3), Mont. Const., the only statutory provisions a self-governing charter may control over are those establishing executive, legislative, and administrative structure and organization. The ordinance was invalid. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 214 M 481, 694 P2d 1335, 42 St. Rep. 112 (1985), followed in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

Self-Governing Unit Ordinance — State Statute Silent on Subject of Ordinance: A county's ordinance enacted pursuant to a self-government charter that requires payment of a fee for review by the appointed land surveyor of certificates of survey does not prescribe a lower standard than 76-3-611 (requiring review but no fee), is "not less stringent", and therefore, under 7-1-113, is not the exercise of a power inconsistent with state law. State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100, 38 St. Rep. 71 (1981).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of City-County Government to Acquire and Operate Electric and Natural Gas Utilities: A consolidated government with self-government powers, such as the city and county of Butte-Silver Bow, has the authority to acquire and operate electric and natural gas utilities both within and outside the boundaries of the local government unit. The Attorney General determined that Butte-Silver Bow was specifically authorized to do so after considering the local government's charter, constitutional ramifications, and whether the exercise of that authority was prohibited by local government law or other statutes applicable to self-government units and was consistent with state provisions in areas affirmatively subjected to state control, as described in this section. 48 A.G. Op. 14 (2000). See also State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100 (1981), D&F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977 (1986), and Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191 (1990).

No Authority for Self-Governing City to Assess Fire Service Fees to State Property Within Fire Service Area: The city of Helena, a self-governing city, is precluded from assessing fire service fees to state property located in the city fire service area because the fees are a tax for services provided for the general public good, and thus prohibited by 15-6-201(1)(a)(ii), rather than an assessment commensurate with a specific benefit conferred on the assessed property. 46 A.G. Op. 7 (1995).

City Authority to Enact Photo-Radar Ordinance: No state agency is given exclusive power to establish administrative rules governing speed of traffic in cities and towns, nor is the enforcement of speed regulations exclusively vested in a state agency. Therefore, the city of Billings, under its self-government charter, is not precluded by statute from enacting a photo-radar ordinance providing either for accountability on the part of the registered owner for illegal speeding by any person operating the vehicle with the owner's permission or for a permissive inference that the registered owner was the speeding violator. 45 A.G. Op. 7 (1993).

Enactment of Local Government Ordinance Providing That Delinquent Solid Waste Service Charges Become Lien on Property Served: A city-county charter that provided that levies for special services were the obligation of the property owners was not in conflict with state constitutional powers delegated to local governments or with state law governing local governments, nor was it inconsistent with state provisions in an area affirmatively subjected to state control. Therefore, a local government with self-governing powers may enact an ordinance that provides that delinquent solid waste management service charges become a lien on the property served, consistent with the remedy available to a solid waste management district for collecting its delinquent service charges under 7-13-233. 44 A.G. Op. 34 (1992).

Funeral Procession Vehicles Not to Be Exempted From Traffic Laws by City Ordinance: A city with self-government powers may not enact an ordinance exempting vehicles in a funeral procession from obeying traffic control devices by designating the vehicles as authorized emergency vehicles. 43 A.G. Op. 53 (1990).

Sale of City Land by City With Self-Government Powers — Vote Required: Although subsection (2)(a) of 7-8-4201 requires a two-thirds vote of the city commission to sell city land, a city with self-governing powers may enact a superseding ordinance allowing the sale of city land by a simple majority vote. 43 A.G. Op. 41 (1989). After analyzing 7-8-4201(2)(b), the Attorney General applied the same analysis and conclusion to allow the governing body of a local government unit with self-governing powers to enact an ordinance providing for the disposition by majority vote of the council of property held in trust for a specific purpose. 43 A.G. Op. 55 (1990).

Local Governments Preempted by State Law From Controlling Beer Sales: By enacting 16-1-102, the Legislature reserved to the state the entire control of the manufacture, sale, and distribution of beer. Thus, neither cities nor counties have authority to enact ordinances requiring distributors of keg beer to keep and maintain records of the sales or distribution of all beer kegs within the city or county. 40 A.G. Op. 48 (1984).

Self-Government Powers — Professional Licensing — Conflict With State Statutes: The city of Helena, operating under a home rule charter, passed an ordinance requiring a license fee of all city businesses. State statutes that prohibit municipalities from imposing license fees on certain professions did not apply because the statutes were not made specifically applicable to self-government units. Home rule governments have all powers not specifically denied by the Montana Constitution, law, or charter. 39 A.G. Op. 60 (1982), overruled in Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

County Powers — Revenue Funds: Unless a specific mode or manner of action is mandated by statute, counties may contract with individuals or private organizations, including nonprofit service organizations, for the purchase of services or materials the counties are authorized by statute to provide their constituents if the contracts are reasonable and appropriate methods of furnishing services or materials. Counties may use federal revenue sharing funds to purchase any services or materials they could use county tax revenues to purchase. 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978).

Increase in County Attorney's Salary: A county having self-government powers may grant an increase in salary to its County Attorney in excess of the amount provided in 7-4-2503, but the increase must be borne by the general fund of the county. 37 A.G. Op. 70 (1977).

Case Notes

Suspension of Firefighters — All Cities Required to Present Charges to City Council for Hearing — Suspension Procedure Not Part of "Structure" of City Government Under Applicable Definitions — Statute Not Superseded by Charter: Elsenpeter, a Billings firefighter, was suspended from duty by the Billings fire chief. The firefighters' union filed a lawsuit in which the union contended that the suspension procedure used by the city was unlawful because the charges against Elsenpeter were not presented to the Billings City Council for hearing pursuant to 7-33-4124. The city contended that the suspension procedure that it used is part of the structure and organization of the city under its charter and that, pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5, Mont. Const., and 7-3-701(2), which allow the structure of a chartered city government to supersede statutory requirements, the city may override the statutory requirements for hearing contained in 7-33-4124 because the definition of "structure" contained in 7-1-4121(24) is the definition that should apply. The Supreme Court held that in as much as the definitions in 7-1-4121 are, by the terms of that section, limited in their application to 7-1-4121 through 7-1-4149, the dictionary definition of "structure" is the definition that applies. Because the dictionary definition of structure was narrower, the Supreme Court held that the disciplinary suspension procedure used by the city was not part of the "structure" of city government. Therefore, the Supreme Court held that the statutory procedure contained in 7-33-4124, requiring presentment of the charges to the City Council, was not superseded by the city charter and had to be followed for the purposes of the suspension of Elsenpeter. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

Statutory Duty of City Council to Hold Termination Hearing Not Superseded by City Policy or Collective Bargaining Agreement: Phillips was terminated from his employment as a full-time firefighter for the city of Livingston. Before his termination, the city manager held a termination hearing. Phillips argued that the hearing was held in violation of 7-33-4124, requiring the hearing to be held before the City Council. The city responded that the termination procedures followed were provided in the city policy and procedures manual that was included in the firefighters' collective bargaining agreement and that the provisions of that agreement controlled pursuant to 39-31-306(3). The Supreme Court noted that the agreement adopted the city's procedures manual that allowed the manager to hold the hearing but that the agreement also referenced termination action "by the appropriate authority". Because the appropriate authority under 7-33-4124 was the City Council, the Supreme Court held that the agreement and the city's policies did not supersede state statute. Phillips v. Livingston, 268 M 156, 885 P2d 528, 51 St. Rep. 1227 (1994), followed, as to the inability of a city charter to supersede the statutory duty of a City Council to hold a disciplinary hearing, in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Establishment of Refuse Disposal District by County With Self-Governing Power: Title 7, ch. 13, part 2, is not mandatory upon a county charter form of government when it establishes a refuse disposal district and system. That part applies to the establishment of a refuse disposal district by governments that are of general power status, not those with self-government status.

Title 7, ch. 13, part 2, does not direct or require a local government to provide a service within the meaning of this section. Clopton v. Madison County Comm'n, 216 M 335, 701 P2d 347, 42 St. Rep. 851 (1985).

Limitation on Self-Governing Powers: The city of Billings, a self-governing city, adopted an ordinance purporting to supersede all but two sections in Title 7, ch. 33, part 41, relating to municipal fire departments. The firefighters challenged the ordinance. The District Court held that the ordinance was a permissible exercise of a self-government power. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that under the shared sovereignty concept contained in the Montana Constitution, local governments with self-governing powers are limited only by express prohibitions in the constitution, state statute, or the local government charter itself. By statute, a local government may not establish standards or requirements lower or less stringent than those imposed by state law. The court held that because the ordinance did not contain standards governing several areas it purported to supersede, the ordinance provisions were lower or less stringent than the statutory provisions and therefore invalid. A local government must provide any service required by state law. State law requires every city to have a fire department. Pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5(3), Mont. Const., the only statutory provisions a self-governing charter may control over are those establishing executive, legislative, and administrative structure and organization. The ordinance was invalid. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 214 M 481, 694 P2d 1335, 42 St. Rep. 112 (1985), followed in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Attorney General's Opinions

Municipal Planning Board Not to Be Vested With Municipal Zoning Commission Powers: Authorization does not exist for designation of a city planning board as a zoning commission, and this section prohibits establishment of an alternative zoning system by local ordinance. Therefore, a city exercising self-government powers may not vest its municipal planning board with powers vested in municipal zoning commissions by 76-2-307. 47 A.G. Op. 4 (1997).

No Authority for Self-Governing City to Assess Fire Service Fees to State Property Within Fire Service Area: The city of Helena, a self-governing city, is precluded from assessing fire service fees to state property located in the city fire service area because the fees are a tax for services provided for the general public good, and thus prohibited by 15-6-201(1)(a)(ii), rather than an assessment commensurate with a specific benefit conferred on the assessed property. 46 A.G. Op. 7 (1995).

City Authority to Enact Photo-Radar Ordinance: No state agency is given exclusive power to establish administrative rules governing speed of traffic in cities and towns, nor is the enforcement of speed regulations exclusively vested in a state agency. Therefore, the city of Billings, under its self-government charter, is not precluded by statute from enacting a photo-radar ordinance providing either for accountability on the part of the registered owner for illegal speeding by any person operating the vehicle with the owner's permission or for a permissive inference that the registered owner was the speeding violator. 45 A.G. Op. 7 (1993).

Enactment of Local Government Ordinance Providing That Delinquent Solid Waste Service Charges Become Lien on Property Served: A city-county charter that provided that levies for special services were the obligation of the property owners was not in conflict with state constitutional powers delegated to local governments or with state law governing local governments, nor was it inconsistent with state provisions in an area affirmatively subjected to state control. Therefore, a local government with self-governing powers may enact an ordinance that provides that delinquent solid waste management service charges become a lien on the property served, consistent with the remedy available to a solid waste management district for collecting its delinquent service charges under 7-13-233. 44 A.G. Op. 34 (1992).

City Not Authorized to Reduce Office Hours: The phrase "unless otherwise provided by law", as used in 7-4-102, does not authorize a city to enact a municipal ordinance reducing the number of hours during which city offices must be open. Subsection (1)(f) of this section prohibits a city from reducing its office hours beyond those required by 7-4-102. 43 A.G. Op. 16 (1989).

Local Government Subject to State Zoning Laws — Ordinance Creating Appeal Prohibited: Section 7-1-114 prohibits a local legislative body from providing for an optional appeal of decisions from the local zoning Board of Adjustment to the legislative body since 76-2-327 provides that appeal may only be to a court of record. Section 76-2-321 authorizes the local legislative body to act instead of the Board of Adjustment in certain cases, not in addition to the Board. 38 A.G. Op. 98 (1980).

Mandatory Provisions — Procedural Laws: Section 7-1-114 applies to procedural as well as substantive laws. 38 A.G. Op. 98 (1980).

Local Governments — Authority to Borrow From Financial Institutions: A county, city, or town with general government or self-government powers can incur indebtedness by borrowing money directly from a financial institution. This authority to borrow does not change the debt limitations on the local government. 38 A.G. Op. 14 (1979).

Competitive Bidding Requirements Mandatory: A local government unit with self-government powers cannot supersede by the passage of a resolution or ordinance the competitive bidding requirements set forth in 7-5-4302. 37 A.G. Op. 175 (1978).

Self-Government Powers: Section 7-4-2503 does not apply to self-government units since it may be superseded by ordinance or resolution of the Commission and is not prohibited by 7-1-114(1)(g). 37 A.G. Op. 68 (1977).

Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

Part 21
Counties

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Local Government Authority to Provide Alcohol and Drug Abuse Treatment Services: The city of Billings and Yellowstone County proposed to purchase and renovate a building for use by a nonprofit corporation providing treatment for alcohol and drug-related problems. The city proposed to issue industrial revenue bonds (IRBs) to fund a portion of the project, and the county sought a grant from the Montana Coal Board. Under the proposal, title to the building would vest in the nonprofit corporation once the IRBs have been retired. The questions presented were whether: (1) the building in question is a "governmental facility"; (2) a city or county has the power to expend funds for a building the title to which will eventually vest in a private corporation; and (3) contracting with a private corporation is a legitimate means of providing a governmental service. In the opinion of the Attorney General, a local government unit with self-government powers and counties with general government powers are authorized to provide alcohol and drug abuse treatment services under Title 53, ch. 24. Local governments may contract with nonprofit corporations for the provision of such services. A program of alcohol and drug abuse treatment services provided by contract with a private nonprofit corporation is a "governmental service or facility" under 90-6-205 for the purpose of determining eligibility for coal impact assistance. 39 A.G. Op. 31 (1981).

Decisions Under 1972 Constitution 616

DECISIONS UNDER 1972 CONSTITUTION

Powers of Self-Government Charter Counties: Under the 1889 Montana Constitution, legislative control over counties was supreme; counties could exercise only such powers as were expressly granted to them by the state, together with such implied powers as were necessary for the execution of the powers expressly granted. The 1972 Montana Constitution opened to local government units new vistas of shared sovereignty with the state through the adoption of self-government charters. Article XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., continues to provide that general local government forms have such powers as are expressly provided or implied by law (to be liberally construed), but Art. XI, sec. 6, Mont. Const., provides that a local government unit may act under a self-government charter with its powers uninhibited except by express prohibitions of the constitution, law, or charter. The broad expanse of shared sovereignty given to self-governing local units is illustrated by 7-1-103 and 7-1-106. Madison County, having a self-governing charter form of local government, may exercise legislative powers it shares with the state. State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100, 38 St. Rep. 71 (1981).

DECISIONS UNDER 1889 CONSTITUTION

Political Subdivision of State: A county is one of the civil divisions of the state for political and judicial purposes, created by the sovereign power of the state of its own will, without the consent of the people who inhabit it. It is quasi-corporate in character but has only such powers as are expressly provided by law or are necessarily implied by those expressed. Lewis v. Petroleum County, 92 M 563, 17 P2d 60, 86 ALR 575 (1932); Franzke v. Fergus County, 76 M 150, 245 P 962 (1926); Edwards v. Lewis & Clark County, 53 M 359, 165 P 297 (1917); Hersey v. Neilson, 47 M 132, 131 P 30 (1913); Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Savings Bank, 46 M 439, 128 P 596 (1912); Independent Publishing Co. v. Lewis & Clark County, 30 M 83, 75 P 860 (1904); State ex rel. Lambert v. Coad, 23 M 131, 57 P 1092 (1899).

Ultra Vires Contracts:

Where a party assumes to deal with a county on the supposition that it possesses powers which it does not in fact possess, he may not recover even though he has performed his part of the contract. Lewis v. Petroleum County, 92 M 563, 17 P2d 60, 86 ALR 575 (1932).

A party assuming to deal with a county on the supposition that it possesses powers which it does not cannot maintain an action against it upon its unauthorized action. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Limit of Powers:

Counties are subdivisions of the state of purely statutory creation, and when they assume to exercise a power, authority therefor must be found in the statute conferring it upon them or necessarily implied from the power expressly conferred. Wherever a power is conferred upon the Board of County Commissioners but the mode in which the authority is to be exercised is not indicated, it may in its discretion select any appropriate mode or course of procedure. State ex rel. Blair v. Kuhr, 86 M 377, 283 P 758 (1930).

Counties and school districts are subdivisions of the state government with fixed powers and duties, and any act taken by the Commissioners of the former or the trustees of the latter must be justified by the provisions of the statutes defining and limiting their powers. State ex rel. School District v. McGraw, 74 M 152, 240 P 812 (1925).

"Prerogative" or its synonym "sovereignty" means the inherent power of the people; it must involve the general interest of the state at large, and though the prerogative of the state may be invoked for the protection of the rights of a county, the county, in the absence of express authority granting it, does not itself possess the power of the sovereign. Bignell v. Cummins, 69 M 294, 222 P 797, 36 ALR 634 (1923).

Construction of Existence of Powers — Prior to 1972 Montana Constitution: Aside from the powers granted to counties by statute and those necessarily implied from the powers expressed, they have none, and where there is a fair and reasonable doubt as to the existence of a particular power, it must be resolved against them and the power denied. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Unlawful Detainer — Penal Liability — Ejectment: A municipal corporation, such as a county, being no more than a political subdivision of the state for governmental purposes, cannot be subject to a penal liability, and therefore an action for treble (or penal) damages for unlawful detainer does not lie. While an action for unlawful detainer in which treble damages are sought does not lie against a county, one in ejectment may be maintained against it. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Distinguished From Municipal Corporation:

A county is a body corporate but does not possess the powers of local legislation and control that are the distinguishing characteristics of a municipal corporation. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 M 132, 131 P 30 (1913).

While in a strict sense a county is not a municipal corporation, yet in the sense that it is a body corporate with such powers only as are expressly conferred by the code and special statutes and such as are necessarily implied from those expressed, it comes within the rules and principles applicable to such corporations. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911); State ex rel. Lambert v. Coad, 23 M 131, 57 P 1092 (1899).

Case Notes

Action in Name of County: A county by its corporate name is the proper party to bring "all actions and proceedings touching its corporate rights, property and duties"; hence, a mandamus proceeding to compel a Board of County Commissioners to reapportion an indebtedness between an old county and a new one should be brought in the name of the county; the Board itself is not authorized to bring such a proceeding in its own name. 1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 at beginning of (5) inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Case Notes

One Governmental Subdivision Not Subject to Suit by Another: School districts sued the county for recovery of lost revenue and investment income on decreased reserve funds. The Supreme Court found that dismissal of the suit was proper because absent specific statutory or constitutional authority, one governmental subdivision may not sue another for damages. School District No. 55 v. Musselshell County, 245 M 525, 802 P2d 1252, 47 St. Rep. 2249 (1990).

County May Bring Action for Acquisition by Prescription: The defendant argued that the county did not have legal standing to bring an action on behalf of the public to acquire a road by prescription. The Supreme Court held that the general powers granted to counties must be liberally construed, and in so doing, it was clear that the county could maintain the action. Granite County v. Komberec, 245 M 252, 800 P2d 166, 47 St. Rep. 2061 (1990).

Tax Sales:

In the sale of land acquired by tax deed, county had the power to reserve the right to take road building material from the land for authorized public purpose. Helena Gun Club v. Lewis & Clark County, 141 M 490, 379 P2d 436 (1963).

Board of County Commissioners has the power and the authority to dispose of and convey real estate acquired through tax deeds. Flom v. Unknown Heirs of Conrad, 132 M 574, 319 P2d 499 (1957).

Tort Liability of County — Prior to 1972 Montana Constitution: The court is not precluded from holding a county liable for the torts of its employees on the theory that a "sovereign" cannot be sued without its consent, since this section provides that counties may "sue and be sued". Johnson v. Billings, 101 M 462, 54 P2d 579 (1936), distinguished in Goldwater v. St. Highway Comm'n, 118 M 65, 162 P2d 772 (1945), explained in Rhoades v. School District, 115 M 352, 142 P2d 890 (1943).

Sale of County Property: A county is merely a subdivision of the state for governmental purposes and as such is subject to legislative regulation and control. The Legislature may, within the limitations prescribed by the constitution, circumscribe or extend the powers to be exercised by a county, legislative authority to regulate or control the disposition of county property not having been limited by the 1889 Montana Constitution. The Legislature could properly declare, as it did by this section and section 4465, Revised Codes of 1921, that such property may be sold only under the restrictions and in the manner therein indicated. Franzke v. Fergus County, 76 M 150, 245 P 962 (1926).

Action Against County for Penal Liability Prohibited: A municipal corporation, such as a county, being no more than a political subdivision of the state for governmental purposes, cannot be subjected to a penal liability, and therefore an action for treble (or penal) damages for unlawful detainer does not lie. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Ejectment Against County: While an action for unlawful detainer in which treble damages are sought does not lie against a county, one in ejectment may be maintained against it. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Unauthorized Action: A party assuming to deal with a county on the supposition that it possesses powers which it does not cannot maintain an action against it upon its unauthorized action. Sullivan v. Big Horn County, 66 M 45, 212 P 1105 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County to Issue General Obligation Bonds for Demolition of Abandoned County Building: Under its general duty to care for and maintain its property, a county, through its Board of County Commissioners, may issue general obligation bonds to fund demolition of a county-owned building that has been abandoned and poses a threat to the public safety and welfare. 44 A.G. Op. 31 (1992).

Exception to County Travel Policy — Certain County Officers Entitled to Actual Travel Expenses: In attending the annual state convention for the office held, a County Attorney, Sheriff, Assessor, or Justice of the Peace is entitled to reimbursement for actual travel expenses. These expenses may exceed the levels established in a county travel policy. 42 A.G. Op. 124 (1988).

County Power to Grant Franchises — Interlocal Agreements Not Precluded: Article XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const.; 7-3-144; 7-4-2611; and 7-5-2129, as well as applicable case law, imply that a county vested with general government powers may exercise the power to grant franchises. Under 7-11-104, a city-county interlocal franchise agreement is possible. 42 A.G. Op. 87 (1988).

Parameters of County Commission Authority to Permit County Road Use for Pipelines: A Board of County Commissioners is charged with a significant amount of discretion under this section, 7-14-2102, and 7-14-2107 in determining whether to permit the use of a county road right-of-way for the laying of permanent or temporary pipelines. This discretion is potentially limited by state regulations under Title 69, ch. 13, concerning pipeline carriers, depending on specific factual situations. To be consistent with the holding in Bolinger v. Bozeman, 158 M 507, 493 P2d 1062 (1972), the Board must find that the action: (1) is necessary for the best interest of the county roads and the road districts; (2) does not unreasonably impair the special easements of abutting owners in the street for purposes of access, light, and air; and (3) is conducive to the public welfare and serves one of the purposes for which highways and streets are dedicated. 42 A.G. Op. 40 (1987).

Authority of County Commissioners to Adopt Meal and Lodging Expense Regulations: Section 2-18-501 does not, by its own terms, govern meal and lodging expense payments to county officers or employees. Except as may otherwise be specified statutorily, a Board of County Commissioners with general governmental powers may adopt rules and regulations providing for payment or reimbursement of reasonable meal and lodging expenses incurred by county officers or employees in the performance of official duties. 40 A.G. Op. 77 (1984).

County Buildings — Use of Rent for Costs: If no sale of the building is being attempted, a Board of County Commissioners may use money obtained from tenants of a county building to defray the operational and maintenance costs of the building. 40 A.G. Op. 33 (1984).

Case Notes

Operates Automatically: This statute operates automatically to place a county in a certain class on the ascertainment of such valuation as shown from the records of the assessor's office in even-numbered years. State ex rel. Jaumotte v. Zimmerman, 105 M 464, 73 P2d 548 (1937).

Salary Reduction From Reclassification — Constitutionality: Since county officers elected in 1936 were charged with the knowledge that their salaries might be changed by a reclassification of their county as provided by this section, an act in force since 1905, they took office with the knowledge that their salaries might be reduced depending upon assessed valuation of property in the county. Thus the provision of Art. V, sec. 31, 1889 Mont. Const. [no similar provision in 1972 Mont. Const.], prohibiting the passing of a law increasing or diminishing an official's salary after his election was not violated. (See 2001 amendments to county salary laws, particularly 7-4-2503.) State ex rel. Jaumotte v. Zimmerman, 105 M 464, 73 P2d 548 (1937).

Change in Boundaries of County: When a portion of one county is attached to another county, the last assessment on the territory so attached may be ascertained by reference to the assessment books of the former county in determining the classification of the latter county as established by the assessed valuation of property within its boundaries. State ex rel. Herford v. Cook, 14 M 201, 36 P 44 (1894).

Attorney General's Opinions

Change in County Classification — Adjustment of Salaries of County Officials: When the classification of a county under this section changes, salaries of County Commissioners, the County Attorney, and county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must be adjusted as of July 1 of the following year. Adjustments are computed as follows: (1) for County Commissioners, according to 7-4-2107; (2) for a part-time County Attorney, according to 7-4-2503(3); and (3) for county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1), according to 7-4-2503. (See 2001 amendments to county salary laws, particularly 7-4-2503.) 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Timing of Salary Increases Caused by County Classification Change: Under the reasoning of 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984), when a county's classification changes according to this section, the salaries of the County Commissioners, as provided for in 7-4-2107, must change as of July 1 of the following year, the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. (See 2001 amendments to county salary laws, particularly 7-4-2503). 41 A.G. Op. 6 (1985)

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to this section, the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year, with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. (See 2001 amendments to county salary laws, particularly 7-4-2503.) 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984), followed in 41 A.G. Op. 6 (1985).

Directory Only: This statute is directory only, and such an order made in February 1937 instead of September 1936 substantially complied with the statute, no substantial rights having been impaired by the Board's delay. State ex rel. Jaumotte v. Zimmerman, 105 M 464, 73 P2d 548 (1937).

Part 41
Municipalities

Part Case Notes

Equitable Estoppel as Applied to Municipal Corporations: Bullock received a building permit issued by the town of Boulder. A year later the building inspector discovered that the building being constructed encroached upon a city street. At a City Council meeting Bullock was told that he would never be required to tear down his house but that he should cease construction until he submitted a survey to the Council. Construction ceased and a survey was completed. When Bullock submitted the survey to the Council, they indicated that arrangements would be made to allow Bullock to occupy that portion of the street on which the encroachment existed. Relying on this representation, Bullock resumed construction. At a later Council meeting, the Council decided to require Bullock to remove his building from the street. Bullock received no notice of this meeting. A suit was brought, and the court found that the town of Boulder is equitably estopped from requiring the removal of the encroachment. Equitable estoppel is applied to municipal corporations with great caution and only in exceptional cases. The court set out six elements that are necessary to make out a case for the application of the doctrine of equitable estoppel. All six elements were present in this case. Boulder v. Bullock, 193 M 463, 632 P2d 716, 38 St. Rep. 1344 (1981), distinguished in Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106, 49 St. Rep. 1162 (1992).

Power Conferred by Grant or Implication: A city has no powers except such as are conferred upon it by legislative grant either directly or by necessary implication. Stephens v. Great Falls, Doubt as to Power — Prior to 1972 Montana Constitution: A city has only such authority as is conferred upon it by express legislative declaration or necessary implication, and where there is a fair and reasonable doubt as to the existence of a particular power, it must be resolved against the municipality and the power denied. State ex rel. Billings v. Billings Gas Co., 55 M 102, 173 P 799 (1918); Sharkey v. Butte, 52 M 16, 155 P 266 (1916); Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914); Helena Light & Ry. v. Mode of Exercising Power: When the mode of exercising any power is pointed out in the statute granting it to a municipal corporation, the mode thus prescribed must be pursued in all substantial particulars. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914); Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909); McGillie v. Corby, 37 M 249, 95 P 1063 (1908).

Street Improvements — Negligence: It is the duty of a city organized under the laws of this state to establish and improve streets, and damages can be recovered by one who is injured by its negligence in permitting its streets to become and remain in a dangerous condition. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912); May v. Anaconda, 26 M 140, 66 P 759 (1901); Snook v. Anaconda, 26 M 128, 66 P 756 (1901); Sullivan v. Helena, 10 M 134, 25 P 94 (1890).

Construction of Section:

The entire municipal code is to be treated as one statute whose provisions are interdependent. Brown v. Foster, 48 M 114, 135 P 993 (1913).

No consistency whatever has been observed in the legislative use of the term "town". State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 M 227, 131 P 670 (1913).

This section, taken in connection with 7-1-4103 (since repealed) and 7-5-4101, constitutes a general grant of power, as well as a limitation of power, for authority is given to the city to pass all ordinances necessary for its government and management, and such ordinances shall not contravene constitutional or statutory provisions. Helena v. Kent, 32 M 279, 80 P 259 (1905).

Judicial Notice: In an action against a city to recover damage for injuries to real property, an averment in the complaint that the city "is a municipal corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the state" was sufficient as against the objection that the pleading did not state a cause of action. Judicial notice will be taken of the fact that during a certain year a city was a municipal corporation existing under the laws of this state. Drew v. Butte, 44 M 124, 119 P 279 (1911).

Case Notes

Suspension of Firefighters — All Cities Required to Present Charges to City Council for Hearing — Suspension Procedure Not Part of "Structure" of City Government Under Applicable Definitions — Statute Not Superseded by Charter: Elsenpeter, a Billings firefighter, was suspended from duty by the Billings fire chief. The firefighters' union filed a lawsuit in which the union contended that the suspension procedure used by the city was unlawful because the charges against Elsenpeter were not presented to the Billings City Council for hearing pursuant to 7-33-4124. The city contended that the suspension procedure that it used is part of the structure and organization of the city under its charter and that, pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5, Mont. Const., and 7-3-701(2), which allow the structure of a chartered city government to supersede statutory requirements, the city may override the statutory requirements for hearing contained in 7-33-4124 because the definition of "structure" contained in subsection (24) of this section is the definition that should apply. The Supreme Court held that in as much as the definitions in this section are, by the terms of this section, limited in their application to 7-1-4122 through 7-1-4149 and this section, the dictionary definition of "structure" is the definition that applies. Because the dictionary definition of structure was narrower, the Supreme Court held that the disciplinary suspension procedure used by the city was not part of the "structure" of city government. Therefore, the Supreme Court held that the statutory procedure contained in 7-33-4124, requiring presentment of the charges to the City Council, was not superseded by the city charter and had to be followed for the purposes of the suspension of Elsenpeter. Case Notes

Applicability to Attorney of Ordinance Requiring Safety Inspection Certificate: A city ordinance requiring a business to obtain an annual safety inspection certificate to ensure that the place of business is safe for the public did not carry a penalty that would prohibit an attorney from practicing law. The penalty for a violation is a fine or jail time. In addition, the Supreme Court's exclusive authority to regulate the practice of law does not prohibit certain limited legislative actions in the area. The amount of the certificate fee, which is determined by the square footage of the business, is reasonable in relation to the safety inspection services. The certificate requirement is a minimal and inoffensive intrusion on the Supreme Court's constitutional authority to regulate attorneys, and the defendant attorney could be convicted for nonpayment. St. v. Radford, 2001 MT 36, 304 M 198, 19 P3d 809 (2001).

Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

Licensing Fee for Adult Movie Video Booths as Regulatory Measure — Free Speech Not Violated: The Supreme Court affirmed a city ordinance imposing a $300 annual fee for adult movie video booths, finding the city met its burden of proving the fee was both reasonable and designed as a regulatory measure to provide funds for administrative costs, policing of the booths, and health enforcement costs and expenses. The court held that estimates of future expenses may be included for purposes of setting a fee and that, being regulatory in nature, the fee did not violate the right to free speech guaranteed by the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution and Art. II, sec. 7, Mont. Const. Great Falls v. M.K. Enterprises, Inc., 225 M 292, 732 P2d 413, 44 St. Rep. 242 (1987).

Attorney General's Opinions

Regulation of Live Dance Performance in Licensed Liquor Establishment — Abridgment of Free Expression: The validity of a city ordinance regulating live dance performances in establishments licensed to serve liquor must be measured against free expression standards imposed by Art. II, sec. 7, Mont. Const., and the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Therefore, a proposed city ordinance prohibiting any live performance involving dance or the removal of clothing in licensed liquor establishments is an unconstitutional abridgment of the constitutional standards because: (1) it fails to distinguish carefully between protected and unprotected conduct; and (2) the requisite governmental interest in regulating such conduct has not been sufficiently established. 41 A.G. Op. 75 (1986).

State Authority to Regulate Liquor — No Delegation to Municipalities: The authority granted to the state by the 21st amendment to the U.S. Constitution to regulate the sale of liquor has not been delegated to municipalities with general powers. Therefore, a municipality with general powers may not punish a violation of its obscenity ordinance by suspending or revoking the liquor license of the offender. 41 A.G. Op. 75 (1986).

Case Notes

Power of General Powers Town to Arbitrate Contract Held Included in Power to Contract: Holm-Sutherland contracted with the town of Shelby to construct sewer and water improvements within the town. The contract included a provision requiring that all disputes involving the interpretation of the contract documents or breach of the contract were to be settled by arbitration. When a dispute arose, Holm-Sutherland sought arbitration. Litigation ensued, and the town argued that as a noncharter government, it had only those powers granted by the Legislature and that a municipality's council had a duty pursuant to 7-6-4301 and 7-6-4302 to determine the validity of claims and that duty could not be delegated to an arbitrator. The Supreme Court agreed with the District Court that a general powers municipality has broad powers to enter into contracts pursuant to subsections (4) and (23) of this section, that Title 27, ch. 5, evidences a general state policy favoring arbitration, and that the powers granted a municipality establish its ability to be bound to the terms of a contract that contains a binding arbitration clause. Holm-Sutherland Co., Inc. v. Shelby, 1999 MT 150, 295 M 65, 982 P2d 1053, 56 St. Rep. 595 (1999).

Purchase of lots by city being authorized by City Council because of housing and sanitary conditions, it had the right to sell them at varying prices, much higher than purchase price paid to county. Creditor's Residence as Place of Trial — Not Applicable to Municipal Corporations: The rule that where a contract for payment of money is entered into between persons residing at different places and place of payment is not agreed upon, creditor's residence becomes place of performance and therefore place of trial does not apply to municipal corporations. Lillis v. Big Timber, 103 M 206, 62 P2d 219 (1936).

Mandamus to Compel Payment of Bill: Mandamus will lie to compel a city to audit and pay a bill which it owes to a water company for the rent of hydrants, although 7-1-4103 (the predecessor to this section, since repealed) provides that cities may sue or be sued. State ex rel. Kaiser Water Co. v. Philipsburg, 23 M 16, 57 P 405 (1899); State ex rel. Great Falls Water Works v. Great Falls, 19 M 518, 49 P 15 (1897).

Attorney General's Opinions

Long-Term Lease With Contractual Nonappropriation Clause Not Considered Accumulation of Municipal Debt — Vote Not Required: A question arose regarding the applicability of laws regulating municipal government debt based on a proposal by the city of Great Falls to enter a contract for the development and operation of a water park. Under the arrangement, the city would enter a long-term lease to a private party of real property adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and concurrently lease from that party certain personal property to be used for the water park. The personalty lease would include an option for the city to purchase the personal property at the close of the lease terms and a nonappropriation clause under which the personalty lease would terminate without penalty to the city if the city chose not to appropriate funds for the lease payment in any fiscal year, in which case possession of the personal property would revert to the lessor, who would retain possession under a separate realty lease until that lease expired. The Attorney General concluded that such an arrangement did not create a debt and thus would not violate provisions of state law limiting the accumulation of debt by municipal governments. Further, the city's proposal would not pledge the taxing power of the city to make the full term of lease payments and therefore would not qualify as an obligation for which the general credit of the city is pledged that would require a vote of the people under 7-7-4221. 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001), distinguishing 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979).

County Authorized to Appropriate Money for Museum — City Authorized to Appropriate Money for Public Purpose — Constitutionality Analyzed: Pursuant to 7-16-2202, a county, but not a city, is authorized to create a program to provide grants to private, nonprofit museums. However, pursuant to this section, a city is allowed to grant money to public or private entities as long as the grant is for a public purpose, such as a museum that would enhance the education and enjoyment of the general public, but that would not be merely for the gain of a private entity. The Attorney General declined to opine regarding the constitutionality of 7-16-2202 or this section, in light of the prohibition in Art. V, sec. 11(5), Mont. Const., against the appropriation of public funds for any private individual, private association, or private corporation not under control of the state, but did analyze that constitutional provision as it related to the question of county or city expenditures for grants to private museum programs, concluding that the constitutional prohibition applies only to the appropriation of public funds by the Legislature, not by local governmental entities. 48 A.G. Op. 12 (2000), overruling prior opinions to the contrary in 37 A.G. Op. 25 (1977), 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978), and 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

Motor Vehicle Parking Offenses — Civil Penalty: A city with general government powers may not establish a civil penalty and collection system for motor vehicle parking offenses. (See 1999 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 31 (1984).

The Code Commissioner redesignated (2)(d) (formerly (2)(c)) as 7-2-2206(4) for more logical placement.

Section 6(1), Ch. 742, L. 1985, concerning means of determining number of signatures needed on petition, was enacted as part of a separate section but is codified as (3) of this section for logic and convenience.

Withdrawal From Petition:

The right of one who had signed a petition for the creation of a new county and then signed a withdrawal of his name therefrom to thereafter and before the hearing, withdraw from the withdrawal is not absolute, and therefore, no clear legal duty being imposed upon the Board of County Commissioners to give effect to the withdrawal from the withdrawal, mandamus does not lie to compel it to do so. State ex rel. Faragher v. Moulton, 68 M 219, 216 P 804 (1923), explained in Ford v. Mitchell, 103 M 99, 61 P2d 815 (1936).

The matter of the creation of a new county must be determined on the case as made upon the date fixed for the hearing, save as it may be affected by subsequent withdrawals before final action taken; therefore, protests against its creation or petitions for the exclusion of territory from within its proposed boundaries filed after the date fixed for the hearings may not be entertained by the Board of County Commissioners. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 M 28, 134 P 297 (1913).

In the absence of legislative expression to the contrary, signers of a petition may withdraw their names at any time before final action thereon. The Board of County Commissioners was in error in refusing to consider withdrawals from petitions theretofore filed asking the exclusion of certain territory from a proposed new county upon the ground that the withdrawals of signatures, though filed before final action, had not been presented until after the date fixed for the hearing. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 M 28, 134 P 297 (1913), explained in Ford v. Mitchell, 103 M 99, 61 P2d 815 (1936).

7-2-2206. Contents of petition — petition approval procedure — deadline for filing signatures.

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment — Redesignation by Code Commissioner — Subsection Enactment: In (1)(a) substituted requirement for legal description for "a particular description of the boundaries of the proposed new county"; inserted (1)(b) relating to map requirement; deleted former (2) that read: "a statement that no line thereof passes within 15 miles of the courthouse situated at the county seat of any county proposed to be divided, except as otherwise provided in this part"; in (1)(d) inserted "and a statement that the surveyed area of the territory proposed to be transferred is greater than 49 square miles"; inserted (1)(e) relating to criminal sanctions; in (1)(f) inserted "if the proposed new county is to be formed from one existing county, or from portions of two or more existing counties"; inserted (1)(g) relating to adding territory to an existing county; made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation in (1); inserted (2) relating to signature requirements; and inserted (3) relating to numbered lines for petitions.

The Code Commissioner redesignated 7-2-2205(2)(d) (formerly (2)(c)), concerning signatures on several petitions, as 7-2-2206(4) for more logical placement.

Section 5, Ch. 742, L. 1985, requiring submission of a sample petition to the county election administrator prior to circulation and providing for procedures if the petition form is rejected or approved, was enacted as a separate section but is codified as (5) of this section for logic and convenience.

Section 6(2), Ch. 742, L. 1985, providing time limit within which petition signatures must be collected and filed, was enacted as part of a separate section but is codified as (6) of this section for logic and convenience.

7-2-2207. Affidavits to be attached to petition — verification of signatures.

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment — Subsection Enactment: In introductory clause of (1) substituted affidavit requirements of petition circulator for "There shall be attached and filed with said petition or petitions an affidavit of five qualified electors residing within each county sought to be divided, to the effect that:

(a) they have read said petition and examined the signatures affixed thereto and they believe that the statements therein are true"; in (1)(c) substituted "the proposed new county or of the portion thereof taken from an existing county" for "such county therein sought to be divided"; and deleted former (2) that read: "Such petition or petitions, so verified, and the verification thereof shall be accepted in all proceedings permitted or provided for in this part as prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters and facts therein set forth."

Section 8, Ch. 742, L. 1985, requiring the Clerk of the County to verify that all petition signers are registered electors of the proposed territory to be taken from the county and to randomly compare signatures, was enacted as a separate section but is codified as (2) of this section for logic and convenience.

Case Notes

Verified Petition Prima Facie Evidence: Applying the provisions of this section by analogy to proceedings for the consolidation of school districts, the court held that a verified petition for such consolidation was prima facie evidence that it contained a majority of the resident freeholders of a district affected at the time it was filed. Swaim v. Redeen, 101 M 521, 55 P2d 1 (1936).

7-2-2209. Hearing and notice on petition.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 354 in (1) in first sentence after "a date to hear the" substituted "petition" for "proof of the petitions"; in (2) substituted "The county clerk shall also publish notice as provided in 7-1-2121 in the old counties and also within the boundaries of the proposed new county. The notice must be published in substantially the following form" for "The county clerk shall also, at the same time, designate a newspaper of general circulation published in the old counties but not within the proposed new county and also a newspaper of general circulation published within the boundaries of the proposed new county, if there be such, in which the county clerk shall order and cause to be published, at least once a week for 2 weeks preceding the date fixed for such hearing, a notice in substantially the following form"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

1985 Amendment: In "Dated" line of notice form, deleted "at" after "Dated".

Notice as Jurisdictional Requirement:

The Board of County Commissioners is without jurisdiction to proceed with a hearing of a petition for the creation of a new county unless publication of the notice as required by this section has been made; if not so made and the Board proceeds with the hearing, its action is void. Garry v. Martin, 70 M 587, 227 P 573 (1924), distinguished in Scilley v. Red Lodge-Rosebud Irrigation District, 83 M 282, 272 P 543 (1928).

Publication of notice of hearing on petitions for the creation of a new county required by this act, in certain newspapers for at least once a week for 2 weeks next preceding the date fixed for it, is jurisdictional, and failure of publication in one of the papers designated in the week immediately preceding the date of the hearing was fatal to jurisdiction and rendered all subsequent proceedings, including the election, invalid. (See 2001 amendment.) State ex rel. Stevens v. McLeish, 59 M 527, 198 P 357 (1921).

Period of Notice:

Under the rule that where a notice is required to be published at least once a week for a period next preceding a certain date, the word "for" means "throughout" or "during the continuance of" the period prescribed; the provision of this section, requiring publication of notice of hearing of a petition for the creation of a new county "at least once a week for two weeks next preceding the date fixed for such hearing", means that 2 full weeks' notice, 14 days, shall be given and that therefore publication made for a shorter period of time is insufficient. (See 2001 amendment.) Garry v. Martin, 70 M 587, 227 P 573 (1924), distinguished in Scilley v. Red Lodge-Rosebud Irrigation District, 83 M 282, 272 P 543 (1928).

The requirement of this act that notice of the hearing of new county petitions shall be published "at least once a week for two weeks next preceding the date fixed for such hearing" means 2 weeks immediately preceding the hearing. (See 2001 amendment.) State ex rel. Stevens v. McLeish, 59 M 527, 198 P 357 (1921).

7-2-2211. Hearing on petition — protest.

Case Notes

When Protest Must Be Filed: Petitions for the exclusion of territory and protests against the exclusion must, but protests against the creation of a new county need not, be filed at least 1 day before the date set for hearing to entitle them to consideration by the Board of County Commissioners. It is sufficient if such latter protests are filed on or before the time fixed for the hearing. State ex rel. Faragher v. Moulton, 68 M 219, 216 P 804 (1923).

7-2-2212. Exclusions and additions of territory upon petition.

One Block:

The requirement that territory sought to be excluded from a proposed new county must be in one block (the word "block" implying solidity or compactness) was not met by a petition describing an irregularly shaped tract distributed over 14 townships, the exterior boundaries of which ran back and forth in all directions of the compass, alternately including and excluding small tracts, so threaded together as to preserve its continuity, and including those against the creation of the new county and excluding those favoring it. State ex rel. Woodward v. Moulton, 57 M 414, 189 P 59 (1920), distinguished in State ex rel. Keane v. County Comm'rs, 83 M 540, 273 P 290 (1929).

The intent of the Legislature in enacting the provision that territory sought to be excluded from a proposed new county must be in one block was held to have been that a block should be mapped out irrespective of the personnel of those residing within it, the majority of the residents thereof to determine whether, as a whole and not as individuals, they go with the new or remain with the old county. State ex rel. Woodward v. Moulton, 57 M 414, 189 P 59 (1920), distinguished in State ex rel. Keane v. County Comm'rs, 83 M 540, 273 P 290 (1929).

Counterpetition for Exclusion — Verification:

A verification to a counterpetition asking for the exclusion of territory sought to be included in a proposed new county, which merely averred that each affiant believed that the counterpetition was signed by at least 50% of the qualified electors of the territory sought to be excluded, was of no probative value as to the facts alleged. State ex rel. Wood v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 49 M 165, 140 P 728 (1914).

Since the statute does not require the verification of counterpetitions and does not authorize the acceptance of them as probative, the counterpetitions, though verified, cannot be given any evidentiary value. State ex rel. Wood v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 49 M 165, 140 P 728 (1914).

A recital in the affidavit verifying a petition for the elimination of certain territory from the area included within the boundaries of a proposed new county that 50% of the qualified electors of the territory sought to be withdrawn had signed such petition was sufficient prima facie showing of that fact. State ex rel. Arthurs v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 44 M 51, 118 P 804 (1911). But this is not so where the petition is unaccompanied by such affidavit, in which case it may not be taken as prima facie evidence of such facts. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 M 28, 134 P 297 (1913).

Number in Exclusion Area — Burden: The burden of establishing the number of electors residing in territory sought to be excluded from a proposed new county is upon the petitioners seeking exclusion and not upon the proponents of the new county. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 M 28, 134 P 297 (1913).

Exclusion Without Counterpetition for Exclusion: A valid petition describing the territory to be included within the proposed new county was the very foundation of the proceedings for the creation of a new county. While under certain circumstances the Board of County Commissioners was authorized to exclude territory, there was no authority in the Board to incorporate within the boundaries of a proposed new county territory which was not included in the petition praying for its creation or to exclude territory unless a proper petition for withdrawal thereof was presented. State ex rel. Jacobson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 47 M 531, 134 P 291 (1913).

Counterpetition for Exclusion — Sufficiency:

The Board of County Commissioners, which is entrusted with the duty of passing upon the sufficiency of the petition required to be filed to effect the elimination of certain territory from a proposed new county, must read it in connection with the original petition for the creation of such county; and if thus, by any fair intendment, a description of the territory sought to be eliminated may be arrived at, it is the duty of the Board to give the intention of the petitioners full force and effect. State ex rel. Arthurs v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 44 M 51, 118 P 804 (1911).

The petition for an elimination of certain territory from the area included within the boundaries of a proposed new county must contain a description of the territory sought to be eliminated and a prayer for the relief demanded. The other facts may be made to appear by evidence upon the hearing without being specially alleged. State ex rel. Arthurs v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 44 M 51, 118 P 804 (1911).

Mandamus — Rejection of Petition: The fact that a Board of County Commissioners, in erroneously rejecting as insufficient a petition seeking the elimination of certain territory from the area of a proposed new county, acted in a quasi-judicial capacity is not any defense to the issuance of mandamus. State ex rel. Arthurs v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 44 M 51, 118 P 804 (1911).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 387 in (1), near beginning after "give", deleted "proclamation and" and after "held" deleted "on a specified day, not less than 60 days thereafter"; in (2) substituted "regular or primary election" for "countywide primary, general, or school election" and near end substituted "order" for "proclamation"; and made minor changes in style.

1985 Amendment: Near middle of (1) after "not less than", substituted "60 days thereafter" for "90 days or more than 120 days thereafter, in the territory which is proposed to be taken for the new county", substituted "the territory proposed to be taken from the county" for "such territory", inserted "or enlarged", and at end of (1) inserted "formed from a portion of one existing county or from portions of two or more existing counties"; inserted (2) relating to when the question is to be voted on; in (3) near beginning after "All registered electors", deleted "residing within the proposed new county who are registered electors", and after "of the county", deleted "or counties from which territory is taken to form the proposed new county and who are to be registered under the provisions of the registration laws of the state"; deleted former (3) and (4) that read: "(3) The proclamation and notice of election shall be published as provided in 13-1-108, and a copy thereof shall be mailed immediately by the election administrator of the county in which the petition is filed to the election administrator of each county from which territory is to be taken for the proposed new county.

(4) The proclamation calling the election and the notice thereof provided for in this part shall be made and given exclusively by the board with which the petition for the formation and establishment of the new county is filed"; and inserted (4) relating to procedure when existing county is enlarged.

Case Notes

Case Notes

Term of Office: To "hold their offices until the time provided by general law for the election and qualification of such officers" does not mean the officers' terms are up for election at the next general election but when the term of the officers' election expires. Thus three County Commissioners elected concurrently with the election for the formation of a new county on staggered 2-, 4-, and 6-year terms continue in office until the expiration of their elected terms irrespective of intervening general election dates. State ex rel. Foot v. Rogge, 80 M 1, 257 P 1029 (1927).

7-2-2241. Commission to determine and adjust indebtedness and assessments for old and new counties.

Case Notes

Mandamus — School District Boundaries — Discretion of County Commissioners: The matter of dividing a new county into school districts being lodged in the discretion of the Commissioners of the old county out of which the new one is created, a court cannot, upon finding that the discretion had been erroneously exercised, substitute its discretion and establish the boundaries so as to exclude territory which should not have been included or hold the order valid as to the portion properly included and invalid as to the other. State ex rel. School District v. Urton, 76 M 458, 248 P 369 (1926).

Laches — Dismissal of Mandamus: Where two counties, out of which a third was created, made no objection to the report of the Commissioners appointed to adjust the indebtedness between the counties, and with knowledge of mandamus proceedings instituted by the new county to have the Board's findings reviewed, did not intervene, though they were represented by their respective County Attorneys who took part in the hearing, but waited until the final decision in such proceeding and until the new county had incurred expense in the issuance of bonds to pay the indebtedness due the parent counties and then commenced proceedings to compel the Board of Adjustment to reassemble and correct its findings, they were guilty of laches warranting dismissal of the proceedings. State ex rel. Cascade County v. Poland, 66 M 286, 213 P 800 (1923).

Breach of Promise to Transfer Assets of Old to New County — No Mandamus: Where the Board of Commissioners of a county, a portion of which was thereafter included in a new county, in order to obtain favorable action by the electors of that portion on a proposed issue of road bonds, passed a resolution, amounting to a promise merely, that in the event the bonds were authorized, a certain portion of the receipts would be devoted to road improvement in their district, their breach of trust in thereafter failing to carry out their promise could not be remedied by Writ of Mandate to compel the Board of Adjusters of the indebtedness between the old and the new county to charge the old county with the amount the district should have received under the resolution, the New Counties Act (Ch. 226, L. 1919) not authorizing the adjusters to take such action. State ex rel. Judith Basin County v. Poland, 61 M 600, 203 P 352 (1921).

When Mandamus Is Proper to Compel Adjustment of Indebtedness: Mandamus is the proper remedy to compel Commissioners appointed to adjust county indebtedness between an old and a new county to reassemble and correctly apportion such indebtedness; the fact of their adjournment is immaterial. Such proceedings should be brought in the name of the county and not by the Board of County Commissioners in their official capacity. State ex rel. Furnish v. Mullendore, 53 M 109, 161 P 949 (1916).

Constitutionality: In proceedings for the organization of a new county, the Board of County Commissioners is required to act as a quasi-judicial tribunal, and this constitutes no invasion of the constitutional provisions of the 1889 Montana Constitution that lodge the judicial power of the state in its courts. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 M 28, 134 P 297 (1913); State ex rel. Jacobson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 47 M 531, 134 P 291 (1913); State ex rel. Arthurs v. Property of the County — Bridges:

Since a completed and used bridge belongs to the state and therefore is not "property of the county" within the meaning of Art. XVI, sec. 3, 1889 Mont. Const., prescribing the method by which, in the creation of a new county out of an old one, the proportion of the net indebtedness of the old county chargeable to the new one shall be ascertained, the Legislature was without power to authorize the Commissioners appointed to adjust the indebtedness between a new and an old county as it did by the enactment of sec. 7, Ch. 139, L. 1915, to take into consideration steel bridges constructed and in use for a period of less than 10 years, in determining the value of county property. (Section 7, Ch. 139, L. 1915, was repealed by Ch. 226, L. 1919, that enacted this section. This section, containing a subsection identical to the subsection declared unconstitutional, was in effect when this case was decided, and the court declared a repealed law unconstitutional.) State ex rel. Missoula County v. Brown, 73 M 371, 236 P 548 (1925).

A partly finished bridge constructed with funds obtained by a bond issue is not such county property as it may sell and therefore cannot be taken into consideration as county property in the adjustment of indebtedness between an old and a new county. State ex rel. Judith Basin County v. Poland, 61 M 600, 203 P 352 (1921).

Generally speaking, bridges are not such county property as that their value shall enter into consideration in the adjustment of the indebtedness of the old county with the new one. A bridge is to be treated as but a portion of a public highway. State ex rel. Foster v. Ritch, 49 M 155, 140 P 731 (1914).

Property of the County: "Property of the county", within the meaning of Art. XVI, sec. 3, 1889 Mont. Const., under which, when a new county is created, the net indebtedness of the old county, its ratable proportion of which the new county must pay, is to be determined by deducting from its total indebtedness the value of all property of the old county, means such property as a county holds and can sell. State ex rel. Judith Basin County v. Poland, 61 M 600, 203 P 352 (1921).

7-2-2251. Collection of delinquent taxes.

Case Notes

Delinquent Taxes: Taxes that are delinquent upon creation of the new county or were delinquent and remain unpaid for previous years are collectible by and belong to the new county. Delinquent taxes paid on property incorporated in a new county, in the interim between the passing of the resolution by the Board of Commissioners of the parent county and the expiration of the 90-day period after its filing with the Secretary of State, belong to the parent and not to the new county. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

Part 26
Removal of County Seat

7-2-2601. Petition to remove county seat.

Case Notes

Selection of County Seat — Decision of Electorate: Conceding that the selection or removal of a county seat is a purely political function, that function has not been confided to judges of election or to the canvassers of the returns but to a certain proportion of the qualified electors of the county affected. It rests with the courts to ascertain and decide whether the choice actually made by the requisite proportion of the qualified electors has been duly declared and, if not, to declare it and make it effective. Poe v. Sheridan County, 52 M 279, 157 P 185 (1916).

Inapplicable to Temporary County Seat: The words "changing" and "removing" found in Art. XVI, sec. 2, 1889 Mont. Const. (no comparable provision in 1972 Mont. Const.), and the statute laws refer to the act of changing or removing a county seat that has been definitely located and have no reference to a so-called temporary or provisional county seat. Case Notes

Sufficiency of Petition — Statutory Requirements:

Under this section, prior to amendment in 1973, the Board of County Commissioners is limited in its investigation of the sufficiency of a petition for the removal of the county seat to a comparison of the names appearing thereon with the pollbooks to ascertain whether the signers are voters and with the assessment roll to ascertain whether they are taxpayers. The Board may not, therefore, eliminate from the petition names of persons who have ceased to be legal voters or taxpayers. Ainsworth v. McKay, 55 M 270, 175 P 887 (1918).

Prior to amendment of this section in 1973, a petition for the removal of a county seat is sufficient if it is signed by the required number of ad valorem taxpayers of the county, provided all the persons necessary to make up such number are qualified voters. State ex rel. Stringfellow v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 42 M 62, 111 P 144 (1910).

Official Duty Presumed Performed: The official duty devolving upon the Commissioners is presumed to have been regularly performed; thus, it is presumed that the Board compared the names signed to the petition with the pollbooks of the "last election". State ex rel. Stringfellow v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 42 M 62, 111 P 144 (1910).

Sufficiency of Petition — Judicial Function of County Commissioners: A Board of County Commissioners exercises judicial functions when it decides whether a petition for the submission of the removal of the county seat to the electors of the county is signed by sufficient number to require such submission. State ex rel. Buck v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 21 M 469, 54 P 939 (1898).

7-2-4201. Additions to municipalities.

Case Notes

Approval by Mayor and Council: The approval of the Mayor and a majority of the Council endorsed on the map or plat of an addition to a city or town is essential to bring the territory included therein within the jurisdiction of the Council. Pool v. Townsend, 58 M 297, 191 P 385 (1920).

Attorney General's Opinions

Growth Policy Required Prior to Annexation of New Territory but Not for Continued Subdivision Review: Under 7-2-4734, a growth policy covering an area proposed for municipal annexation is required before a municipality may extend corporate limits under Title 7, ch. 2, part 47, but the requirement does not apply to annexations conducted under 7-2-4301, 7-2-4401, 7-2-4501, 7-2-4601, or this section. A growth policy is also required before certain subdivision review procedures and city powers of annexation are authorized. However, a growth policy is not required to continue subdivision review unless the city or county wishes to qualify for streamlined review processes. 49 A.G. Op. 23 (2002).

Case Notes

Annexation Without Detraction — Methods of Annexation Separate and Distinct: The 1979 amendments to Montana municipal annexation law created methods of annexation that are separate and independent of each other and allow a city to annex real property by statute without detraction prior to annexation. Therefore, a 1974 permanent injunction barring a city from annexing any lands outside city limits that were situated within a rural fire district was properly dissolved, and the decision set out in Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 168 M 70, 540 P2d 958 (1975), which affirmed the 1974 injunction, was statutorily overruled. Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 237 M 444, 775 P2d 209, 46 St. Rep. 936 (1989).

Each Method of Annexation as Separate Procedure: Each of the eight methods of municipal annexation is a separate and distinct procedure. Therefore, the statutory exemption for golf courses found in 7-2-4503 does not apply to annexations commenced under Title 7, ch. 2, part 47 (Planned Community Development Act). State ex rel. Hilands Golf Club v. Billings, 198 M 475, 647 P2d 345, 39 St. Rep. 1132 (1982).

Annexation of Contiguous Land

Part Case Notes

Contiguous to Newly Annexed Land — Standing Based Upon Additional Taxation — Annexation Void Ab Initio: A taxpayer appealed a District Court decision upholding the annexation of land by the city of Great Falls. The appellant contended that a taxpayer who has been assessed special improvement taxes under a statute authorizing taxation of land that is "contiguous" to a city has the capacity to challenge the annexation proceeding that made its own land contiguous to the city. The Supreme Court noted that the trial court had cited its language in the Sharkey case that when such proceedings are void ab initio for want of jurisdiction of the subject matter, as here, equity will afford relief to the property owner whose taxes would be increased if his property were included within the city's limits. Having determined that the proceedings by Great Falls were indeed void at inception for want of proper jurisdiction, the court held that the taxpayer here had standing and was entitled to relief. Other affected taxpayers who, like appellant, paid the assessments under protest would also have an equitable right to relief for lack of consent. Nilson Enterprises, Inc. v. Great Falls, 190 M 341, 621 P2d 466, 37 St. Rep. 1977 (1980), following Sharkey v. Butte, 52 M 16, 155 P 266 (1916).

"Freeholder" Defined: The term "freeholder", as used in 7-2-4323 (now repealed) and 7-2-4324 (now repealed), means the purchaser and not the seller under a contract for deed. State ex rel. Stephens v. Hamilton, 161 M 1, 504 P2d 283 (1972).

Contiguous Land — Constitutionality: Annexation of contiguous land and annexation of wholly surrounded land do not violate Art. III, sec. 14, 1889 Mont. Const. (comparable to Art. V, sec. 29, 1972 Mont. Const.), or amendment five of the United States Constitution, which provides that private property may not be taken for public use without payment of just compensation, and do not violate Art. III, sec. 27, 1889 Mont. Const. (Art. II, sec. 17, 1972 Mont. Const.), or amendments 5 and 14 of the United States Constitution, which provide that private property cannot be taken without due process of law. Brodie v. Missoula, 155 M 185, 468 P2d 778 (1970), following Harrison v. Missoula, 146 M 420, 407 P2d 703 (1965).

Constitutionality — Annexation Generally: Annexation, in the absence of a constitutional prohibition, is a political matter exclusively for the Legislature to control, and unless specifically restrained by the Montana Constitution, the Legislature can authorize annexation without the consent or even against the wishes of the people living in the annexed corporation or territory. Harrison v. Missoula, 146 M 420, 407 P2d 703 (1965).

Evidence of Annexation Benefits to Landowner: In action for injunctive relief against resolution of intention of City Council to annex land, court properly excluded all evidence relating to benefits. Penland v. Missoula, 132 M 591, 318 P2d 1089 (1957).

Remedy for Illegal Inclusion: The remedy of injunction is available to one whose taxes would be increased by an illegal inclusion of his property within the limits of a city. Sharkey v. Butte, 52 M 16, 155 P 266 (1916).

Case Notes

Annexation of City Street Upheld as Basis for Subsequent Annexation of Other Land: The Missoula Rural Fire District and private property owners sued the city of Missoula to enjoin the annexation of their property by the city. The District Court held that the city could use previously annexed land consisting of all or parts of three city streets as a basis for subsequent annexation of parcels of land enclosed by those city streets because those parcels were "wholly surrounded" by city land. The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the District Court, holding that a street is an annexable "tract or parcel" of land, pursuant to this section, and that when the contiguity of those streets with other city land at city intersections was considered with the public purpose of the annexations, the streets were valid annexations of contiguous land, pursuant to this section. The Supreme Court then held that since the parcels of land owned by the fire district and the private property owners were then "wholly surrounded" by properly annexed city land, the contested parcels of land were themselves properly annexed, pursuant to 7-2-4501. Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 286 M 387, 950 P2d 758, 54 St. Rep. 1459 (1997).

Strip of Land Too Small for Platting: Triangular piece of unplatted land separated area sought to be annexed into two tracts of land. Although the triangular strip was a part of a much larger tract, that fact was immaterial. The only part of the land which was significant was the strip separating the area sought to be annexed, not the larger area of which the separating strip was a part. If the triangular separating strip is too small or too narrow to be platted, then the tracts separated by it will be considered contiguous. Penland v. Missoula, 132 M 591, 318 P2d 1089 (1957).

Case Notes

Discretion of City Council: Determination of question of whether annexation of tract of realty into city is in best interest of city and inhabitants of such area to be annexed is expressly granted to City Council by this section, and exercise of such discretion is subject to judicial review only where Council has proceeded contrary to statute or where they have acted so arbitrarily or capriciously that it may be said they exercised no discretion at all. Case Notes

Protest When Annexation Void — Taxpayer's Relief Not Estopped for Lack of Timely Protest: A taxpayer's failure to protest annexation or a special improvement tax at a hearing does not estop him from challenging the annexation later when the jurisdiction of the city to annex and assess is held void ab initio. When there is a substantial defect in the original proceedings that operates to deprive a city of the jurisdiction to act from the outset, estoppel does not bar a taxpayer's prayer for relief. Nilson Enterprises, Inc. v. Great Falls, 190 M 341, 621 P2d 466, 37 St. Rep. 1977 (1980), distinguishing Power v. Helena, 43 M 336, 116 P 415 (1911).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 66 in (2) substituted "real property owners of the area" for "resident freeholders of the territory"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective February 16, 1995.

Case Notes

Constitutionality — Resident Freeholder Provision: Classifications established by Legislature in limiting protests to annexation to resident freeholders (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) in first-class cities while permitting protest by freeholders without regard to residence in smaller cities is not only a rational distinction but also promotes a compelling governmental interest and is therefore constitutional. Burritt v. Butte, 161 M 530, 508 P2d 563 (1973).

Meaning of "Resident Freeholder":

Neither a corporation nor a partnership is a "resident freeholder" (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) within the meaning of this section since it is clear that this section requires actual residence on the property sought to be annexed in order to qualify for protest and excludes those entities which possess no actual residence as distinguished from a legal residence. Burritt v. Butte, 161 M 530, 508 P2d 563 (1973).

A freeholder becomes a resident under 1-1-215 upon union of act and intent. If the intention to establish a permanent residence is ascertained, the recency of the establishment is immaterial. A resident freeholder (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) qualified to protest annexation is a resident within the area to be annexed, holding a present legal title to a freehold estate in real property located within the area to be annexed. It is not necessary for resident freeholder to reside upon his freehold in order to protest annexation. The date through which timely protest could be received determines qualifications of resident freeholders to protest annexation. Kunesh v. Great Falls, 132 M 285, 317 P2d 297 (1957).

Disapproval by Residents:

The filing of sufficient protests by resident freeholders (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) of a first-class city deprives the City Council of authority to do anything except to sustain the protests and terminate the proceedings. State ex rel. Konen v. Butte, 144 M 95, 394 P2d 753 (1964).

Residents of an area sought to be annexed must register their disapproval by showing such disapproval in writing to the City Clerk as required by statute. They cannot do so in courts of law. Penland v. Missoula, 132 M 591, 318 P2d 1089 (1957).

Mandamus for Termination of Proceedings: Where a majority of the resident freeholders (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) of a first-class city validly protested proposed annexation but City Council, instead of terminating the annexation proceedings, took arbitrary action, mandamus was proper to compel Council to terminate the process. The Uniform Declaratory Judgments Act (Title 27, ch. 8) did not furnish the protestants a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy. State ex rel. Konen v. Butte, 144 M 95, 394 P2d 753 (1964).

Number of Protests — Burden of Proof: A first-class city has the burden of determining if a majority of the resident freeholders (see 1995 and 1997 amendments) have protested the proposed annexation. State ex rel. Konen v. Butte, 144 M 95, 394 P2d 753 (1964).

Part 44
Annexation of Contiguous Government Land

Part Case Notes

Statutory Requirements to Be Fulfilled Fully — Consent of State: The taxpayer, assessed special improvement taxes after a city annexed land, attacked the city's failure to file a land description, certificate of ownership, or owner's statement of a desire to have the land annexed. He argued that the city failed to comply with all the mandatory requirements because it did not obtain the state's consent to annex state land and that failure voided the annexation and taxation which followed. Without the state's consent, the city was without jurisdiction to proceed with the annexation. The court held that when statutory language provided the manner in which a city or town could annex, it had to be complied with completely and strictly. Nilson Enterprises, Inc. v. Great Falls, 190 M 341, 621 P2d 466, 37 St. Rep. 1977 (1980), reaffirming Pool v.

Townsend, 58 M 297, 191 P 385 (1920); Balock v. Melstone, 186 M 303, 607 P2d 545, 37 St. Rep. 288 (1980); Gregory v. Forsyth, 187 M 132, 609 P2d 248, 37 St. Rep. 277 (1980).

Without the state's consent, the city was without jurisdiction to proceed with the annexation. The court held that when statutory language provided the manner in which a city or town could annex, it had to be complied with completely and strictly. Nilson Enterprises, Inc. v. Annexation Without Detraction — Methods of Annexation Separate and Distinct: The 1979 amendments to Montana municipal annexation law created methods of annexation that are separate and independent of each other and allow a city to annex real property by statute without detraction prior to annexation. Therefore, a 1974 permanent injunction barring a city from annexing any lands outside city limits that were situated within a rural fire district was properly dissolved, and the decision set out in Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 168 M 70, 540 P2d 958 (1975), which affirmed the 1974 injunction, was statutorily overruled. Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 237 M 444, 775 P2d 209, 46 St. Rep. 936 (1989).

Annexation of Wholly Surrounded Land

Part Case Notes

Wholly Surrounded Land Annexation — Constitutionality: Annexation of contiguous land and annexation of wholly surrounded land do not violate Art. III, sec. 14, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. II, sec. 29, 1972 Mont. Const.), or amendment five of the United States Constitution, which provides that private property may not be taken for public use without payment of just compensation, and do not violate Art. III, sec. 27, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. II, sec. 17, 1972 Mont. Const.), or amendments 5 and 14 of the United States Constitution, which provide that private property cannot be taken without due process of law. Brodie v. Missoula, 155 M 185, 468 P2d 778 (1970), following Harrison v. Missoula, 146 M 420, 407 P2d 703 (1965).

Constitutionality — Annexation Generally: Annexation, in the absence of a constitutional prohibition, is a political matter exclusively for the Legislature to control, and unless specifically restrained by the Montana Constitution, the Legislature can authorize annexation without the consent or even against the wishes of the people living in the annexed corporation or territory. Harrison v. Missoula, 146 M 420, 407 P2d 703 (1965).

Evidence of Annexation Benefits to Property Owners: In action for injunctive relief against resolution of intention of City Council to annex land, court properly excluded all evidence relating to benefits. Penland v. Missoula, 132 M 591, 318 P2d 1089 (1957).

Remedy for Illegal Inclusion: The remedy of injunction is available to one whose taxes would be increased by an illegal inclusion of his property within the limits of a city. Sharkey v. Butte, 52 M 16, 155 P 266 (1916).

Case Notes

Annexation of City Street Upheld as Basis for Subsequent Annexation of Other Land: The Missoula Rural Fire District and private property owners sued the city of Missoula to enjoin the annexation of their property by the city. The District Court held that the city could use previously annexed land consisting of all or parts of three city streets as a basis for subsequent annexation of parcels of land enclosed by those city streets because those parcels were "wholly surrounded" by city land. The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the District Court, holding that a street is an annexable "tract or parcel" of land, pursuant to 7-2-4301, and that when the contiguity of those streets with other city land at city intersections was considered with the public purpose of the annexations, the streets were valid annexations of contiguous land, pursuant to 7-2-4301. The Supreme Court then held that since the parcels of land owned by the fire district and the private property owners were then "wholly surrounded" by properly annexed city land, the contested parcels of land were themselves properly annexed, pursuant to this section. Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 286 M 387, 950 P2d 758, 54 St. Rep. 1459 (1997).

No Certificate of Survey Required: Contention that 30-acre tract was improperly annexed to city due to failure of City Council to survey unplatted land and file certificate of survey prior to annexation was without merit since entire tract was surrounded by city and therefore, under this section, no certificate of survey was necessary. Brodie v. Missoula, 155 M 185, 468 P2d 778 (1970).

Wholly Surrounded Property — Congruity Unnecessary: Contention on appeal that city had improperly annexed certain platted lots due to the fact that one side of lots was contiguous with outdoor theater and thus such lots were not "wholly surrounded" by city, as required by this section, was without merit since "wholly surrounded", as used in this section, does not mean city property must also be wholly contiguous to such property; rather it means that tract is so located that it is impossible to reach it without crossing city property. Calvert v. Great Falls, 154 M 213, 462 P2d 182 (1969), followed in Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 283 M 113, 938 P2d 1328, 54 St. Rep. 480 (1997). See also Missoula Rural Fire District v. Attorney General's Opinions

Growth Policy Required Prior to Annexation of New Territory but Not for Continued Subdivision Review: Under 7-2-4734, a growth policy covering an area proposed for municipal annexation is required before a municipality may extend corporate limits under Title 7, ch. 2, part 47, but the requirement does not apply to annexations conducted under 7-2-4201, 7-2-4301, 7-2-4401, 7-2-4601, or this section. A growth policy is also required before certain subdivision review procedures and city powers of annexation are authorized. However, a growth policy is not required to continue subdivision review unless the city or county wishes to qualify for streamlined review processes. 49 A.G. Op. 23 (2002).

What Constitutes "Wholly Surrounded" Parcel: A parcel of land is "wholly surrounded" under this section when access may be gained only by crossing through the municipality. 42 A.G. Op. 41 (1987).

Case Notes

Annexation of Golf Club: The city of Billings began proceedings to annex a golf club. Upon petition of the golf club, the District Court issued a Writ of Mandamus and then ruled, after trial, that 7-2-4503 deprived the city of the authority to annex a golf club. The city appealed, claiming that it had been proceeding under the Planned Community Development Act and that golf courses were not exempt from annexation under that Act. The Supreme Court agreed with the city that golf courses were not exempt from annexation under the Planned Community Development Act but held that under that Act, the golf club could prevent annexation. The court further ruled that because the Planned Community Development Act provides for judicial review, issuance of a Writ of Mandamus was premature. State ex rel. Hilands Golf Club v. Billings, 198 M 475, 647 P2d 345, 39 St. Rep. 1132 (1982).

Each Method of Annexation as Separate Procedure: Each of the eight methods of municipal annexation is a separate and distinct procedure. Therefore, the statutory exemption for golf courses found in 7-2-4503 does not apply to annexations commenced under Title 7, ch. 2, part 47 (Planned Community Development Act). State ex rel. Hilands Golf Club v. Billings, 198 M 475, 647 P2d 345, 39 St. Rep. 1132 (1982).

"Industrial Purpose" Defined: "Industrial purpose" is limited to any factory, business, or concern that is engaged primarily in the manufacture or assembly of goods or processing of raw materials unserviceable in their natural state which are extracted, processed, or made fit for use or are substantially altered or treated so as to create commercial products or materials. Burritt v. Butte, 161 M 1, 508 P2d 563 (1973).

Incidental Agricultural Use of Land Annexed: Contention that 30-acre tract of land was improperly annexed to city since such land was being used for agricultural purposes and therefore exempt from annexation under this section was without merit, since evidence indicated that land was primarily held as developmental parcel for housing development and agricultural use was only incidental thereto. Brodie v. Missoula, 155 M 185, 468 P2d 778 (1970).

Strip of Land Too Small for Platting: A triangular piece of unplatted land separated the area sought to be annexed into two tracts of land. Although the triangular strip was a part of a much larger tract, that fact was immaterial. The only part of the land which was significant was the strip separating the area sought to be annexed, not the larger area of which the separating strip was a part. If the triangular separating strip is too small or too narrow to be platted, then the tracts separated by it will be considered contiguous. Penland v. Missoula, 132 M 591, 318 P2d 1089 (1957).

Annexation by Petition

Part Case Notes

Standing to Sue Government in General — Annexation Proceedings in Particular: Before one has standing to sue a governmental entity, there must be a case or controversy. The plaintiff must clearly allege past, present, or threatened injury to a property or civil right, and the injury must be distinguishable from injury to the public in general, though it need not be exclusive to the plaintiff. In an annexation protest, annexation is a political matter exclusively for legislative control, absent a constitutional prohibition. The annexation must be void ab initio, and the challenger must be a property owner who would suffer a tax increase. The available remedy is an injunction, not monetary damages. A count of petition signatures for only one of many annexed areas, by a plaintiff who used his own criteria for the count, is insufficient to support a claim that the government entity inaccurately counted the signatures. Since plaintiff here had no standing to directly attack the annexation, he could not collaterally attack it by attempting to show negligence. O'Donnell Fire Serv. & Equip. Co. v. Billings, 219 M 317, 711 P2d 822, 42 St. Rep. 2051 (1985), followed in Knudsen v. Ereaux, 275 M 146, 911 P2d 835, 53 St. Rep. 83 (1996).

Case Notes

Lack of Property Ownership Within Proposed Annexation — No Standing to Challenge Annexation Resolution — Summary Judgment Proper Despite Lack of Notice to Parties of Intent to Convert Motion to Dismiss Into Motion for Summary Judgment: It is error for a court to fail to give formal notice of the intent to convert a motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment, giving the party opposing the motion an opportunity to produce additional facts by affidavit or otherwise that would create a genuine issue of material fact to preclude summary judgment. However, in this case, plaintiffs lacked standing to challenge an annexation resolution because they did not own property within the proposed annexation. Without standing to state a claim, plaintiffs could prove no set of facts in support of their action that would entitle them to relief. Therefore, failure by the court to give the parties notice of conversion of the motion to dismiss was harmless error. Knudsen v. Ereaux, 275 M 146, 911 P2d 835, 53 St. Rep. 83 (1996), following O'Donnell Fire Serv. & Equip. v. Billings, 219 M 317, 711 P2d 822 (1985).

Case Notes

Annexation of Golf Club: The city of Billings began proceedings to annex a golf club. Upon petition of the golf club, the District Court issued a Writ of Mandamus and then ruled, after trial, that 7-2-4503 deprived the city of the authority to annex a golf club. The city appealed, claiming that it had been proceeding under the Planned Community Development Act and that golf courses were not exempt from annexation under that Act. The Supreme Court agreed with the city that golf courses were not exempt from annexation under the Planned Community Development Act but held that under that Act, the golf club could prevent annexation. The court further ruled that because the Planned Community Development Act provides for judicial review, issuance of a Writ of Mandamus was premature. State ex rel. Hilands Golf Club v. Annexation Without Detraction — Methods of Annexation Separate and Distinct: The 1979 amendments to Montana municipal annexation law created methods of annexation that are separate and independent of each other and allow a city to annex real property by statute without detraction prior to annexation. Therefore, a 1974 permanent injunction barring a city from annexing any lands outside city limits that were situated within a rural fire district was properly dissolved, and the decision set out in Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 168 M 70, 540 P2d 958 (1975), which affirmed the 1974 injunction, was statutorily overruled. Missoula Rural Fire District v. Missoula, 237 M 444, 775 P2d 209, 46 St. Rep. 936 (1989).

Annexation Without Cost-Benefit Analysis and Resulting Increased Tax Burden Not Unconstitutional: Kudloff brought an action against the city of Billings, alleging that the city had wrongfully annexed his property because no cost-benefit analysis had been performed by the city and the annexation would result in an increase in Kudloff's tax burden. The Supreme Court held that a regulatory taking of property by a municipality is allowed even if the value of that property and its usefulness is diminished. The Supreme Court cited Harrison v. Missoula, 146 M 420, 407 P2d 703 (1965), for the proposition that the levying of future taxes after annexation does not constitute a taking of property. Kudloff v. Billings, 260 M 371, 860 P2d 140, 50 St. Rep. 1108 (1993).

Attorney General's Opinions

Growth Policy Required Prior to Annexation of New Territory but Not for Continued Subdivision Review: Under this section, a growth policy covering an area proposed for municipal annexation is required before a municipality may extend corporate limits under this part, but the requirement does not apply to annexations conducted under 7-2-4201, 7-2-4301, 7-2-4401, 7-2-4501, or 7-2-4601. A growth policy is also required before certain subdivision review procedures and city powers of annexation are authorized. However, a growth policy is not required to continue subdivision review unless the city or county wishes to qualify for streamlined review processes. 49 A.G. Op. 23 (2002).

Preamble: The preamble to Ch. 381, L. 1987, which amended this section, provided: "WHEREAS, the Montana Supreme Court, in D & F Sanitation Service v. Billings, [219] Mont. [437], 713 P.2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986), interpreted section 7-2-4736, MCA; and

WHEREAS, the Supreme Court's interpretation of the section was contrary to the commonly understood intent of the statute and results in an unwieldy provision of services."

Case Notes

Adoption of Self-Government Charter — Doctrine of Implied Preemption: Appellant garbage haulers contended that the Legislature preempted the field of garbage regulation by enacting 7-2-4736. Powers specifically denied to local governments are enumerated in 7-1-111 and include the exercise of any power that prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Under 69-12-314, garbage haulers are required to get a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to doing business. The decision by Billings voters that the city should provide garbage services in no way prohibits the grant or denial of a certificate of public necessity. The Supreme Court held that the city was simply exercising its self-government powers to provide a service for its residents and was taxing them for that service. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986), overruling Billings v. Weatherwax, 193 M 163, 630 P2d 1216, 38 St. Rep. 1034 (1981).

Annexation — Preservation of Existing Garbage Service — Constitutionality: The city of Billings contended that 7-2-4736 was a special or local act which violated Art. V, sec. 12, Mont. Const. The Supreme Court determined that the legislative purpose of the section to encourage private garbage service to unannexed areas was a sufficiently important governmental interest to justify the classification; hence, 7-2-4736 was held to be a general law which does not violate Art. V, sec. 12, Mont. Const. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986).

Classification Rationally Related to Governmental Interest: The city of Billings alleged that 7-2-4736 violated Art. II, sec. 4, Mont. Const., by placing a greater tax on annexed taxpayers than on unannexed taxpayers, thereby denying equal protection to both classes of taxpayers. The court found that the classification of people in annexed areas using private garbage services prior to annexation bears a rational relation to the governmental purpose of encouraging private garbage service in unannexed areas. Therefore, 7-2-4736 was held to be constitutional under Art. II, sec. 4, Mont. Const. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986).

Franchise Not Irrevocable — Constitutionality: On cross-appeal, respondent city of Billings contended that 7-2-4736 violated Art. II, sec. 31, Mont. Const., because it granted an irrevocable franchise to appellant private garbage haulers. The Supreme Court agreed that 7-2-4736 conferred a special privilege or franchise upon the garbage haulers, but noted that the franchise was not an irrevocable one within the meaning of Art. II, sec. 31, Mont. Const., since the privilege could be terminated by either a showing that the private carrier was unable or refused to provide adequate service or by written request of a majority of residents after a set period of time. Therefore, 7-2-4736 was held to be constitutional under Art. II, sec. 31, Mont. Const. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986).

Interpretation of Statute — Customers After Annexation: The Supreme Court upheld the District Court's interpretation of this section (prior to 1987 amendment), which interpretation stated that in the event of annexation, a private garbage carrier may continue to provide services only to those customers it had prior to annexation. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Billings, 219 M 437, 713 P2d 977, 43 St. Rep. 74 (1986).

ALTERNATIVE FORMS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Chapter Compiler's Comments

Alternative Forms and Self-Government Powers Bills: Local Government Review Bulletin, Vol. 1, No. 3, November 8, 1974, published by the State Commission on Local Government, is an annual report to the Legislature that proposed and discussed the Alternative Forms Bill (passed as Ch. 344, L. 1975) and Self-Government Powers Bill (passed as Ch. 345, L. 1975).

Sections Not Codified — Officials' and Employees' Transition for 1975-1976 Voter Review: Sections 16-5115.11(part) and 16-5115.12 through 16-5115.14, R.C.M. 1947, were not codified because the sections were temporary. They cover the election of new officials and transitions of officials and employees based upon the 1976-1977 Voter Review Process. These sections have not been repealed and are still valid law. They may be referred to as sec. 14 through 17, Ch. 513, L. 1975. These sections were exempted from the automatic termination provision of sec. 23, Ch. 513, L. 1975, by sec. 12, Ch. 477, L. 1977.

It may be referred to as sec. 14, Ch. 513, L. 1975. See 1-2-208, stating that amendment to a codified provision is given effect over an uncodified provision.

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Special Election on Alternative Form of Government — Study Commission to Recommend Adoption: Under 7-3-187, a special election on an alternative form of government is scheduled only if the study commission recommends an alternative. Therefore, a local government study commission may not have an alternative form of local government placed on the ballot unless the study commission recommends adoption of the alternative plan. 41 A.G. Op. 56 (1986).

Failure to Adopt Alternate Form of Government — Statutory Basis of Government: A local government which fails in an election to adopt an alternate form of government in the manner provided by Art. XI, sec. 3 and 9, Mont. Const., is bound by the features of the existing form of government. The provisions of 7-3-201 through 7-3-224 allow voters to adopt a mayor-council structure with either partisan or nonpartisan elections. The procedures for recommending such a change are set forth in 7-3-121 through 7-3-161 and 7-3-171 through 7-3-193. If a nonpartisan election structure is not adopted, local elections must be conducted on a partisan basis after May 2, 1977, under the provisions of 7-3-113. 41 A.G. Op. 37 (1985).

Mandatory Procedure for Abandonment of Government Form: Section 7-3-4334 (now repealed) must be followed when a local government unit abandons the commission-manager form of government. 38 A.G. Op. 89 (1980).

Case Notes

Form of Government Unchanged by Recodification: The relevant portions of 7-3-102, et seq., contain the same essential characteristics of form of government as were presented under the former codification. Therefore, constitutional mandates were observed and an alternative and the established (whether called "present" or "existing") forms were presented to the electors for their choice. Schuman v. Study Comm'n of Yellowstone County, 176 M 313, 578 P2d 291 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

Election on Alternative Form of Government — Study Commission to Recommend Adoption: Under 7-3-187, an election on an alternative form of government is scheduled only if the study commission recommends an alternative. Therefore, a local government study commission may not have an alternative form of local government placed on the ballot unless the study commission recommends adoption of the alternative plan. 41 A.G. Op. 56 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Nonapplicability to Proposed Alternative Forms of Government: The structural characteristics of government required by this section were intended to apply if voters did not adopt an alternate form of local government. The section does not apply to proposed alternate forms of government, which may recommend any of the structural characteristics permitted in the local government statutes; therefore, a proposed municipal commission-executive form of government is not restricted by the structural characteristics in this section. 41 A.G. Op. 88 (1986).

Failure to Adopt Alternate Form of Government: A local government which fails in an election to adopt an alternate form of government in the manner provided by Art. XI, sec. 3 and 9, Mont. Const., is bound by the features of the existing form of government. The provisions of 7-3-201 through 7-3-224 allow voters to adopt a mayor-council structure with either partisan or nonpartisan elections. The procedures for recommending such a change are set forth in 7-3-121 through 7-3-161 and 7-3-171 through 7-3-193. If a nonpartisan election structure is not adopted, local elections must be conducted on a partisan basis after May 2, 1977, under the provisions of 7-3-113. 41 A.G. Op. 37 (1985).

Provision Requiring Partisan Elections to Govern: This section provides that if a local government organized under the general statutes authorizing the mayor-council form of government did not adopt a new form of government, then it is governed by certain statutes after May 2, 1977, including 7-3-219(1) (formerly section 47A-3-203(h)(i), R.C.M. 1947), which requires partisan elections. Failure of such local government to adopt a new form of government binds it to the features of the existing government, including partisan elections; however, city officials elected on a nonpartisan basis are considered de facto public officials, and their official acts are regarded as legal. Local elections must be conducted on a partisan basis in the future unless the voters adopt a different plan of government. 41 A.G. Op. 37 (1985).

County Government in Transition Period After Vote to Change Form of Government — Not Empowered to Order Special Election on Further Change: In November 1982, the voters in a county voted to change the county form of government from a charter government, provided for in Title 7, ch. 3, part 7, to a commission government, provided for in Title 7, ch. 3, part 4. The new commission government was to take effect in June 1983, after election of new county officers. Study Commission Recommendations — Effective Date: A local government study commission report that proposes an alternative plan of local government, if approved by the electors, takes effect when the new officers take office unless otherwise provided in any charter or consolidation plan, under 7-3-156(1). A study commission proposal involving the creation of new offices and establishing qualifications for office becomes effective immediately upon adoption of the change by the electors, under 7-3-156(2). An amendment to an existing plan of government, including changing from partisan to nonpartisan elections for officers other than County Commissioners, takes effect at the beginning of the local government's fiscal year

Required Election Schedule for Nonelected Position: Where the existing office of city treasurer is a nonelected position and the proposed plan of local government calls for an elected city treasurer, the election schedule required by 7-3-160 is to be followed. The exceptions in this section apply only to elected officers. 41 A.G. Op. 88 (1986).

Holdover Officers — Exclusive Exceptions: Subsection (3) of 7-3-158 provides the only two exclusive exceptions regarding holdover officers of an existing governing body once a new form of local government has been adopted. If neither exception is provided for by charter or petition, then the general rule in 7-3-158(1) would operate to abolish the prior governing body at the time the new body is elected and qualified for office. 41 A.G. Op. 70 (1986).

Increase in Number of County Commissioners — Holdovers — Alteration of District Boundaries: If the electors were to adopt a proposal to increase the number of County Commissioners, all of the incumbent Commissioners would lose their positions unless otherwise required by the adopted plan, pursuant to 7-3-158. If no provision were made for holdovers in the local government study commission plan, they would remain in office only until the newly elected Commissioners take office. However, a study commission proposal is not invalid because it provides for holdover County Commissioners, even when the proposal alters the commission district boundaries. (See 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983)). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

However, the dates must fall within the time periods provided in 7-3-160(2) (decided prior to 1986 amendment). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

A local government study commission may not recommend that the terms of office for County

Study Commission to Establish Election Date on Question of Amendments: A local government study commission, rather than a Board of County Commissioners, is authorized to call for and establish an election date on the question of amendments to the existing form of government proposed in the study commission's final report. (See 1995 amendment.) 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

7-3-193. Application of other sections.

Attorney General's Opinions

Holdover Officers — Exclusive Exceptions: Subsection (3) of 7-3-158 provides the only two exclusive exceptions regarding holdover officers of an existing governing body once a new form of local government has been adopted. If neither exception is provided for by charter or petition, then the general rule in 7-3-158(1) would operate to abolish the prior governing body at the time the new body is elected and qualified for office. 41 A.G. Op. 70 (1986).

Increase in Number of County Commissioners — Holdovers — Alteration of District Boundaries: If the electors were to adopt a proposal to increase the number of County Commissioners, all of the incumbent Commissioners would lose their positions unless otherwise required by the adopted plan, pursuant to 7-3-158. If no provision were made for holdovers in the local government study commission plan, they would remain in office only until the newly elected Commissioners take office. However, a study commission proposal is not invalid because it provides for holdover County Commissioners, even when the proposal alters the commission district boundaries. (See 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983)). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

Study Commission Recommendations — Effective Date: A local government study commission report that proposes an alternative plan of local government, if approved by the electors, takes effect when the new officers take office unless otherwise provided in any charter or consolidation plan, under 7-3-156(1). A study commission proposal involving the creation of new offices and establishing qualifications for office becomes effective immediately upon adoption of the change by the electors, under 7-3-156(2). An amendment to an existing plan of government, including changing from partisan to nonpartisan elections for officers other than County Commissioners, takes effect at the beginning of the local government's fiscal year commencing after the election results are officially declared, under 7-3-156(3). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

Study Commission to Establish Election Dates for New Officers: Under 7-3-187(1)(c), a local government study commission, rather than a Board of County Commissioners, is responsible for setting the dates of a special primary and a general election for officers of a new government, if the proposal is approved by the electors. However, the dates must fall within the time periods provided in 7-3-160(2) (decided prior to 1985 and 1995 amendments). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

County Government in Transition Period After Vote to Change Form of Government — Not Empowered to Order Special Election to Further Change: In November 1982, the voters in a county voted to change the county form of government from a charter government, provided for in Title 7, ch. 3, part 7, to a commission government, provided for in Title 7, ch. 3, part 4. The new commission government was to take effect in June 1983, after election of new county officers. During the transition period, the existing charter government, in response to a petition filed under 7-3-125, authorized a special election on the question of returning to a charter government. This special election was then challenged in an action for a Writ of Prohibition under Title 27, ch. 27. The Supreme Court upheld the District Court's issuance of the Writ, ruling that placing on the ballot the question of changing the form of county government was in excess of the charter government's jurisdiction. Suspension of Firefighters — All Cities Required to Present Charges to City Council for Hearing — Suspension Procedure Not Part of "Structure" of City Government Under Applicable Definitions — Statute Not Superseded by Charter: Elsenpeter, a Billings firefighter, was suspended from duty by the Billings fire chief. The firefighters' union filed a lawsuit in which the union contended that the suspension procedure used by the city was unlawful because the charges against Elsenpeter were not presented to the Billings City Council for hearing pursuant to 7-33-4124. The city contended that the suspension procedure that it used is part of the structure and organization of the city under its charter and that, pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5, Mont. Const., and subsection (2) of this section, which allow the structure of a chartered city government to supersede statutory requirements, the city may override the statutory requirements for hearing contained in 7-33-4124 because the definition of "structure" contained in 7-1-4121(24) is the definition that should apply. The Supreme Court held that in as much as the definitions in 7-1-4121 are, by the terms of that section, limited in their application to 7-1-4121 through 7-1-4149, the dictionary definition of "structure" is the definition that applies. Because the dictionary definition of structure was narrower, the Supreme Court held that the disciplinary suspension procedure used by the city was not part of the "structure" of city government. Therefore, the Supreme Court held that the statutory procedure contained in 7-33-4124, requiring presentment of the charges to the City Council, was not superseded by the city charter and had to be followed for the purposes of the suspension of Elsenpeter. 2001 Amendment: Chapter 29 in (2) near middle of first sentence after "aggregate" substituted "that exceeds 1.51% of the total assessed value of taxable property, determined as provided in 15-8-111, within the municipality" for "exceeding 28% of the taxable value of the taxable property therein"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Applicability: Section 35, Ch. 29, L. 2001, provided: "(1) [This act] applies to the authorization and issuance of bonds occurring on or after July 1, 2001.

(2) Debt limits established under [this act] do not apply to bonds authorized before July 1, 2001, regardless of when the bonds are issued."

1981 Amendment: Changed "The municipality shall not" to "The municipality may not" at the beginning of (2); and substituted "exceeding 28% of the taxable value" for "exceeding 5% of the value" in the middle of (2).

Validation: Section 64, Ch. 614, L. 1981, provided: "Notwithstanding any provisions of this act, any outstanding indebtedness or bond issue on January 1, 1982, of any governmental subdivision is not invalidated because of any changes in the taxable valuation of the subdivision due to removal of automobiles and trucks having a rated capacity of three-quarters of a ton or less from the tax base."

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Removal of Chief of Fire Department: The chief of a fire department of a city operating under the commission form of government was removed by the Council, his name, however, being restored to the roll of members, thus entitling him to the safeguards afforded him as such member under the civil service rules of 7-33-4121 through 7-33-4131. He later was suspended under this section, but a hearing on his appeal was not accorded him. Held, that failure to hear his appeal rendered the order of suspension of no effect, automatically reinstated him, and entitled him to compensation during the period of his suspension. State ex rel. Daly v. Dryburgh, 62 M 36, 203 P 508 (1921).

Removal of Police Officer:

A police officer may be suspended or discharged for neglect of duty or disobedience of orders by the Chief of Police under this section, subject to review by the Superintendent of the Police Department, from whose order of approval the accused may appeal to the City Council or the Police Commission, under 7-32-4155 through 7-32-4164, upon charges filed with it, a copy of which must be furnished to him. State ex rel. Lease v. Wilkinson, 59 M 327, 196 P 878 (1921).

Where an acting Chief of Police merely recommended to the Council that a police officer be removed from office but did not actually suspend or discharge him, in conformity with this section, there was no order from which he could appeal, and his attempted appeal was ineffectual for any purpose. Vacation of Street by Mayor-Council Government — Legal Effect on City's Interest in Street: Under 7-14-4114, a municipality has the authority to close all or part of a street to through traffic without giving up its legal interest in the street or to vacate all or part of the street and revoke its legal interest in it. A municipality with a mayor-council form of government is bound by the procedures in 7-14-4114 rather than by 7-3-4448, which applies only to commission-manager forms of government, when it seeks to discontinue, close, or vacate a street. The choice between vacating a street and closing a street is a matter for the discretion of the municipal officers of a mayor-council form of government. 46 A.G. Op. 4 (1995), clarifying Wynia v. Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Approve Subdivisions Within Three-Mile Area Outside Corporate Limits: The city of Bozeman sought a reversal of 43 A.G. Op. 26 (1989), in which the Attorney General held that the Board of County Commissioners has final authority to approve subdivisions that are within the 3-mile area immediately outside the corporate limits of the city when the city has a commission-manager form of government. Bozeman asserted that 76-2-312 was not a limitation on the authority of commission-manager governments but rather an acknowledgement by the Legislature that such municipal governments already had extraterritorial subdivision authority under this section and that 76-2-312 exempted cities with a commission-manager form of government from procedural requirements that other forms of municipal government have to follow in order to exercise their extraterritorial subdivision authority. However, this section does not refer to the city commission, but instead clearly provides that the authority granted is to the city director of public services to ensure that the involved plat complies with platting regulations. If the plat complies, the director must approve it. The District Court properly found that 76-2-312 took away the extraterritorial subdivision authority over subdivisions that Bozeman, as a commission-manager form of government, would otherwise have had under 76-2-310 and 76-2-311. Bozeman v. Racicot, 253 M 204, 832 P2d 767, 49 St. Rep. 435 (1992).

Authority of County Commissioners to Approve Subdivisions Under Commission-Manager Government: The Board of County Commissioners has final authority to approve subdivisions that are within the 3-mile area immediately outside the corporate limits of the city when the city has a commission-manager form of government. 43 A.G. Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: In (2), after "persons" deleted "whose" and inserted "who are owners or purchasers under contracts for deed of"; and after "property" inserted "that".

Case Notes

Closure Versus Vacation: Closure and vacation are not synonymous. The former merely alters the use of a street, while the latter effects the vacation of the city's legal interest in the street. Therefore, a city may close a street without meeting the notice requirements of 7-3-4448 if it complies with the notice requirements of 7-14-4114, and in such a case the requirement of 7-3-4448 that the right of access be maintained does not apply. Further, there is no reversion to the lot owners of half the closed street since the city retains its rights in the street. Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802, 36 St. Rep. 1589 (1979).

Standing: Plaintiffs whose property abutted a portion of the street affected had standing to bring action to invalidate ordinance vacating street for parking facilities, even though plaintiffs' property did not abut portion of street vacated. Kemmer v. Bozeman, 158 M 354, 492 P2d 211 (1971).

Attorney General's Opinions

Vacation of Street by Mayor-Council Government — Legal Effect on City's Interest in Street: Under 7-14-4114, a municipality has the authority to close all or part of a street to through traffic without giving up its legal interest in the street or to vacate all or part of the street and revoke its legal interest in it. A municipality with a mayor-council form of government is bound by the procedures in 7-14-4114 rather than by this section, which applies only to commission-manager forms of government, when it seeks to discontinue, close, or vacate a street. The choice between vacating a street and closing a street is a matter for the discretion of the municipal officers of a mayor-council form of government. 46 A.G. Op. 4 (1995), clarifying Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802 (1979).

Section Not Codified: Section 11-3271.2, R.C.M. 1947, relating to initial election of the City Judge, was not codified because it was temporary. This section is still valid law and has not been repealed. It may be referred to as sec. 3, Ch. 219, L. 1977. See 1-2-208, stating that amendment to a codified provision is given effect over an uncodified provision.

Termination at Will Unconstitutional: Former provision of this section which allowed termination of a Police Judge at the will of the City Commission was unconstitutional as a violation of the mandate of the doctrine of separation of powers. State ex rel. Morales v. City Comm'n, 174 M 237, 570 P2d 887 (1977). (Annotator's Note: The constitutional infirmity was corrected by amendment effective April 4, 1977.)

Attorney General's Opinions

Appointment of City Judge by Third-Class City: Under 7-4-4102, the governing body of a third-class city has the authority to determine by ordinance how a City Judge is selected. However, nothing in statute precludes the city from amending the ordinance in order to provide for the election of the judge. Therefore, when a city of the third class adopts a commission-manager form of government, the city is not bound by this section, which requires election of a City Judge, but may continue to appoint its judge under an ordinance passed pursuant to 7-4-4102. 45 A.G. 1995 Amendment: Chapter 216 in (1), in first sentence after "business", substituted "during the office hours determined by the governing body by resolution after a public hearing and only if consented to by any affected elected county officer" for "continuously from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m." and deleted second sentence that read: "Every officer shall keep his office open at such other times as the accommodation of the public or the proper transaction of business requires"; in (3), at end, deleted "that are different from the days and times required by subsection (1)"; and made minor changes in style.

1989 Special Session Amendment: In (1), after "requires", deleted "except county"; in (2), at beginning, inserted "County" and after "city treasurers" deleted "who in their discretion"; inserted (3) allowing third-class cities and towns to establish the days and times municipal offices are open; and made minor changes in phraseology and form. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

Attorney General's Opinions

Secretarial Services for Private Practice of County Attorney: A secretary employed by the county to assist a County Attorney may work on the County Attorney's private business during time when the secretary's services are not needed on county business. The County Attorney must account for the time that the secretary spends on private business and reimburse the county for any county-compensated time spent on the County Attorney's private business. A claim by a County Attorney for secretarial services reasonably required for the conduct of the County Attorney's official duties is a legitimate claim against the county. The reasonableness of the claim is a question of fact vested in the sound discretion of the county governing body. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995). See also 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996), in which the Attorney General held that a County Attorney may not compel the County Commissioners to authorize the hiring as a county employee of a legal secretary for the County Attorney absent a showing that any other arrangement would prevent the County Attorney from performing the minimum statutory duties.

Establishment of City Court Office Hours by Governing Body: Subsection (3) of this section permits the governing body of a third-class city or town to set the office hours of the City Court at times other than between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, except on Sundays and other legal holidays. (See 1995 amendment.) 43 A.G. Op. 61 (1990).

Legality of Evening City Court Hours: A City Judge is not prohibited by 3-1-301, 3-1-302, or 3-11-101 from establishing regular sessions of the court during evening hours as long as regular sessions are not convened on Sundays or other legal holidays and the court is open for business on judicial days. These sections place no limitations on the hours of business. Although this section requires that City Court offices be open for business continuously from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on weekdays, this does not prohibit a City Judge from setting office hours after 5 p.m. on weekdays. As long as the office is open during the required hours for the transaction of business, such as the filing of court documents with the clerk, the City Judge may set additional hours for regular court sessions. (See 1995 amendment.) 43 A.G. Op. 61 (1990).

City Not Authorized to Reduce Office Hours: The phrase "unless otherwise provided by law", as used in this section, does not authorize a city to enact a municipal ordinance reducing the number of hours during which city offices must be open. Subsection (1)(f) of 7-1-114 prohibits a city from reducing its office hours beyond those required by this section. (See 1995 amendment.) 43 A.G. Op. 16 (1989).

Heritage Day — Single Calendar Day Only: The governing body of a political subdivision must schedule the Heritage Day legal holiday on a single calendar day each year. 42 A.G. Op. 22 (1987).

Office Closure When Employees Observe Holidays: Public officer must close on the appropriate day if office employees are entitled to have off the Friday preceding a legal holiday falling on a Saturday or the Monday following a legal holiday falling on a Sunday. 34 A.G. Op. 27 (1971).

County Commissioners

Manner of Exercising Power:

Where by law the Board of County Commissioners or other county officer is required to do an act but the method of doing it is not provided, any reasonable and suitable means may be adopted for performing it. Ransom v. Pingel, 104 M 119, 65 P2d 616 (1937); Simpson v. Silver Bow County, 87 M 83, 285 P2d 195 (1930); Arnold v. Custer County, 83 M 130, 269 P 396 (1928), distinguished in Judith Basin County ex rel. Vralsted v. Livingston, 89 M 438, 298 P 356 (1931).

Where the Legislature has prescribed with particularity the essential steps necessary to be taken by a county in the exercise of a power granted, the statute must be held to exclude any other mode of procedure, under the doctrine expressio unius est exclusio alterius. Franzke v. Fergus County, 76 M 150, 245 P 962 (1926).

Contracts:

While the Board of County Commissioners is without power to enter into a contract for services the performance of which is cast upon another county official or board, it may contract with a private individual for information relative to matters of taxation to aid it in the performance of its duties as a County Board of Equalization (now County Tax Appeal Board), even though, incidentally, the information received may aid other officials in the performance of their duties, provided the grant power is to be found in the statutes. Simpson v. Silver Bow County, 87 M 83, 285 P 195 (1930).

A contract made by a Board of County Commissioners, a few weeks before the expiration of its term of office and upon the expiration of a prior contract, for county printing for the 2 succeeding years, is valid in the absence of fraud or bad faith in the making and is not against public policy. Picket Publishing Co. v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 36 M 188, 92 P 524 (1907).

A contract with an attorney for his services, entered into by the Chairman of the Board individually, is not binding on the county, since the Commissioners have power to bind the county only where they act as a legal entity. Williams v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 28 M 360, 72 P 755 (1903).

Existence of Power:

The Board of County Commissioners may exercise powers not specifically granted if they are necessarily implied from those granted, and under its implied power it may contract to have work done which is necessary for the proper management of the county's business and the preservation of its property, if the law does not make it the duty of some county officer to do the work. Arnold v. Custer County, 83 M 130, 269 P 396 (1928).

Counties and school districts are subdivisions of the state government with fixed powers and duties, and any act taken by the Commissioners of the former or the trustees of the latter must be justified by the provisions of the statutes defining and limiting their powers. State ex rel. School District v. McGraw, 74 M 152, 240 P 812 (1925).

A Board of County Commissioners is one of limited powers and must in every instance justify its action by reference to the provisions of law defining and limiting these powers. If, however, there is no question of the existence of the power to do the act proposed [decided prior to the adoption of Art. XI, sec. 4(2), Mont. Const.—Annotator], and the mode of its exercise is not pointed out, the Board is left free to use its own discretion in selecting the mode it shall adopt or the course it shall pursue, and the result cannot be called in question if the course pursued is reasonably well adapted to the accomplishment of the end proposed. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 M 132, 131 P 30 (1913); Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911); State ex rel. Gillett v. Cronin, 41 M 293, 109 P 144 (1910); State ex rel. Lambert v. Coad, 23 M 131, 57 P 1092 (1899).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Office of County Commissioner Incompatible With Office of School Trustee: The current nature and duties of the offices of County Commissioner and county high school trustee could give rise to possible conflicts of governmental interest if one person were to retain both offices simultaneously. The Attorney General affirmed the decision in 8 A.G. Op. at 402 (1920), holding that the offices are incompatible in light of the fact that under state law a County Commissioner has certain supervisory powers over a school trustee. However, nothing in state law prohibits an individual from holding one of these offices while seeking the other. 42 A.G. Op. 94 (1988).

Absence of County Commissioner From State: A County Commissioner is subject to the provisions of 7-4-2208 requiring all county officers to secure consent of the Board of County Commissioners before absenting themselves from the state for a period of more than 5 days. 37 A.G. Op. 19 (1977).

Applicability of Deadline to Redistricting: The Supreme Court, in Barthelmess v. Bergerson, 218 M 398, 708 P2d 1010, 42 St. Rep. 1685 (1985), ordered the redistricting of Custer County to comply with 7-4-2102, including the provision that "no change in the boundary lines of any commissioner district shall be made within 6 months next preceding a primary election". A primary election was scheduled for June 2, 1986, necessitating a December 2, 1985, deadline for redistricting. On December 3, 1985, the two judges of the district issued a memorandum expressing concern over the inability to create new districts within the time prescribed by 7-4-2102, and not until January 3, 1986, was a redistricting plan reviewed and approved. The Supreme Court noted that the purpose of the deadline was to prevent gerrymandering and to provide sufficient time for candidates for County Commissioner to file for election. The provision should not be construed so as to prevent the formation and filing of districts when, as here, the former districts did not meet the statutory requirements of compactness and equality of population. Strict enforcement of the 6-month provision in this case would prevent the residents from legally electing their Commissioners, disenfranchising the voters and impeding county business. The court stated the concept in 1-3-201 that when the reason for a rule ceases, the reason for its enforcement also ceases. By way of declaratory relief, the court upheld the January 3, 1986, districting plan and allowed the County Commissioners to append to the plan a copy of the court order in lieu of the requirement of 7-4-2103 that the certificate shall be dated and signed by the District Judges. Barthelmess v. Bergerson, 220 M 74, 713 P2d 990, 43 St. Rep. 186 (1986).

Equality of Area: Custer County Commissioner district lines were redrawn according to the latest federal census report to achieve simple, identifiable districts as equal in population as possible. No attempt was made to equalize geographic area, as required by this section. The Supreme Court held that the County Commissioners have limited discretion in determining boundaries and mathematical exactness is required only when reasonably possible. However, compliance with the statute requires at least an attempt to equalize both area and population, and hence the new districts are void and the prior districts remain valid until the county is redistricted. Barthelmess v. Bergerson, 218 M 398, 708 P2d 1010, 42 St. Rep. 1685 (1985).

Attorney General's Opinions

Eligibility for Election of Person Transferred Into County Commission District Through Reapportionment: A person who is transferred into a County Commission district by virtue of a reapportionment conducted pursuant to this section is not disqualified from standing for election as long as the person has resided at the same address in the new district for the requisite 2-year period set out in 7-4-2104. 49 A.G. Op. 17 (2002).

Increase in Number of County Commissioners — Holdovers — Alteration of District Boundaries: If the electors were to adopt a proposal to increase the number of County Commissioners, all of the incumbent Commissioners would lose their positions unless otherwise required by the adopted plan, pursuant to 7-3-158. If no provision were made for holdovers in the local government study commission plan, they would remain in office only until the newly elected Commissioners take office. However, a study commission proposal is not invalid because it provides for holdover County Commissioners, even when the proposal alters the commission district boundaries. (See 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983)). 41 A.G. Op. 44 (1986).

7-4-2103. Filing of certificate designating districts.

Case Notes

Supreme Court Order in Lieu of Certificate: The Supreme Court, in Barthelmess v. Bergerson, 218 M 398, 708 P2d 1010, 42 St. Rep. 1685 (1985), ordered the redistricting of Custer County to comply with 7-4-2102, including the provision that "no change in the boundary lines of any commissioner district shall be made within 6 months next preceding a primary election". A primary election was scheduled for June 2, 1986, necessitating a December 2, 1985, deadline for redistricting. On December 3, 1985, the two judges of the district issued a memorandum expressing concern over the inability to create new districts within the time prescribed by 7-4-2102, and not until January 3, 1986, was a redistricting plan reviewed and approved. By way of declaratory relief, the court upheld the January 3, 1986, districting plan and allowed the County Commissioners to append to the plan a copy of the court order in lieu of the requirement of this section that the certificate shall be dated and signed by the District Judges. 7-4-2104. Commissioners to be elected by district.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 183 in (2) after "county commissioners" substituted "unless the person has resided in the county and the district for at least 2 years preceding the general election" for "who has not resided in the county for at least 2 years next preceding the time he shall become a candidate for said office and was not a resident of the district at the time of filing for the primary election"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 3, 2001.

1987 Amendment: In (2) substituted "the county" for "said district"; and at end of (2) inserted "and was not a resident of the district at the time of filing for the primary election".

Case Notes

Separation of Powers Doctrine Not to Preclude Compliance With Employee Grievance Procedure by Justice's Court: A Justice of the Peace involved in a disciplinary action against the court office manager contended that a grievance hearing before the County Commission would violate the separation of powers doctrine by interfering with the independence of the court by requiring the Justice of the Peace to be an adverse witness against court personnel, allowing the Justice of the Peace's decision on personnel matters to be overruled by another branch of government, and possibly requiring the Justice of the Peace to accept an employee believed to be unsatisfactory. However, as established in Hillis v. Sullivan, 48 M 320, 137 P 392 (1913), the hiring by the County Commission of a clerk to assist a court does not violate the separation of powers doctrine. In addition, the County Commission is statutorily required to provide a Justice of the Peace with clerical assistance. Thus, a grievance hearing before the County Commission does not violate the separation of powers doctrine because the County Commission's independent hiring of the office manager is consistent with the doctrine; nor does the County Commission's hearing of the grievance constitute an exercise of authority belonging to the Judicial Branch. Clark v. Dussault, 265 M 479, 878 P2d 239, 51 St. Rep. 642 (1994).

Election of Nonresident — Redistricting: Custer County Commissioner district lines were redrawn prior to election of respondent as County Commissioner. Respondent ran for and was elected to the office of County Commissioner for new district 2, although he resided in new district 3. Appellants claimed this section precluded respondent from holding office because of nonresidency. However, the new district boundaries were held void in this decision as not having been established in compliance with 7-4-2102, so respondent was allowed to hold office from the previous district 2 (of which he was a resident) until the next general election, at which time the district boundaries were to be reestablished. Barthelmess v. Bergerson, 218 M 398, 708 P2d 1010, 42 St. Rep. 1685 (1985).

WHEREAS, the first Monday in January can be as late as the 7th day of January; and

WHEREAS, employing two elected officials in the same month can cause confusion and disagreement regarding compensation and benefits to each official; and

WHEREAS, employing the newly elected official on January 1 would simplify the payroll process, save local governments and taxpayers money, and make it easier for all concerned to remember the official transition date."

Attorney General's Opinions

Recommendation of Shorter Terms of Office by Local Government Study Commission: A local government study commission may recommend that terms of office for County Commissioners be less than 6 years if the county has adopted the statutory county "commission form" of government. A local government study commission may not recommend that the terms of office for County Commissioners be less than 6 years if the county has retained the form of government organized under the statutes listed in 7-3-111. 41 A.G. 1985 Amendments: Chapter 250 throughout section substituted references to 75 days for references to 50 days; and in (3)(b) in fourth sentence, substituted "75th day" for "40th day".

Chapter 551 in (2), near middle of first sentence, substituted "remaining county commissioners" for "district judge or judges in whose district the vacancy occurs" and after first sentence, inserted lead-in to (a) and (b) and inserted (a) and (b) relating to procedure based upon party affiliation or lack thereof; and in (4) near end, substituted "remaining county commissioners" for "district judge".

Case Notes

Prospective Appointment to Fill Vacancy: Under 2-16-501, refusal or neglect of an officer-elect to file his bond within the time prescribed creates a vacancy in the office, and in the case of a County Commissioner (prior to the 1985 amendment of this section) the District Judge had authority under this section, upon the expiration of the 30-day period provided for the filing of a bond, to declare the office vacant and make a prospective appointment, to fill the vacancy when it did occur, i.e., at the commencement of the new term. State ex rel. Wallace v. Callow, 78 M 308, 254 P 187 (1927).

Annulment of Order Filling Vacancy: The power to fill a vacancy in the office of County Commissioner was conferred by Art. XVI, sec. 4, 1889 Mont. Const., upon the District Judge of the district in which the vacancy occurred. The provisions of this section were enacted in pursuance thereof (amended in 1985 to change power of appointment to remaining commissioners). Such appointing power is ministerial, not judicial, in character. Certiorari does not lie to annul an order filling a vacancy deemed by the Judge to exist in that office in a newly created county because of the alleged unconstitutionality of the act under which the office was filled by election and because the incumbent was holding two other offices regarded by him as incompatible. State ex rel. Dowen v. District Court, 50 M 249, 146 P 467 (1915).

Attorney General's Opinions

Filling Vacant Office: Prior to the 1979 amendment of this section, the Attorney General held that if the office of County Commissioner has become vacant with no opportunity to nominate candidates in the primary election, the selection of candidates for the general election will be made by each political party according to 13-10-327; and, pursuant to 13-12-208 (now repealed), write-in candidates may also seek the office. The appointee to fill the immediate vacancy will hold that office until the next general election. 37 A.G. Op. 147 (1978).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 in (1) in first sentence at beginning substituted "Subject to subsection (2)" for "Except as provided in subsection (3)" after "board of county commissioners" deleted "in counties of the first, second, third, and fourth class" and deleted former second sentence that read: "However, the county commissioners may, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for other officers as provided in 7-4-2504(1), set their salaries at the prior fiscal year level if that level is lower than the level required by this subsection"; in (2) in first sentence at beginning substituted "Each board may elect to serve on a part-time rather than a full-time basis and receive part-time annual salaries based on the annual salary established in 7-4-2503(1)(a)" for "Each member of the board in all other counties may receive an annual salary equal to the annual salary established in 7-4-2503(1)(a)(ii)" and at end after "clerk and recorder" deleted "or a salary at a per-day rate determined by using the salary established in 7-4-2503(1)(a)(ii) for the clerk and recorder" and deleted former second and third sentences that read: "However, the county commissioners may, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for other officers as provided in 7-4-2504(1), set their salaries at the prior fiscal year level if that level is lower than the level required by this subsection. The salary determined by the board must apply uniformly to all board members"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) Each member of the board of fourth-class counties may receive a salary at a daily rate determined by using the salary established in subsection (1). If a daily rate is used, then all board members must be paid on that basis"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 28 in (1), at beginning, inserted exception clause; inserted (3) regarding salary of Board members of fourth-class counties at a daily rate; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective February 10, 1993.

1991 Amendment: Near beginning of (2), after "counties", substituted language concerning Board member salary being equal to annual salary or per-day rate based upon salary established in 7-4-2503 for Clerk and Recorder for language setting salary for Board member of $60 per day beginning July 1, 1985, and adjusted every July 1 thereafter by adding a cost-of-living adjustment to $60 amount and inserted last sentence concerning established salary being applied uniformly to all Board members. Amendment effective April 22, 1991.

1986 Amendment: In (1) following "$2,000" inserted remainder of subsection allowing a uniform freeze in compensation; and in (2) following "calculated as provided in 7-4-2504" inserted remainder of subsection allowing a uniform freeze in compensation.

1985 Amendment: In (2) in first sentence, after "salary", deleted "of not more than $50", and inserted the second and third sentences setting $60, then $60 plus a cost-of-living increment, for a daily salary.

1981 Amendment: Substituted "an annual salary equal to the annual salary established in 7-4-2503 for the clerk and recorder plus $2,000" for "an annual salary to be established by resolution of the board in an amount not to exceed the annual salary established in the schedule in 7-4-2503 for the clerk and recorder" at the end of (1); and substituted (2) establishing a $50-maximum daily salary for "Each member of the board in all other counties is entitled to a salary to be established by the board by resolution in an amount not to exceed $40 per day for each day's attendance on the sessions of the board."

Attorney General's Opinions

Change in County Classification — Adjustment of Salaries of County Officials: When the classification of a county under 7-1-2111 changes, salaries of County Commissioners, the County Attorney, and county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must be adjusted as of July 1 of the following year. Adjustments are computed as follows: (1) for County Commissioners, according to this section; (2) for a part-time County Attorney, according to 7-4-2503(3); and (3) for county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1), according to 7-4-2503. (See 2001 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Timing of Salary Increases Caused by County Classification Change: Under the reasoning of 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984), when a county's classification changes according to 7-1-2111, the salaries of the County Commissioners, as provided for in 7-4-2107, must change as of July 1 of the following year, the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. 41 A.G. Op. 6 (1985).

Computation of Cost-of-Living Increase: The cost-of-living increase authorized for county officials by this section applies only to the annual base salary plus population increment established by 7-4-2503(1) and not to the additional sums included in the salaries of the Superintendent of Schools, Sheriff, and Commissioners under 7-4-2503(2) and this section. (See 2001 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 65 (1982).

Board of County Commissioners Not to Reduce Workload of One County Commissioner and Reduce His Pay Accordingly: A County Commissioner of a first-, second-, third-, or fourth-class county may not reduce his workload relative to the workloads of the other Commissioners and have his pay reduced accordingly. 36 A.G. Op. 48 (1976).

Case Notes

County Assessor as Agent of Department of Revenue: This section grants to the Board of County Commissioners supervisory control of County Assessors "under such limitations and restrictions as are prescribed by law". Section 15-8-102 is such a limitation and removes supervision of all internal operations of the County Assessor's office from the County Commissioners and places it with the Department of Revenue. Cantwell v. Geiger, 228 M 330, 742 P2d 468, 44 St. Rep. 1574 (1987).

Supervision of Officers: The Board of County Commissioners has general supervision and control over the officers, affairs, and finances of its county, and it may be conceded that, unless authority therefor shall be found in the statutes, no other county officer may bind the county by contract. A person dealing with a county through one of its agents is bound to know the extent of such agent's authority, and if he enters into an unauthorized contract, he does so at his own risk. Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929). See also Pue v. Lewis & Clark County, 75 M 207, 243 P 573 (1926).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Attorney as Employee for Purposes of Lawsuit Regarding Administrative Actions: A County Attorney is not liable for civil damages for conduct within the scope of his prosecutorial duties; however, that immunity does not extend to the discretionary administrative business of running a County Attorney's office. Thus, a County Attorney is considered a county employee for purposes of the Montana Comprehensive State Insurance Plan and Tort Claims Act whenever the County Attorney is named in a civil lawsuit for actions regarding county administrative business, such as the hiring and firing of staff. 44 A.G. Op. 29 (1992).

Office of County Commissioner Incompatible With Office of School Trustee: The current nature and duties of the offices of County Commissioner and county high school trustee could give rise to possible conflicts of governmental interest if one person were to retain both offices simultaneously. The Attorney General affirmed the decision in 8 A.G. Op. at 402 (1920), holding that the offices are incompatible in light of the fact that under state law a County Commissioner has certain supervisory powers over a school trustee. However, nothing in state law prohibits an individual from holding one of these offices while seeking the other. 42 A.G. Op. 94 (1988).

Departmental Responsibility for Operation of County Assessor's Office — Exceptions: The Department of Revenue is responsible for the internal operation of a County Assessor's office, including employment practices, except with regard to County Assessors and their deputies, who serve at the instance of the electorate or appointing power, as determined statutorily. 42 A.G. Op. 52 (1988).

Manner in Which Duties Performed — No Control by Commissioners: The County Commissioners, in the exercise of their statutory supervisory control over county officers, may assure that the officers fulfill their statutory duties but may not assume control over the manner in which those duties are performed. 38 A.G. Op. 85 (1980).

Supervisory Power Over All Enumerated County Officers: The supervisory power of the County Commissioners under 7-4-2110 extends to all county executive officers enumerated in 7-4-2203. 38 A.G. Op. 85 (1980).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. Had the Legislature intended to expressly authorize County Commissions to reduce the office, it would have adopted legislation similar to that for County Attorneys and County Superintendents. The authority in 7-6-2412 extends to the imposition of additional County Auditor duties, not to the reduction of hours worked. There is no express or implied authority for counties with general powers to reduce the office of County Auditor to a half-time position. 47 A.G. Op. 18 (1998).

Departmental Responsibility for Operation of County Assessor's Office — Exceptions: The Department of Revenue is responsible for the internal operation of a County Assessor's office, including employment practices, except with regard to County Assessors and their deputies, who 1997 Amendment: Chapter 421 in (3), after "part", inserted "and who is elected to office"; inserted (3)(a) relating to taking the oath on the last business day of December; in (3)(b) substituted "at 12:01 a.m. on January 1 following the officer's election" for "on the first Monday of January succeeding their election"; and made minor changes in style.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 421, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, current law requires an elected official to take the oath of office on the first Monday of January succeeding the election; and

WHEREAS, the first Monday in January can be as late as the 7th day of January; and

WHEREAS, employing two elected officials in the same month can cause confusion and disagreement regarding compensation and benefits to each official; and

WHEREAS, employing the newly elected official on January 1 would simplify the payroll process, save local governments and taxpayers money, and make it easier for all concerned to remember the official transition date."

1983 Amendment: At end of (3), deleted "except the county treasurer, whose term begins on the first Monday of March next succeeding his election".

Transition: Section 2, Ch. 71, L. 1983, read: "A county treasurer holding office on the effective date of this act [October 1, 1983] or a person appointed to fill the unexpired term of such a treasurer continues to serve until the first Monday of March after the election of his successor. 1985 Amendment: Throughout section substituted references to 75 days for references to 50 days; and in (3)(b) in fourth sentence, substituted "75th day" for "40th day".

Case Notes

Appointment to Fill Vacancy: County Commissioners who appointed a person in November to the office of County Attorney to take office in January were not acting to forestall the rights and prerogatives of the Board which would be in office in January since only one of the members would be new in January. State ex rel. Koch v. Lexcen, 131 M 161, 308 P2d 974 (1957).

Person Elected to Fill Vacancy Not Elected for Four Years: Plaintiff was appointed Sheriff to fill vacancy caused by the death of his predecessor. At the next general election he was elected Sheriff. He was elected only to fill the unexpired term of his predecessor and not for a full 4-year term, notwithstanding that the ballot did not specify length of time for which candidate sought office. Bailey v. Knight, 118 M 594, 168 P2d 843 (1946).

Sheriff's Unauthorized Absence From State — Reimbursement of Expenses: A Sheriff predicated his demand for reimbursement for expenses incurred by him for services performed beyond the state line upon his legal rights incident to his position as Sheriff and not upon a contract of employment by the County Attorney at whose direction he acted. The Sheriff did not show that he first obtained the consent of the Board of County Commissioners to absent himself from the state, thus he was not entitled to recover on the theory that the claim was allowable under authority of 7-6-2426, making the county chargeable with expenses necessarily incurred by the County Attorney in criminal cases arising within the county. Application of Section: A county extension officer is not a county officer subject to this section. Neither the law relating to his office nor section 16-2403, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), enumerating county officers, designates him as county officer. Turnbull v. Attorney General's Opinions

Secretarial Services for Private Practice of County Attorney: A secretary employed by the county to assist a County Attorney may work on the County Attorney's private business during time when the secretary's services are not needed on county business. The County Attorney must account for the time that the secretary spends on private business and reimburse the county for any county-compensated time spent on the County Attorney's private business. A claim by a County Attorney for secretarial services reasonably required for the conduct of the County Attorney's official duties is a legitimate claim against the county. The reasonableness of the claim is a question of fact vested in the sound discretion of the county governing body. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995). See also 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996), in which the Attorney General held that a County Attorney may not compel the County Commissioners to authorize the hiring as a county employee of a legal secretary for the County Attorney absent a showing that any other arrangement would prevent the County Attorney from performing the minimum statutory duties.

Case Notes

No Legal Duty to Fund Deputy Position: The Lewis and Clark County Auditor petitioned for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the Board of County Commissioners to fund a Deputy Auditor position eliminated by the Commissioners because of budget cuts. The District Court dismissed the petition on the ground that there was no legal duty of the Commissioners to fund the position. On appeal, the Supreme Court had to reconcile three statutes: 7-4-2401(1), under which county officers may appoint as many deputies or assistants as necessary to discharge the duties of the office; 7-4-2402, which provides the County Commissioners with authority to fix and determine the number of county deputy officers; and 7-6-2413, which provides that the number of Deputy Auditors in first-, second-, and third-class counties must not exceed one. The court held that the specific statute, 7-6-2413, must control over the general statute, 7-4-2401(1). The specific statute does not mandate a Deputy Auditor but merely permits one deputy. Based on 7-4-2402, the court held that the authority to determine whether to appoint a deputy resides with the Commissioners and not the Auditor. Based on this statutory scheme, the court held that the Commissioners had no clear legal duty to fund the position of Deputy Auditor. Spotorno v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 212 M 253, 687 P2d 720, 41 St. Rep. 1722 (1984).

Appointment of Deputy County Attorneys:

Although 7-4-2703 provides that a County Attorney of a first- or second-class county may appoint only one Chief Deputy and one Deputy County Attorney, this section provides for appointment of such additional Deputy County Attorneys as may be reasonably necessary to discharge the duties of the office. The prosecutors here were appointed properly and had the lawful authority to prosecute the matter. St. v. Poncelet, 187 M 528, 610 P2d 698, 37 St. Rep. 760 (1980).

Under 2-16-213 and this section, a County Attorney may appoint a deputy to serve without compensation and such deputy may legally act in the name of his principal in the filing of informations and the prosecution of criminal action. St. v. Crouch, 70 M 551, 227 P 818 (1924).

The provisions of this section have no application to the appointment by the court of counsel to assist a County Attorney in prosecuting persons charged with crime. St. v. Whitworth, 26 M 107, 66 P 748 (1901).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County Commission to Restrict Number of Deputies Hired by Elected Officials: A Board of County Commissioners has authority through control of the county budget to restrict the number of deputies hired by elected officials. Therefore, a Clerk of the District Court may not employ a chief deputy or any other deputies without authorization of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

Departmental Responsibility for Operation of County Assessor's Office — Exceptions: The Department of Revenue is responsible for the internal operation of a County Assessor's office, including employment practices, except with regard to County Assessors and their deputies, who serve at the instance of the electorate or appointing power, as determined statutorily. (See 1993 special session amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 52 (1988).

Addition or Elimination of Salaried Deputy Position — Authority Resident With County Commission: As between the County Assessor and the Board of County Commissioners, the authority to add or eliminate a salaried deputy position resides with the Board of County Commissioners. 42 A.G. Op. 23 (1987).

Establishment and Elimination of Deputy Position in County Office — Authority Resident With County: As between the state and county governments, the authority to establish a deputy position and the commensurate authority to eliminate a deputy position in the office of the county reside with county government. 42 A.G. Op. 23 (1987).

7-4-2402. Authorization to exceed limitation on number of deputy officers.

Compiler's Comments

Section Not Codified: The phrase relating to payment of deputies in section 16-3704, R.C.M. 1947, was not codified because it was redundant with 7-4-2505. That phrase has not been repealed and is still valid law. It may be referred to as sec. 1, Ch. 365, L. 1971. See 1-2-208, stating that amendment to a codified provision is given effect over an uncodified provision.

Based on 7-4-2402, the court held that the authority to determine whether to appoint a deputy resides with the Commissioners and not the Auditor. Based on this statutory scheme, the court held that the Commissioners had no clear legal duty to fund the position of Deputy Auditor. Spotorno v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 212 M 253, 687 P2d 720, 41 St. Rep. 1722 (1984).

Authority of Sheriff to Appoint Deputies — Consolidated City-County Government: Where the charter of a consolidated city-county government, which was approved by the voters on November 2, 1976, and took effect on May 2, 1977, specified the manner in which promotions of Sheriff's deputies were to be made, promotions made on April 12, 1977, were governed not by the provisions of the charter but by provisions of state law requiring that the appointment of a greater number of deputies than that allowed by statute is subject to the approval of the Board of County Commissioners. As the promotions were not so approved, they are void. Butler v. Local 2033 Am. Fed'n of County Employees, 186 M 28, 606 P2d 141, 37 St. Rep. 168 (1980).

Employee on Commission Basis: If the services the County Commissioners seek to have done involve only an investigation of county offices for abstracting purposes, that can be done by a regularly appointed deputy county officer. There is no statutory authority for the Commissioners to employ anyone to perform such services on a commission basis. Kelly v. Silver Bow County, 125 M 272, 233 P2d 1035 (1951).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County Commission to Restrict Number of Deputies Hired by Elected Officials: A Board of County Commissioners has authority through control of the county budget to restrict the number of deputies hired by elected officials. Therefore, a Clerk of the District Court may not employ a chief deputy or any other deputies without authorization of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

Addition or Elimination of Salaried Deputy Position — Authority Resident With County Commission: As between the County Assessor and the Board of County Commissioners, the authority to add or eliminate a salaried deputy position resides with the Board of County Commissioners. 42 A.G. Op. 23 (1987).

Establishment and Elimination of Deputy Position in County Office — Authority Resident With County: As between the state and county governments, the authority to establish a deputy position and the commensurate authority to eliminate a deputy position in the office of the county reside with county government. 42 A.G. Op. 23 (1987).

7-4-2403. Official mention of principal officer includes deputies.

Attorney General's Opinions

Performance of Duties of Clerk of District Court by Deputy District Court Clerk: Under the plain meaning of this section, any deputy clerk of the District Court may act on behalf of the Clerk of Court in performing any of the Clerk's functions and duties. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

Disposition of Money Received by County Officers for Preparation of Abstracts: Preparation of abstracts by a Clerk of District Court, a County Clerk, or their respective deputies is an official service of the office. Therefore, compensation paid to them by title companies, credit bureaus, banks, realtors, and others for preparation on a regular basis of abstracts of instruments recorded in their respective offices may not be retained for their personal use, but rather must be paid to the county general fund, District Court fund, or state, as provided by law. 43 A.G. Op. 75 (1990).

Compensation and Official Fees

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of Public Safety Commission to Set Salary of Deputy Sheriff: In a department of public safety created pursuant to Title 7, ch. 32, part 1, the public safety commission may set the salary of a department Deputy Sheriff under 7-32-104 at any level at or above the amount that would be paid to the deputy under 7-4-2508. To the extent that 7-4-2508 and 7-32-104 conflict, the provisions of 7-32-104, which allow the public safety commission to set the salaries of department employees, are the more specific and therefore are controlling. 48 A.G. Op. 20 (2000).

Part-Time Deputy County Attorney Entitled to Longevity Pay — Year of Service Composed of Calendar Year: The Legislature did not distinguish full-time Deputy County Attorneys from part-time Deputy County Attorneys for purposes of eligibility pay. Therefore, a part-time Deputy County Attorney is entitled to longevity pay under 7-4-2503 after completing the required years of service. As used in that section, the term "year of service" means a calendar year rather than 2,080 hours of employment. 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), following Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), and overruling 39 A.G. Op. 78 (1982), 40 A.G. Op. 61 (1984), and 43 A.G. 77 (1990), to the extent that a different definition of year of service was applied.

Calculation of Years of Service of Part-Time County Employee: The Board of County Commissioners may calculate the years of service of a part-time county employee based on the number of hours worked rather than the number of calendar years in part-time service. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990), overruled in 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), in which, pursuant to Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), the term "year of service" was construed to mean a calendar year.

Computation of Salaries, Longevity Payments, and Overtime for Sheriffs, Undersheriffs, and Deputy Sheriffs: Chapter 603, L. 1981, amended 7-4-2505 and 39-3-406 and enacted 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2510. Under Ch. 603, the following holdings were made:

(1) an individual Undersheriff or Deputy Sheriff is entitled to an initial longevity payment on his first employment anniversary occurring after October 1, 1981;

(2) years of service prior to October 1, 1981, must be considered in determining the amount of longevity payments to Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs;

(3) the "minimum base annual salary" for calculating longevity payments is the statutory minimum level for the county involved, as specified in 7-4-2508;

(4) the "salary" of a Sheriff, for purposes of calculating the annual compensation of Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs, includes the additional $2,000 received by the Sheriff pursuant to 7-4-2503; and

(5) the payment of overtime compensation to Undersheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs is within the discretion of the individual Boards of County Commissioners. 39 A.G. Op. 21 (1981).

1981 Amendments: Chapter 518 and Ch. 575 deleted subsection (3) which provided: "The coroner is entitled to receive a salary established prior to July 1 of each year by the board of county commissioners. The salary must be in effect upon the first day of each ensuing fiscal year."

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 371 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. Chapter 443 was a Code Commissioner bill and was not intended to make substantive changes. Consequently a conflict of language in subsection (1) between Ch. 371 and Ch. 443 has been resolved in favor of the language used in Ch. 371.

Compensation Plan: Chapter 545, L. 1979, established a County Compensation Board to consider the salaries of elected county officials and present to the Legislature an ongoing salary plan.

Case Notes

"Fees" Defined: In this section the term "fees" means a mode of compensation different from salary. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Officers Receive Salaries: Subsection (2) is unnecessary, unless its purpose is to advise the people that salaried officers are not to have "fees and emoluments" other than salaries from the state or county. Scharrenbroich v. Lewis & Clark County, 33 M 250, 83 P 482 (1905).

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 109 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. Ch. 109 provided for twice monthly and biweekly paychecks in subsection (1)(a) and in former subsection (1)(b). Ch. 443, a Code Commissioner bill, deleted subsection (1)(b) referring to payment from the contingency fund as inconsistent with subsection (1)(a) referring to payment from the general fund. The composite deleted subsection (1)(b) to avoid the inconsistency. The intent of Ch. 109 is preserved in subsection (1).

Attorney General's Opinions

Part-Time Deputy County Attorney Entitled to Longevity Pay — Year of Service Composed of Calendar Year: The Legislature did not distinguish full-time Deputy County Attorneys from part-time Deputy County Attorneys for purposes of eligibility pay. Therefore, a part-time Deputy County Attorney is entitled to longevity pay under this section after completing the required years of service. As used in this section, the term "year of service" means a calendar year rather than 2,080 hours of employment. 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), following Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), and overruling 39 A.G. Op. 78 (1982), 40 A.G. Op. 61 (1984), and 43 A.G. 77 (1990), to the extent that a different definition of year of service was applied.

County Attorney Longevity Increase for Time as Deputy County Attorney — 1999 Statutory Amendment: The 1999 amendment to subsection (3)(d)(ii) of this section authorizes a Board of County Commissioners to grant a longevity increase to a full-time County Attorney for years served as a Deputy County Attorney, in addition to years served as a County Attorney. 48 A.G. Op. 8 (1999).

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Office Manager/Secretary Defined as Assistant — Determination of Salary: An office manager/secretary hired as a county employee to assist a County Attorney is considered an assistant whose compensation may be set by the Board of County Commissioners under 7-4-2505. However, the statute is limited to persons who serve as county employees and does not apply to independent contractors or consultants. Assistants must be paid a salary to be determined by the Commissioners at no more than 90% of the principal officer's salary, unless a specific provision allows greater compensation. 46 A.G. Op. 6 (1995).

Calculation of Base Salary of Sheriff — Longevity to Include Total Years of Service: The base salary of a Sheriff under this section is based on the class of the county and the county population. For purposes of calculating a Sheriff's longevity payments, total years of service with the Sheriff's Department are included. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

Change in County Classification — Adjustment of Salaries of County Officials: When the classification of a county under 7-1-2111 changes, salaries of County Commissioners, the County Attorney, and county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must be adjusted as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 amendment). Adjustments are computed as follows: (1) for County Commissioners, according to 7-4-2107; (2) for a part-time County Attorney, according to 7-4-2503(3); and (3) for county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1), according to 7-4-2503. (See 2001 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111, the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 and 2001 amendments), with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984), followed in 41 A.G. Op. 6 (1985).

Computation of Cost-of-Living Increases: The cost-of-living authorized for county officials by 7-4-2504 applies only to the annual base salary plus population increment established by subsection (1) of this section and not to the additional sums included in the salaries of the Superintendent of Schools, Sheriff, and Commissioners under subsection (2) of this section and 7-4-2107. (See 2001 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 65 (1982).

Compensation of County Clerk and Recorder for Work as Election Administrator: A County Clerk and Recorder is not entitled to compensation for services as an election administrator. Without a specific grant of authority to allow additional compensation beyond that for the duties as a County Clerk and Recorder, no additional compensation is allowed. An election administrator who is not also the County Clerk and Recorder may be compensated for his election duties. 39 A.G. Op. 7 (1981).

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1 (see 1995 amendment). The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. (See 1999 and 2001 amendments.) 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Self-Government Powers: This section does not apply to self-government units since it may be superseded by ordinance or resolution of the Commission and is not prohibited by 7-1-114(g). 37 A.G. Op. 68 (1977).

7-4-2504. Salaries to be fixed by resolution — cost-of-living increments.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 near middle inserted reference to justice of the peace and at end substituted "by adding to the annual salary provided for in 7-4-2503(1) a cost-of-living increment based upon the schedule developed and approved by the county compensation board provided for in 7-4-2503(4)" for "The salaries fixed may be no less than 80% of the annual base salary provided for in 7-4-2503(1) plus a cost-of-living increment based on a percentage of up to 100% of the previous calendar year's consumer price index for all urban consumers, U.S. department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, or other index that the bureau of business and economic research of the university of Montana-Missoula may in the future recognize as the successor to that index" and deleted former third, fourth, and fifth sentences that read: "The county governing body may, however, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for the same action on the salaries of justices of the peace (if applicable), the county governing body, the county attorney, and the coroner, set the salary at the prior fiscal year level if that level is lower than the level required by this subsection. The cost-of-living increment for each fiscal year must be added to all cost-of-living increments granted for previous years unless salaries were set for the fiscal year at the level of salaries received in the prior fiscal year. In such a case, the cost-of-living increment that would have been received for the fiscal year, computed on the prior fiscal year, may not be added to previous increments"; deleted former (2) and (3) that read: "(2) The county governing body may, in any subsequent fiscal year, restore for 1 or more years the annual cost-of-living increments withheld pursuant to subsection (1). If cost-of-living increments are restored, the longevity increases provided for sheriffs in 7-4-2503, for deputy county attorneys in 7-4-2503(3)(d)(i), and for undersheriffs and deputy sheriffs in 7-4-2510 must also be restored for the years for which the cost-of-living increment was restored.

(3) The county governing body shall by resolution, prior to August 1 of each year, establish the salary of the coroner and may, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for other officers as provided in subsection (1), set the salary at the prior fiscal year level. The salary must be in effect on the first day of each ensuing fiscal year"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1995 Amendments: Chapter 230 in (1), in first sentence after "before", substituted "August 1 of each year" for "July 1, 1992, and on or before July 1 of each year thereafter" and in fourth sentence, after "increment for", deleted "the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) If the application of 7-4-2503 does not qualify a county official for a salary increase, the salary base for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1991, must be the fiscal year 1990-91 salary plus 100% of the last previous calendar year's consumer price index for all urban consumers, as set forth in subsection (1)"; near beginning of (3) substituted "August" for "July"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Chapter 233 in two places in (1) deleted references to July 1, 1992, and subsequent years and at beginning of second sentence deleted "Except as provided in subsection (3)" and near middle inserted "a percentage of up to 100%"; deleted former (3) establishing a salary base for fiscal 1991 and subsequent years; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

Name Change — Directions to Code Commissioner: Pursuant to sec. 36, Ch. 308, L. 1995, in this section the Code Commissioner changed "university of Montana" to "university of Montana-Missoula".

1993 Amendment: Chapter 10 in (1), near middle of second sentence, deleted "last" before "previous calendar year's"; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: Near beginning of (1) substituted "1992" for "1982", at end of first sentence, after "salary)", deleted "for cost-of-living increase by adding to the annual salary computed under 7-4-2503 an increment calculated by applying to the annual salary established by 7-4-2503(1) plus previous cost-of-living increments, 70% of", at beginning of second sentence inserted exception clause and language fixing salaries at no less than 80% of annual base salary plus a cost-of-living increment, and near beginning of fourth sentence substituted "1992" for "1983"; and in (3), after "increase", substituted language concerning salary for fiscal year beginning July 1, 1991, being the 1990-91 salary plus 100% of previous calendar year's consumer price index for "of at least 7% on July 1, 1981, his salary on that date shall be increased by an amount sufficient to provide him total salary equal to 7% more than during the previous year". Amendment effective April 22, 1991.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 257 inserted (2) authorizing restoration of cost-of-living increments and longevity increases for Deputy County Attorneys, undersheriffs, and Deputy Sheriffs. Amendment effective June 30, 1989.

Chapter 505 inserted (2) authorizing restoration of cost-of-living increments and longevity increases for County Sheriffs. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

1989 Composite: The language of the amendments made by Ch. 257 and Ch. 505 was identical except for the officials dealt with. The Code Commissioner has combined the amendments in order to keep internal references correct.

1986 Amendment: In (1) inserted second sentence allowing a uniform compensation freeze and following "previous years" inserted remainder of subsection relating to cost-of-living increments after a compensation freeze; and in (3) following "coroner" inserted remainder of first sentence relating to a compensation freeze.

1981 Amendments: Chapter 518 rewrote entire section (see sec. 3, Ch. 518, L. 1981, for text) to provide for cost-of-living increments. For former text see sec. 10, Ch. 443, L. 1979, and sec. 2, Ch. 459, L. 1979. For language of composite section, see 7-4-2504, MCA 1979.

Chapter 575 deleted "(if he receives a salary)" after "county coroner" in two places. Chapter 518 also deleted this language.

Attorney General's Opinions

Seven Percent Increase as Cost of Living Increment — Addition to 1982 Base Salary: The 7% increase in subsection (3) (prior to the 1991 amendment; see also 1995 amendment) of this section must be considered a cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) used to determine salaries for elected county officials in fiscal year 1982 and must be added to the base salary on July 1, 1982, before computing the COLA for fiscal year 1982-83. 43 A.G. Op. 58 (1990).

County Reclassification — Section Application Limited to Initial Salary Computation: The language of this section confines its application to the initial computation of salaries in accordance with the 1981 amendments; therefore, subsection (2) of this section is not applicable to salary adjustments due to reclassification of counties. A county official's base salary established under this section on July 1, 1981, lasts only until county reclassification necessitates a salary adjustment in accordance with 7-4-2503. 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111, the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 amendment), with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. (See 2001 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984).

Computation of Cost-of-Living Increase: The cost-of-living increase authorized for county officials by this section applies only to the annual base salary plus population increment established by 7-4-2503(1) and not to the additional sums included in the salaries of the Superintendent of Schools, Sheriff, and Commissioners under 7-4-2503(2) and 7-4-2107. (See 2001 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 65 (1982).

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1 (see 1995 amendment). The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

7-4-2505. Amount of compensation for deputies and assistants.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 deleted former (1)(d) that listed the assessor; deleted (2)(c) that provided for deputy assessors' salaries; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 1994.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

1985 Amendment: In (2)(a), in first sentence near middle, after "subsection (1)", inserted "other than a deputy county attorney", and inserted second sentence limiting total salary of a Deputy County Attorney.

1981 Amendment: In (1), substituted "Subject to" for "Except as provided in", and deleted "sheriff" from the list of officers; in (2)(a), substituted "The salary of a deputy or an assistant listed in subsection (1) may not be" for "Except as provided in subsection (2)(b), the salary of no deputy or assistant shall be"; and deleted former subsection (2)(b), which read:

"In fixing the compensation allowed the undersheriff, the board must fix the same at 95% of the salary of the officers under whom such undersheriff is serving. In fixing the compensation allowed the deputy sheriffs, the board must fix the same at 90% of the salary of the officer under whom such deputy sheriff is serving, except in counties of the first, second, or third class, in which the board must fix the same at not less than 75% or more than 90% of the salary of the officer under whom such deputy sheriff is serving."

Case Notes

Salary of Deputy Sheriff: Plaintiff was not entitled to the salary of a Deputy Sheriff when she did not perform duties required of a Deputy Sheriff. Bynum v. Howard, 34 St. Rep. 1285 (D.C. Mont. 1977) (apparently not reported in Federal Supplement).

Salary for Time Not Served — Illness: Where Deputy Sheriff did not serve for 3 months because of illness, the County Commissioners could not be forced to pay him his salary for those 3 months. State ex rel. Rusch v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 121 M 162, 191 P2d 670 (1948).

Fixing Compensation:

Board of County Commissioners may exercise its statutory power to fix the compensation of deputies and assistants in the county offices by providing for such compensation in the annual budget. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Designation of compensation in the budget is not the only way in which the Board of County Commissioners can exercise its power to fix salaries, but the Board can fix such salaries by minute entry, motion, or in any of the ways employed before passage of the Budget Act (Ch. 148, L. 1929, codified in Title 7, ch. 6, part 23, now repealed). State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Where Board of County Commissioners appropriated funds for office at rate of $170 a month but in their journal stated that the salary for the office was fixed by the Board at $150 a month, the salary for the office was $150 a month. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Extra Deputies — Temporary Service: While the Board of County Commissioners had no power to decrease the compensation of regular deputies of county officers fixed by section 25-603, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), it has discretion, under this section, to fix the compensation of extra deputies appointed for temporary service at any rate it may deem expedient, provided it does not exceed the rate paid the regular deputies. Modesitt v. Flathead County, 57 M 216, 187 P 911 (1920). See also Farrell v. Yellowstone County, 68 M 313, 218 P 559 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Office Manager/Secretary Defined as Assistant — Determination of Salary: An office manager/secretary hired as a county employee to assist a County Attorney is considered an assistant whose compensation may be set by the Board of County Commissioners under this section. However, the statute is limited to persons who serve as county employees and does not apply to independent contractors or consultants. Assistants must be paid a salary to be determined by the Commissioners at no more than 90% of the principal officer's salary, unless a specific provision allows greater compensation. 46 A.G. Op. 6 (1995).

Authorization by County Commission of Increase in Salary of County Officer: Even if the county budget allows for an increase in the salary of a county officer, only the Board of County Commissioners may authorize an increase through the budgetary process. Therefore, a Clerk of Court is not authorized to promote a deputy clerk to a chief deputy position at a higher pay scale without authorization in the county budget and approval of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

No Salary Limitation as to Assistants to County Commissioners: The salaries of administrative assistants employed by a Board of County Commissioners are not limited by 7-4-2505, since County Commissioners are not included in the definitive list of county officers to which that section applies. Salaries of the administrative assistants may be set pursuant to 7-5-2107, which contains no limitation as to amount. 38 A.G. Op. 43 (1979).

Deputies as Ambulance Drivers — Stipends: Deputy Sheriffs receiving maximum statutory salary may receive a stipend for operating the county ambulance in addition to their regular salary. 37 A.G. Op. 13 (1977).

7-4-2507. Deputy sheriff and undersheriff provisions — construction.

Case Notes

Deputy Sheriffs' Overtime and On-Call Time Before and After "Garcia Decision": Section 39-3-405 relates to overtime compensation generally, while 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2509 specifically address the salary and overtime compensation of Deputy Sheriffs. Therefore, under the rule that the specific statute governs over the general, 39-3-405 does not apply to Deputy Sheriffs. Furthermore, 7-4-2507 provides that 7-4-2508 through 7-4-2510 govern if they conflict with any other law. Under 7-4-2509, payment of overtime for time worked beyond the regularly scheduled work period is not mandatory and lies in the discretion of the Board of County Commissioners. Since 39-3-405 does not apply to the deputies, the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and Garcia v. San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority, 469 US 528, 83 L Ed 2d 1016, 105 S Ct 1005 (1985), set the threshold (171 hours per 28-day work period) above which the deputies must be paid overtime, retroactive to April 15, 1985, the date Garcia was decided; it could not be argued that the FLSA intended that the lower of the FLSA and the 39-3-405 (160 hours) threshold for a 28-day period should be used to determine when overtime begins. The deputies' claim for compensation for on-call time was another claim for overtime, and payment for on-call time prior to Garcia was in the discretion of the County Commissioners. On-call time since Garcia did not constitute work under a United States Supreme Court test that for FLSA purposes work is physical or mental exertion controlled or required by the employer and pursued necessarily and primarily for the benefit of the employer. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Salary for Time Not Served — Illness: Where deputy did not serve 3 months because of illness, he could not, by mandamus, force payment of his salary for those 3 months. State ex rel. Rusch v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 121 M 162, 191 P2d 670 (1948).

7-4-2508. Compensation of undersheriff and deputy sheriff.

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of Public Safety Commission to Set Salary of Deputy Sheriff: In a department of public safety created pursuant to Title 7, ch. 32, part 1, the public safety commission may set the salary of a department Deputy Sheriff under 7-32-104 at any level at or above the amount that would be paid to the deputy under this section. To the extent that 7-32-104 and this section conflict, the provisions of 7-32-104, which allow the public safety commission to set the salaries of department employees, are the more specific and therefore are controlling. 48 A.G. Op. 20 (2000).

Calculation of Base Salary of Deputy Sheriff and Undersheriff — Longevity to Include Each Year of Service: The minimum base annual salary of a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff for purposes of determining longevity payments under 7-4-2510 is based on the Sheriff's base salary as set forth in this section. Each year of service with the Sheriff's Department is included when calculating longevity payments for a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

7-4-2509. Sheriff's department — work period in lieu of workweek — overtime compensation.

Case Notes

Deputy Sheriffs' Overtime and On-Call Time Before and After "Garcia Decision": Section 39-3-405 relates to overtime compensation generally, while 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2509 specifically address the salary and overtime compensation of Deputy Sheriffs. Therefore, under the rule that the specific statute governs over the general, 39-3-405 does not apply to Deputy Sheriffs. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Deputy Sheriffs' Retroactive Overtime — Conflict of Laws: Since deputies' award of retroactive overtime compensation was grounded in federal rather than state law, the state laws relating to penalties, interest, attorney fees, and costs did not apply. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of State Law Other Than Montana Minimum Wage and Maximum Hours Law to Workers Covered by Fair Labor Standards Act: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 requires provisions of state law other than the Montana minimum wage and maximum hours law (Title 39, ch. 3, part 4), which set shorter workweeks for specified groups of employees, to be given effect. 41 A.G. Op. 58 (1986).

Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs — Compensatory Time: Since no statutory right to compensation for overtime for Deputy Sheriffs and undersheriffs existed prior to enactment of 7-4-2509 in 1981, they are not entitled to a cash payment in lieu of compensatory time off for overtime hours worked before July 1, 1981. The enactment of 7-4-2509 was not expressly retroactive. 40 A.G. Op. 55 (1984).

7-4-2510. Sheriff's department — longevity payments.

Compiler's Comments

1986 Amendment: Following "service with the department" inserted remainder of first sentence relating to longevity payments and a compensation freeze.

Case Notes

"Year of Service" Defined: As used in this section, "year of service" means calendar year, not 2,080 hours of work. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Calculation of Base Salary of Deputy Sheriff and Undersheriff — Longevity to Include Each Year of Service: The minimum base annual salary of a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff for purposes of determining longevity payments under this section is based on the Sheriff's base salary as set forth in 7-4-2508. Each year of service with the Sheriff's Department is included when calculating longevity payments for a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

Mandatory Method of Calculating Longevity — Collective Bargaining Not Applicable: A Board of County Commissioners sought to implement a collective bargaining agreement provision that authorized longevity increases to Deputy Sheriffs, predicated on years of service, including any years during which the Deputy's base salary was set at the same level as the previous year. However, this section constitutes a mandatory condition of employment that a Board of County Commissioners may not deviate from or alter through collective bargaining. Therefore, the collective bargaining agreement provision was held unenforceable to the extent it permitted inclusion of service years for the purpose of calculating longevity pay increases expressly excluded under this section. 43 A.G. Op. 34 (1989). See also 42 A.G. Op. 37 (1987).

Effect of Pay Freeze on Deputy Sheriff's Longevity Pay: If the County Commissioners set the salary of a Deputy Sheriff at the same level as for the previous fiscal year, that year may not be used when calculating longevity pay and the Deputy's longevity pay is, in effect, frozen. If the pay freeze is lifted and the salary increased, the Deputy's longevity pay does not include additional longevity pay for the period when the salary was set at the same level as the prior fiscal year. Pursuant to this section, loss of an increase in longevity pay due to a pay freeze is permanent. 42 A.G. Op. 76 (1988).

Part-Time Deputies — "Year of Service" Defined: Under this section, "year of service" means each 2,080 hours of employment when used to compute longevity payments for deputy sheriffs or undersheriffs who have worked for the department on a part-time basis. 39 A.G. Op. 78 (1982), overruled in 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), in which, pursuant to Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), the term "year of service" was construed to mean a calendar year.

7-4-2511. Collection and disposal of fees.

Compiler's Comments

1987 Amendment: In (1), after "treasury", substituted "by the 10th day" for "on the first Monday".

Case Notes

Passport Execution Not "Official Service": Execution of a passport by a Clerk of District Court is not an "official service" within the meaning of subsection (2) of this section. Platz v. Hamilton, 201 M 184, 653 P2d 144, 39 St. Rep. 2041 (1982).

Retention of Passport Execution Fees by Clerk of District Court: Because the execution of passport applications is not an official duty imposed upon a Clerk of District Court by state statute and since the Legislature has not enacted a specific statute with regard to the disposition of execution fees, the Clerk has no duty to remit the fees to the county general fund. Platz v. Hamilton, 201 M 184, 653 P2d 144, 39 St. Rep. 2041 (1982).

"Fees" Defined: The term "fees", as used in this section, imports specific charges to be collected from private individuals for particular services. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Clerk of District Court — Probate Fees: The fees of the Clerk in probate proceedings, exacted under section 25-233, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), must be paid by him to the County Treasurer, and they become a part of the public money of the county. Hauser v. Miller, 37 M 22, 94 P 197 (1908).

Attorney General's Opinions

Sheriff Authorized to Accept Compensation From Federal Agency for Performance of Services Outside Official Duties: A Sheriff may receive compensation from a federal agency under the terms of a cooperative law enforcement agreement without violating any Montana statutory or constitutional provision, so long as the services rendered by the Sheriff fall outside the scope of the Sheriff's official duties. 49 A.G. Op. 12 (2001).

Court Reporter Filing Fee — Clerk of District Court to Collect Fee in Appeal From Justice's Court or City Court — Appeal Is "Civil Action" Under Statutes: The Attorney General was asked whether a Clerk of District Court must collect the $20 filing fee, required by 25-1-202 and used to help pay the salary of the court reporter, in appeals filed in District Court from judgments of a Justice's or City Court. The Attorney General concluded that: (1) a private legal action in a Justice's or City Court is a civil action; (2) an appeal from a Justice's or City Court may include appeal of a civil action; (3) an appeal from either of those courts results in most cases in a new trial in District Court and that the need for a court reporter in that instance is obvious; and (4) the payment of the additional $20 filing fee required by 25-1-202 is mandatory. 48 A.G. Op. 1 (1999).

District Court Clerk Not Authorized to Charge Nonparty State Agency for Copies and Certification of Public Records: Access to and fees for copying public court records are not absolute and are controlled by state law. Fees allowed by law are enumerated in 25-1-201, and the collection of those fees is mandatory. Fees for preparing copies and for certification of documents are also specified in that section. Section 25-10-405 clarifies that fees are collectible from state agencies that are a party to an action but has no effect in cases in which the agency is not a litigant. In those cases, the rule in 7-4-2516 applies, exempting agencies of state and county government from paying official fees. Therefore, a Clerk of District Court may not charge a nonparty state agency for copies and certification of public District Court records. 47 A.G. Op. 3 (1997).

County Attorney Serving as City Attorney — Acceptance of Fee From Private Company Prohibited: A full-time County Attorney serving as city attorney pursuant to an interlocal agreement may not personally receive a fee from a private company for work performed on a city-county bond issue. Attorney fees so paid should be remitted to the county general fund. 45 A.G. Op. 14 (1993).

Disposition of Money Received by County Officers for Preparation of Abstracts: Preparation of abstracts by a Clerk of District Court, a County Clerk, or their respective deputies is an official service of the office. Therefore, compensation paid to them by title companies, credit bureaus, banks, realtors, and others for preparation on a regular basis of abstracts of instruments recorded in their respective offices may not be retained for their personal use, but rather must be paid to the county general fund, District Court fund, or state, as provided by law. 43 A.G. Op. 75 (1990).

Passport Fees — Retention by Clerk of Court: County Clerks of Court may personally retain the fees collected for issuance of passports. 34 A.G. Op. 41 (1972).

Motor Vehicle Ownership Transfer — Late Penalty: Penalties assessed for failure to register a motor vehicle pursuant to 61-3-201 must be credited to the county general fund by the County Treasurer. 34 A.G. Op. 38 (1972).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 51 in (2) near beginning of affidavit form after "month of ....." substituted "20..." for "19...", and near end after "day of ....." substituted "20..." for "19..."; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 2000.

1987 Amendment: In (1), after "treasurer", substituted "by the 10th day" for "on the first Monday".

2001 Amendment: Chapter 278 at end after "required in this part" deleted "and filed the report prescribed in 7-6-2213"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

7-4-2515. Fees to be paid in advance.

Case Notes

Clerk's Refusal to File Until Fee Paid: It was proper for the Clerk of the District Court to hold proffered answer in suspense and not file it until the officially required filing fee had been paid. Johnson v. Murray, 201 M 495, 656 P2d 170, 39 St. Rep. 2257 (1982).

Payment of Fees to County Clerk: Under subsection (2), the County Clerk may but is not required to demand prepayment of filing or other fees. Subsection (1), having to do with the payment of fees in advance, is inapplicable. Minneapolis Steel & Mach. Co. v. Thomas, 54 M 132, 168 P 40 (1917).

Insufficient Demand: A statement of the amount of the fee for filing made upon a request for the fee amount is not a demand for prepayment as contemplated by subsection (2). Minneapolis Steel & Mach. Co. v. Thomas, 54 M 132, 168 P 40 (1917).

"Fees" Defined: The term "fees", as used in this section, imports specific charges to be collected from private individuals for particular services. St. v. Story, 53 M 575, 165 P 748 (1917).

What Constitutes Filing: Where a paper entitled to be filed is deposited with the proper custodian, and if prepayment of the filing fee is required, the fee tendered, it is filed, the marking thereof as "filed" not constituting the filing. In re Dewar's Estate, 10 M 426, 25 P 1026 (1891).

Recovery of Illegal Fees: A civil suit to recover illegal fees that had been demanded and received under color of office can be brought against an officer who has not been convicted in a criminal action. Ming v. Truett, 1 M 322 (1871), overruled on another point in Ming v. Foote, 9 M 201, 23 P 515 (1890).

7-4-2516. Fees not required in certain cases.

Case Notes

Irrigation Districts: An irrigation district created under Title 85, ch. 7, must be considered a subdivision of the state under this section relieving it from payment of fees for recordation in the County Clerk's office. Crow Creek Irrigation District v. Crittenden, 71 M 66, 227 P 63 (1924), explained in Buffalo Rapids Irrigation District v. Colleran, 85 M 466, 279 P 369 (1929).

Attorney General's Opinions

District Court Clerk Not Authorized to Charge Nonparty State Agency for Copies and Certification of Public Records: Access to and fees for copying public court records are not absolute and are controlled by state law. Fees allowed by law are enumerated in 25-1-201, and the collection of those fees is mandatory. Fees for preparing copies and for certification of documents are also specified in that section. Section 25-10-405 clarifies that fees are collectible from state agencies that are a party to an action but has no effect in cases in which the agency is not a litigant. In those cases, the rule in this section applies, exempting agencies of state and county government from paying official fees. Therefore, a Clerk of District Court may not charge a nonparty state agency for copies and certification of public District Court records. 47 A.G. Op. 3 (1997).

Liability for County Recording and Copying Fees: The Department of Natural Resources and Conservation must pay the fees set forth in 7-4-2631 for recording of water use permits, despite the language in 7-4-2516, but the County Clerk and Recorder may not collect a fee from the Department for the copying of documents on file with the county. 38 A.G. Op. 36 (1979), overruling 37 A.G. Op. 146 (1978).

7-4-2519. Prohibition upon receiving other fees.

Case Notes

Reward Not a Fee: The State sought treble damages from a County Sheriff for receiving prohibited fees. Summary judgment was granted the Sheriff and upheld on appeal. The Supreme Court held the reward money received by the Sheriff from the state prison was not a fee under 7-4-2519. Further, it was noted that 7-32-2301 deals with the entitlement of Sheriffs to rewards. It does not address rewards from the state prison but does indicate rewards are not equivalent to fees. Finally, the plain language indicates rewards are not covered by the prohibitions of 7-4-2519. "Fees" in that section refers to charges authorized by law to be made by the Sheriff for the performance of specific services enumerated in 7-32-2141 and 7-32-2142. It does not refer to or include reward money. Because 7-4-2519 was the only statute the Sheriff was charged with violating, he was entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law. St. v. DeMers, 192 M 367, 628 P2d 676, 38 St. Rep. 877 (1981), distinguishing State ex rel. Holt v. District Court, 103 M 438, 63 P2d 1026 (1936), and State ex rel. Matson v. O'Hern, 104 M 126, 65 P2d 619 (1937).

Recovery of Illegal Fees: A civil suit to recover illegal fees that had been demanded and received under color of office can be brought against an officer who has not been convicted in a criminal action. Ming v. Truett, 1 M 322 (1871); overruled on other grounds, Ming v. Foote, 9 M 201, 23 P 515 (1890).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 216 in (4) substituted "during the office hours determined by the governing body by resolution after a public hearing" for "during regular office hours"; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: At beginning of (3) and (4) substituted "An election administrator" for "A county clerk and recorder".

1981 Amendment: Substituted "under the provisions of Title 13, chapters 35, 36, and 37, in" for "with" in (4).

The Code Commissioner has changed the name in this section accordingly. See 1-11-101(2)(g).

Case Notes

Right to Question Legality of Claims against County: The duty of the County Clerk to issue warrants for claims passed upon by the Board of County Commissioners is ministerial only, and he is not clothed with supervisory power to either question or determine the legality of the claims, except where they are void upon their face as without the jurisdiction of the Board to pass upon. State ex rel. Lockwood v. Tyler, 64 M 124, 208 P 1081 (1922).

May Not Question Constitutionality of Statute: A ministerial officer, such as a County Clerk, to whom no injury can result and to whom no violation of duty can be imputed by reason of his compliance with a statute cannot refuse to perform a duty imposed by it on the ground of its unconstitutionality, since such an officer is not liable for his official acts when acting under process, warrants, or other instruments fair upon their face and issued from a superior tribunal or board. State ex rel. Lockwood v. Tyler, 64 M 124, 208 P 1081 (1922).

County Power to Grant Franchises — Interlocal Agreements Not Precluded: Article XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const.; 7-3-144; 7-4-2611; and 7-5-2129, as well as applicable case law, imply that a county vested with general government powers may exercise the power to grant franchises. Under 7-11-104, a city-county interlocal franchise agreement is possible. 42 A.G. Op. 87 (1988).

Record of Board Proceedings: The responsibility of the County Clerk and Recorder, as it relates to proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners, is to record the minutes of the proceedings into the minute book maintained pursuant to 7-5-2129, and to make the book available for public examination upon request. The Board is responsible for the preparation, content, and publication of the minutes. The County Clerk and Recorder is not required to attend the meetings of the Board and take the original notes, unless the Board so requests. 41 A.G. Op. 19 (1985).

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 37 in (1)(c) at beginning substituted "an acknowledged statement indicating that the holder of a nonprobate interest in real property is deceased" for "except as provided in 72-16-503, a document on a form provided by the department of revenue certifying that the holder of a nonprobate interest in real property is deceased and that the deceased's interest is terminated", at end of second sentence deleted "or any other interest not requiring probate", deleted former third sentence that read: "The document may be on the form used by the department of revenue for responding to the application for determination of estate tax", and at beginning of last sentence substituted "The acknowledged statement" for "It"; deleted former (3)(b) that read: "(b) a certification by the county treasurer that the estate tax, if any tax was due, has been paid or that estate tax was not due"; in (1)(c)(ii) before "description" inserted "legal"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 13, 2001.

Chapter 412 in (1)(a)(i) near middle after "mortgages" inserted "reconveyances by trustees of deeds of trust, assignments of mortgages and deeds of trust"; inserted (2) concerning instrument qualifying for recording incorporating language by reference from another properly recorded instrument; and made minor changes in style. 1993 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 366 at beginning of (1)(a) inserted "subject to subsection (1)(b)"; inserted (1)(b) requiring County Clerk to record instrument or deed evidencing a division or merger of real property only if accompanied by certification from County Treasurer that taxes and special assessments have been paid; and made minor changes in style.

Chapter 420 near beginning of introductory clause, after "record", deleted "photograph, or correctly copy, separately, in large and well-bound or to be bound separate books, either in a fair hand or" and near end, after "photographic", inserted "micrographic, or electronic"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 20, 1993.

Style changes in introductory clause, (3)(a), and (3)(b) were slightly different in the two chapters. In each case, the codifier chose the more appropriate of the two.

1981 Amendment: Inserted (3) relating to certification to Department of Revenue on termination of deceased person's interest in nonprobate property.

Case Notes

Recording Not Condition Precedent to Judgment Becoming a Lien: This section and 70-21-306 define the effect of recording a final judgment as far as imparting constructive notice is concerned, but they are not controlling as to when the judgment becomes a lien. Section 25-9-301 determines when the lien becomes effective—that the lien attaches when the judgment is docketed; recordation of the judgment is not made a condition precedent to its becoming a lien. Gaines v. Van Demark, 106 M 1, 74 P2d 454 (1937).

Option to Purchase Land: Since an option to purchase land is not itself a contract to purchase the land, the book kept for the recording of contracts for the purchase or sale of real property is not the proper book for recordation. The miscellaneous record book for the entry of such other items required or permitted by law to be recorded is the proper book for such contracts. Guerin v. Sunburst Oil & Gas Co., 68 M 365, 218 P 949 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures Allowed: Generally, a County Clerk and Recorder must record reconveyances of trust indentures, which operate the same as a release or satisfaction of a mortgage. In order to effectuate release of a mortgage, the mortgagee or its agent must acknowledge and certify that a release has taken place by presenting a certificate to the County Clerk and Recorder. There is no requirement that each certificate be on a separate piece of paper. As long as each reconveyance meets the statutory requirements for release of a mortgage, the County Clerk and Recorder is obligated to accept for filing a multiple page or "blanket" document listing more than one reconveyance on each page. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

Survey Requirements for Remainder Created When Highway Right-of-Way Obtained by State: A County Clerk and Recorder may not require a survey or plat for the recordation of an instrument transferring title to a remainder that was created when the state obtained property for a highway right-of-way. 44 A.G. Op. 25 (1992).

Recordation of Trust Indenture — Amount and Maturity Date Not Required: A County Clerk and Recorder may not refuse to accept for filing a trust indenture that does not include an amount secured and a maturity date because there are no specific requirements that such matters be set forth in the instrument. 41 A.G. Op. 11 (1985).

No Duty to Accept Invalid Continuation of Financing Statement: The County Clerk and Recorder is not required to accept for filing a continuation statement made under 30-9-403 (now repealed) but filed outside the 6-month period required by that section. 40 A.G. Op. 60 (1984).

Recording Prerequisites: Transfers of land that do not involve "divisions of land" or "subdivisions", as defined by the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), do not require the certificate of survey or a plat before being recorded by the Clerk and Recorder. (See 1993 amendment.) 37 A.G. Op. 88 (1977). See also 44 A.G. Op. 25 (1992).

County Clerk and Recorder — No Refusal to Record a Valid Deed: Since the Clerk and Recorder of a county is not a law enforcement officer and enforcement of a criminal statute is not within his prescribed duties, he may not refuse to record a deed that has not met the prerequisite, set forth in the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), that an approved, certified plat be filed before the land is transferred. 35 A.G. Op. 25 (1973).

Case Notes

No Duty of Clerk and Recorder to Record Invalid Deed — Writ of Mandamus Improper: Under this section, a County Clerk and Recorder is obligated to record only an instrument, paper, or notice that is authorized by law to be recorded. Under 76-3-302, a County Clerk and Recorder has a mandatory duty not to accept and record an otherwise proper deed if it fails to comply with the applicable survey requirements. The District Court did not err in refusing to issue a writ of mandamus requiring recording of deeds when a landowner attempted to divide a large parcel of land into smaller parcels by executing a deed in which the landowner was both grantor and grantee, which is not authorized by law, and when the statutorily required plat was not filed. Rocky Mtn. Timberlands, Inc. v. Lund, 265 M 463, 877 P2d 1018, 51 St. Rep. 653 (1994).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Duty in County Clerk and Recorder to Accept Common-Law Liens for Filing: Although a County Clerk and Recorder has a statutory duty to accept for filing any instrument, paper, or notice authorized by law to be recorded, there is no apparent authority in Montana law for allowing the filing of a common-law lien. It is unclear whether Montana even recognizes common-law liens. Because a common-law lien is not authorized by law to be received, County Clerk and Recorders may refuse to accept for filing written instruments purporting to be liens when the writing does not qualify as a statutory lien or lien created by contract. 38 A.G. Op. 114 (1980).

County Clerk and Recorder — No Refusal to Record a Valid Deed: Since the Clerk and Recorder of a county is not a law enforcement officer and enforcement of a criminal statute is not within his prescribed duties, he may not refuse to record a deed that has not met the prerequisite, set forth in the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), that an approved, certified plat be filed before the land is transferred. 35 A.G. Appropriate Fee for Recording Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures: A flat fee of $6 is chargeable by the County Clerk and Recorder for each page of a blanket document listing multiple reconveyances of trust indentures. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

Disposition of Money Received by County Officers for Preparation of Abstracts: Preparation of abstracts by a Clerk of District Court, a County Clerk, or their respective deputies is an official service of the office. Therefore, compensation paid to them by title companies, credit bureaus, banks, realtors, and others for preparation on a regular basis of abstracts of instruments recorded in their respective offices may not be retained for their personal use, but rather must be paid to the county general fund, District Court fund, or state, as provided by law. 43 A.G. Op. 75 (1990).

Fee for Recording Documents for Mining Claims: Both 7-4-2631 and 7-4-2632 appear to apply to recording mining documents by mechanical means. Section 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an amendatory addition to the present 7-4-2631. Both were originally parts of section 25-231, R.C.M. 1947, and were separated by the recodification of the R.C.M. into the MCA. The legislative intent indicates that the fee prescribed in 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an alternative fee rather than an additional fee. When recording documents for mining claims by mechanical means, the Clerk and Recorder is to charge only the fee prescribed by 7-4-2632. 40 A.G. Op. 58 (1984).

Computation of Charges — Entries in Several Indexes: The charge to be computed for multiple entries in several indexes under 7-4-2631(1)(k) is 50 cents an index in excess of the first index contained in the document regardless of the number of entries made in the index. 39 A.G. Op. 64 (1982).

Liability for County Recording and Copying Fees: The Department of Natural Resources and Conservation must pay the fees set forth in 7-4-2631 for recording of water use permits, despite the language in 7-4-2516, but the County Clerk and Recorder may not collect a fee from the Department for the copying of documents on file with the county. 38 A.G. Op. 36 (1979), overruling 37 A.G. Op. 146 (1978).

County Clerk — Joint Tenancy Terminations: County Clerk and Recorders are not required to issue "transfers of title" to survivors of a joint tenancy interest. Rather, upon filing of the application and certificates (form INH-3), the Clerk should index the transfer in the grantor and grantee index, noting the time and place of filing. 37 A.G. Op. 134 (1978).

Appropriate Fee for Recording Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures: A flat fee of $6 is chargeable by the County Clerk and Recorder for each page of a blanket document listing multiple reconveyances of trust indentures. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

Fee for Recording Documents for Mining Claims: Both 7-4-2631 and 7-4-2632 appear to apply to recording mining documents by mechanical means. Section 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an amendatory addition to the present 7-4-2631. Both were originally parts of section 25-231, R.C.M. 1947, and were separated by the recodification of the R.C.M. into the MCA. The legislative intent indicates that the fee prescribed in 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an alternative fee rather than an additional fee. When recording documents for mining claims by mechanical means, the Clerk and Recorder is to charge only the fee prescribed by 7-4-2632. 40 A.G. Op. 58 (1984).

County Clerk — Joint Tenancy Terminations: County Clerk and Recorders are not required to issue "transfers of title" to survivors of a joint tenancy interest. Rather, upon filing of the application and certificates (form INH-3), the Clerk should index the transfer in the grantor and grantee index, noting the time and place of filing. 37 A.G. Op. 134 (1978).

7-4-2634. Fees to be noted on recorded documents.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendment: Chapter 179 substituted "to document the charges entered" for "in order that the department of commerce may verify the charges and may see that they have been properly entered"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1983 Amendment: Substituted reference to department of commerce for reference to department of administration.

1981 Amendment: Substituted "department of administration" for "department of community affairs".

Transfer of Function: The function of the Department of Commerce in this section was transferred from the Department of Administration by sec. 1, Ch. 287, L. 1983. Those functions were transferred to the Department of Administration from the Department of Community Affairs by sec. 7, Ch. 274, L. 1981.

Office of County Attorney

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Restrictions on Authority of County Attorney Regarding Involuntary Commitment of Alcoholic: A County Attorney does not have authority to file a petition for the involuntary commitment of an alcoholic pursuant to 53-24-302, nor may a County Attorney represent a spouse, guardian, relative, certifying physician, or the chief of an approved public treatment facility in a proceeding for the involuntary commitment of an alcoholic. 43 A.G. Op. 40 (1989).

7-4-2701. Qualifications for county attorney in certain counties.

Compiler's Comments

Case Notes

Student Attorney Considered to Be Practicing Law: Following the resignation of the acting County Attorney, Jefferson County Commissioners interviewed applicants and subsequently selected Valerie Wilson to fill the position effective August 18, 1995. To be qualified for the position, state law requires an attorney to be admitted to practice for at least 5 years prior to appointment or election. The District Court concluded that although Wilson had begun practicing law as a student attorney in 1990, she was not admitted to the Montana Bar until October 1991 and thus would not achieve the required 5 years until October 1996. On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed, ruling that state law does not require that one must be admitted to the State Bar in order to be "deemed practicing law" in Montana. Certification of student attorneys by Supreme Court order along with certification by the dean of the law school provide the guidelines for admission of a student attorney to the practice of law. Shapiro v. Jefferson County, 278 M 109, 923 P2d 543, 53 St. Rep. 848 (1996).

Attorney General's Opinions

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1. The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 125 (1988).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 125 (1988).

7-4-2702. Procedure to fill vacancy in office of county attorney.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 160 near beginning deleted prerequisite that there be no licensed attorney residing in county and at end inserted authorization for County Commissioners to appoint an attorney to fill vacancy; deleted former provisions regarding employment, duties, and compensation of acting County Attorney; deleted (2) containing requirement for County Commissioners to appoint a resident attorney to fill vacancy of County Attorney rather than special attorney (see 1997 Session Law for former text); and made minor changes in style.

Attorney General's Opinions

Appointment of County Attorney — Procedure — Eligibility: In a county with a population of less than 30,000, if no licensed attorney (see 1997 amendment) in the county wishes to be appointed County Attorney, the Board of County Commissioners should proceed to fill a vacancy under this section as if there were no licensed attorneys in the county. If one or more licensed attorneys are residents of the county and wish to be appointed but the County Commissioners do not want to appoint one of them, the County Commissioners may recruit and appoint an out-of-county attorney only if the attorney will be a county resident and meet other eligibility requirements by the time of appointment. 42 A.G. Op. 125 (1988).

7-4-2703. Limitation on number of deputies.

Case Notes

Appointment of Deputy County Attorneys: Although 7-4-2703 provides that a County Attorney of a first- or second-class county may appoint only one Chief Deputy and one Deputy County Attorney, 7-4-2401 provides for appointment of such additional Deputy County Attorneys as may be reasonably necessary to discharge the duties of the office. The prosecutors here were appointed properly and had the lawful authority to prosecute the matter. St. v. Poncelet, 187 M 528, 610 P2d 698, 37 St. Rep. 760 (1980).

7-4-2704. Limitations on activities of county attorneys and deputy county attorneys.

Compiler's Comments

1981 Amendment: Inserted "and except as provided in subsection (4)" at the end of (2) and (3); inserted (4) allowing up to 3 months in office to complete pending private matters.

Case Notes

Prosecutorial Discretion — Deputy's Prior Representation: The Lemmons were divorced after 20 years of marriage. Leroy was seeing Donna Myers, and Koralyn was seeing John Sweeting. Myers and Sweeting had just ended a personal and business relationship. Sweeting asked Koralyn to get a briefcase out of Leroy's truck. The briefcase actually belonged to Myers. Leroy and Myers returned to the truck and found the briefcase missing. They concluded Koralyn had taken it since the truck was not broken into. Leroy and Myers went to Koralyn's home. She heard them drive up and put a gun in the waistband of her pants. Leroy and Koralyn fought, and Leroy struck her in the head with the gun. Leroy and Myers put Koralyn on the floor of the truck and went to the Sheriff's department. The Sheriff was not immediately available, so Leroy and Myers left, with Koralyn still on the floor of the truck, to find Sweeting. A high speed chase ensued in which the cars rammed together and gunshots were exchanged. The chase ended when Leroy's transmission caught fire. The charges arising from the pursuit were dropped. Leroy was charged with aggravated assault and kidnapping. He was convicted of assault and unlawful restraint. Leroy contended the County Attorney abused his discretion in not acting on his complaints against Koralyn and for not disqualifying the office since a deputy had represented Koralyn in the divorce. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that the abuse of discretion issue had not been raised at trial and could not be raised on appeal. The court also stated that selectivity in enforcement is not a violation of the U. S. Constitution if the selection is not based on an unjustifiable or arbitrary classification. The court construed DR 5-105(D) to concern conflicts in representation, not prosecution. Also, the court stated that it was not established that the County Attorney would have been disqualified from the prosecution for representing Koralyn, let alone a deputy. St. v. Lemmon, 214 M 121, 692 P2d 455, 41 St. Rep. 2359 (1984). See also Helena Parents Comm'n v. Lewis & Clark County Comm'rs, 277 M 367, 922 P2d 1140, 53 St. Rep. 687 (1996).

Attorney Fees Award — Disposition: Attorney fees awarded on appeal of Fair Labor Standards Act claim must be paid into the Cascade County general fund and not given to the County Attorney as private attorney fees because the population of Cascade County is in excess of 30,000 people, prohibiting profits by the County Attorney from private practice of law. St. v. Holman Aviation Co., 176 M 31, 575 P2d 925 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Attorney Serving as City Attorney — Acceptance of Fee From Private Company Prohibited: A full-time County Attorney serving as city attorney pursuant to an interlocal agreement may not personally receive a fee from a private company for work performed on a city-county bond issue. Attorney fees so paid should be remitted to the county general fund. 45 A.G. Op. 14 (1993).

Rural Improvement Districts — Representation by Part-Time County Attorney in Private Practice Permitted: After a rural improvement district has been created pursuant to 7-12-2113, a part-time County Attorney may represent a rural improvement district in his private practice and receive payment for such legal representation. 40 A.G. Op. 27 (1983).

State Conservation Districts — Legal Representation: The Attorney General is responsible for civil legal representation upon request from supervisors of a state conservation district, but private counsel may be employed as Special Assistant Attorneys General. The compensation may be set by the supervisors and becomes a district obligation. County Attorneys' duty to represent districts extends only to giving their opinion in writing to the officers of the district on matters pertaining to their offices. 37 A.G. Op. 76 (1977).

Successor to Part-Time County Attorney: The appointed or elected successor to a part-time County Attorney may complete that term on a part-time basis. 36 A.G. Op. 115 (1976).

Case Notes

Presumption of Regular Appointment: On appeal from a conviction for assault which was prosecuted by a special prosecutor where the record does not show whether any appointment was made under this section, the court will indulge the presumption that the appointment was regularly made in the absence of a showing to the contrary. St. v. Cockrell, 131 M 254, 309 P2d 316 (1957).

7-4-2706. County attorney to be full or part time — resolution — salary.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 in (1) at end of second sentence substituted "the salary established pursuant to 7-4-2503" for "the salary provided by 7-4-2503 for the office of county attorney in a county with a population in excess of 30,000". Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1981 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to reducing the office from full- to part-time.

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County Commissioners to Employ Private Attorney: A County Attorney may not unreasonably withhold his consent to the employment of another attorney by the Board of County Commissioners to perform legal services in connection with the civil business of the county. The decision of a County Attorney to withhold his consent is subject to the supervisory authority of the Attorney General. 41 A.G. Op. 34 (1985). 1989 Amendment: Inserted (2)(d) requiring a County Attorney to act as weed district counsel upon request; and made minor changes in form.

Case Notes

No Opportunity for Parties to Address Issues — Award of Attorney Fees Premature: An award of attorney fees based on this section is premature unless and until an appropriate record is created and the parties have a full and fair opportunity to address the issues. Clark v. Dussault, 265 M 479, 878 P2d 239, 51 St. Rep. 642 (1994).

County Attorney — Conflict of Interests: The County Attorney should advise the school boards they should retain independent counsel to raise the privilege against self-incrimination as a defense to interrogatories propounded by the Human Rights Commission in the investigation of alleged violations of the antidiscrimination law since it is his duty to obtain the evidence and to prosecute if he determines there is a criminal violation. School District v. Human Rights Comm'n, 173 M 113, 566 P2d 799 (1977).

Legal Adviser of Justice of Peace: It is the duty of the County Attorney to advise the Justice of the Peace in preparation of a proper record for appeal to the District Court, and improper submission of such record may not bar defendant's right to appeal. Clark v. District Court, 142 M 56, 381 P2d 472 (1963); Reidelbach v. District Court, 142 M 52, 381 P2d 470 (1963).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Attorney Not Obligated to Serve Hospital District: A County Attorney has no obligation to act as legal counsel for a hospital district formed under 7-34-2101. 43 A.G. Op. 15 (1989).

Authority of County Commissioners to Employ Private Attorney: A County Attorney may not unreasonably withhold his consent to the employment of another attorney by the Board of County Commissioners to perform legal services in connection with the civil business of the county. The decision of a County Attorney to withhold his consent is subject to the supervisory authority of the Attorney General. 41 A.G. Op. 34 (1985). See 1989 amendment that does away with the requirement of obtaining the County Attorney's consent.

District Boards of Health — Formation and Insurance — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: A District Board of Health formed pursuant to 50-2-107 stands in place of the County Board of Health in those counties that formed the District Board of Health. Once a county joins a District Board of Health, there is no need for the county to maintain a County Board of Health. The District Board of Health has the responsibility of providing its own legal advisor because there is no specific statutory mandate that the County Attorney act as legal advisor to the District Board of Health. The counties creating a District Board of Health are responsible for providing liability insurance for their District Board of Health. 41 A.G. Op. 22 (1985).

Rural Improvement Districts — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: Except for legal work required by the Board of County Commissioners in connection with the creation of a rural improvement district, it is not the duty of a County Attorney to represent rural improvement districts formed under Title 7, ch. 12, part 21. 40 A.G. Op. 27 (1983).

Rural Improvement Districts — Representation by Part-Time County Attorney in Private Practice Permitted: After a rural improvement district has been created pursuant to 7-12-2113, a part-time County Attorney may represent a rural improvement district in his private practice and receive payment for such legal representation. 40 A.G. Op. 27 (1983).

County Attorney to Provide Legal Services — Conservation District: Sections 7-4-2711 and 76-15-319 require the County Attorney to provide upon request such legal services as the conservation district may require. 38 A.G. Op. 73 (1980).

Defense of County Officers: The County Attorney is not responsible for defending lawsuits brought against a county official in his individual capacity. 37 A.G. Op. 171 (1978).

State Conservation Districts — Legal Representation: The Attorney General is responsible for civil legal representation upon request from supervisors of a state conservation district, but private counsel may be employed as Special Assistant Attorneys General. The compensation may be set by the supervisors and becomes a district obligation. County Attorneys' duty to represent districts extends only to giving their opinion in writing to the officers of the district on matters pertaining to their offices. 37 A.G. Op. 76 (1977).

County Attorney — Fees in Addition to Salary: A County Attorney may not accept a fee from the County Commissioners, in addition to his salary as County Attorney, for prosecuting an appeal from a decision of the State Tax Appeal Board in which the county has intervened as party plaintiff. 37 A.G. Op. 63 (1977).

Joint Employment: A County Attorney, for purposes of administration, is jointly employed by both the county and the state. 36 A.G. Op. 32 (1975).

7-4-2712. Prosecutorial duties.

Case Notes

Failure of District Court to Grant Motions to Dismiss as Directed by Attorney General for Government Misconduct — Violation of Separation of Powers: The Attorney General directed the Lincoln County Attorney to file motions to dismiss charges against certain criminal defendants for the reason that outrageous government misconduct had occurred in the course of the prosecution. The Lincoln County Attorney filed the motions, but they were denied by the District Court. In a proceeding for supervisory control, the Supreme Court held that the Attorney General was within his authority to direct the County Attorney to move to dismiss the charges and held that the Attorney General's conclusion that there had been outrageous government misconduct in the cases served as a basis under 46-13-401(1) for the District Court to dismiss the charges. The refusal of the District Court to dismiss the charges was an abuse of discretion and a violation of the doctrine of separation of powers. By refusing to grant the motions to dismiss, the District Court intruded upon the lawful functions of the County Attorney and the Attorney General, who belong to the Executive Branch of government. State ex rel. Fletcher v. District Court, 260 M 410, 859 P2d 992, 50 St. Rep. 992 (1993). See also St. v. Schneiderhan, 261 M 161, 862 P2d 37, 50 St. Rep. 1242 (1993).

Authority of Prosecutor to Charge Under Alternate Statutes: Defendants Richard and David Fertterer were convicted of felony criminal mischief for illegally killing game. They contended on appeal that they should have been charged under the misdemeanor provisions of Title 87 and not under the felony provisions of Title 45. Citing St. v. Brady, 249 M 290, 816 P2d 413 (1991), the Supreme Court held that the state has the authority to charge under any statute if the conduct of the defendants meets the elements of the crime. St. v. Fertterer, 255 M 73, 841 P2d 467, 49 St. Rep. 846 (1992).

County Attorney's Discretion to Bring Action — Prosecutorial Authority Not Exceeded: In a suit against a county for liability of the County Attorney while carrying out county policy, the Supreme Court found no evidence or specific allegation that the County Attorney exceeded his authority or was derelict in his duty under the law. A determination by the County Attorney to bring an action is discretionary and is his duty under the law. Ronek v. Gallatin County, 227 M 514, 740 P2d 1115, 44 St. Rep. 1275 (1987).

Delegation of Powers Restricted: County Attorney cannot delegate to unofficial counsel his right to advise the grand jury, assist them in their investigations, and examine witnesses, and an order of the District Judge appointing such special prosecutor when the County Attorney was present and able to act could not give such authority. State ex rel. Porter v. District Court, 124 M 249, 220 P2d 1035 (1950).

Duty to Prosecute: Except when the County Attorney is himself the accused, the duty devolves upon him to prosecute public offenses. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 157 P 1157 (1916).

Duty Upon Appeal to Supreme Court — Expenses: After a criminal case has been appealed to the Supreme Court, the duties of the County Attorney therein and his power to contract expenses for the county cease. Independent Publishing Co. v. Lewis & Clark County, 30 M 83, 75 P 860 (1904).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Attorney as Employee for Purposes of Lawsuit Regarding Administrative Actions: A County Attorney is not liable for civil damages for conduct within the scope of his prosecutorial duties; however, that immunity does not extend to the discretionary administrative business of running a County Attorney's office. Thus, a County Attorney is considered a county employee for purposes of the Montana Comprehensive State Insurance Plan and Tort Claims Act whenever the County Attorney is named in a civil lawsuit for actions regarding county administrative business, such as the hiring and firing of staff. 44 A.G. Op. 29 (1992).

County Responsible for Charges Incurred by City Police — Criminal Prosecutions: The county bears the financial responsibility for charges incurred at the request of the County Attorney, after an arrest by city police, for the preservation and preparation of evidence to be used in felony cases. 38 A.G. Op. 94 (1980).

Private Citizen Cannot Prosecute Complaint: Since the term "magistrate" includes Justices of the Peace in this section, the County Attorney is charged with the responsibility of prosecuting complaints in Justices' Courts and a Justice of the Peace cannot allow a private citizen to prosecute a complaint. However, a County Attorney is vested with normal discretion and need not file and prosecute every individual's complaint when there is insufficient evidence to warrant prosecution or when such a prosecution would not be in the interests of justice. 36 A.G. Op. 47 (1975).

Joint Employment: A County Attorney, for purposes of administration, is jointly employed by both the county and the state. 36 A.G. Op. 32 (1975).

Case Notes

Failure to Appeal County Commission Decision — Not a Bar Under Section: Failure of a taxpayer to appeal to the District Court from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing a claim against the county under the authority given him by 7-6-2424 does not limit the right of the County Attorney to sue in the name of the county to recover money illegally paid under this section. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

Failure to Bring Action: Where a County Attorney fails or refuses to bring an action to recover county funds illegally paid out, he may be compelled to act by mandamus or proceedings for his summary removal may be instituted. Gregg v. Bayers, 73 M 165, 235 P 337 (1925).

Taxpayer Not Real Party in Interest: Under this section an action to recover county funds unlawfully paid must be brought by the County Attorney in the name of the county, it being the real party in interest, and cannot therefore be maintained by a taxpayer. Gregg v. Bayers, 73 M 165, 235 P 337 (1925).

7-4-2716. Duties related to state matters.

Case Notes

Failure of State to Appeal — County Attorney Representation of State Position as Sufficient Opportunity for Hearing: Despite a District Court order in 1993, Sheppard was not admitted to phase II of the sexual offender program at the state prison. In 1995, Sheppard moved the District Court to order his enrollment in the program, serving the motion on the County Attorney who had prosecuted him for the underlying offense, but not on the state attorney for the Department of Corrections. The County Attorney appeared at the hearing on the motion and, pursuant to this section, advanced the state's position that Sheppard was not eligible for the treatment program because he failed to accept responsibility for the crime. The court affirmed its 1993 order and ordered that Sheppard be allowed into the program. The state did not timely appeal the decision and thus was bound by the 1993 order. The representation by the County Attorney of the state's position at the hearing, coupled with the state's opportunity to address the issue at prior hearings, was adequate consideration. St. v. Sheppard, 277 M 76, 919 P2d 1057, 53 St. Rep. 548 (1996).

County Responsibility for Medical Costs of Detained Person Unable to Pay — "Nature of the Crime" Approach: In determining whether a city or a county is responsible for medical costs incurred by a person ultimately charged with a violation of state law but who is unable to pay, the Supreme Court adopted the "nature of the crime" approach. This approach determines financial responsibility not on the basis of which agency first takes a person into custody, but rather on the basis of the crime charged. Because the county is vested with the primary responsibility for enforcing state law and maintaining facilities to accomplish that responsibility, performance of the task necessarily includes assumption of the associated financial burden. Mont. Deaconess Medical Center v. Great Falls, 232 M 474, 758 P2d 756, 45 St. Rep. 1207 (1988).

County Attorney's Discretion to Bring Action — Prosecutorial Authority Not Exceeded: In a suit against a county for liability of the County Attorney while carrying out county policy, the Supreme Court found no evidence or specific allegation that the County Attorney exceeded his authority or was derelict in his duty under the law. A determination by the County Attorney to bring an action is discretionary and is his duty under the law. Ronek v. Gallatin County, 227 M 514, 740 P2d 1115, 44 St. Rep. 1275 (1987).

Power of Attorney General to Institute Actions in District Court:

Although County Attorney may be ordered by Attorney General to initiate a felony prosecution in a District Court, the Attorney General has no power to initiate the action independent of the County Attorney. State ex rel. Woodahl v. District Court, 159 M 112, 495 P2d 182 (1972).

The statutes of this state do not authorize the institution of an action in the District Courts by the Attorney General on behalf of the state, but rather they specifically state that such an action must be brought by the County Attorney of the county; however, under the common-law powers and duties of the Attorney General, he can institute such an action where the public interest is affected and the state is a party in interest. State ex rel. Olsen v. P.S.C., 129 M 106, 283 P2d 594 (1955); State ex rel. Ford v. Young, 54 M 401, 170 P 947 (1918); State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 55 P 916 (1899).

Prosecution in Name of State: Criminal cases arising under the state laws must be prosecuted in the name of the state and by the County Attorney under this section and Art. VIII, sec. 27, 1889 Mont. Const. (No comparable provision in 1972 Mont. Const., however, the provision is codified at 46-11-401). State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912).

Supervision by Attorney General: The County Attorney, in his every duty, is under the supervisory powers of the Attorney General. There are no official acts to be discharged by him in the performance of which he may not, where public interests require it, be assisted by that official. State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 55 P 916 (1899).

Chapter 622 in (1), substituted "registered professional engineer or registered professional land surveyor" for "professional engineer, not less than 22 years of age" and in second sentence, after "engineering", inserted "or land surveying"; and in (2) after "engineering", inserted "or land surveying".

Case Notes

Test of Statute's Constitutionality: The constitutionality of a statute is tested by the constitution in effect when the law was enacted. The recodification of a statute does not act as a reenactment of the law but is merely a ministerial and administrative function. Therefore, appellant could not be denied his right to hold the office of County Surveyor as the statute was unconstitutional at its inception and was not reenacted under the 1972 Constitution. Gallatin County v. McClue, 222 M 201, 721 P2d 338, 43 St. Rep. 1174 (1986).

7-4-2811. Function of county surveyor.

Case Notes

Purchase of Deepfreeze: County Surveyor could not bind the county in ordering, receiving, charging, and purchasing a deepfreeze. Although the written order described the item as a countershaft and pully and the county paid the claim, the payment of the claim by the county did not ratify the actions of the County Surveyor or make the transaction a legal sale of the freezer to the county. St. v. Bourdeau, 126 M 266, 246 P2d 1037 (1952).

Compensation for Equipment: The complaint of a County Surveyor in an action against the county to recover the reasonable value of the use of a transit employed by him in the performance of his duties during his term of office, with the knowledge and acquiescence of the County Commissioners and for the benefit of the county, stated a cause of action as upon an implied contract, in view of the provisions of this section making it the duty of the county to furnish plaintiff with the necessary equipment for the proper discharge of his duties in making surveys, establishing grades, etc. Builders Supply Co. v. Helena, 116 M 368, 154 P2d 270 (1944); Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929).

Municipal Officers in General

7-4-4101. Officers of city of first class.

Case Notes

Appointment of Chief of Police and Police Officers: Insofar as the method of appointment of members of the police force, including the Chief of Police, is concerned, this section is repealed by the Metropolitan Police Act (Ch. 136, L. 1907, codified primarily in Title 7, ch. 41). The method of appointment and removal by the later law is wholly inconsistent with the notion that the Mayor and Council are authorized to exercise the power of appointment as provided in the older law. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Execution of Power Granted: The grant of power contained in this section, in the matter of prescribing the duties and fixing the compensation of city officers, is subject not only to the express and implied limitations found elsewhere in the title under which the section falls but contains in itself a limitation as to the mode in which the power granted may be executed. McGillic v. Corby, 37 M 249, 95 P 1063 (1908).

Attorney General's Opinions

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Under 7-3-212, a mayor may appoint an administrative assistant without the approval of the City Council. 41 A.G. Op. 45 (1986).

Reapportionment — Holdover Aldermen: There is no provision in the Montana Constitution or statutes that authorizes the shortening of an alderman's term of office. The fact that ward boundaries may change as a result of reapportionment and that some voters may be represented for 2 years by an alderman for whom they had no opportunity to vote has not justified a deviation from state law, the shortening of terms, in other jurisdictions. Where state law provides for the length of term of an elected official and for the staggering of terms to insure continuity and stability, those requirements are paramount to the temporary disenfranchisement that necessarily follows a reapportionment. Montana state law regarding 4-year staggered terms for aldermen and the absence of any applicable statute authorizing the removal of incumbents from office after reapportionment determine that an alderman elected to a 4-year term in 1982 need not run for reelection in 1983 as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Attorney General's Opinions

Appointment of City Judge by Third-Class City: Under this section, the governing body of a third-class city has the authority to determine by ordinance how a City Judge is selected. However, nothing in statute precludes the city from amending the ordinance in order to provide for the election of the judge. Therefore, when a city of the third class adopts a commission-manager form of government, the city is not bound by 7-3-4462, which requires election of a City Judge, but may continue to appoint its judge under an ordinance passed pursuant to this section. 45 A.G. City Judge:

The office of the Police Judge (now City Judge) is the creation of the statute and not of the constitution. State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 59 (1923).

Blindness does not disqualify one from holding the office of Police Judge (now City Judge). State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 594 (1923).

Legislature Prescribing No Qualifications: Where the Legislature in creating an elective office prescribes no limitations or qualifications, the right to hold it is an implied attribute of citizenship and is presumed to be coextensive with that of voting at an election held for the purpose of choosing an incumbent for that office, those only who are competent to select the officer being deemed competent to hold it. State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 594 (1923).

1997 Amendment: Chapter 459 in (7), near beginning, substituted "a city council member" for "an alderman" and inserted second sentence concerning residence of appointed officer; and made minor changes in style.

1981 Amendment: Substantially rewritten based upon 2-16-501; deleted former subsection (1) relating to qualifying for office; inserted introductory clause regarding when an office becomes vacant; inserted (1) through (4) and (8) through (11); and amended (5) through (7) to conform to inserted material (see 1981 Session Law for text).

Attorney General's Opinions
Vacancy Not Created by Holdover Town Attorney: The general rule of law is that an officer must hold over until a successor is appointed and qualified, unless holding over is prohibited by express statutory language or by clear implication. The policy underlying the common-law rule is the strong public interest in continuing the work of important governmental offices when a qualified officer is holding over pending appointment and approval of a successor. With regard to the office of town attorney, absent statutory prohibition, a vacancy in the office of town attorney is not created when the attorney holds over following expiration of the term of office. Therefore, a qualified town attorney lawfully holding over in the office continues to hold office until a successor is nominated by the mayor and approved by the town council. 47 A.G. Op. 16 (1998).

Loss of Office Caused by Change of Residency — Urban Renewal Agency Commissioner: Under 2-16-501, a member of a board of commissioners of an urban renewal agency loses his seat on the board if he ceases to be a resident of the municipality that created the board. (See 1997 amendment.) 41 A.G. Op. 1 (1985).

7-4-4112. Filling of vacancy.

Compiler's Comments
1987 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to all council position becoming vacant at one time.

1981 Amendment: In (1) substituted language relating to filling a vacancy of an elective office at the next general municipal election and appointing a successor within 30 days for "the council, by a majority vote of the members, may fill the same for the unexpired term and until the qualification of the successor"; and deleted "but if the council shall fail to fill such vacancy before the time for the next election, the qualified electors of such city or ward may nominate and elect a successor to such office" after "vacancy exists" in (2).

Case Notes

Filling Vacancy — Right to Vote: Having been rightfully chosen by the City Council to fill a vacancy in its own body and after taking and subscribing the constitutional oath, an alderman had the right to have his vote on the question of filling another vacancy, caused by death, recorded, even though a certificate of election had not been issued to him and irrespective of the mayor's refusal to recognize him or of the fact that an action to determine his official status was then pending. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

Majority Vote: The provision of this section, requiring "a majority vote of the members" of the City Council, that is, a majority of those constituting the actual membership of the body at the time, to fill a vacancy in an elective city office, and not 7-5-4121, making "a majority of the whole number of the members elected" requisite for such purpose, is applicable in case a vacancy in its own body caused by resignation or death is to be filled. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913), distinguished in State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

7-4-4113. Removal of appointed officer.

Case Notes

Misconduct — Intent Involved: To justify removal of an officer for misconduct, it is not necessary that the actions made the basis of the charge against him must have been willful; the official doing of an act may constitute misconduct, although there was no corrupt or malicious motive. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Bd., 45 M 197, 122 P 572 (1912); State ex rel. Ryan v. Bd. of Aldermen, 45 M 188, 122 P 569 (1912); State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 119 P 1103 (1911); State ex rel. Wynne v. Examining and Trial Bd., 43 M 389, 117 P 77 (1911); Leggatt v. Prideaux, 16 M 205, 40 P 377 (1895).

Misconduct of Alderman: An alderman was properly found guilty of misconduct in office and removed, on the grounds that in his capacity as an attorney at law he defended one charged with conducting business without paying a license tax and accepted a retainer to prosecute a suit against the town for damages and an injunction in regard to a sewer. (Decided prior to 1974 amendment inserting "nonelected" before "officer"—annotator.) State ex rel. Ryan v. Bd. of Aldermen, 45 M 188, 122 P 569 (1912).

City Judge:

The office of Police Judge (now City Judge) is a creature not of the constitution but of the statute, and the incumbent thereof is not liable to impeachment. He is, however, a city officer and may therefore, in a proper case, be removed by the City Council. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Prohibition does not lie at the suit of a Police Judge (now City Judge) of a city to prohibit the City Council from proceeding to remove him from office, where written charges have not been filed against him as required by this section. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Construction of Section: This section is in consonance with Art. V, sec. 18, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. V, sec. 13(1), 1972 Mont. Const.), subjecting officers not liable to impeachment to removal in the manner provided by law, and is a proper exercise of the legislative authority therein granted. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Written Charges Required for Removal: Until written charges have been filed with a City Council, in conformity with the provision of this section, no proceeding looking to the removal of a city officer has been instituted. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

7-4-4201. Salary of officers.

Attorney General's Opinions

Increase of Officer's Salary During His Term: This section does not prohibit a City Council from increasing the salary of a municipal officer during the officer's term of office. It is clear from the title and substance of Ch. 221, L. 1979, that the Legislature intended to make a change in this section by deleting the prohibition against increasing or diminishing a municipal officer's salary during his term of office. 38 A.G. Op. 45 (1979).

Prohibition Against Salary Changes Not Revived by Contemporaneous Amendments: The enactment of Ch. 428 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, which amended former subsection (2) of 7-4-4201, did not revive the prohibition against changing the salary of a municipal officer during his term. The Legislature's express deletion of that prohibition in Ch. 221, L. 1979, was in effect a direct repeal of former subsection (2). Neither Ch. 428 nor Ch. 443, L. 1979, expressly or impliedly repeals Ch. 221, L. 1979, and it is not possible for the Legislature to put life into a dead statute by amendment of it. 38 A.G. Case Notes

Nomination and Appointment of Nonelective Officers:

The nominee of a Mayor for a city office (City Engineer) who was not confirmed by a majority of the City Council as required by statute and ordinance does not assume the status of an officer. State ex rel. Sandquist v. Rogers, 93 M 355, 18 P2d 617 (1933).

The Town Clerk is an appointive officer, and the Mayor of a city or town has power "to nominate, and, with the consent of the council, to appoint all nonelective officers of the city or town, provided for by the council". The power to nominate to fill a nonelective office also includes like authority when a vacancy arises therein, but in either event the appointment is not effective until concurred in by a majority of the City or Town Council. State ex rel. Peterson v. Peck, 91 M 5, 4 P2d 1086 (1931).

Status of Mayor Generally: While the Mayor of a city is not, strictly speaking, a member of the Council in the sense that an Alderman is, yet he is such to the extent of the powers committed to him under this section and 7-5-4102(2). State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

Police Officers — Appointment and Suspension: Insofar as the method of appointment and suspension of members of the police force is concerned, this section is repealed by the Metropolitan Police Law (Ch. 136, L. 1907; codified in Title 7, ch. 32). State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

7-4-4401. Qualifications for alderman.

Case Notes

Constitutionality of Freeholder Requirement — Enactment Void: The freeholder requirement of this section (prior to 1979 amendment) was unconstitutional since it bore no relation to a person's qualifications and ability to serve as City Councilman, resulting in an invidious discrimination violative of equal protection. Thus, appellant's false swearing as to freeholder status in his filed declaration of nomination did not constitute a violation of the election laws. Sadler v. Connolly, 175 M 484, 575 P2d 51 (1978), distinguished in Johnson v. Killingsworth, 271 M 1, 894 P2d 272, 52 St. Rep. 274 (1995).

Residence: The provision of this section (prior to 1967 amendment) requiring that any person, to be eligible to the office of Alderman, must have been a resident of the ward where elected "for at least one year preceding the election", meant 1 year next preceding the election. Dowty v. Pittwood, 23 M 113, 57 P 727 (1899).

7-4-4402. Term of office.

Attorney General's Opinions

Reapportionment — Holdover Aldermen: There is no provision in the Montana Constitution or statutes that authorizes the shortening of an alderman's term of office. The fact that ward boundaries may change as a result of reapportionment and that some voters may be represented for 2 years by an alderman for whom they had no opportunity to vote has not justified a deviation from state law, the shortening of terms, in other jurisdictions. Where state law provides for the length of term of an elected official and for the staggering of terms to insure continuity and stability, those requirements are paramount to the temporary disenfranchisement that necessarily follows a reapportionment. Montana state law regarding 4-year staggered terms for aldermen and the absence of any applicable statute authorizing the removal of incumbents from office after reapportionment determine that an alderman elected to a 4-year term in 1982 need not run for reelection in 1983 as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983).

7-4-4403. Officers of city or town council.

Case Notes

Reception of Reports: Where accountants are employed to audit the books of a city and their contract calls for a report to the city, but before it is made two copies thereof are handed to the Mayor, at his request, one of which he presents to the City Council and the other he receives as his own, the Mayor's duty is fully discharged. After seeing that the copy presented to the Council finds its way into the hands of the City Clerk and is by him filed among the records of his office, the Mayor has a right to retain the other copy among his private papers. Butte v. Nevin, 46 M 380, 128 P 600 (1912).

Compensation of President: The Council may or may not elect a president. When elected, he must be held to know whether provision has been made for his compensation; if none has been made in the mode prescribed by law, then he is entitled to none and has no legal claim against the city therefor. McGillic v. Corby, 37 M 249, 95 P 1063 (1908).

Recordation of Votes: It is the Clerk's duty to record a newly elected officer's vote on a question, and the performance of the Clerk's duty may be enforced by mandamus. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

Case Notes

Possession of Books and Records: A Writ of Mandate is proper to compel the Mayor to nominate a person acceptable to the Council as Town Clerk, who then would be entitled to the custody of the books and records of the town, under this section. State ex rel. Peterson v. Peck, 91 M 5, 4 P2d 1086 (1931).

Record of Oath: If a person has been lawfully elected a member of the City Council and has taken the required oath, the intention of the law is that the oath, when taken and subscribed, shall become a record of the city, and it is the Clerk's duty to file and keep it as such. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

Documents Kept by Mayor: If the Mayor chooses to keep a record including copies of documents that must be preserved in the files of the Clerk's office, they are his private property, and title to them does not vest in the city by virtue of the fact that he is acting as its chief executive at the time. Butte v. Nevin, 46 M 380, 128 P 600 (1912).

Protests Against Improvement Districts: The presentation of protests or objections against the creation of special improvement districts is not part of the duties of the City Clerk, and the leaving of such protests at the Clerk's office is of no avail. Hensley v. Butte, 36 M 32, 92 P 34 (1907). (Compare Tiggerman v. Butte, 44 M 138, 119 P 477 (1911).)

He was convicted by a jury and appealed to District Court in which, after the District Court refused to dismiss, he pleaded guilty. The Supreme Court held that the city attorney could lawfully prosecute a violation of a state statute in City Court because the City Court had concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice's Court and because it was the city attorney's duty to prosecute on behalf of the city offenses heard in that court. Ordinance Not Invalid for Apparent Failure to Post Required Notice: An ordinance that was submitted in writing, contained one comprehensive subject, was read and passed at two readings, and was signed by the chairperson of the governing body is valid under this section. Because of numerous resolutions, ordinances, notices, and public hearings on this matter, an apparent failure to post notice of first adoption would not warrant a finding that the entire refuse disposal district project be invalidated. Attorney General's Opinions

State Authority to Regulate Liquor — No Delegation to Municipalities: The authority granted to the state by the 21st amendment to the U.S. Constitution to regulate the sale of liquor has not been delegated to municipalities with general powers. Therefore, a municipality with general powers may not punish a violation of its obscenity ordinance by suspending or revoking the liquor license of the offender. 41 A.G. Op. 75 (1986).

Case Notes

Five Days and $350 Fine for Disturbing the Peace: City's general penalty ordinance under which appellant was sentenced to 5 days in jail and a $350 fine for violating the disturbing the peace ordinance is within the limits of this section. Whitefish v. O'Shaughnessy, 216 M 433, 704 P2d 1021, 42 St. Rep. 928 (1985).

Escalating Fines for Parking Violations — Unconstitutional: An escalating fine schedule for parking violations where the amount to be paid depends on the length in the delay in paying after being cited is in violation of the basic principle of law that punishment must be for the violation and proportional to the gravity of the offense and hence is violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const., which provides that laws for punishment of crime must be founded on principles of prevention and reformation. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. Case Notes

Guidelines for Distinguishing Between Legislative and Administrative Acts of Local Government — Initiative and Referendum Power Reserved for Legislative Acts Only: Beginning with Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966), the Supreme Court recognized a distinction between legislative acts, which are subject to the powers of initiative and referendum, and administrative or quasi-judicial acts, which are not. Because local governments are empowered by Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., to exercise legislative, administrative, and other powers, the question arose as to whether this section unconstitutionally limits local government referendum power to resolutions and ordinances within the legislative jurisdiction. In order to clarify the distinction between legislative and administrative acts of a local government, the Supreme Court adopted the following guidelines in Wichita v. Kans. Taxpayers Network, 874 P2d 667 (Kans. 1994): (1) An ordinance that makes new law is legislative, while an ordinance that executes an existing law is administrative. Permanency and generality are key features of a legislative ordinance. (2) Acts that declare public purpose and provide ways and means to accomplish that purpose generally may be classified as legislative. Acts that deal with a small segment of an overall policy question generally are administrative. (3) Decisions that require specialized training and experience in municipal government and intimate knowledge of the fiscal and other affairs of a city in order to make a rational choice may properly be characterized as administrative, even though they may also be said to involve the establishment of a policy. (4) No act of a governing body is likely to be solely administrative or legislative, and the operation of the initiative and referendum statute is restricted to measures that are quite clearly and fully legislative and not principally executive or administrative. In the present case, an ordinance that implemented the use of water meters as part of a town's water system improvement plan was an administrative act that was not subject to referendum. The District Court properly declared a referendum challenging the ordinance invalid. The Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of this section. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998), overruling Chouteau County v. Grossman, 172 M 373, 563 P2d 1125 (1977), and Dieruf v. Bozeman, 173 M 447, 568 P2d 127 (1977), to the extent that those decisions stand for the rule that a local government's act is administrative based solely on a statutory grant of authority.

Statute of Limitations Applicable to Suit to Determine Validity of Initiative or Referendum: A suit to determine the validity and constitutionality of a petition for initiative or referendum must be initiated within 14 days of the date on which the petition is approved as to form by the local government attorney, as set out in 7-5-135. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998).

Rezoning Ordinance Subject to Referendum — No Distinction Between Zoning and Rezoning for Referendum Purposes: A community group filed a petition seeking a referendum to repeal a rezoning ordinance. Plaintiff, the owner of historic land that it wanted to develop, filed a declaratory judgment action against the city, seeking to have the referendum process refused. The community group was allowed to intervene. The motion for summary judgment was denied; the referendum was held; and the voters supported repeal of the ordinance. The Supreme Court held that the District Court correctly interpreted this section to mean that referendum by the people is appropriate for both zoning ordinances and rezoning ordinances. The Supreme Court overruled specific language in prior cases that distinguished between zoning and rezoning ordinances. The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Attorney General's Opinions

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Attorney General's Opinions

Initiative Inappropriate Process for Alteration of Method of Establishment and Collection of County Solid Waste Management District Service Charges: The initiative process may not be used to amend the resolution creating a county solid waste management district when the district encompasses an area smaller than the entire county and the initiative petition seeks to alter the method of establishing and collecting service charges. Attorney General's Opinions

Self-Government Powers: Under a form of government with local self-government powers, the replacement of former county officers with department supervisors is a legitimate exercise of such local self-government powers. Section 7-4-2503 does not apply to self-government units since it may be superseded by ordinance or resolution of the Commission and is not prohibited by 7-1-114(g). 37 A.G. Op. 68 (1977).

Conduct of County Government

7-5-2101. General authority of county commissioners.

Attorney General's Opinions

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. Had the Legislature intended to expressly authorize County Commissions to reduce the office, it would have adopted legislation similar to that for County Attorneys and County Superintendents. The authority in 7-6-2412 extends to the imposition of additional County Auditor duties, not to the reduction of hours worked. There is no express or implied authority for counties with general powers to reduce the office of County Auditor to a half-time position. 47 A.G. Op. 18 (1998).

County Commissioner and County Coordinator of Disaster and Emergency Services Incompatible — Positions Not to Be Held Simultaneously: The Board of County Commissioners has the power of supervision, revision, and removal over the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of County Commissioner and the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Authority of County to Issue General Obligation Bonds for Demolition of Abandoned County Building: Under its general duty to care for and maintain its property, a county, through its Board of County Commissioners, may issue general obligation bonds to fund demolition of a county-owned building that has been abandoned and poses a threat to the public safety and welfare. 44 A.G. Op. 31 (1992).

Lack of County Authority to Implement Employee Safety Incentive Bonus Program: A county with general government powers has no inherent authority within its statutory system to implement an employee incentive award program whereby county employees are paid bonuses for maintaining accident-free periods in their departments. 42 A.G. Op. 111 (1988).

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

County Buildings — Use of Rent for Costs: If no sale of the building is being attempted, a Board of County Commissioners may use money obtained from tenants of a county building to defray the operational and maintenance costs of the building. 40 A.G. Op. 33 (1984).

County Regulatory Power — District Courts: Montana's District Courts are clothed with inherent and statutory power to do all that is necessary to render their jurisdiction effective, including the power to hire necessary court personnel and control them; but it appears that requiring District Court personnel to also abide by county policies and regulations is not an undue interference with the judicial branch. The scope of the judicial authority in this matter in relation to county authority is not an appropriate matter for an Attorney General opinion and would be more appropriately disposed of by either an understanding between the court and the county or a judgment in a court of proper jurisdiction. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

County Regulatory Power — Personnel Policies: Personnel policies established by a Board of County Commissioners, including a requirement that employees submit timesheets, are within the statutory and implied powers of the Board as necessary for the administration of county business, and one receiving a county paycheck must abide by the personnel policies of the Board. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Method of Exercising County Powers When None Specified: Where powers are conferred by statute on a Board of County Commissioners but the mode in which the authority is to be exercised is not indicated, the Board, in its discretion, may select any appropriate mode or course of procedure. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

When Commissioners May Waive Privilege of Pleading Statute of Limitations: The Commissioners, under this section, may decline to plead the Statute of Limitations in an action on a claim against the county, whenever in their opinion the facts showing that bar of the statute could not be established. Therefore, they may stipulate in an agreed statement that the claim is not barred. The Statute of Limitations grants a personal privilege that may be waived; it must be pleaded to be available as a defense. Weir v. Silver Bow County, 113 M 237, 124 P2d 1003 (1942).

Authority of County Commissioners to Employ Private Attorney: A County Attorney may not unreasonably withhold his consent to the employment of another attorney by the Board of County Commissioners to perform legal services in connection with the civil business of the county. 7-5-2106. Control of conflict of interest.

Attorney General's Opinions

Definitions — Incorporation: Since the Legislature is presumed not to perform useless acts, the definitions of "be interested in" and "contract" contained in 2-2-201 are incorporated into and are applicable to 7-5-2106 and 7-5-4109, which relate to the same subject matter, conflicts of interest for local government officials. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Disclosure — Abstinence From Voting — When Contract Voidable: Where a local government official has a conflict of interest, such as a substantial interest in a business bidding on a local government contract, the official must comply with the disclosure and abstinence from voting provisions of 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131, even though the interest may be permissible under the exceptions contained in 2-2-201. If the interest is not permissible under the exceptions listed in 2-2-201, the contract is voidable and abstinence from voting will not exonerate the official. (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131.) 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

County Commissioners — Fiduciary Duty: A County Commissioner who is a voting member of the board of an organization that actually receives county contract funds does not have a prohibited conflict of interest under 7-5-2106 unless the Commissioner receives a personal pecuniary or proprietary benefit from the contract. He does, however, breach his fiduciary duty under 2-2-125(2)(b) (now repealed) by acting officially to award county contracts to the organization unless he complies with the voluntary disclosure requirements of 2-2-125(3) (now repealed). (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131.) 38 A.G. Op. 55 (1979).

County Commissioners — Prohibited Interests: A County Commissioner who is a voting member of a board that channels county contract funds to other organizations but does not itself derive any economic benefit from the contract does not have a prohibited interest in the contract under 7-5-2106 and does not breach his fiduciary duty under 2-2-125(2)(b) (now repealed) by acting officially to allocate funds to that board for subsequent disbursement. (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, (now repealed) and 2-2-131.) 38 A.G. Op. 55 (1979).

7-5-2107. Employment of personnel by county commissioners.

Case Notes

Contract Providing Monthly Payments Not Establishment of Employment Relationship: A county contract for provision of certain legal services expressly provided independent contractor status because: (1) the county had no right to control the firm that was awarded the contract; (2) the firm was customarily engaged in independent practice; and (3) the contract was unnecessary for the firm to continue its business. Because an independent contract was indicated by these facts, the veterans' preference did not apply to hiring of the contractor, despite the contention that a contract provision for monthly payments established an employment relationship. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Commissioner and County Coordinator of Disaster and Emergency Services Incompatible — Positions Not to Be Held Simultaneously: The Board of County Commissioners has the power of supervision, revision, and removal over the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of County Commissioner and the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Record of Board Proceedings: The County Clerk and Recorder is not required to attend the meetings of the Board of County Commissioners and take the original notes of the proceedings, unless the Board so requests. The Clerk and Recorder's responsibilities, as they relate to the proceedings of the Board, are to record the minutes of the proceedings into the minute book and to make the book available for public examination upon request. The Board is responsible for the preparation, content, and publication of the minutes. The Board may employ its own personnel to take the original notes during the meetings pursuant to this section. 41 A.G. Op. 19 (1985).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Persons Considered County Employees: An employee who under state statutes receives a county payroll check and county fringe benefits, such as health insurance, unemployment insurance, workers' compensation, and state retirement benefits, is considered a county employee. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Soil Conservation District Employees as County Employees: Although soil conservation districts are distinct governmental entities covering more than one county and the statutes governing the districts do not expressly designate district personnel as county employees to be included on the county payroll, if a county does include district personnel on its payroll, giving them the same benefits received by other county employees, to that extent district personnel must be considered county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

No Salary Limitation as to Assistants to County Commissioners: The salaries of administrative assistants employed by a Board of County Commissioners are not limited by 7-4-2505, since County Commissioners are not included in the definitive list of county officers to which that section applies. Salaries of the administrative assistants may be set pursuant to 7-5-2107 which contains no limitation as to amount. 38 A.G. Op. 43 (1979).

7-5-2108. County work week.

Case Notes

Full-Time District Court Reporters Subject to Statutory Workweek Requirement — Recordkeeping Required — Designation of Court Reporter's "Workstation": A District Court reporter who is treated as a full-time salaried county employee is subject to the statutory 40-hour workweek requirement in this section, and recordkeeping to document a court reporter's working hours, including overtime, annual leave, and sick leave, must be as determined by the District Court Judge who employs the court reporter. However, any method used to fulfill these requirements must comport with the District Court Judge's authority to control court assistants because allowing a Board of County Commissioners to enforce county personnel policies on court reporters would infringe on that authority. Any mandatory location of work for a court reporter that is set by anyone but the District Court Judge would interfere with the necessary flexibility of the judge. Thus, a court reporter's "workstation" is wherever that reporter is required to be to perform the duties for the judge for whom that court reporter works. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. District Court, 2000 MT 258, 301 M 496, 10 P3d 805, 57 St. Rep. 1061 (2000).

Attorney General's Opinions

Secretarial Services for Private Practice of County Attorney: A secretary employed by the county to assist a County Attorney may work on the County Attorney's private business during time when the secretary's services are not needed on county business. The County Attorney must account for the time that the secretary spends on private business and reimburse the county for any county-compensated time spent on the County Attorney's private business. A claim by a County Attorney for secretarial services reasonably required for the conduct of the County Attorney's official duties is a legitimate claim against the county. The reasonableness of the claim is a question of fact vested in the sound discretion of the county governing body. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995). See also 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996), in which the Attorney General held that a County Attorney may not compel the County Commissioners to authorize the hiring as a county employee of a legal secretary for the County Attorney absent a showing that any other arrangement would prevent the County Attorney from performing the minimum statutory duties.

District Court Employees' Workweek: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is situated and are considered county employees; therefore, they are salaried county employees under this section and must work a 40-hour week if required. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Salary Computation for Portion of Month: The salary of a county employee employed on a 40-hour workweek is determined for a portion of a month by multiplying the monthly salary by 12 and dividing the annual salary thus determined by 52 weeks to determine the weekly rate of pay or by 2,080 hours to determine the hourly rate of pay. 34 A.G. Op. 37 (1972).

7-5-2122. Meetings of board of county commissioners.

Case Notes

Notice of Public Meeting Held Insufficient: Where two of three County Commissioners held a telephone meeting to discuss approval of a preliminary subdivision plat and were required to give notice of the meeting, the Board failed to comply in that county newspaper article did not supply sufficient facts concerning the time and place of the meeting to permit further public comment, nor was 2 days' posted public notice ever given. Bd. of Trustees v. County Comm'rs, 186 M 148, 606 P2d 1069, 37 St. Rep. 175 (1980).

Telephone Conversation as Constituting a "Meeting" — Notice Required to Be Given: Where two of three County Commissioners discussed by telephone the approval of a preliminary plat of a subdivision, a "meeting" as defined in 2-3-202 took place, and the Commissioners were subject to the requirement that notice of the meeting be given in accordance with statute. Bd. of Trustees v. County Comm'rs, 186 M 148, 606 P2d 1069, 37 St. Rep. 175 (1980).

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of Open Meeting and Public Participation Laws to County Commission Meetings — Notice Required in Matters of Significant Public Interest: The gathering of a quorum of County Commissioners to discuss, either among themselves or with members of the public, issues over which the County Commission has authority is a meeting subject to open meeting laws. Meetings involving the consideration of matters of significant public interest, meaning decisions involving more than a ministerial act requiring no exercise of judgment, are subject to public participation mandates, including notice requirements and the opportunity for public participation in the decisionmaking process. Thus, a County Commission that established the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, as its regular meeting time for public notice purposes, did not comply with Montana's constitutional and statutory public participation provisions. 47 A.G. Compiler's Comments

Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1989 Amendment: At end of (1)(b) inserted "in full and complete detail or in summary form".

1985 Amendment: In (1)(a) inserted "in full and complete detail or in summary form or by reference, with the full and complete text made available on request"; and at beginning of (2) inserted "in full, in summary, or by reference".

Attorney General's Opinions

Annual Statement of Financial Condition to Be Published in Full: The Board of County Commissioners is obligated to publish the County Clerk's annual statement of financial condition "annually in a newspaper in full" (see 1995 amendment). The statement may not be published in summary form. 42 A.G. Op. 54 (1988). See 1989 amendment that allows statement to be published in summary form.

Publication Mandatory: This section requires a Board of County Commissioners, at the adjournment of each session of the Board, to publish in a newspaper a complete list of all claims ordered paid (prior to 1985 amendment—Annotator) and a fair summary of its proceedings. (See 1995 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 77 (1982).

Modern Mach. v. Flathead County, 202 M 140, 656 P2d 206, 39 St. Rep. 2383 (1982).

Evidentiary Effect of Minute Book: This section providing that a Board of County Commissioners must cause a minute book to be kept in which must be recorded all its orders, decisions, and proceedings does not make such record the only evidence admissible to prove the action of the Board or prohibit oral testimony as to what was actually done. Proof of action has the same effect as though shown by a minute entry. State ex rel. Rankin v. Madison St. Bank, 77 M 498, 251 P 548 (1926).

Amendment effective April 20, 1993.

Part 41
Conduct of Municipal Government

7-5-4101. General powers of municipal council.

"General Welfare" Clause. 760
General Powers 761
Interpretation of Powers 762

"GENERAL WELFARE" CLAUSE

Roominghouses — Regulation: The business of conducting a roominghouse, though a legitimate one, is so far concerned with the health, morals, and welfare of the public that it is within the police power of a city to regulate it under the authority conferred by this section, denominated the "general welfare clause". State ex rel. Altop v. Billings, 79 M 25, 255 P 11 (1927).

Delegation of Authority — Scope of Discretion — Licenses: A city ordinance which vests in its officials a discretion to grant or refuse to grant a license to carry on a lawful business, to be valid, need not, where the ordinance relates to the administration of a police regulation necessary to protect the general welfare, morals, and safety of the public, prescribe all the conditions upon which such license shall be granted or refused. The fact that in instances it may be exercised arbitrarily, in the absence of specific directions, is not an argument against its validity, since in such a case the person discriminated against may apply to the courts for relief. State ex rel. Altop v. Billings, 79 M 25, 255 P 11 (1927), distinguished in Bennett v. Stow, 144 M 599, 399 P2d 221 (1965).

GENERAL POWERS

Municipality's Authority to Adopt Ordinance Limiting University Students' Rights to Park on City Streets: A university student association challenged the legality of a city ordinance limiting parking in residential areas near the university to residents of those areas. The Supreme Court held that municipalities have the power to regulate parking and that regulating parking to relieve congestion in certain residential neighborhoods was a reasonable exercise of governmental authority. Assoc. Students v. Missoula, 261 M 231, 862 P2d 380, 50 St. Rep. 1301 (1993).

Parking Ordinance — Vicarious Criminal Responsibility: A city may, in the exercise of its police power, enact a parking ordinance that provides that the registered owner of a motor vehicle is vicariously criminally responsible for illegal parking by another unless it is shown that the vehicle was being used without the owner's consent. Such an ordinance does not violate due process restrictions (overruling a contrary holding in St. v. Jetty, 176 M 519, 579 P2d 1228 (1978)), but the ordinance must conform to the absolute liability requirements of 45-2-104. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Unconstitutional Parking Ordinance — Presumption That Owner Parked Vehicle — Escalating Fines for Parking Violations:

In striking down a parking ordinance, the Supreme Court held that to make the owner of a vehicle prima facie liable upon proof that his vehicle has been parked illegally is equivalent to a presumption that the owner parked the vehicle. The effect of the presumption is to violate constitutional due process requirements by shifting the burden of persuasion to defendant and contradicting the presumption of innocence. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

An escalating fine schedule for parking violations where the amount to be paid depends on the length in the delay in paying after being cited is in violation of the basic principle of law that punishment must be for the violation and proportional to the gravity of the offense and hence is violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const., which provides that laws for punishment of crime shall be founded on principles of prevention and reformation. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Estoppel to Repudiate Acts of Officers: Although a municipal corporation is not bound by acts or statements of its officers made in excess of their authority, where an innocent party has been induced into a course of action by the conduct of municipal officers and because of such reliance would suffer a substantial loss, the municipality will not be permitted to deny the validity of its officers' actions. State ex rel. Barker v. Stevensville, 164 M 378, 523 P2d 1388 (1974).

Flat Rate Fees — City Employees' Services: Under its power to provide for the general welfare of its inhabitants, a city may provide for a flat rate charge to property owners for services of its employees in tapping into the water main. Leischner v. Knight, 135 M 109, 337 P2d 359 (1959).

Regulation of Alcoholic Beverages: Notwithstanding repeal of the state prohibition laws a city has the power to prohibit, by ordinance, traffic in intoxicating liquors under its general powers granted it by this section and the specific provision of 7-32-4302, under which it may pass ordinances to prevent acts or conduct calculated to disturb the public peace or which are offensive to public morals. State ex rel. Moreland v. Police Court, 87 M 17, 285 P 178 (1930).

Taxation: A city has no inherent power to levy taxes on property within its corporate limits, its power in that respect being limited to that conferred by statute, which must be strictly construed. First Nat'l Bank of Glendive v. Sorenson, 65 M 1, 210 P 900 (1922).

Proprietary Capacity — Municipal Power Plant: When a city is engaged in operating a municipal power plant, under an authority granted by general law, it acts in a proprietary or business capacity and stands upon the same footing as a private individual or business corporation similarly situated. Milligan v. Miles City, 51 M 374, 153 P 276 (1915).

Reduction in Force — Police:
Under its general legislative power the Council of a city or town may provide for the appointment of as many policemen, including a Chief of Police in case of a city and a Marshal in case of a town, as may be necessary to preserve the peace and enforce the ordinances. Grush v. Bishop, 46 M 97, 126 P 619 (1912).

As a City Council has, under this section and 7-6-4302, the sole power to determine the amount that shall be expended in carrying on the city government, it and not the Mayor has the power to reduce the police force for economical reasons or when it becomes unnecessarily large. State ex rel. Rowling v. Butte, 43 M 331, 117 P 604 (1911), distinguished in State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

INTERPRETATION OF POWERS

Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

Rules of Construction: Within the scope of its powers delegated to it by the Legislature, a City Council has the same right to enact binding ordinances as has the Legislature to enact statutes, and practically the same rules of construction apply when the validity of an ordinance or a statute is under consideration by the courts. Missoula v. Swanberg, 116 M 232, 149 P2d 248 (1944).

Arbitrary Class — Equal Protection: A city ordinance that prohibits the installation of plumbing called "Durham work", made of certain material, in one- or two-story buildings and permits its installation in all others over two stories high is arbitrary and unreasonable class legislation and therefore invalid as in conflict with this section in the absence of evidence showing that the prohibited kind of material is detrimental to the health and safety of the people of the municipality. Missoula v. Swanberg, 116 M 232, 149 P2d 248 (1944).

Subject to State and Federal Constitutions: Laws enacted in the exercise of the police power, whether by municipal corporations acting in pursuance of the laws of the state or by the state itself, must be reasonable and are always subject to the provisions of both the federal and state constitutions and judicial scrutiny. Bettey v. Sidney, 79 M 314, 257 P 1007 (1927).

Reasonableness of Ordinance: The question of the reasonableness of an ordinance is, in the first instance, for the determination of a City or Town Council, and in the absence of a clear showing to the contrary its reasonableness will be presumed. Bettey v. Sidney, 79 M 314, 257 P 1007 (1927).

Authorized Act Resulting in Nuisance — Liability: In grants of authority to municipal corporations, authority to commit a nuisance will not be implied but must be expressed, since in the use of their private property cities are subject to the same rules as private individuals. When the use and enjoyment of a legislative grant does not necessarily and naturally create a nuisance but the nuisance results from the method of the use and enjoyment, the grant constitutes no defense. Lennon v. Butte, 67 M 101, 214 P 1101 (1923).

Express or Implied Authority: The statute creating a municipality or under which its exists is the charter of its powers, and it has only such authority as is conferred expressly and such as is necessarily implied or is indispensable in order properly to accomplish the purpose of its organization. State ex rel. Butte v. Police Court, 65 M 94, 210 P 1059 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

Doctrine of Incompatible Positions Precluding Public Works Director From Holding Office on City Council: An individual serving in the dual roles of public works director and City Council member would be in the position as City Council member of controlling actions and decisions of that individual's supervisor, the public works director, which could directly affect that individual's job duties and compensation. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of City Council member and the office or position of public works director are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 47 A.G. Op. 19 (1998). See also 41 A.G. Op. 81 (1986), and 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Firefighters — Receipt of Compensatory Time Off: A firefighter may receive compensatory time off for bonus hours worked in excess of 40 in 1 week, and under 7-5-4101 the governing body of a city has the authority to manage the affairs of the city, including entering into a contract providing compensatory time off for firefighters. 39 A.G. Op. 35 (1981), followed in 45 A.G. Op. 21 (1994).

Local Governments — Borrowing From Financial Institutions Permitted: A county, city, or town with general government or self-government powers can incur indebtedness by borrowing money directly from a financial institution. This authority to borrow does not change the debt limitations on the local government. 38 A.G. Op. 14 (1979).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

Tie Vote — Mayor to Cast Deciding Vote:

In quo warranto proceedings, under this section providing that the Mayor of a city shall be the presiding officer of the Council and decide by his vote all ties, it was held that where the Council was evenly divided on the question of confirmation of the Mayor's appointee to the office of City Attorney, he had the right to cast the decisive vote. State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932), explained in State ex rel. Easbey v. Highway Patrol Bd., 140 M 383, 372 P2d 930 (1962).

Under the law as it existed in 1895, the Mayor was deemed to be a constituent part of the Council, and where there was a tie vote of the Aldermen on the confirmation of an officer, he had the right to vote for confirmation. State ex rel. Young v. Yates, 19 M 239, 47 P 1004 (1897).

Attorney General's Opinions

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Under 7-3-212, a mayor may appoint an administrative assistant without the approval of the City Council. 41 A.G. Op. 45 (1986).

Case Notes

City Ordinance Not Conclusive Presumption of Necessity — Standard of Proof: A city ordinance adopted pursuant to this section did not establish a conclusive presumption that the taking of private property for a water system was necessary. The controlling statutes are in Title 7, chapter 13, part 44, and absent an agreement to purchase, 7-13-4404 requires that the standard of proof outlined in 70-30-111 be met before private property may be taken for a public use. Since the District Court has the power to determine whether a condemnation is necessary, the votes of the people and the city council cannot be considered as dispositive of the issue of necessity; however, the public interest as expressed in these votes must be considered and weighed with the other factors in determining whether acquisition is necessary. Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co., 228 M 404, 743 P2d 590, 44 St. Rep. 1633 (1987).

Areawide Condemnation: City's only authority to condemn on an "area" basis is 7-15-4259. Passage of city ordinance declaring condemnation for urban renewal of blighted areas did not create conclusive presumption of public use and necessity. Helena v. DeWolf, 162 M 57, 508 P2d 122 (1973).

Control of Floodwaters: Under this section a city may condemn lands for constructing a sewer, waterway, or drain ditch outside the corporate limits of the municipality "or for any other municipal and public use". Thus the city has the power of eminent domain for a project to divert floodwaters into a channel away from the city in order to protect it from overflows. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Right to Condemn Property:

Authority to condemn property for a public use must be clearly expressed in the law before such right will be allowed. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

In the absence of legislative authority empowering it so to do, a city has no right to condemn land outside of its corporate limits for a public highway leading to a park owned by it. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

Vesting of Fee to Land: Under section 11-606, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), the fee to the land covered by a street once established is vested in the public. The form of dedication required of the owner, when the plat of a city or town or an addition thereto is recorded, is equivalent to a deed, but as the respective rights of the abutting owners and of the public are dependent upon the fact of dedication, it is not important to inquire where the fee is vested. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 M 509, 110 P 237 (1910).

Water Supply — Prior Attempt at Consent Required: In condemnation proceedings to acquire title to property for a water supply, it is not necessary to allege or prove that the city had endeavored to obtain the consent of the owners of the property to the taking thereof. Helena v. Rogan, 27 M 135, 69 P 709 (1902).

Case Notes

Where Franchised Utility in No Position to Complain: A utility operating under a nonexclusive city franchise sought to enjoin a city from selling bonds for the purpose of securing its own gas distributing system, on ground of unlawful competition. The utility could not question the legality of any other contract entered into by the city in connection with the enterprise and hence was in no position to complain that the city's contract with a contracting firm relating to a supply of natural gas was illegal because a city employee, not served with summons, was interested in the contract contrary to this section. Montana-Dakota Util. Co. v. Havre, 109 M 164, 94 P2d 660 (1939).

Subsequent Interest: This section is not applicable to a Mayor who was not interested in a contract made with the city but who agreed, after the contract was accepted and filed with the proper official, to take stock in a corporation succeeding to the rights of the original contractor. State ex rel. Great Falls Water Works v. Great Falls, 19 M 518, 49 P 15 (1897).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Employee as Councilman — No Conflict of Interest: There is no inherent conflict of interest when a city employee is also an elected city councilman in a council-mayor form of municipal government. The opportunity to commit the breach of a fiduciary duty does not constitute a conflict of interest. 41 A.G. Op. 81 (1986).

Definitions — Incorporation: Since the Legislature is presumed not to perform useless acts, the definitions of "be interested in" and "contract" contained in 2-2-201 are incorporated into and are applicable to 7-5-2106 and 7-5-4109, which relate to the same subject matter, conflicts of interest for local government officials. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Disclosure — Abstinence From Voting — When Contract Voidable: Where a local government official has a conflict of interest, such as a substantial interest in a business bidding on a local government contract, the official must comply with the disclosure and abstinence from voting provisions of 2-2-125 (now repealed) and 2-2-131, even though the interest may be permissible under the exceptions contained in 2-2-201. If the interest is not permissible under the exceptions listed in 2-2-201, the contract is voidable and abstinence from voting will not exonerate the official. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Control of Conflict of Interest — Elected City Official Prohibited From Selling Supplies to City: A business operated by an elected city official or owned by a corporation in which the official is a major stockholder may not sell supplies to the city. The crucial factor in determining whether a conflict of interest lies and applying conflict of interest statutes is the presence of a pecuniary or proprietary interest. A formal contract is not required to find a conflict of interest. 38 A.G. Op. 79 (1980).

Case Notes

City Authority to Plant Trees: Plaintiff filed suit against the city to prevent the planting of trees in the boulevard area of the sidewalk in front on his property. The District Court dismissed plaintiff's complaint for failure to state a cause of action because the City Council has broad discretion under 7-14-4101 to alter and maintain city streets and avenues, including the planting of trees. A statement by the City Council Public Works Committee that no trees would be planted if plaintiff objected did not create a contract binding on the city. The elements of a contract are missing here, and there was no action by the City Council as required by this section to create a contract. Duncan v. Missoula, 239 M 201, 779 P2d 519, 46 St. Rep. 1619 (1989).

Failure to Record: Town could not deny the validity of a sewage project contract due to an alleged technical defect in failing to record in minutes of Town Council the aye and no vote on the approval of the contract as required by this section where the town in all of its affirmative acts recognized the contract. St. Eng'r. Serv., Inc. v. Kevin, 148 M 312, 420 P2d 433 (1966).

Filling Vacancy: Subsection (2) of this section does not apply to an election by a City Council to fill a vacancy in its own body, caused by resignation or death. The provisions governing such election are found in 7-4-4112. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913), distinguished in State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

Attorney General's Opinions

Number of Town Council Members Necessary to Constitute Quorum When Mayor Resigns: Regarding the question of what constitutes a quorum of municipal council members when the mayor resigns and the mayoral duties are assumed by one of the municipal council members, at common law, the general rule is that the total number of all of the duly elected and qualified members of the municipal council is taken as the basis. Although the mayor or chief executive may be included in the count under some statutes, the mayor is not made a member of the council and is not included in the number on which a quorum is reckoned. However, even though the mayor is not counted in the determination of a quorum, a member of the municipal council who acts as mayor or presiding officer pro tempore in absence of the mayor is counted in determining whether a quorum is present and retains the right to vote as a member of the council. Thus, the president of the council, when serving as acting mayor in the absence of the mayor, may vote on a measure with the other members of the council and then, as acting mayor, cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. 47 A.G. Op. 20 (1998).

Town With Weak-Mayor Government Not Authorized to Adopt Statutory Quorum Provisions: A town with a weak-mayor form of municipal government does not have authority to adopt by ordinance the quorum provisions of 7-3-4221. Those provisions would conflict with this section, which states that a majority of the members of the town council constitute a quorum and does not include the mayor as a member of the town council for the determination. 47 A.G. Op. 20 (1998).

Case Notes

Interpretation of Uniform Building Code Ordinance Matter of Law — Violation May Constitute Negligence Per Se: Chambers was injured after falling into a pit at the Helena garbage transfer station. A Uniform Building Code (UBC) ordinance required guardrails on most landings and ramps, except on the loading side of loading docks. The District Court held that the pit did not fit the loading dock exception and that the city's failure to install guardrails was negligence per se. The city argued that interpretation of the UBC ordinance was a finding of fact that the trial court improperly removed from the province of the jury because the court made credibility determinations and weighed the evidence. Chambers maintained that, like statutes, interpretation of a UBC ordinance is a question of law. The Supreme Court agreed with Chambers. Violation of a UBC ordinance is a matter of law, violation of which may constitute negligence per se, and in this case, it was undisputed that the city was subject to the ordinance and that there were no guardrails installed along the transfer station pit. Chambers was a member of the class of persons that the ordinance was designed to protect and met the elements of negligence per se. Further, pursuant to Montana pattern jury instructions, it is up to the jury to decide whether a statute has been violated. Once the trial court determined that the city was negligent per se, the jury instruction should not have been given because there were no more undisputed issues regarding violation of the statute. The only remaining determination was whether the loading dock exception applied to the pit, and that was a statutory interpretation for the court to decide. The plain language of the UBC ordinance and its exception did not include a pit design such as that used at the transfer station, so the trial court correctly interpreted the ordinance and held the city negligent per se. Chambers v. Helena, 2002 MT 142, 310 M 241, 49 P3d 587 (2002).

One Subject — Wholesale Adoption of State Misdemeanors: A town ordinance that, in effect, adopted all state laws defining misdemeanors and made them town ordinances was invalid as violating the prohibition against passage of an ordinance containing more than one subject. White Sulphur Springs v. Voise, 136 M 1, 334 P2d 855 (1959).

One Subject — Establishing Police Department: An ordinance establishing a police department, repealing a series of ordinances dealing therewith and those relating to the location and conduct of the city jail, held not open to the objection that it was void as in contravention of the provisions of this section. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Mayor, 69 M 232, 221 P 524 (1923).

One Subject — Liberal Construction: The restriction placed by this section upon the City Council in enacting ordinances to the effect that none shall be passed containing more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title, like that imposed upon the Legislature in enacting a statute, must be liberally construed. The ordinance will be sustained unless it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that it does not meet the requirement. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Mayor, 69 M 232, 221 P 524 (1923).

Resolution of Intention — Approval by Mayor: A resolution of intention is not valid unless approved by the Mayor. All proceedings taken under an unapproved resolution of intention are void. Hinzeman v. Deer Lodge, 58 M 369, 193 P 395 (1920).

One Subject — Special Election on Bonds: An ordinance calling for a special election for the authorization or rejection of an increase of the city's indebtedness by the issuance of water and sewer bonds was not obnoxious to the prohibition contained in this section that no ordinance shall be passed containing more than one subject. The general subject of the ordinance was the incurring of the indebtedness, and the different purposes named in it as making the indebtedness necessary were matters of detail for the information of the voters. Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909).

One Subject — General Rule: The observance of the limitation imposed by this section relative to ordinances containing more than one subject, which must be clearly expressed in its title, is mandatory and renders void any ordinance which violates it. But whatever is germane, incidental, or necessary to the main or general subject of an ordinance may be included in it and is not a separate subject. Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909). Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum:

A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Sections 7-5-4203(1) and 7-5-4204 are not applicable to special improvement districts but only to matters of general legislation on which all electors may vote. Schumacher v. Bozeman, 174 M 519, 571 P2d 1135 (1977).

Interpretation of City Ordinance: If the language of an ordinance is plain and unambiguous, it is not subject to interpretation or open to construction but must be accepted and enforced as written. Schanz v. Billings, 182 M 328, 597 P2d 67, 36 St. Rep. 1163 (1979), following Sheridan County Elec. Co-op, Inc., v. Montana-Dakota Util. Emergency Measure Excepted From Referendum: It was contended that to compel a city to pass an ordinance or resolution for the rezoning of the city and vacation of streets by mandamus at the instance of the city housing authority would destroy the exercise of right of referendum by the city inhabitants because the ordinance or resolution would be effective immediately. The Supreme Court held that the housing authorities being an emergency measure, this section as originally enacted specifically provides that an emergency measure is excepted from the provisions of the Referendum Act (Ch. 167, L. 1907). State ex rel. Great Falls Housing Authority v. Great Falls, 110 M 318, 100 P2d 915 (1940).

Bond Issues: This statute, being a general statute, held not controlling where a city seeks to sell bonds for the acquisition of a self-supporting gas distribution system under authority of Ch. 141, L. 1935. Section 15 specifically provides that if any of the provisions of the chapter are inconsistent with any other statute, the provisions of the chapter are controlling. Montana-Dakota Util. Co. v. Havre, 109 M 164, 94 P2d 660 (1939).

Increase in Salary — Date: The provision of section 11-732, R.C.M. 1947 (since completely rewritten), that the salary of a city officer shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office, means the terms the officer is then serving. Where the salary of a Mayor was increased by ordinance near the close of his first term, the increase could not, under this section, become effective until after his second term had commenced. The increase was made during his prior term and not during the term he was then serving. Broadwater v. Kendig, 80 M 515, 261 P 264 (1927).

Bond Ordinance Approved by Voters: This section has no application to an ordinance providing for the issuance of water and sewer bonds after sanction of the taxpayers affected thereby has been obtained. The law has to do with matters of general legislation on which all electors, whether taxpayers or not, may vote, while the question whether bonds shall be issued can be submitted to taxpayers only. Nuisance — Section Not Applicable: Under the rule of statutory construction that a specific provision is paramount to a general one, held, in a prosecution for maintaining a nuisance, that the specific provision of 7-5-4104, empowering a city to impose a fine upon persons maintaining a nuisance, is controlling, as against the power conferred by this section to impose fines and jail penalties for the violation of a city ordinance generally. Bozeman v. Merrell, 81 M 19, 261 P 876 (1927). See also Billings v. Trenka, 155 M 27, 465 P2d 838 (1970).

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. Validity of Ordinance Allowing Escalating Penalty for Failure to Obtain Business License: A Lewistown city ordinance that allows an escalating monthly penalty for failure to obtain a local business license is valid despite Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983). The Shea case determined that escalating penalties for parking violations were criminal penalties and violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const. In analyzing the Lewistown ordinance, the Attorney General observed that the crucial issue is whether the penalty imposed is civil or criminal in nature. Applying the five factors outlined in Brown v. Multnomah County District Court, 570 P2d 52 (Ore. 1977), he concluded that the instant ordinance imposed civil penalties and that the ordinance was valid. 40 A.G. Op. 75 (1984).

Green Waste Compost Program Contract Exempt From Bidding Process — Not Reviewable in Absence of Bad Faith, Fraud, or Corruption: Heritage argued that the city of Helena awarded a contract without soliciting bids. The Supreme Court held that the contract was for construction, repair, or maintenance in an amount less than $25,000 and involved technical skills and therefore was exempt from the bidding process. The Supreme Court also stated that in following Baker v. St., 218 M 235, 707 P2d 20 (1985), an agency's decision in awarding a contract is not reviewable in the absence of a showing of bad faith, fraud, or corruption. Professional Services: Senate Bill 288 (Ch. 371, L. 1971), which amended this section, the title of which was "An act amending section 11-1202, R.C.M. 1947, to increase the monetary limitation on purchasers", and eliminated last paragraph of this section excepting from bid requirements contracts for professional, technical, engineering, and legal services, without reference thereto in title of bill, was in violation of Art. V, sec. 23, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. V, sec. 11(3), 1972 Mont. Const.). Morrison-Maierle, Inc. v. Forsyth, 160 M 69, 500 P2d 395 (1972).

Public Utility Rates: Under 7-13-4101 and this section, a city may contract for rates with a public utility, subject, however, to the paramount authority of the state to exercise its power in the premises whenever it chooses to do so. State ex rel. Billings v. Billings Gas Co., 55 M 102, 173 P 799 (1918), distinguished in Baker v. Mont. Petroleum Co., 99 M 465, 44 P2d 735 (1935).

Award to Lowest Responsible Bidder: The mode of exercising the power granted by this section is subject to the limitation prescribed in that section of the code in reference to the awarding by municipalities of contracts exceeding a certain amount to the lowest responsible bidder. This limitation is, furthermore, exclusive and applies to all municipal bodies. Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913).

Provision of Fire Protection Services Outside City Limits: A city may contract with entities to provide fire protection services outside the city limits. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988).

Contract for Employment of Construction Manager: A contract for the employment of a construction manager that calls only for the application of the contractor's technical expertise and experience in a supervisory capacity and does not involve the procurement of supplies or actual construction is exempt from the bidding requirements of 7-5-4302, as a contract for professional and technical services. 37 A.G. Op. 175 (1978).

Purchase by City of Real Property With Existing Buildings: Under applicable Montana statutes, a municipality is not required to submit a proposed purchase of real estate and existing buildings to voters for approval and may purchase them to house its fire department using current appropriations and without incurring indebtedness or issuing bonds to finance such purchase. 37 A.G. Op. 31 (1977).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 475 in (1), after "supplies of any kind", inserted "in excess of $20,000" and after "maintenance" substituted "in excess of $25,000" for "for which must be paid a sum exceeding $10,000"; and made minor changes in style.

1987 Amendment: In (1), near beginning, inserted reference to 7-5-4310.

1981 Amendment: Extended the coverage of the types of contracts to include repair and maintenance; increased the minimum contract amount requiring bids from $4,000 to $10,000 in (1).

Case Notes

When Claim for Relief Accrues for Failure of Construction Contract to Be Awarded to Lowest Bidder — No Negligence by Engineering Firm in Handling of Bidding Process on Public Works Contract: The city of Glasgow hired an engineering firm to prepare plans, specifications, and bid documents for a municipal sewer improvement project, including review of bid results and bid award recommendations. Debcon, Inc. (Debcon), submitted the lowest bid, but the engineering firm's review showed significant mathematical errors in Debcon's bid and some question as to the ability of Debcon to perform. The engineering firm recommended that the contract be awarded to a different bidder, and Debcon sued both the city and the engineering firm, alleging negligence in the award of the construction contract. The District Court concluded that Debcon lacked standing to assert a duty of care owed to it by the city and that the negligence claim against the engineering firm must also fail as a matter of law because the firm owed no duty of care to Debcon, an essential element for asserting negligence as a claim for relief. Debcon did not appeal the judgment in favor of the city, but did appeal the judgment in favor of the firm. The Supreme Court cited a long line of cases back to 1910 for the proposition that, absent a duty, no breach of duty can be established and no negligence action can be maintained. An unsuccessful bidder has no standing in mandamus or otherwise to control the discretion in the award of a contract to the lowest responsible bidder, which may not be the lowest pecuniary bidder. A claim for relief from the award of a public contract accrues under the following conditions: (1) plaintiff must timely assert its claim as an aggrieved taxpayer; (2) the claim must seek a remedy, such as an injunction, writ of mandamus, or declaratory judgment, that will protect the rights of the aggrieved taxpayer from the potential harm that will occur; and (3) plaintiff must then show that the process by which the public works contract was awarded resulted from an abuse of discretion, i.e., that discretion was tainted by an act of bad faith, fraud, corruption, or arbitrariness. The Supreme Court in this case declined to follow Debcon's contention that a new duty of care should be constructed from whole cloth that would allow Debcon, as the aggrieved low bidder, to recover lost profits or other expectancy damages under a negligence theory. The District Court properly concluded that the engineering firm, serving as project engineer for the city of Glasgow, did not owe Debcon, as a failed bidder, a duty of care in its handling of the public works contract bidding process under a negligence theory. Debcon's claim for relief was a claim for which relief could not be granted as a matter of law. Further, Debcon did not enjoy contractual privity with the engineering firm, so absent a statutory provision that would sustain a bad faith claim, a claim of bad faith did not lie. Summary judgment in favor of the engineering firm was proper. Debcon, Inc. v. Glasgow, 2001 MT 124, 305 M 391, 28 P3d 478 (2001), following O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 M 538, 111 P 137 (1910), and its progeny, Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941), and State ex rel. Sletten Constr. Co. v. Great Falls, 163 M 307, 516 P2d 1149 (1973), and followed, with regard to standing to challenge the letting of a contract to provide public school transportation, in Hickey v. Baker School District No. 12, 2002 MT 322, 313 M 162, 60 P3d 966 (2002).

Green Waste Compost Program Contract Exempt From Bidding Process — Not Reviewable in Absence of Bad Faith, Fraud, or Corruption: Heritage argued that the city of Helena awarded a contract without soliciting bids. The Supreme Court held that the contract was for construction, repair, or maintenance in an amount less than $25,000 and involved technical skills and therefore was exempt from the bidding process. The Supreme Court also stated that in following Baker v. St., 218 M 235, 707 P2d 20 (1985), an agency's decision in awarding a contract is not reviewable in the absence of a showing of bad faith, fraud, or corruption. Heritage Commercial Contractors, Inc. v. Helena, 272 M 90, 899 P2d 1076, 52 St. Rep. 676 (1995).

No Recovery Under Void Public Contracts: Contracts not let on competitive bidding when required under this section are not only void but in actions to recover the reasonable value of property where restoration cannot be made excepting at cost exceeding the price (buried water pipe in the instant case), the courts will refuse to enforce the claim, leaving the parties where they placed themselves unlawfully. Quasi or constructive contracts based on unjust enrichment and enforced by action ex contractu rest on equitable principles. This section was enacted for economy and protection of the public. Builders Supply Co. v. Helena, 116 M 368, 154 P2d 270 (1944), reversing the dictum in Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913).

Letting Contract to Higher Bidder Held Warranted: A City Council received two bids for firefighting equipment, one for $3,155.55 and the other for $3,500, both bidders substantially meeting the specifications stated in the advertisement for bids. After conducting a fair investigation into the relative merits of both and witnessing a demonstration of the equipment offered by the successful bidder, who also offered continuous servicing not offered by the unsuccessful one, there were substantial and plausible reasons justifying the letting of the contract to the higher bidder. Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941).

Lowest Responsible Bidder:

The "lowest responsible bidder", within the meaning of this statute, does not mean merely the one whose pecuniary ability to perform the contract is deemed the best; it also means the one who is most likely in regard of skill, ability, and integrity to do faithful and conscientious work and promptly to fulfill the contract according to its letter and spirit. The City Council has a broad discretion in determining what bid answers that requirement, the members thereof not being purely ministerial officers but in that connection exercising quasi-judicial functions. Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941).

Under the exclusive rather than directory nature of the limitation upon the power of cities to let contracts prescribed by this section, a contract entered into by a city with a street railway company, according to the terms of which the latter was to be paid the cost of removing and replacing its tracks on certain streets to enable the former to lay sewers, was void, it not having been let to the lowest responsible bidder as required by the statute. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 48, 29 P2d 667 (1934); Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913), reversed in part in Builders Supply Co. v. Helena, 116 M 368, 154 P2d 270 (1944).

To successfully attack the letting of a contract for a municipal improvement, it must be shown that the contract was not let to the lowest responsible bidder, that there was not any opportunity afforded for competitive bidding, or that there was collusion or bad faith on the part of the Council or such gross mistake as to preclude the exercise of sound judgment. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 M 538, 111 P 137 (1910).

Waterworks Construction Contract: A contract with a city for the construction of a system of waterworks is governed by the provisions of this section, 7-5-4308, and 7-5-4309 (now repealed). Forsyth v. Crellin, 210 F 835 (9th Cir. 1914).

Specific Processes — Use in Construction: Where a City Council incorporated in a resolution ordering the paving of a street, as well as in the call for bids, the requirement that in the construction of the pavement certain patented processes and compounds should be used, and the company controlling the patent agreed that the cost of such material, which constituted only a part of the gross cost of the improvement, should be the same to all bidders, while in other respects, such as the cost of labor, other materials, etc., the principle of competition was retained, the proceedings were not void as being violative of this section. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Purpose of Section — Public Protection: This section is designed to prevent favoritism and to secure to the public the best possible return for the expenditure of the funds which the property owners are required to furnish through the payment of taxes and assessments. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Construction of Section — Source of Funds: The requirement of this section extends to and includes expenditures made from the general revenues of the municipality, as well as from funds derived from special assessments. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Development and Use Agreement Not Precluding City From Entering Agreement for Construction Project on Public Property — Franchise Agreement Outside Scope of Citizen Group's Agreement With City: A citizen's group entered a franchise agreement with a professional baseball organization to bring a team to Missoula. After two potential sites were rejected, the city of Missoula accepted a gift of property upon which to construct a baseball facility and granted the citizen group the right to finance and construct the stadium on the property and to convey the completed facility to the city. The citizen group moved to enjoin the city from development of the proposed civic baseball stadium because of the city's failure to comply with statutory requirements for planning, funding, and managing the facility. All claims were dismissed on summary judgment, and the citizen group appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. The development and use agreements in this case did not preclude the city from executing an agreement with another entity for the construction of a similar facility on public property or from leasing a city-owned facility for baseball games or any other purpose. Any franchise agreement between the baseball organization and the citizen group was outside the scope of the group's agreement with the city, so the voter-approval provisions of this section did not apply. The citizen group's argument that the city was required to comply with urban renewal laws also failed. The decision whether to proceed with development under the urban renewal statutes was up to the city, and the fact that the city designated the capital improvements associated with the stadium construction as an urban renewal project did not require that the citizen group's building project come under the same purview. Rather, under 7-16-4106, the city is permitted to obtain an athletic field and civic stadium through purchase, donation, or condemnation and to regulate its use, but nothing in the statute prohibits the city from designating a stadium project as an urban renewal project or mandates that the project be designated as an urban renewal project. The District Court properly found that the city appropriately exercised its administrative authority in accepting the gift property and then leasing the site to the citizen group for purposes of constructing a stadium using private financial resources. The citizen group failed to raise a genuine issue of material fact that would preclude summary judgment. Fair Play Missoula, Inc. v. Missoula, 2002 MT 179, 311 M 22, 52 P3d 926 (2002).

Construction of Section: The word "franchise" in this section is used in the same sense as it is in Art. XII, sec. 16 and 17, 1889 Mont. Const. [no comparable provision in 1972 Mont. Const.], where it is classed as property and subject to taxation as such. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

Parking Meters — Conditional Sale Paid With Percentage of Revenue: The purchase of parking meters under a conditional sales contract whereby the city determines the location, controls the use and operation, and collects the revenues, the vendor to be paid from a percentage of the revenues, and after the total price is paid the meters to become the property of the city, did not constitute the granting of a franchise. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

Approval by Qualified Electors: A city is prohibited from granting a franchise to a gas company to lay its mains in city streets until the application for it has first been submitted to and approved by the qualified electors. State ex rel. Billings v. Billings Gas Co., 55 M 102, 173 P 799 (1918).

The county becomes the debtor of the school district, and upon redeposit thereof in county depositories, the county is liable to the district for their loss occasioned by such depositories becoming insolvent, such loss being the loss of county and not school district funds. Attorney General's Opinions

Distribution of Interest on Protested Tax Payments: Interest accrued on amounts held in a protest fund established under 15-1-402 is not "public money" under 7-6-201 through 7-6-206 and therefore must be distributed to the affected taxing units in the same proportion as the tax amounts in the fund are paid to those units. 41 A.G. Op. 60 (1986).

(c) securities guaranteed by the United States or by an agency of the United States but not issued by agencies of the United States; or

(a) the portfolio of the investment company or investment trust is limited to United States government obligations and repurchase agreements fully collateralized by United States government obligations; and

(b) the investment company or investment trust takes delivery of the collateral for any repurchase agreement, either directly or through an authorized custodian." Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Saving Clause: Section 4, Ch. 406, L. 1995, was a saving clause.

Applicability: Section 5, Ch. 406, L. 1995, provided: "This act does not apply to and does not require the sale of securities that were legal investments before [the effective date of this act] [effective April 13, 1995]. Upon the liquidation of an investment authorized prior to [the effective date of this act] [effective April 13, 1995], the proceeds must be invested pursuant to [this act]."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 271 inserted (1)(c) relating to securities guaranteed but not issued by the United States; and inserted (1)(d) relating to mutual funds that invest only in government obligations and in securities issued or guaranteed by the United States.

1985 Amendment: At end deleted "payable within not to exceed 180 days from the time of such investment" and inserted "and securities issued by agencies of the United States".

Attorney General's Opinions

Local Government Investment in Securities Not Issued by Agencies of the United States Prohibited: Consistent with the prior holding in 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987) and with subsequent amendment to this section, a local government may invest public money in a mutual fund that invests, or obtains through repurchase agreements fully collateralized by the United States government, direct obligations of the United States and securities issued by agencies of the United States. However, a local government may not invest public money in a mutual fund that invests in government obligations or securities that are guaranteed but not issued by agencies of the United States. (See 1993 and 1995 amendments.) 44 A.G. Op. 22 (1991).

Allowable Securities Investments: The following are considered "agencies of the United States" and are permissible entities for securities investments under this section: (1) Government National Mortgage Association; (2) Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation; (3) Federal Home Loan Bank Board; (4) Federal National Mortgage Association; and (5) Farm Credit System banks. Also, treasury investment growth receipts represent investments in direct obligations of the U.S. government permissible under this section. However, mortgage-backed certificates issued by a private entity but guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association are not permissible investments. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987). See 1989 amendment that allows the local government body to invest in certain investment companies.

Limitation of Investment in Mutual Funds: A County Treasurer may not invest in private mutual funds even though the funds may be limited to investments in which the Treasurer could directly invest under this section because the actual security being purchased is an interest in an investment company. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987). See 1989 amendment that allows the local government body to invest in certain investment companies.

Attorney General's Opinions

Distribution of Interest on Protested Tax Payments: Interest accrued on amounts held in a protest fund established under 15-1-402 is not "public money" under 7-6-201 through 7-6-206 and therefore must be distributed to the affected taxing units in the same proportion as the tax amounts in the fund are paid to those units. 41 A.G. Op. 60 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Levy for Juvenile Detention Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval Unless Increase Sought in Previous Levy: House Bill No. 74, passed by the 1991 Legislature and approved as Ch. 745, L. 1991, does not require that a levy for juvenile detention facilities be approved by the voters subsequent to initial voter approval unless there is a proposal to increase the amount of the previously approved levy. If a governing body decides at any time that an increase in mills is necessary, it must follow the procedures outlined in 7-6-2531 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 14 (1991).

Part 15
Resort Tax

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Municipal Tiered Resort Tax Allowed: Resort tax statutes neither prohibit nor explicitly permit a differential tax schedule. However, a differential tax structure is not inconsistent with concerns revealed in the legislative history and may arguably further the express statutory purposes by taxing at a higher rate those businesses drawing more of their customers from tourists than those businesses serving a greater proportion of local residents. Therefore, a municipality with self-governing powers may establish a tiered resort tax schedule providing different tax rates for similar goods or services according to the character of the business in which the goods or services are offered, as long as none of the tax rates exceed 3%. 48 A.G. Op. 25 (2000).

Preamble: The preamble to Ch. 729, L. 1985, which enacted 7-6-4461 through 7-6-4467 (renumbered 7-6-1501 through 7-6-1507), provided: "WHEREAS, many municipalities in the State of Montana rely upon tourism for the bulk of their livelihood; and

WHEREAS, the tourist industry tends to be seasonally cyclical; and

WHEREAS, such cycles are reflected in demands for services and capital expenditures that do not occur for a community with a steady economy; and

WHEREAS, tourist income, tending to be spent for services and consumables originating in communities other than the resort community, is not translated into taxable real property; and

WHEREAS, the resort community must provide services not only for tourists but for its own residents, and those services are not commensurate with the taxable value of the resort community as compared with steady income municipalities of similar populations.

THEREFORE, it is the intent of this act to rectify this inequity by providing for a resort tax that may be locally enacted which would tax tourists to reimburse the resort community for the services provided to tourists."

Part 21
Office of County Treasurer

Part Case Notes

Property Tax Refund — County Treasurer Not Agent of Department of Revenue: The District Court properly refused a taxpayer's motion to compel a County Treasurer to sign and comply with the terms of a settlement agreement between the Department of Revenue and the taxpayer in a suit over property taxes. A tax refund was at stake, but the taxpayer had failed to comply with the provisions of 15-1-401. The Supreme Court held that rather than being a mere agent of the Department of Revenue, the Treasurer represents a significant part of the tax refund process and cannot be compelled to sign an agreement entitling a taxpayer to a refund without his compliance with 15-1-401. Eagle Communications, Inc. v. County Treasurer, 211 M 195, 685 P2d 912, 41 St. Rep. 1303 (1984).

Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 430 inserted (2) providing exception for county that has adopted alternative accounting method provided in Title 7, chapter 6, part 6; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Case Notes

Bond Payment by Warrant: It was contended that holders of county bonds cannot be required to accept county warrants in payment of principal and interest due on the bonds. The Supreme Court held that such is the manner in which under this section counties discharge their obligations. If there are no funds to pay the warrants but no showing that the bondholders cannot cash them without a discount, it cannot be said that the obligation of the county to such holders is in any manner impaired. Great N. Ry. v. Phillips County, 112 M 542, 118 P2d 754 (1941).

Ministerial Officer: The County Treasurer is a ministerial officer, without authority other than that conferred on him by statute, and he is not required to perform any duties not imposed on him by law. Rosebud County v. Smith, 92 M 75, 9 P2d 1071 (1932).

Warrants:

Where the petition for Writ of Mandate to compel a County Treasurer to register warrants shows on its face that the warrants were not properly made out, signed, or executed, it does not state facts sufficient to justify the granting of the Writ, since such a warrant is no warrant at all, and upon its presentation the officer may entirely disregard it. State ex rel. Lockwood v. Tyler, 64 M 124, 208 P 1081 (1922).

The owner of a warrant which the Treasurer refuses to pay cannot obtain a money judgment against the county in an action on the warrant. Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Accounting for Funds: The duty of a County Treasurer to account for and pay over the money paid directly to him by members of the public, as revenue due the county, or directed by a court or by statute to be deposited with him for safekeeping, is clearly statutory, and his liability for dereliction in this respect is a liability created by statute. Gallatin County v. USF&G Co., 50 M 55, 144 P 1085 (1914), distinguished in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Payment of Juror's Certificates: The phrase, "or as otherwise provided by law", in subsection (5) includes juror's certificates, and the restrictions as to the power of payment by the Treasurer applies as well to them as to other claims against the county. Silver Bow County v. Davies, 40 M 418, 107 P 81 (1910); In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 92 P 785 (1907).

Disbursement of County Funds: The provisions of this section are mandatory. The use of the word "only" in subsection (5) limits the power of the Treasurer to pay out the money of the county, both as to the amount and the precedent conditions of payment. Silver Bow County v. Davies, 40 M 418, 107 P 81 (1910); In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 92 P 785 (1907).

WHEREAS, a recent audit identified many of these problems and recommended that a single state agency be designated to coordinate the collection of state revenue by the counties."

General Provisions Related to Counties

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of Local Government to Levy Additional Mills to Make Up Difference Between Light Vehicle Tax Reimbursement and Amount Assessed for Fiscal Year 2001: In enacting 15-1-121, the Legislature provided for a reimbursement of an average of 88% of the amount lost by counties in light vehicle fee collections compared to the amount that the counties actually received in combined fees and property taxes in fiscal year 2001. The legislative intent was to simplify the collection and disbursement of county revenue while maintaining rough revenue neutrality for the counties. Under 15-10-420, the Legislature also provided an inflation adjustment to the mill levy cap and allowed for an increase in mill levy capacity for a decrease in reimbursements, in effect enabling local governments to maintain for fiscal year 2002 the amount of revenue collected in fiscal year 2001. Thus, a local government was authorized to levy additional mills sufficient to make up the difference between the amount reimbursed by the state for light vehicle fees and taxes under 15-1-121 and the amount of fees and taxes assessed by the local government for fiscal year 2001. 49 A.G. Op. 4 (2001).

Mill Levy Increase — Proration to Parts of Fiscal Year to Accommodate October Effective Date: Section 7-14-2501 was amended in 1981 to authorize the Board of County Commissioners to levy 15 mills rather than 12 mills for the county road fund. The increase, under the 1981 amendments to 1-2-201, becomes effective October 1, 1981. However the county budget year begins July 1, 1981. The reasonable way to give effect to both amendments is to construe them to allow the Board to apply a rate of 12 mills for the 3 months of the current county fiscal year which fall before October 1, 1981, and a rate of 15 mills for the 9 months of the current county fiscal year which fall after October 1, 1981. (See 2001 amendment to 7-14-2501.) 39 A.G. Op. 29 (1981).

Part 24
County Auditor and Claims Against County

Part Case Notes

Failure of Commissioners to Provide Suitable Office Room: The acts of the County Commissioners in furnishing the Auditor, as an office, an 8- x 22-foot partitioned space, with no windows, insufficient ventilation, and artificial lighting, was an abuse of discretion and an arbitrary act. State ex rel. Taylor v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954).

Woman May Be Auditor: Since the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the 1889 Montana Constitution, a woman, otherwise qualified, is entitled to hold the office of County Auditor. Rose v. Sullivan, 56 M 480, 185 P 562 (1919).

7-6-2401. Creation of office of county auditor.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 145 in (1) at beginning deleted "Except as provided in subsection (2)" and at end after "fourth class" inserted "that have a population in excess of 15,000"; in (2) substituted text relating to the creation of a county auditor's position in combination with another position for former text that read: "(2) The provisions of 7-6-2401 through 7-6-2413 do not apply to counties having a population of less than 15,000 persons according to the most recent federal census"; inserted (3) providing that the provisions of 7-6-2403 through 7-6-2412 do not apply to counties without a county auditor; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2003.

Part of Section Not Codified: A "grandfather clause" at the end of section 16-3201, R.C.M. 1947, relating to the continued holding of office of current officeholders in fifth-class counties was not codified because it was temporary. That clause was not repealed and is valid law. It may be referred to as sec. 1, Ch. 52, L. 1961.

Case Notes

County of Sixth Class — Accountant Hired to Audit Books — Void: Under this section a county of the sixth class is not entitled to an auditor, and when such county entered into a contract with a public accountant for an audit of its books at a monthly compensation of $150 for a period of several years, the contract was void for the reason that it nullified this section. Judith Basin County ex rel. Vralsted v. Livingston, 89 M 438, 298 P 356 (1931).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. Had the Legislature intended to expressly authorize County Commissions to reduce the office, it would have adopted legislation similar to that for County Attorneys and County Superintendents. The authority in 7-6-2412 extends to the imposition of additional County Auditor duties, not to the reduction of hours worked. There is no express or implied authority for counties with general powers to reduce the office of County Auditor to a half-time position. 47 A.G. Op. 18 (1998).

7-6-2407. Examination and investigation of claims.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 371 at end of (1) substituted "who shall investigate and examine all claims presented" for "whose duty it shall be to audit the same. The county auditor shall also investigate and examine all claims presented to him and report the same with his finding to the board of county commissioners at their regular session after such investigation shall have been completed, with his approval or disapproval endorsed thereon, and he shall keep a complete record of all such claims and of his investigations and examinations of the same in a book kept for that purpose"; inserted (2) and (3) regarding duties of county auditor after receipt of claim; in (4)(b) at end of first sentence deleted "provided, however, that the judge of the district court of the county where any claim has been disapproved by the county auditor may order the payment of the same"; inserted (4)(b)(i) through (4)(b)(iii) outlining requirements for county auditor upon disapproval of claim payment; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 16, 2003.

Case Notes

Disallowance of Claims: The Board may exercise its judgment in ordering paid those claims which have the approval of the Auditor, but the only power which the Board has in reference to claims disapproved by him is to disallow them. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

District Court Approval of Disallowed Claims: It would seem that the proviso empowering District Judges to order the payment of claims against the county after the approval by the Auditor is repugnant to Art. IV, sec. 1, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. III, sec. 1, 1972 Mont. Const.), for the reason that it undertakes to cast upon District Judges a power which pertains exclusively to the executive branch of the government. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

Scope of "Audit": The word "audit" is not used in its narrow and restricted sense and does not limit the Auditor to merely ascertaining whether the claims are in proper form and mathematically correct. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

7-6-2408. Auditor's powers related to investigations.

Case Notes

Scope of County Auditor's Duties — Adequate Budget: A County Auditor brought an action seeking a Writ of Mandamus to compel the respondent Board of County Commissioners to include sufficient funds in the Auditor's budget to allow the Auditor to conduct audits to determine county compliance with applicable statutes. The Supreme Court overruled the issuance of the Writ by stating that while the Board has a legally enforceable duty to fund the Auditor's office at a level that allows her to perform her duties at the minimum level imposed by law, the language of the applicable statute and a comparison of the Auditor's duty under 7-6-2409 with the duties of the Legislative Auditor and the duties of the Department of Community Affairs (now Department of Administration) indicates that the County Auditor's functions under 7-6-2409 are limited to bookkeeping and account balancing. This conclusion is also indicated by the fact that the Legislature has required no professional qualifications of the County Auditors but has established minimum levels of education and experience for the Legislative Auditor. Reep v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 191 M 162, 622 P2d 685, 38 St. Rep. 108 (1981).

7-6-2412. Other duties of auditor.

Attorney General's Opinions

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. 7-6-2413. Limitation on number of deputy county auditors.

Case Notes

No Legal Duty to Fund Deputy Position: The Lewis and Clark County Auditor petitioned for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the Board of County Commissioners to fund a Deputy Auditor position eliminated by the Commissioners because of budget cuts. The District Court dismissed the petition on the ground that there was no legal duty of the Commissioners to fund the position. On appeal, the Supreme Court had to reconcile three statutes: 7-4-2401(1), under which county officers may appoint as many deputies or assistants as necessary to discharge the duties of the office; 7-4-2402, which provides the County Commissioners with authority to fix and determine the number of county deputy officers; and 7-6-2413, which provides that the number of Deputy Auditors in first-, second-, and third-class counties must not exceed one. The court held that the specific statute, 7-6-2413, must control over the general statute, 7-4-2401(1). The specific statute does not mandate a Deputy Auditor but merely permits one deputy. Based on 7-4-2402, the court held that the authority to determine whether to appoint a deputy resides with the Commissioners and not the Auditor. Based on this statutory scheme, the court held that the Commissioners had no clear legal duty to fund the position of Deputy Auditor. Spotorno v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 212 M 253, 687 P2d 720, 41 St. Rep. 1722 (1984).

The county treasurer may deduct the fees and expenses of the coroner and the county prior to transferring the money"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Reference to R.C.M. Section: Section 16-2616, R.C.M. 1947, was repealed by Ch. 443, L. 1979. That section provided for the deposit of money found on a dead body.

Claims 793

GENERAL

Mandamus Proceeding Authorized: This section was not violated by Justice of the Peace seeking Writ of Mandamus to compel County Commissioners to pay for clerical services of a secretary because he was considered to be litigating his own right to incur actual and necessary expenses in the performance of his official duties. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184, 32 St. Rep. 1136 (1975).

Limitation — No Bar: Where, without first ascertaining the legal ownership thereof, a county appropriated a landowner's gravel, the landowner's action was not barred by the limitation of this section. Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Limitation — Not Applicable to Amended Claim: Where a Sheriff's claims during two terms in office had been approved by the Commissioners for mileage at the rate of 7 cents and 8 ½ cents per mile, and after retiring from office he presented additional claims for the difference between those rates and 10 cents per mile under 7-32-2144, he was not required to present the latter claims within 1 year after the last claim accrued, under this section, they having amounted to amendments of the original claims, the merits of which had been passed upon by the Board before approval. Weir v. Silver Bow County, 113 M 237, 124 P2d 1003 (1942), distinguished in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Claim by Officer — Use of Own Equipment:

Mere benefits received will not ordinarily create an implied promise to pay, but if a county (or other municipal corporation) is required by law to furnish one of its officers with the necessary equipment for the performance of his duties, and it does not do so but knowingly permits him to use his own equipment, receiving benefits therefrom, it is liable for the reasonable value of its use as upon an implied contract. Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929).

This section, providing that a county officer must not present any claim against the county, except for his own services, or aid another in procuring allowance of a demand against the county, does not bar an officer from presenting a valid claim against the county for use of his own equipment, the provision being merely intended to bar the officer from championing the claims of third persons. Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929).

Pleading — Presentation of Claim — Condition Precedent: The presentation of a claim to the Board of County Commissioners is a condition precedent to the commencement of an action against the county for its recovery. Powder River Cattle Co. v. Comm'rs of Custer County, 9 M 145, 22 P 383 (1889); Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899). See also First Nat'l Bank of Billings v. Custer County, 7 M 464, 17 P 551 (1888).

Pleading — Allegations Required: A complaint in an action against a county to recover witness fees, which failed to allege that the claim had been presented under oath (deleted, Ch. 225, L. 1979) to the county, in separate items, with the nature of each item stated, was defective. First Nat'l Bank of Billings v. Custer County, 7 M 464, 17 P 551 (1888), distinguished in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

CLAIMS

School Money — Question of Law — No Discretion: A claim against the county within the meaning of this section, the presentation of which to the Board of County Commissioners is a condition precedent of an action for its recovery, does not comprehend a claim by a school district for its proportion of interest and penalties retained by the county on redemption of property from tax sale. This presents a question of the law dependent upon the meaning of statutes, thus leaving no room for the exercise of discretion lodged in the Board in passing upon the average claim presented for allowance. School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Failed Consideration — Road Purchase: The subject matter of an action against a county by which it was sought to obtain compensation for land taken for road purposes under an agreement, the consideration for which failed, is not a "claim" against the county, within the meaning of this section, an action on which is barred if not brought within 1 year after its accrual. Flynn v. Beaverhead County, 54 M 309, 170 P 13 (1917), explained in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Member of Sheriff's Posse: A person who serves as a member of a Sheriff's posse in obedience to a law requiring him to do so cannot recover from the county for expenses or services rendered, in the absence of an express or implied provision of law authorizing payment therefor. Sears v. Gallatin County, 20 M 462, 52 P 204 (1898). See State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 157 P 1157 (1916).

Case Notes

Does Not Authorize Claims: This section does not create any authority to compensate Commissioners. They may charge for services otherwise legal. This section is designed in connection with 7-6-2421 to enable the Board of County Commissioners to determine in the first instance whether it will even consider a claim. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

7-6-2424. Appeal of decision concerning claim.

Section Plain, Speedy, and Adequate Relief — Mandate as Remedy:

Where Justice of Peace incurred unbudgeted expenses and County Commissioners refused to pay, Writ of Mandate under 27-26-102, rather than appeal under this section or declaratory judgment, was proper remedy. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

District Court properly quashed Writ of Mandate to compel County Commissioners to allow claim of hospital for medical care of a floating sheepherder since there existed a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy at law by an appeal to the District Court from disallowance of claim by County Commissioners. State ex rel. Mont. Hosp. Ass'n, Inc. v. Pitch, 140 M 349, 372 P2d 90 (1962).

Appeals — How Tried:

Appeals from orders of the Board of County Commissioners disallowing claims against a county must, under this section, be tried and determined as appeals from Justices' Courts; i.e., they must be tried de novo (25-33-301 and 25-33-302). Yancey v. Park County, 111 M 73, 106 P2d 349 (1940).

The language of subsection (3) can mean no more than that the court may try de novo the question whether the action of the Board in its allowance or disallowance was correct. The Board is not a court, and its action is not tantamount to a judgment. Its refusal to allow a claim is not conclusive, even though the claimant does not appeal. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916); Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Appeals from actions of Boards of County Commissioners are prosecuted and tried like appeals from a Justice of the Peace. State ex rel. Seres v. District Court, 19 M 501, 48 P 1104 (1897).

Effect of Failure to Appeal Allowance of Claim — Suit by County Attorney: Failure of a taxpayer to appeal to the District Court from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing a claim against the county under the authority given him by this section does not limit the right of the County Attorney to sue in the name of the county to recover money illegally paid under 7-4-2714. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

Record on Appeal: An appeal from an order of the Board of County Commissioners disallowing a claim against the county was submitted to the District Court without a hearing, resulting in a reversal of the order. The County Attorney made an appeal from the court's order declining to set aside its decision on the ground of inadvertence and mistake based on the assertion that the Clerk of the Board had failed to lodge with the court a copy of the Board's record in the case. The Supreme Court held that it was apparent that to arrive at its decision the court must have impliedly found that the proper record was before it. Huntington v. Yellowstone County, 80 M 20, 257 P 1041 (1927).

Board to Allow or Disallow Claims Against County: When the Auditor has disapproved a claim, the Board of County Commissioners must disallow it so that the claimant may proceed to enforce it against the county by appeal to the District Court. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

Jurisdiction on Appeal: The jurisdiction of the District Court on appeal from an order made by County Commissioners allowing or disallowing a claim against the county is limited to the determination of the question whether the action of the Board of County Commissioners was correct and to a declaration affirming or reversing it, with a judgment for costs. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

Parties:

On appeal from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing or disallowing a claim under this section, the parties are the county and the claimant, or in a taxpayer's suit, the county and the objecting taxpayer. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

In the case of claims against counties, the claimant, or the objecting taxpayer, and the county are the real parties in interest, and therefore adversary parties. State ex rel. Hackshaw v. District Court, 48 M 477, 138 P 1100 (1913).

Independent Action on Claim: A claimant against the county has the right to maintain an independent action on a claim rejected by the Board of Commissioners in view of 27-2-209. Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Appeal of Portion of Allowance: An appeal may be taken by a taxpayer from one or more items of a claim against the county allowed by the Commissioners, without appealing from the whole of the allowance. Twohy v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 17 M 461, 43 P 494 (1896).

Sufficiency of Notice — Waiver by Clerk: An appeal was taken by a taxpayer from the allowance by the Commissioners of a bill against the county. A notice of appeal was served upon the County Clerk, and the Clerk thereupon complied with applicable law on appeal. The Clerk thereby waived any irregularity or insufficiency of the service of the notice. Twohy v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 17 M 461, 43 P 494 (1896).

Appeal Allowance of Claims — Default Against County: A taxpayer took an appeal to the District Court from an allowance by a Board of County Commissioners of a claim against a county under sections 764 and 765, 5th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887. A judgment by default was rendered by the court upon the failure of the Board to appear, adjudging the claim illegal and setting aside the allowance of the same without a trial or inquiry of any character respecting its merits. The judgment was unauthorized and constituted no defense to an application for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the payment by the County Treasurer of a warrant issued in payment of such claim. State ex rel. Cope v. Minar, 13 M 1, 31 P 723 (1892), explained in Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

Case Notes

Criminal Case — Sheriff's Out-of-State Expenses Denied: A Sheriff predicated his demand for reimbursement for expenses incurred by him for services performed beyond the state line upon his legal rights incident to his position as Sheriff and not upon a contract of employment by the County Attorney, at who's direction he acted, nor did he show that he first obtained the consent of the Board of County Commissioners to absent himself from the state under 7-4-2208; thus he was not entitled to recover on the theory that the claim was allowable under authority of subsection (2), making the county chargeable with expenses necessarily incurred by the County Attorney in criminal cases arising within the county. Brannin v. Sweet Grass County, 88 M 412, 293 P 970 (1930).

Contingent Expenses: A County Attorney of a county of the third class had power to bind the county for services of a stenographer employed by the day if such services were necessary to the proper discharge of the duties of his office. In the absence of a showing that they were unnecessary, the District Court properly directed the Board of County Commissioners to pay the claim, under this section, providing that contingent expenses necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the county are county charges. In re Claims of Hyde, 73 M 363, 236 P 248 (1925).

Expenses Not Imposed by Law:

That which the law does not impose as an expense upon a county is not properly chargeable to it. In re Claims of Hyde, 73 M 363, 236 P 248 (1925).

Expenses not imposed by law are not a charge against a county. Wade v. Lewis & Clark County, 24 M 335, 61 P 879 (1900).

Criminal Case — County Attorney: Under subsection (2), all expenses necessarily incurred by a County Attorney in prosecutions for public offenses arising in the county are a county charge. Independent Publishing Co. v. Lewis & Clark County, 30 M 83, 75 P 860 (1904).

Restriction of Liability: This section restricts the liability of the county to such expenses as may be incurred under statutory authority directly conferred or necessarily implied from the powers granted to the county. Sears v. Gallatin County, 20 M 462, 52 P 204 (1898).

County Responsible for Charges Incurred by City Police — Criminal Prosecutions: The county bears the financial responsibility for charges incurred at the request of the County Attorney, after an arrest by city police, for the preservation and preparation of evidence to be used in felony cases. 38 A.G. Cost of Defending Official Misconduct: A county is not obligated to pay the costs of defending a nonindigent county officer charged with official misconduct. 37 A.G. Op. 57 (1977).

7-6-2430. Accounts to be examined, settled, and allowed.

Case Notes

Failure to Examine — Waiver of Right to Complain: Since under this section, the Board of County Commissioners is authorized to examine, settle, and allow all claims against the county, its failure to ascertain whether charges made under a county printing contract were in accordance therewith deprives the county of the right to charge that claims filed for work done under the contract were fraudulent. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

"Accounts": The word "accounts" used in this section must be understood in a broad, generic sense, and as including any right to or claim for money which is due and payable from the county treasury. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

County Taxation

Part Case Notes

Increased Valuations: State Board of Equalization (now State Tax Appeal Board) issued a directive to Board of County Commissioners and County Assessor in November 1963, requiring use of certain valuations on grade of farmland for 1964 and years thereafter, that the officials of the county refused to do. The State Board was entitled to mandamus to compel the county officials to comply with the directive. Alleged impossibility of compliance on July 22, 1964, was no defense. The officials had from November until the second Monday in August to accomplish the task but chose to do nothing except contest the matter. State ex rel. Bd. of Equalization v. Koch, 145 M 474, 401 P2d 765 (1965).

Time of Attachment of Lien: Even though 15-16-403 provides that the tax lien attaches at date certain, the lien cannot become choate for the purpose of determining its priority as against federal tax liens until the amount is determined pursuant to 7-6-2502 (now repealed). Streeter Bros. v. Overfelt, 202 F. Supp. 143 (D.C. Mont. 1961).

Time for Fixing Rate: Board of County Commissioners, at the conclusion of its sitting, must fix the rate of taxation for the year. State ex rel. Fadness v. Eie, 53 M 138, 162 P 164 (1916).

Levy for Juvenile Detention Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval Unless Increase Sought in Previous Levy: House Bill No. 74, passed by the 1991 Legislature and approved as Ch. 745, L. 1991, does not require that a levy for juvenile detention facilities be approved by the voters subsequent to initial voter approval unless there is a proposal to increase the amount of the previously approved levy. If a governing body decides at any time that an increase in mills is necessary, it must follow the procedures outlined in 7-6-2531 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 14 (1991).

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by 22-1-304. (See 2001 amendment to 22-1-304.) To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Mill Levy Limitations Not Impliedly Repealed by Property Tax Freeze: Initiative No. 105 and Senate Bill No. 71 (Ch. 654, L. 1987) do not amend or repeal by implication statutes limiting the total amount of mill levies. 42 A.G. Op. 21 (1987).

Special Tax Protest Refund Levy Not Subject to Voter Approval — Sale of Bonds Subject to Approval: A special tax protest refund levy authorized by 15-1-402 is not subject to the limitation on property taxes established in this section; therefore, the voter approval requirements of 7-6-2531 (now repealed) do not apply to such levy. However, voter approval is required before bonds may be issued and sold for the purpose of making tax protest refunds. (See 1999 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 18 (1987).

Separate Tax Levy for Air Pollution Program Not Permitted: The County Commissioners may not impose a separate tax levy to fund local air pollution programs. 41 A.G. Op. 28 (1985).

Park Board Partly Funded by County General Fund: The funding for the county park board's obligations is derived from the county general fund as well as from other specific sources as enumerated by 7-16-2324, 7-16-2328, and 76-3-606 (now repealed). Since a specific separate tax levy is not authorized for the park fund, additional money must be appropriated from the county general fund authorized by 7-6-2501 if the revenue from sources other than taxation is insufficient to meet the necessary expenditures. 40 A.G. Op. 49 (1984).

Levy of Property Taxes for Special Purposes: The mill levy limitation provided in 7-6-2501 does not apply to special levies authorized for particular purposes. Therefore, the mill levy authorized by 2-9-316, which is a special levy, is not subject to the limit provided in 7-6-2501. 39 A.G. Op. 34 (1981).

Expenses of Valid Interlocal Agreement Includable in Annual Mill Levy: A county may include the expenses of participation in a valid interlocal agreement in its annual county mill levy. 38 A.G. Op. 51 (1979).

Not Exclusive Vehicle for Funding District Court Operations: Section 7-6-2511 is not the exclusive vehicle for funding District Court operations. District Court funding may be supplemented by other revenue sources, such as the all-purpose levy provided by 7-6-2501. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 574 in temporary version in first sentence and in version effective July 1, 2002, in (1) before "district court costs" inserted "county" and deleted former second sentence that read: "The tax may not exceed 6 mills in the first- and second-class counties, 5 mills in third- and fourth-class counties, and 4 mills in fifth-, sixth-, and seventh-class counties." Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

(Version effective July 1, 2002) Chapter 585 in (1) at end of first sentence substituted "certain district court costs, as provided in subsection (2)" for "all district court costs, except those listed in 3-5-211, 3-5-213, and 3-5-215"; inserted (2) delineating district court costs for which a tax may be levied; in (3) substituted "Costs of the office of the clerk of district court include but are not limited to salary and benefits for clerks of district court, deputy clerks of district court, and other employees of the office of the clerk of district court and expenses of the office" for "District court costs include but are not limited to salary and benefits for court clerks, court reporters, youth probation officers, and other employees of the district court"; inserted (4) allowing use of excess funds to pay expenses of office of county attorney; inserted (5) referring to ability of county and district court to apply for, receive, and administer state, federal, and private grants; and made minor changes in style.

Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

No Statutory Authority to Levy Taxes in Order to Fund Judicial Budget or Budget Deficit: Section 2-9-316 does not grant counties the authority to levy taxes in response to a District Court order that a judicial budget or budget deficit be funded. 43 A.G. Op. 37 (1989).

State Grants to District Courts — Maximum Mill Levy Not Required: Because of the requirements for establishing county mill levies under Title 7, ch. 6, part 23, and because of the unforeseeable nature of District Court expenses, the Department of Administration may not require a county to impose a maximum mill levy for District Court expenses in order to be considered eligible for a state grant to District Courts under 7-6-2352 (now repealed). 39 A.G. Op. 71 (1982).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Disposition of District Court Fees: Fees collected by Clerks of the District Courts do not accrue as a revenue item to the District Court fund in those counties adopting a 6-mill District Court levy (see 2001 amendment). The Board of County Commissioners, however, may supplement the 6-mill levy with general fund revenues in financing the District Court fund. 38 A.G. Op. 52 (1979). (See 38 A.G. Op. 31.)

Costs Resulting From Existence of the District Court as District Court Cost: Costs and charges assessed against a county by virtue of the existence of the District Court and the conduct of District Court proceedings fall within the term "district court cost". These can include family court services, public defender programs, personal staff and support personnel for district judges, and jury and witness fees. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Not Exclusive Vehicle for Funding District Court Operations: Section 7-6-2511 is not the exclusive vehicle for funding District Court operations. District Court funding may be supplemented by other revenue sources, such as the all-purpose levy provided by 7-6-2501. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Attorney General's Opinions

Registration of Unpaid Hospital District Warrants as County Warrants and Subsequent Purchase by County Not Allowable: County Commissioners concerned with financing the indebtedness of a local hospital district sought to register the district's unpaid warrants in accordance with 7-6-2603 and this section and then invest surplus county funds in the unpaid warrants pursuant to 7-6-2701. However, the Legislature has authorized counties to invest only in county, municipal, or school district registered warrants, not hospital district warrants. Therefore, unpaid warrants of a hospital district may not be registered as county warrants and purchased by the county in which the district is located. 43 A.G. Op. 71 (1990).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 278 deleted former (1) that read: "(1) When a warrant is presented for payment, if there is money in the treasury for that purpose, the county treasurer must pay the same, write on the face thereof "Paid" and the date of payment, and sign his name thereto. Warrants must be paid in the order of presentation to the treasurer"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Case Notes

Failure to Present for Payment Within Limit:

Failure to present a warrant for payment after it had been called is a complete defense to mandamus action to compel payment, but holder of the warrant need not anticipate and negative such defense. State ex rel. Blenkner v. Stillwater County, 104 M 387, 66 P2d 788 (1937).

The only penalty a holder of a registered warrant incurs, under this section, for failure to re-present it for payment within 60 days after issuance of the call is loss of interest thereon. State ex rel. Case v. Bolles, 74 M 54, 238 P 586 (1925).

Mandamus to Compel Payment of Warrant: Relator held a registered warrant and the fund out of which it was payable had sufficient money to cover the face value of all registered warrants but insufficient to pay them with accrued interest. It did not appear whether the Treasurer had called the warrants for payment or whether the 60 days specified in this section had elapsed. Writ of Mandate ordering the Treasurer to pay relator's warrant with interest was improper in the absence of a showing that there were sufficient funds to pay prior warrants and interest thereon entitled to payment and to pay relator's also. State ex rel. DeKalb v. Ferrell, 105 M 218, 70 P2d 290 (1937).

Mandatory Repayment — Payment Limit: The word "may" appearing in subsection (4)(b) that provides that the Board of County Commissioners may, on application of the holder of a warrant who failed to re-present a warrant within 60 days after issuance of the call for its payment, order the County Treasurer to pay it, means "must" or "shall". State ex rel. Case v. Bolles, 74 M 54, 238 P 586 (1925).

1985 Amendment: In (1) near middle before "warrants" inserted "municipal, or school district registered", near end substituted "purchase such warrants of entities located in the same county" for "purchase county warrants of the same county", and at end deleted "thereafter issued against funds in which there is not sufficient money to pay such county warrants at the time of issuance"; inserted (2)(c) relating to the rate of interest; in (2)(d) before "warrants" deleted "county warrant or"; in (3) at beginning substituted "The officer drawing a warrant to be purchased for investment by a county shall cause" for "The county clerk and recorder shall thereupon cause" and after "printed upon" substituted "the warrant" for "the warrants so ordered to be purchased"; inserted (4) relating to presentation to County or Municipal Clerk or Treasurer and requirement that warrant be registered; in (5), near beginning after "warrant", inserted "designated for purchase under the provisions of subsection (2)", deleted former second sentence that read: "The warrant so purchased shall be registered as other county warrants and bear interest as provided by law", and at end inserted "or the applicable officer authorized to draw such warrants"; and made numerous minor changes in style and phraseology.

Attorney General's Opinions

Registration of Unpaid Hospital District Warrants as County Warrants and Subsequent Purchase by County Not Allowable: County Commissioners concerned with financing the indebtedness of a local hospital district sought to register the district's unpaid warrants in accordance with 7-6-2601 and 7-6-2603 and then invest surplus county funds in the unpaid warrants pursuant to this section. Spending Disparities Not Allowed: Article X, sec. 8, Mont. Const., does not require that spending disparities between the school districts of the state be allowed to exist because the disparities cannot be described as the result of local control. Money From Sale of School Building — Resulting Trust: Complaint for Writ of Mandate by a county high school against the County Treasurer to compel payment of money realized from the sale of a building purchased with high school funds and sold by County Commissioners as trustee when no longer needed for school purposes stated a cause of action on the theory of a resulting trust. Although the pleading did not ask that a trust be declared, it was sufficient to authorize issuance of the Writ directing defendant to deposit the sale price to the credit of plaintiff. State ex rel. Gallatin County High School v. Brandenburg, 107 M 199, 82 P2d 593 (1938).

Part Case Notes

DECISIONS UNDER FORMER LAW

Agreement by County Commission to Pay Justice Court Expenses — Failure to Object — Appeal Precluded: A Justice of the Peace requested approval of funds from the County Commission for employment of a temporary clerical assistant. The County Commission initially refused to approve the funds. The claim was then submitted for certification pursuant to Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), and was subsequently certified as an actual and necessary expense incurred in the performance of actual duties of the Justice Court. When the bill was still not paid, the Justice of the Peace filed a petition for a contempt order against the County Commissioners for failure to pay the certified claim. The order was amended to include attorney fees. The County Commission then agreed to pay the claim and did not oppose the motion to amend, nor did it file a responsive brief. However, it later alleged error. The Supreme Court held that the County Commission waived the right to appeal by agreeing to pay the claim and then failing to object to the District Court order to pay the claim and taking no further action to challenge the claim. In re Certain Justice Court Expenses, 264 M 510, 872 P2d 795, 51 St. Rep. 372 (1994).

County Employment of Independent Contractor to Provide Legal Services: There is no express prohibition under Montana law precluding or preventing a county from entering into an independent contractor relationship for the provision of legal services. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Commissioners Not Personally Liable for Transfer of Funds: Big Horn County sued County Commissioners and County Clerk and Recorder personally to recover alleged excess funds transferred to pay the salary for a Justice of the Peace. In upholding the District Court's grant of summary judgment for the Commissioners, the Supreme Court held that the Commissioners and Clerk and Recorder acted within their statutory duty and were not personally liable where the transfer of funds was made to cover a deficit when judicial costs exceeded the estimated budget. The hourly cost in the budget was not increased. Big Horn County v. Gregory, 225 M 162, 730 P2d 1181, 44 St. Rep. 120 (1987).

Local Government Revision of Salary Schedules: A local government with self-government powers may revise a salary schedule that has been set forth in the final budget if such revision is done in accordance with the applicable law. Butte-Silver Bow, as a local government with self-government powers, adopted lawful procedures for such revision, but the facts of this case are such that the attempted revision was not in accord with the law. The court found that the salary revision was more than merely a revision of the salary schedule contained in the final budget. When Butte-Silver Bow adopted the proposed salary increase by motion, set the specific amount, and set specific effective dates, and then included the increase in the final budget, such salary became fixed for that period and could not subsequently be revised. Bukvich v. Butte-Silver Bow, 215 M 202, 696 P2d 444, 42 St. Rep. 293 (1985).

District Court's Power to Order Payment of Expenditures Beyond Budget: District Court's fiscal year budget was overrun, and this stopped or threatened to stop the efficient and orderly administration of justice and court business, creating an emergency. As a court of competent jurisdiction, the District Court may issue orders for the payment of out-of-budget expenditures that are reasonable and necessary. Compliance with the orders by the members of the Board of County Commissioners or by any other officer in the exercise of his official duties is within the exception to personal liability of the officers provided in 7-6-2323 (now repealed). The officers may pass on the propriety of the claims but may not deny them on the basis that they are outside the budget if the court has duly ordered them paid. State ex rel. District Court v. Whitaker, 210 M 363, 681 P2d 1097, 41 St. Rep. 1104 (1984).

Justices' Courts: Section 3-10-103, a specific statute mandating Commissioners to pay actual and necessary expenses of Justices' Courts, controlled where Justice of Peace incurred unforeseen workload and hired part-time, temporary clerk; thus County Commissioners had duty to pay this expense, even though it was not budgeted. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

Limitation on Expenditures — Exception: When the financial needs of Justices of the Peace were provided for by statute, those provisions prevailed over the provisions of 7-6-2324 (now repealed) as to limitations on expenditures. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184, 32 St. Rep. 1136 (1975).

Debt Limit: Board of County Commissioners which overtaxed taxpayers in 1 year in order to provide a fund out of which expenses for capital improvements and remodeling of airport that exceeded $21,000 clearly violated Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), by incurring a liability for over $10,000 without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county. The county was not able to argue that "no indebtedness or liability" had been created because the money was already on hand. Extraordinarily high levy created a "reserve fund" to be used for capital improvements, which is not allowable due to restriction in 67-10-402 of reserve funds to improvement of surfaces of runways or ramps. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 162 M 371, 512 P2d 710 (1973).

"Cash Balance": "Cash balance", referred to in 7-6-2319 (now repealed), and "all surplus moneys", referred to in section 16-2048, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), relate to the same subject and have the same object, which is the disposition of unexpended funds on hand in the counties at the end of each fiscal year. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pac. R.R. v. Bennett, 145 M 191, 399 P2d 986 (1965).

Transfer of Cash Balance — Determination of Tax Rate: Increased tax on railroads for use of county road fund was held to be invalid, where Board of County Commissioners had transferred money from the road fund into the general fund before determining tax rate for road fund in that fiscal year. (See 1999 amendment.) Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pac. R.R. v. Bennett, 145 M 191, 399 P2d 986 (1965).

Lease-Purchase Payments: Under resolution providing that city would convey title to properties to party who would cause to be built on one property a city-approved building which the city would rent for an annual rental for a period of 3 years with option in the city to purchase property together with the building thereon, lease payments were forms of indebtedness within Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), limiting indebtedness that may be incurred by city. State ex rel. Simmons v. Missoula, 144 M 210, 395 P2d 249 (1964).

"Mandatory Expenditures Required by Law": The general words "mandatory expenditures required by law", as used in 7-6-2341 (now repealed), are not limited by the doctrine of ejusdem generis to the specific types of calamities enumerated earlier in the subsection since the general words are not associated in any way with the specific words, but rather they embrace an entirely different subject matter from those characterized by the specific words. Burke v. Sullivan, 127 M 374, 265 P2d 203 (1954).

Excess Funds — Reversion to General Fund: Where County Commissioners fix salary of officer at less than that provided in budget, it is not necessary that there be a resolution for a transfer of a part of the funds, since excess funds will revert to the general fund at the end of the fiscal year. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Salary Schedule — Effect: When a salary schedule is adopted in the county budget, the Board of County Commissioners is not bound to pay each county employee the salary so fixed without diminution. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Constitutionality: Section 7-6-2318 (now repealed), prohibiting consideration of anticipated loss of revenue for nonpayment of taxes, does not offend against Art. III, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (Art. II, sec. 31, 1972 Mont. Const.), as impairing obligations of contracts, since Title 7, ch. 6, part 2300 (now repealed), contemplates issuances of interest-bearing registered warrants up to budget appropriation, if there is no money in a particular fund that must be taken into consideration in fixing the budget for the succeeding year. Great N. Ry. v. Phillips County, 112 M 542, 118 P2d 754 (1941).

Emergency Budget for General Relief — Not Liability for "Single Purpose": County Commissioners establishing an emergency budget under 7-6-2342 (now repealed) for general relief purposes in the amount of $15,000, without the approval of the electors, did not create an indebtedness or liability for a "single purpose" in excess of $10,000 without such approval within the inhibition of Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.). The entire debt for all relief purposes cannot be regarded a single purpose because the emergency arose by virtue of many separate and distinct purposes founded on a duty expressly imposed in the normal functioning of a county. State ex rel. Nelson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 111 M 395, 109 P2d 1106 (1941).

Where Later Statute Controlling: It is not necessary that the City Council should pass upon a resolution authorizing expenditures to meet an emergency by unanimous vote as provided by 7-6-4252 (now repealed) in the matter of authorizing the creation of a city housing authority under Title 7, ch. 15, part 44, but 7-15-4417, a part of the housing authorities law, later in point of time and not requiring a unanimous vote, is controlling. State ex rel. Helena Housing Authority v. City Council, 108 M 347, 90 P2d 514 (1939).

Remedies for Illegal Levy — Estoppel: Payment of a tax deemed illegal, under protest, and then bringing an action to recover it back is not the exclusive remedy of the taxpayer where the levy is illegal. In the instant case, where there was no need to tax to raise funds for bond and sinking fund, plaintiff taxpayer was not estopped from maintaining action to enjoin collection by his failure to appear before the board at the time the preliminary budget (now proposed budget) was noticed for hearing under 7-6-2316 (now repealed). Rogge v. Petroleum County, 107 M 36, 80 P2d 380 (1938).

Taxing in Excess of Need — Illegal: It is against the policy of the law to raise taxes faster than the money is likely to be needed. In the absence of statutory authority a tax cannot be levied for the sole purpose of accumulating funds in the public treasury, such as for remote or future contingencies which may never arise, nor can it be levied in excess of the amount required for the purpose for which it is levied, with the intention of using the excess for another purpose. Rogge v. Petroleum County, 107 M 36, 80 P2d 380 (1938).

Misapplication of Fund by Treasurer: The office of City Treasurer is a continuing one regardless of the person occupying the office at any particular time. The Treasurer is the servant of the city and not the agent of warrant holders; thus if he misapplies trust funds such as for special improvement purposes, the municipality is liable to the warrant holders. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936).

Negotiability of Warrant: A city warrant is not a negotiable instrument in the sense of the law merchant, and while it may be transferred by delivery or assignment, the transferee takes it subject to all legal and equitable defenses which exist to it in the hands of the payee. Lillis v. Big Timber, 103 M 206, 62 P2d 219 (1936).

Conflict With Police Minimum Wages: If Title 7, ch. 6, part 42 (now repealed), contained any provisions in direct conflict with 7-32-4116 prescribing a minimum wage for policemen in cities of the first class, then 7-32-4116 controls as to such conflicts. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

Judgment Debts Excluded From Budget Law: By Writ of Mandate, city was directed to pay policemen's salaries prescribed by 7-32-4116. City's objection that obedience to the Writ would compel it to violate the budget act held no defense, for under 7-6-4234 (now repealed), a court judgment giving rise to a municipal obligation is specifically excepted from the provisions of the budget law. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

Emergency Warrants Proper for Unbudgeted Drain Assessments: Drain district assessments against a county that had been approved by the court and had the force of judgments were unpaid for lack of funds, and no budget appropriation had been made therefor. The Clerk and Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners should have issued emergency warrants for the assessments. A Writ of Mandate to the Board itself, directing it to pay the assessments, was improperly issued. State ex rel. Valley Center Drain District v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 100 M 581, 51 P2d 635 (1935), explained in Burke v. Sullivan, 127 M 374, 265 P2d 203 (1954).

Statute of Limitation — Not on Right to Enforce: Section 7-6-4122 (now repealed) places a limitation upon the discretionary period and is not a Statute of Limitation with respect to the right to enforce the judgment. The bar of the Statute of Limitations is imposed because of the failure of the possessor of a right to enforce it. "Such a statute may be used as a shield, but not as a sword." State ex rel. N. Am. Life Ins. Co. v. District Court, 100 M 476, 49 P2d 1119 (1935).

Methods of Payment: Section 7-6-4122 (now repealed), makes it the duty of a City or Town Council to levy sufficient tax to pay a judgment against the municipality within 3 years where there is not sufficient money in the general fund to pay it and authorizes the council to fund the debt if the judgment exceeds $10,000. The Board of Councilmen is vested with discretionary power to proceed in any of the several methods of procedure prescribed and thus may not be compelled by the judgment creditor, through Writ of Mandate, to make a specific levy for any one year to satisfy the judgment. State ex rel. N. Am. Life Ins. Co. v. District Court, 97 M 523, 37 P2d 329 (1934).

Reason for Section: By enacting 7-6-4121 (now repealed), authorizing cities to operate on a cash basis where they have reached the limit of indebtedness (Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const., replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), the Legislature did not attempt what it has no power to do: permit them to create indebtedness in excess of such limit, but provided a device by which, without creating an additional indebtedness, they may function on a cash basis. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 15, 28 P2d 472 (1934); Palmer v. Helena, 40 M 498, 107 P 512 (1910).

Reduction in Force — Failure to Use Section: A city which, having reached the constitutional limit of indebtedness, finds itself in financial straits, will not be heard to say, in defense of its violation of a civil service statute in removing a firefighter contrary to its provisions, that it did so to reduce expenses, where it has failed to take advantage of 7-6-4121 (now repealed) authorizing cities in such condition to pay their running expenses from current revenues upon a cash basis. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

What Are Current Expenses:

Under 7-6-4121 (now repealed), a city which is indebted in excess of the limit prescribed by Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), is permitted to conduct its affairs upon a cash basis and pay "reasonable and necessary current expenses from its current revenues", but the authority of such a city extends no further than to make expenditures both reasonable and necessary for the corporate existence of the city; in other words, the right to expend public money is limited to those items of expense which may properly be designated as "living expenses". Palmer v. Helena, 40 M 498, 107 P 512 (1910).

The determination of what is a current expense is for the courts; but the determination of the City Council as to whether a particular current expense is reasonable and necessary is not subject to review by the courts in the absence of fraud or abuse of discretion. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 31 M 243, 78 P 220 (1904). See also State ex rel. Rowling v. Butte, 43 M 331, 117 P 604 (1911).

The term "current" was doubtless employed by the Legislature to distinguish the common, recurring, running expenses of a city from such expenses as partake of the nature of an investment or such as are to be incurred in a substantial or permanent improvement. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 31 M 243, 78 P 220 (1904).

Reports of Money Received and Disbursed: In an action by a city against the sureties on the official bond of the Treasurer, the reports of the Treasurer to the City Council of money received and disbursed during the month, made under 7-6-4105 (now repealed), may be given in evidence against such sureties and are prima facie true, and when not contradicted by the sureties, are binding on them. Philipsburg v. Degenhart, 30 M 299, 76 P 694 (1904).

City Exceeding Debt Limit — Appropriation of Funds: Where a city had exceeded its debt limit, it could not incur an indebtedness not payable from a specially authorized tax but payable from funds previously appropriated, under an agreement that the claimants should accept warrants in payment of their claims, and if the warrant should not be paid, the city should not be liable thereon. The payment of such claims on the theory that the appropriation by ordinance was an assignment of the funds so appropriated for the payment of the claims was unauthorized. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 27 M 205, 70 P 513 (1902).

No Liability for Void Contract: Although the City Council appropriated a sum to pay for water furnished under a contract, such action does not make the city liable therefor, since the contract out of which the liability arose was void and no lawful authority to pay it exists. State ex rel. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 24 M 521, 63 P 99 (1900).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

DECISIONS UNDER FORMER LAW

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by 22-1-304. To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Setting of Compensation for Mosquito Control Board Employees — Approval Required: A mosquito control board may not set the level of compensation of board employees without the approval of the Board of County Commissioners. 47 A.G. Op. 11 (1998). See also 38 A.G. Op. 35 (1979).

Setting of Compensation for Weed Control Board Employees — Approval Required: A weed control board may not set the level of compensation of board employees without the approval of the Board of County Commissioners. 47 A.G. Op. 11 (1998). See also 38 A.G. Op. 35 (1979).

Excess Cash Balance to Be Added to Annual Budget Calculations — Establishment of Trust Fund With Excess Prohibited: A city with general government powers that has a cash balance from previously unbudgeted nontax revenue in excess of outstanding unpaid warrants at the close of the preceding fiscal year in any fund must add the cash balance into the all-purpose general fund to be used in calculating the city's annual operating budget and to set future tax levies. The cash may not be placed in a trust fund, such as a 10-year irrevocable trust fund operated by a third-party trustee. 46 A.G. Op. 15 (1996).

"Cash Balance" Defined: The term "cash balance", as used in 7-6-2319(1) (now repealed), means the cash in a fund on June 30 less any current liabilities. 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

Prior Fiscal Year Reserve Not to Be Included in Current Year's Reserve: Because a prior fiscal year's reserve is not considered part of the amount "appropriated and authorized to be spent during the current fiscal year", as that phrase is used in 7-6-2319(2) (now repealed), it may not be used to calculate the current fiscal year's reserve. (See 1999 amendment.) 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

Equipment Reserve Account as Capital Improvement Fund: An equipment reserve fund within the central garage internal service fund, established by a city with self-governing powers to provide for future equipment replacement, is a capital improvement fund within the meaning of 7-6-4134 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Percentage Limitation Mandatory — Retroactive Transfer of Greater Percentage Impermissible: By its clear terms, 7-6-4134 (now repealed) regulates budget procedures of a city with self-governing powers. The 5% (see 1997 amendment) limitation in 7-6-4134 (now repealed) is a mandatory provision with which a city must comply in establishing its budget. Therefore, the retroactive transfer of more than 5% of all-purpose levy revenue is prohibited. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Separate Accounting Required for Equipment Reserve Account in Enterprise Fund: Enterprise funds, such as funds generated from the provision of income-producing municipal services like water and sewer systems, may not be consolidated with revenue from other sources. A city may not reclassify equipment reserves maintained in the enterprise funds. Therefore, equipment reserve accounts in enterprise funds must be maintained separately from other equipment reserve accounts in a capital improvement fund. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Transfer of Funds to Equipment Reserve Account From Sources Other Than All-Purpose Levy Fund Not Prohibited: Section 7-6-4134 (now repealed) does not prohibit the transfer of funds to an equipment reserve account from sources other than the all-purpose levy fund. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Authorization by County Commission of Increase in Salary of County Officer: Even if the county budget allows for an increase in the salary of a county officer, only the Board of County Commissioners may authorize an increase through the budgetary process. Therefore, a Clerk of Court is not authorized to promote a deputy clerk to a chief deputy position at a higher pay scale without authorization in the county budget and approval of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

Use of Separately Appropriated Funds to Satisfy Negotiated Salary Increases: Section 7-6-4236 (now repealed) does not prohibit a municipality from using funds separately appropriated for the purpose of satisfying salary increases that may arise from collective bargaining negotiations ongoing at the time of a final budget's adoption to pay such increases. Use of such funds constitutes neither a "transfer" within the statutory meaning nor an increase in affected employees' salaries over amounts appropriated for those salaries. 42 A.G. Op. 65 (1988).

Authority of County Officer to Retain Defense Counsel: An elected county officer is not required to obtain the consent of the County Attorney or the County Commissioners in order to retain counsel in defense of a suit brought by the County Attorney pursuant to 7-6-2323 (now repealed). The county must reimburse the officer for legal fees incurred in the defense of the action unless an exclusion, as provided in 2-9-305, applies. 42 A.G. Op. 34 (1985).

Distribution of Corporate License Fees: Corporate license fees received between July 1, 1983, and June 30, 1984, under 15-31-702 (now repealed), are properly distributed pursuant to tax levies adopted by the Board of County Commissioners for fiscal year 1984, including any levy promulgated pursuant to 53-2-813 (now repealed). 41 A.G. Op. 26 (1985).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111, the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year, with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984).

Grants Available Only After Completion of Fiscal Year: Under 7-6-2352 (now repealed), county governments may be eligible to receive state grants to District Courts only after the completion of the fiscal year in which the need for assistance arose. 40 A.G. Op. 39 (1984).

Restrictions on Segregation of Cash and Transfer of Poor Fund: Title 53, ch. 2, part 3, does not authorize a county to set aside money in the poor fund that will not be available for supporting public assistance activities in the county, as provided in 53-2-322 (now repealed). All money in the poor fund must be used for public assistance activities. However, 7-6-2326 (now repealed) permits the transfer of a poor fund cash balance to another fund at the end of a fiscal year. This may be done only when there is an ending balance in excess of the amount budgeted for the poor fund for the next fiscal year, and only the excess may be transferred. 40 A.G. Op. 29 (1983).

Source of Depletion Allowance Reserve Fund — Not Subject to Budgeting: Section 7-34-2402 permits poor fund money to be used to fund a depletion allowance reserve fund only to the extent that the money represents actual money received in excess of expenses incurred from or for the care of indigent patients in the county facility. Because depletion allowance reserve fund money is not derived from tax revenues and the sources and uses of the fund are limited statutorily, the transfer of money to a depletion allowance reserve fund is not subject to the requirements of 7-6-2326 (now repealed). 40 A.G. Op. 29 (1983).

Clerk and Recorder's Report — Basis for Determining Levy: The Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services (now Department of Public Health and Human Services) should rely upon the tax levies presented in the County Clerk and Recorder's report that is provided pursuant to 7-6-2322 (now repealed) for determining the amount levied by the county for purposes of its county poor fund during fiscal year 1982. (See 1999 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 18 (1983).

Maximum Mill Levy Not Required: Because of the requirements for establishing county mill levies under Title 7, ch. 6, part 23 (now repealed), and because of the unforeseeable nature of District Court expenses, the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) may not require a county to impose the maximum levy established in 7-6-2511, for District Court expenses, in order to be considered eligible for a state grant to District Courts under 7-6-2352 (now repealed). 39 A.G. Op. 71 (1982).

Money Freed by Termination of Tax Protest Litigation — Use and Effect: Once tax money tied up in tax protest litigation is received by a municipality upon completion of litigation, it must be deposited to the credit of the fund or funds to which it would have been credited had it been timely received without protest, and it is then available for use. If money remains in a fund at the end of a fiscal year in which it was received, it is a part of the cash balance and is to be included in the calculations to determine the tax levy for the next year. 39 A.G. Op. 55 (1982).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Restrictions in Appropriation Bill Subservient to Statutory Power to Provide Assistance to Counties: Section 7-6-2352 (now repealed) reflects legislative intent to make financial assistance grants for the purpose of offsetting virtually all excess costs associated with the operation of a District Court except those for building, capital, and library maintenance, replacement, and acquisition. Restrictive language in the general appropriation bill of the 1981 legislative session limited the appropriation to emergency funding and only when extraordinary expenses are incurred, expressly conflicting with 7-6-2352 (now repealed). The Attorney General noted that the courts have considered such restrictions with disfavor, that the appropriation bill title did not refer to restrictions on the appropriation, and that the language of Art. V, sec. 11, Mont. Const., limits a general appropriation bill to appropriations. Rejecting the repeal by implication of 7-6-2352 (now repealed) by the restrictions in the appropriation bill, it was concluded that the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) should follow the provisions of 7-6-2352 (now repealed) in providing financial assistance to counties for District Court expenses. 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

Emergency Grant Made Only if Funds Appropriated for That Purpose: No funds were appropriated by the 1979 Legislature to fund emergency grants authorized by 7-6-2352 (now repealed). The statute provided that the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) may make grants only from funds specifically appropriated for that purpose. If no such funds are provided, the Department is under no obligation to make grants and would by negative implication be precluded from doing so. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Emergency Expenditures: A county may make emergency expenditures not reflected in its budget to cover the employer's share of PERS when the responsibility to pay that share arose after adoption of the budget for that fiscal year. 38 A.G. Op. 19 (1979).

Disaster Relief Eligibility: A county road reserve established pursuant to 7-6-2318 (now repealed) to pay costs of county road operations during the first 4 months of the next fiscal year is not a financial resource available to meet emergencies and disasters. 37 A.G. Op. 118 (1978).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: Required multiple levies must be included within the all-purpose levy. 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Disposition of Unexpended County Funds: Unexpended money remaining in a county's classification and appraisal fund as of July 1 may be transferred to other county funds, and the Department of Revenue may not utilize such unexpended money for classification and appraisal of taxable lands and improvements. 35 A.G. Op. 37 (1973).

1985 Amendment: In (2) substituted language relating to claims payment documentation for: "All claims against a city or town shall contain the following statement: "I certify that this claim is correct and just in all respects and that payment or credit has not been received." Claims need not be accompanied by affidavit by the party or his agent"; and inserted (3) relating to review of claims before submission to council.

Case Notes

Power of General Powers Town to Arbitrate Contract Held Included in Power to Contract: Holm-Sutherland contracted with the town of Shelby to construct sewer and water improvements within the town. The contract included a provision requiring that all disputes involving the interpretation of the contract documents or breach of the contract were to be settled by arbitration. When a dispute arose, Holm-Sutherland sought arbitration. Litigation ensued, and the town argued that as a noncharter government, it had only those powers granted by the Legislature and that a municipality's council had a duty pursuant to 7-6-4302 and this section to determine the validity of claims and that duty could not be delegated to an arbitrator. The Supreme Court agreed with the District Court that a general powers municipality has broad powers to enter into contracts pursuant to 7-1-4124(4) and (23), that Title 27, ch. 5, evidences a general state policy favoring arbitration, and that the powers granted a municipality establish its ability to be bound to the terms of a contract that contains a binding arbitration clause. Holm-Sutherland Co., Inc. v. Shelby, 1999 MT 150, 295 M 65, 982 P2d 1053, 56 St. Rep. 595 (1999).

Purpose of Section: This section was evidently intended to cover claims against the city arising in the ordinary course of carrying on the city government, in providing for the city's welfare in sundry directions, and in transacting the business and economic affairs of the city, but not on such contracts as are specifically provided for, which it must be presumed are designed to contain their own specific provisions, and among other material and essential conditions, stipulations respecting the time and manner of the payment of the consideration on the part of the city. Forsyth v. Crellin, 210 F 835 (9th Cir. 1914).

Claim Not Required for Salary: The provision of this section, requiring claims against a city to be verified and filed with the municipality, has no application to a claim for salary fixed by ordinance; hence a police officer was under no obligation to so present his claim to entitle him to recover his salary for the time he was unlawfully deprived of his office. Wynne v. Butte, 45 M 417, 123 P 531 (1912).

Tort Claims — No Claim Required: The provisions of this section do not apply to a claim for damages arising from personal injuries. Dawes v. Great Falls, 31 M 9, 77 P 309 (1904).

Attorney General's Opinions

Claims Against Cities and Towns: This section bars the city's payment of that part of the claim that represents items which were purchased by the city more than 1 year prior to the date of presentment of such claim. 37 A.G. Op. 140 (1978).

Licensing Fee for Adult Movie Video Booths as Regulatory Measure — Free Speech Not Violated: The Supreme Court affirmed a city ordinance imposing a $300 annual fee for adult movie video booths, finding the city met its burden of proving the fee was both reasonable and designed as a regulatory measure to provide funds for administrative costs, policing of the booths, and health enforcement costs and expenses. The court held that estimates of future expenses may be included for purposes of setting a fee and that, being regulatory in nature, the fee did not violate the right to free speech guaranteed by the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution and Art. II, sec. 7, Mont. Const. Great Falls v. M.K. Enterprises, Inc., 225 M 292, 732 P2d 413, 44 St. Rep. 242 (1987).

Neither due process nor equal protection is violated by a prohibition of open burning in some areas when the object and tendency of the prohibiting legislation or a rule adopted thereunder is promotion of public health. 38 A.G. Special Taxes: A city, under this section, had the power to levy special taxes for the purpose of paying interest on bonded indebtedness and creating a sinking fund, and the contention that the taxing power of a city of a class other than the first class was limited to a 10-mill levy for all purposes by 7-6-4405 (now repealed) was without merit. Valuation by County Assessor: Under the provisions of this section and other statutes applicable and in force from time to time, the basis of taxation for a city or town has been the valuation made by the County Assessor for state and county purposes. Remittance to City Without Delay: Where a city has failed to provide by ordinance for the collection of its taxes by its own Treasurer, the Treasurer of the county in which such city is situated must, under this section, collect and pay them to the City Treasurer without delay. State ex rel. Wolf Point v. McFarlan, 78 M 156, 252 P 805 (1927), explained in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Remittance to Municipal Treasurer: Although, under this section, the County Treasurer must collect taxes for a city or town which has not by ordinance placed the duty of collection upon its own Treasurer, no provision is made as to when the money so collected must be turned over to the City or Town Treasurer. The County Treasurer must, within a reasonable time after collection, compute the amount due the city or town and pay it over to the proper custodian. The lapse of 1 month after collection of the bulk of the city or town taxes is not a reasonable time within which to perform that duty. State ex rel. Cut Bank v. McNamer, 62 M 490, 205 P 951 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

Delinquency Interest, Penalties, and Costs to Follow Tax: The Montana Supreme Court held in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931), that unless a statute provides otherwise, interest, penalties, and costs collected on delinquent taxes follow the tax; therefore, school districts, cities, and other government entities authorized to levy taxes are entitled to a pro rata share of the penalties collected on delinquent property taxes by the County Treasurer. 41 A.G. Op. 25 (1985).

Collection of Special Assessment for Demolition of Dangerous Building: Special assessments imposed by a city or town for the demolition by it of dangerous buildings constitute city or town taxes under this section, and the County Treasurer must collect a properly certified special assessment for demolition of a dangerous building unless the city or town has provided for the City Treasurer to collect taxes under this section. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Liability for Tortious Collection: A County Treasurer acts as an agent of the city when collecting city taxes, and although he must follow proper collection procedures and must exercise due care to collect only properly certified assessments, if there is any problem with the validity of an assessment it is the city, not the County Treasurer, that may be liable. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Purpose: The purposes of this section are clearly to avoid needless duplication of the effort and cost of billing property owners and collecting the money and to provide taxpayers the convenience of a single bill, purposes best served by a broad interpretation of the term "taxes" as used in this section. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Case Notes

Assessments for Special Improvements: A County Treasurer could not be compelled, under this section, to spread upon the delinquent tax roll of the county certain assessments for special city improvements which became delinquent on a city lot after the county had bought it in at a tax sale, since special assessments are not taxes within the meaning of 15-18-403 (since repealed) and the liens of such assessments were extinguished upon issuance of the tax deed. Attorney General's Opinions

Calculation and Expenditure of "Carryforward" Mills Under 2001 Revision to Local Government Property Tax Levy and Budget Provisions: The 2001 revisions to local government property tax levy and budget laws instituted a general approach of deleting numeric limits on the number of mills that a local government could levy for any specific purpose and placed a cap on the number of mills that a local government is allowed to levy through property taxation. The combined effect was to free a local government to dedicate as much of its annual mill levy as it chooses for any lawful governmental purpose, as long as the total millage covered by the cap does not exceed the cap measured by the prior year's property tax assessments. Likewise, the "carryforward" provision in 15-10-420 does not depend on how many mills, if any, that a city chooses to devote to a particular purpose in any year. Instead, the provision allows a city, if it finds itself able to fund its operations without levying the full number of mills allowed, to hold in reserve for future years the authority to levy the difference between the number of mills allowed and the number actually levied. That authority is not calculated on the basis of the amount budgeted or the number of mills needed to fund a particular government function, but rather is calculated with reference to the whole amount raised by property taxes, subject to the statutory exceptions, without reference to how the money might have been spent in the prior year. However, the "carryforward" authority is prospective only and may not be applied to calculations for the 2001 budget year because the authority did not exist prior to July 1, 2001. Thus, "carryforward" mills may be levied in any future year after budget year 2001 and expended by a local government for any lawful purposes that the local government chooses. 49 A.G. Op. 5 (2001).

Unauthorized Levies Not to Be Used as Basis for Temporary Increase: The special levies authorized by 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, and 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301) must be included in the 65-mill levy authorized by 7-6-4451 and 7-6-4452 (now repealed). Any such special levies improperly levied in addition to the 65-mill all-purpose levy may not be used in computing the basis for a 5% increase under 15-7-122 (now repealed). 38 A.G. Op. 44 (1979).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: Required multiple levies must be included within the 65-mill all-purpose levy authorized by 7-6-4451 and 7-6-4452 (now repealed). 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

This special tax levy must be made in addition to the all-purpose mill levy"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. When Investment of Bond Proceeds in Government Securities Authorized: Money in a sinking fund is not available for investment if any of the bonds for which the sinking fund was established are not yet due but are then redeemable under optional provisions. While investment in government securities is authorized under this section, it is authorized only to the extent that the sinking fund is not needed for payment of the bonds or interest. Therefore, excess bond proceeds may not be retained in a separate fund and invested without first using the proceeds to calculate the amount of annual tax levy for a sinking fund. Any remainder of the proceeds may then be invested in accordance with this section. 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

(c) [Section 19] [15-36-325, now repealed] applies to the payment, collection, and distribution of the local government severance tax for oil and natural gas produced and sold after December 31, 1994, and before January 1, 1996.

(d) All taxes collected pursuant to audit or collected after the date the tax is payable under the laws referred to in subsection (3)(a) must be distributed according to the statute governing allocation of the tax in effect on the date when the tax liability was incurred."

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 9 near middle of (1), after "amount of", substituted "taxes levied on new production, production from horizontally completed wells, and incremental production" for "interim production and new production taxes levied", inserted reference to subsection (2)(c), and after "new production" inserted "and production from horizontally completed wells"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective December 17, 1993.

Report Required: Section 21, Ch. 9, Sp. L. November 1993, provided: "The board of oil and gas conservation shall report at least once a year to the revenue oversight committee [now revenue and transportation interim committee] regarding the implementation of [this act]. The reports must include but are not limited to information regarding:

(1) the methods used to determine production decline rates;

(2) rules adopted to implement [this act];

(3) the number of enhanced recovery projects completed or anticipated to be completed in a year; and

(4) the number of horizontal wells completed or anticipated to be completed in a year and the method of recovery from the horizontal wells."

Severability: Section 23, Ch. 9, Sp. L. November 1993, was a severability clause.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 24, Ch. 9, Sp. L. November 1993, provided: "[This act] is effective on passage and approval [approved December 17, 1993] and applies to oil production from new or expanded enhanced recovery projects and to tax years that begin after December 31, 1993."

1989 Special Session Amendment: In (1), after "15-23-612" (now repealed), inserted "multiplied by 60%, plus the value of any other production occurring after December 31, 1988, multiplied by 60%"; and made minor change in phraseology. Amendment effective August 11, 1989, and applies retroactively to net proceeds taxes, severance taxes, and local government taxes on oil and gas, other than interim production and new production, produced after December 31, 1988.

1987 Amendment: In (1), before "new production taxes", inserted "interim production and" and after "multiplied by 60%" inserted "plus the amount of value represented by new production exempted from tax as provided in 15-23-612".

Effective Date — Applicability — 1987 Enactment: Section 28, Ch. 655, L. 1987, provided: "This act is effective on passage and approval [approved April 13, 1987] and applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to taxable quarters beginning on or after April 1, 1987. The tax rate and filing method applicable to a well that qualifies as interim production under section 10 but which did not qualify as new production under 15-23-601 [now repealed] prior to the applicability date of this act does not change for tax periods prior to the applicability date."

1985 Amendments: Chapter 584 in (2) increased the limitation on indebtedness from $150,000 to $500,000; and inserted (3) relating to acquisition of conservation easements.

Chapter 695 in (1) near middle, before "taxable value", inserted "total of the" and after "subject to taxation", inserted "plus the amount of new production taxes levied divided by the appropriate tax rates described in 15-23-607(2)(a) or (2)(b) [now repealed] and multiplied by 60%".

Chapter 614 increased the indebtedness limitation from 18% to 23% of the taxable value in (1).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds: The expenditure of federal revenue sharing funds is not an indebtedness or liability of the county within the meaning of the statutory restriction. Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Airport Commission:

Board of County Commissioners which overtaxed taxpayers in one year in order to provide a fund out of which expenses for capital improvements and remodeling of airport were to be paid, which expenses exceeded $21,000, clearly violated Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const., by incurring a liability for over $10,000 without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county; county was not able to argue that "no indebtedness or liability" had been created because the money was already on hand. Extraordinarily high levy created a "reserve fund" to be used for capital improvements, which is not allowable due to restriction in 67-10-402 of reserve funds to improvement of surfaces of runways or ramps. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 162 M 371, 512 P2d 710 (1973), distinguished in Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

City-county airport commission which borrowed $200,000 from the Aeronautics Commission (now Board of Aeronautics) without consent of electorate and which was obligated to repay a total sum of $238,500 over a 10-year period had incurred a debt upon which an amount over $10,000 was due each year and had violated Art. XII, 1889 Mont. Const. Resolution by airport commission which approved the loan and which obligated the county to repay the Aeronautics Commission (now Board of Aeronautics) only $10,000 did not bring the debt within the Constitution since the commission was itself obligated and was an agent of the county. Burlington N., Inc. v. Richland County, 162 M 364, 152 P2d 707 (1973), distinguished in Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Redemption Bonds: The issuance by a county of coupon bonds for the purpose of redeeming outstanding county warrants is merely a change in the form of a subsisting liability and not the creation of a new indebtedness or liability and is, therefore, not within the inhibition of the laws of the state which provide in effect that counties shall not incur an indebtedness or liability for any single purpose in excess of a stated amount without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county. Hotchkiss v. Marion, 12 M 218, 29 P 821 (1892). See Edwards v. Lewis & Clark County, 53 M 359, 165 P 297 (1917).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Incur Debt or Borrow Without Election: A county is authorized under this section to incur a liability or indebtedness up to $500,000 or, pursuant to 7-7-2402, to borrow up to $10,000 (see 1997 amendment) without an election. An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of 7-7-2402. A municipality is not required to hold an election to borrow money by a method other than issuing bonds, but it is limited by 7-7-4201 to a 28% debt ceiling. 42 A.G. Op. 13 (1987).

Authority to Contract for Lease Without Election: A contract providing for a total liability in excess of $40,000, prior to 1981 amendment, must be approved by the voters under this section even though it provides for annual payments of less than $40,000, an option to purchase at the end of the contract term for an additional payment less than $40,000, and an option to cancel at any time. 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Appropriate Money for Museum — City Authorized to Appropriate Money for Public Purpose — Constitutionality Analyzed: Pursuant to 7-16-2202, a county, but not a city, is authorized to create a program to provide grants to private, nonprofit museums. However, pursuant to 7-1-4124, a city is allowed to grant money to public or private entities as long as the grant is for a public purpose, such as a museum that would enhance the education and enjoyment of the general public, but that would not be merely for the gain of a private entity. The Attorney General declined to opine regarding the constitutionality of 7-1-4124 or 7-16-2202, in light of the prohibition in Art. V, sec. 11(5), Mont. Const., against the appropriation of public funds for any private individual, private association, or private corporation not under control of the state, but did analyze that constitutional provision as it related to the question of county or city expenditures for grants to private museum programs, concluding that the constitutional prohibition applies only to the appropriation of public funds by the Legislature, not by local governmental entities. 48 A.G. Op. 12 (2000), overruling prior opinions to the contrary in 37 A.G. Op. 25 (1977), 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978), and 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds — Allocation by Board of County Commissioners: The Board of County Commissioners for a county that has not adopted a self-government form of local government may not make a grant of federal revenue sharing funds to individual county residents for the purpose of creating a water district under Title 7, ch. 13, parts 22 and 23, because there is no express or necessarily implied authority under which such a grant could be made and because the statutes provide a different mechanism for the creation and funding of a water district. 39 A.G. Op. 6 (1981).

Gift to Private Nonprofit Corporation: Under 20-8-111, the Board of Public Education, in its discretion, may give money that has been donated for the use and benefit of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind to a private nonprofit corporation created and controlled by the Board and operated for the benefit of that school. However, the Board remains accountable for the money until it is used directly for the general support, maintenance, or improvement of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind. 38 A.G. Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Resolution for Bond Issue — Compliance With Statute: In view of the purpose of Ch. 24, L. Ex. Session 1933-34 (omitted), i.e., to permit counties to secure the benefits of the National Industrial Recovery Act by borrowing money from the federal government for emergency relief, and the fact that it was apparent at the time the act was passed that the conditions and requirements of the government would conflict with the general laws of the state with relation to issuance and sale of bonds, failure of a Board of County Commissioners strictly to comply with the provisions of this section and 7-7-2251 as to the form of resolution to be passed by it providing for the issuance of bonds voted to obtain a federal loan was not fatal to their validity; having followed those provisions as closely as it was possible for it to do and at the same time conform to the requirements of the federal government, the Board's action was sufficient; so far as not in harmony with the federal requirements, this section and 7-7-2251 must be held inapplicable. Compiler's Comments 1995 Amendment: Chapter 423 in form of notice, in first paragraph near end, substituted "general obligation bonds" for "either amortization or serial bonds"; deleted former second and third paragraphs that read: "Amortization bonds will be the first choice and serial bonds will be the second choice of the board.

If amortization bonds are sold and issued, the entire issue may be put into one single bond or divided into several bonds, as the board may determine at the time of sale, both principal and interest to be payable in semiannual installments during a period of .... years from the date of issue"; in second paragraph, before "amount", inserted "aggregate principal" and at end inserted parenthetical concerning amortization bonds; in third paragraph, near beginning after "bonds", deleted "whether amortization or serial bonds", after "bear" inserted "an original issue", and after "interest" deleted "at a rate not exceeding ....% per annum"; in fourth paragraph, after "less than", deleted "their par value", after "interest" inserted "on the principal amount of the bonds", after "bonds at" substituted "the purchase price specified for the bonds" for "par", and inserted parenthetical concerning interest rate; in fifth paragraph, after "bids", deleted "other than by or on behalf of the board of investments of the state of Montana" and substituted parenthetical concerning bid security for "a certified check"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 559 inserted (2) allowing the form of notice to be modified to accommodate citizen bonds; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 28, 1993.

Chapter 631, in first paragraph of "Notice of Sale" form before "amount" substituted "principal" for "total"; in fourth paragraph of notice substituted provision for amount of serial bonds and inclusion of maturity schedule for "If serial bonds are issued and sold, they will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....) each, except the last bond which will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....); the sum of .... dollars ($....) of the said serial bonds will become payable on the .... day of ...., 19.., and a like amount on the same day each year thereafter until all of such bonds are paid, except that the last installment will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....)."; and in fifth paragraph of notice after "....% per annum" inserted "commencing on the ... day of ... (month), 19 .., and" and after "year" inserted "thereafter".

Chapter 631 amended the version of the section that set the interest rate at 6% per annum. The Code Commissioner has made the amendments contained in Ch. 631 to the version of the section made permanent by Ch. 11. Chapter 631 is effective October 1, 1983.

1981 Amendment: Changed "6%" to "....%" in the sixth paragraph.

Case Notes

Bonds for Health Care Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval: When Toole County proposed to borrow $1.7 million to construct a county hospital and nursing home, plaintiff sued, alleging that the county could not borrow money without first submitting the bond proposal to the voters for approval. Affirming the District Court decision, the Supreme Court ruled that the indebtedness for the repayment of bonds for the proposed health care facility is not indebtedness of the county for which an election is required under this section. State ex rel. Lovins v. Toole County, 278 M 253, 924 P2d 693, 53 St. Rep. 887 (1996).

Emergency Budget for General Relief Not for "Single Purpose" Requiring Electors' Approval: County Commissioners establishment of an emergency budget under 7-6-2341 through 7-6-2345 (7-6-2341, 7-6-2342, 7-6-2343, and 7-6-2345 now repealed) for general relief purposes in the amount of $15,000, without approval of the electors, is not creating an indebtedness or liability for a "single purpose" in excess of $10,000 (see 1991 and 1997 amendments) without such approval within the inhibition of this section since the entire debt for all relief purposes cannot be regarded as a single purpose but arises by virtue of many separate and distinct purposes, founded on a duty expressly imposed in normal functioning of county. State ex rel. Nelson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 111 M 395, 109 P2d 1106 (1941).

Approval of Electors:

The Board of County Commissioners cannot borrow money to refund outstanding indebtedness exceeding $10,000 (see 1991 and 1997 amendments), by the issuance of bonds or otherwise, without having first obtained the approval of the electors of the county. Edwards v. Lewis & Clark County, 53 M 359, 165 P 297 (1917).

"The approval of a majority of the electors" and "a majority of the votes cast" are the same. The approval of a majority of the electors voting at an election to determine whether a proposed indebtedness shall be incurred was sufficient to legalize a bond issue. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Incur Debt or Borrow Without Election: A county is authorized under 7-7-2101 to incur a liability or indebtedness up to $500,000 or, pursuant to this section, to borrow up to $10,000 (see 1991 and 1997 amendments) without an election. An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of this section. A municipality is not required to hold an election to borrow money by a method other than issuing bonds, but it is limited by 7-7-4201 to a 28% debt ceiling. 42 A.G. Op. 13 (1987).

Necessity of Loan: Upon submitting the question of a bond issue to the voters, the determination by the Board of the amount of the issue is a necessary prerequisite to the validity of subsequent proceedings, and in so doing the Board may proceed upon its own initiative and determine the necessity of the loan, without waiting for the filing of a petition. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

Question Submitted to Electors: Where the Board of County Commissioners has determined the amount necessary for the general purpose of a proposed bond issue, such as the erection of a courthouse, it is not required, before submitting the question to a vote, to ascertain the cost of a suitable site for the building or that of the necessary furnishings. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

7-7-2404. Notice of election.

Case Notes

Sufficiency of Notice: The provision of this section that the notice of election shall clearly state the object of the loan means the general object of the loan. It is not necessary to specify all of the details. So long as a reasonably comprehensive notice is given, the courts have no power to declare it insufficient. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 M 31, 125 P 429 (1912). See Mansur v. Polson, 45 M 585, 125 P 1002 (1912).

Nature and Purpose of Loan: In an election held for the incurring of indebtedness by the issue of bonds for the erection and furnishing of a county courthouse, ballots on which were printed the words "for the loan" and "against the loan", without specifying the nature and purpose of the proposed loan, were held sufficient. Authority of Electors: A constitutional restriction that a Board of County Commissioners shall not incur any indebtedness or liability above a designated amount is a limitation upon the authority of the Board; it has no reference to the power of the people. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 M 31, 125 P 429 (1912).

Application of Section: This section has no reference to the printed form of the ballot but merely requires that the provisions of the general election law touching the qualifications of the voters, the appointment of judges and clerks, the secrecy of the ballot, and the method of voting should be observed. Attorney General's Opinions

Long-Term Lease With Contractual Nonappropriation Clause Not Considered Accumulation of Municipal Debt — Vote Not Required: A question arose regarding the applicability of laws regulating municipal government debt based on a proposal by the city of Great Falls to enter a contract for the development and operation of a water park. Under the arrangement, the city would enter a long-term lease to a private party of real property adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and concurrently lease from that party certain personal property to be used for the water park. The personalty lease would include an option for the city to purchase the personal property at the close of the lease terms and a nonappropriation clause under which the personalty lease would terminate without penalty to the city if the city chose not to appropriate funds for the lease payment in any fiscal year, in which case possession of the personal property would revert to the lessor, who would retain possession under a separate realty lease until that lease expired. The Attorney General concluded that such an arrangement did not create a debt and thus would not violate provisions of state law limiting the accumulation of debt by municipal governments. Further, the city's proposal would not pledge the taxing power of the city to make the full term of lease payments and therefore would not qualify as an obligation for which the general credit of the city is pledged that would require a vote of the people under 7-7-4221. 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001), distinguishing 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979).

An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of 7-7-2402. Municipal Construction of Storm Sewers With Gas Tax Revenues — Sinking Fund for General Obligation Bonds Allowed: Where a city was authorized to use its gasoline tax allocation for construction of storm sewers and drains for draining city streets, it could also place the money allocated in a sinking fund used to pay general obligation bonds sold to finance construction of those sewers, as the only statutory restriction on the use of the funds is that the funds must be used exclusively for city streets. Nor do the statutes governing municipal financing prohibit the use of such money in a sinking fund for general obligation bonds. 40 A.G. Op. 19 (1983).

Paying a Consultant Prohibited: Section 7-7-4254(3) prohibits a municipality from paying a consultant for assistance or advice in any of the matters set forth in Title 7, ch. 7, part 42, relating to the issuance and sale of specific general obligation bonds, but it does not prohibit paying a consultant for assistance in matters involving the overall financial operation of the municipality, so long as the consultation is not limited to a simple bond issuance and sale and does not involve participation in specific bond proceedings. The prohibition is not limited to payment from the actual bond proceeds but includes all funds of the municipality. 38 A.G. Op. 34 (1979).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 29 in (1) near beginning after "provided" inserted "in 7-7-4202", near middle after "unpaid indebtedness" substituted "exceeds 1.51% of the total assessed value of taxable property, determined as provided in 15-8-111" for "will exceed 28% of the taxable value of the property", and at end after "taxes" deleted "plus:

(a) for bonds to be issued or other indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal years 1999 through 2008, an additional 33% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, multiplied by 28%; and

(b) an additional 50% of the taxable value of telecommunications property under 15-6-141 within the city or town for tax year 1999, multiplied by 28%, and an additional 50% of the taxable value attributable to electrical generation property under 15-6-141 within the city or town for tax year 1999, multiplied by 28%"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Amendment effective January 1, 2000.

Chapter 556 in (1)(a) at beginning deleted "for bonds to be issued or other indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal year 1998, an additional 22% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, and for bonds to be issued or other indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal years 1999 through 2008, an additional 33% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, and" and near end after "for tax year 1995" deleted "in each case of class eight property"; inserted (1)(b) regarding taxable valuation attributable to electrical generation property; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 2000.

Applicability: Section 43, Ch. 426, L. 1999, provided: "[This act] applies to tax years beginning after December 31, 1999."

1989 Amendment: Inserted (3) providing that limitation of indebtedness does not apply to bonds issued to repay lost tax protests. Amendment effective March 21, 1989.

Effective Date — Retroactive Applicability: Section 14, Ch. 213, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] is effective on passage and approval [approved March 21, 1989] and applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to any tax appeal or tax paid under protest after December 31, 1983."

1981 Amendment: Increased 18% to 28% in (1).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Purpose of Limitation: The purpose of the limitation in matters of indebtedness contained in this section is to prevent extravagance, and such provisions should be so construed as to accomplish the desired end so far as possible. Butler v. Andrus, 35 M 575, 90 P 785 (1907).

Case Notes

Retirement of Bonded Indebtedness: The contention by defendant town that since it was levying the maximum amount of taxes allowable under 7-6-4405 (now repealed), it could not levy a tax each year to pay interest on water bonds and create a sinking fund, was without merit. The levy under 7-6-4405 (now repealed) is for general, municipal, or administrative purposes, while under this section, a special tax may be levied in addition to that provided for herein to retire bonded indebtedness and interest on such bonds. State ex rel. Mueller v. Todd, 114 M 35, 132 P2d 154 (1942).

When City Estopped to Claim Funded Debt Invalid: A city, after extending the limit of its indebtedness to acquire a water supply and system beyond the 3% constitutional limit under Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), to the extent of $25,000, issued registered warrants aggregating $75,000 without authorization by its voters, then funded the indebtedness by selling bonds to retire the warrants. The bonds recited that all proper steps had been taken to make them legal obligations of the city. The Supreme Court held that the city was estopped from questioning the bonds' validity and refusing further payment after 18 years by claiming the bonds were invalid on constitutional grounds. Clerihew v. Baker, 109 M 317, 96 P2d 269 (1939), distinguished in State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Water System — Contract for Installation: Town could not lawfully contract for installation of water system in excess of the debt limitation without approval of taxpayers. Lumbermen's Trust Co. v. Ryegate, 50 F2d 219 (9th Cir. 1931).

Additional Indebtedness: Authority of a city to incur indebtedness beyond the 3% limit for the purpose of rendering or maintaining its water supply wholesome and fit for the purpose intended is clearly implied, if not expressly conferred. McClintock v. Great Falls, 53 M 221, 163 P 99 (1917).

Water System — Subject to P.S.C. Control: A city which has acquired a water supply by resorting to the extended limit of indebtedness is not thereby exempted from control and regulation by the state through the agency of the Public Service Commission. P.S.C. v. Helena, 52 M 527, 159 P 24 (1916).

Attorney General's Opinions

Long-Term Lease With Contractual Nonappropriation Clause Not Considered Accumulation of Municipal Debt — Vote Not Required: A question arose regarding the applicability of laws regulating municipal government debt based on a proposal by the city of Great Falls to enter a contract for the development and operation of a water park. Under the arrangement, the city would enter a long-term lease to a private party of real property adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and concurrently lease from that party certain personal property to be used for the water park. The personalty lease would include an option for the city to purchase the personal property at the close of the lease terms and a nonappropriation clause under which the personalty lease would terminate without penalty to the city if the city chose not to appropriate funds for the lease payment in any fiscal year, in which case possession of the personal property would revert to the lessor, who would retain possession under a separate realty lease until that lease expired. The Attorney General concluded that such an arrangement did not create a debt and thus would not violate provisions of state law limiting the accumulation of debt by municipal governments. Further, the city's proposal would not pledge the taxing power of the city to make the full term of lease payments and therefore would not qualify as an obligation for which the general credit of the city is pledged that would require a vote of the people under this section. 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001), distinguishing 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979).

Election Required to Issue Bonds to Furnish Swimming Pool: An election is required pursuant to 7-7-4221 to issue general obligation bonds for the purpose of furnishing a municipal swimming pool; however, there is no statutory requirement for an election to borrow money for that purpose by means other than issuing general obligation bonds. 41 A.G. Op. 73 (1986).

Private Sale of Bonds: Under this section, authorizing the City Council to reject all bids for municipal bonds and to sell them at private sale when it considers it best for the interests of the city, a city may contract to exchange such bonds at their face value for work incident to the construction of a water system at an agreed valuation, the price of the work being determined by a bid which is accepted, such an arrangement being tantamount to a "sale" of the bonds. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 48, 29 P2d 667 (1934).

Attorney General's Opinions

Paying a Consultant Prohibited: Prior to 1983 amendment, 7-7-4254(3) prohibited a municipality from paying a consultant for assistance or advice in any of the matters set forth in Title 7, ch. 7, part 42, relating to the issuance and sale of specific general obligation bonds, but it did not prohibit paying a consultant for assistance in matters involving the overall financial operation of the municipality, so long as the consultation was not limited to a simple bond issuance and sale and did not involve participation in specific bond proceedings. The prohibition was not limited to payment from the actual bond proceeds but included all funds of the municipality. 38 A.G. Op. 34 (1979).

No Mandamus to Compel Payment Out of Order: When a town ordinance directed that water bonds be issued and be absolutely due and payable in series set forth in a schedule showing on what day each should be payable, and the holder of bond No. 13 sought by Writ of Mandate to compel payment thereof when bonds numbered 1 to 12 also were due and unpaid, the Supreme Court held that purchasers of municipal bonds are charged with notice of the contents of ordinances under which they were issued, as well as by those of the bonds themselves and that all such bonds were required to be paid in the order of their serial numbers, and such holder was not entitled to prevail. Case Notes

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Public Service Commission Jurisdiction Over Municipally Owned Utility: The ratesetting authority of a municipality under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act of 1939 does not preclude Public Service Commission (P.S.C.) jurisdiction over municipally owned utilities. Municipalities do establish rates for their services as required by 7-7-4404 and 7-7-4424 when they comply with the P.S.C. reporting requirements set forth in 69-3-301 and 69-3-302. The regulatory authority of the P.S.C. does not diminish a municipality's ability to establish an initial rate schedule, and nothing in the Municipal Revenue Bond Act precludes a review of such rate determinations. The Legislature intended such a review process by the very creation of such a regulatory and supervisory body. Helena v. Dept. of Public Service Regulation, 194 M 173, 634 P2d 192, 38 St. Rep. 1560 (1981).

Jurisdiction of City and Public Service Commission Overlapping: Although under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act the petitioner (city of Billings) has the power to prescribe fees for the services, facilities, and commodities furnished by a project financed pursuant to the Act, this authority is not exclusive. The rates which the city sets are subject to modification by the Public Service Commission when such rates are unjust or unreasonable. Billings v. Street Construction Projects Prohibited: Although gasoline tax revenue is earmarked for construction and maintenance of city streets, a street project does not qualify under this section because streets are not "revenue-producing facilities". The connection between street paving and gasoline tax revenue is not direct enough to render the "other revenue-producing facilities" exception applicable. Cities and towns are prohibited from issuing revenue bonds, which are to be retired by gasoline tax revenue, to finance street construction projects. 42 A.G. Op. 120 (1988).

Lease to Private Club: Where property was conveyed to city in trust for use for park, recreational ground, and golf course purposes, a part of it could not be leased to private club so as to interfere with the public's use of the property. Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950).

Grantor — Removal of Restrictions by Waiver: Lands deeded to a city for park purposes by deeds providing for reversion to the grantors if used for any other purpose may be used for some other purpose upon obtaining waiver, quitclaim deed, or unconditional deed from the owner of the reversionary interest, removing the restriction, whereupon the city will own the fee and use the property as it sees fit. Lloyd v. Great Falls, 107 M 442, 86 P2d 395 (1938).

Acceptance of Trust: Where at the time of the death of a testator who bequeathed property to a town for library purposes the law did not provide a method by which the municipality could accept the donation but later, after the estate had been distributed and the decree of distribution had become final by failure of appeal therefrom and the trust created thereby became effective, the Legislature enacted a statute under which a town could accept, the trust was not subject to attack on the ground of the town's former incapacity to accept. Cascade v. Cascade County, 75 M 304, 243 P 806 (1926).

Construction of Section: This section conferring the right upon cities to accept, by gift, deed, or devise, land for a public park does not by implication clothe it with power to condemn land for a public road leading thereto. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

County Buildings and Equipment

7-8-2101. Provision of rooms for county purposes.

Case Notes

Failure to Provide Suitable Rooms: The office of County Auditor is an important one with many duties, and its proper fulfillment requires proper housing, help, and equipment. The act of the County Commissioners in furnishing the County Auditor as an office an 8- by 22-foot partitioned space, with no windows, insufficient ventilation, and only artificial lighting, was an abuse of discretion and an arbitrary act. State ex rel. Taylor v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954). (Dissenting opinion, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954).)

Provision of Suitable Rooms for County Purposes:

The matter of leasing privately owned property under power granted the Board of County Commissioners by this section is one addressed to the sound judgment and discretion of the Board. Bennett v. Petroleum County, 87 M 436, 288 P 1018 (1930).

The provision of this section, granting power to the Board of County Commissioners to provide suitable rooms "when there are no necessary county buildings", refers to a present proprietorship of such buildings by a county and not to property temporarily held and used under lease for county purposes. Bennett v. Petroleum County, 87 M 436, 288 P 1018 (1930).

Attorney General's Opinions

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Attorney General's Opinions

No County Authority to Provide Housing to Low-Income Elderly: A county with general government powers does not have the authority under Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., or this section to construct or maintain an apartment complex for elderly low-income citizens that does not otherwise constitute a boarding or nursing home under 7-34-2301 and that does not constitute a public building under this section. Instead, a county or municipal housing authority should be created under Title 7, ch. 15, parts 21 or 44, to provide such housing. 42 A.G. Op. 20 (1987).

Chapter 543 near beginning, after "create a", inserted "building" and after "commission" substituted "subject to the provisions of 7-1-201 through 7-1-203" for remainder of section that read: "for the management of such civic center, youth center, park buildings, museums, county parks, recreation centers, hospitals, or any combination of two or more thereof. Such commission shall be composed of the chairman of the board of county commissioners and five lay members to be appointed by the board. In cases where a commission has been appointed, the commission, together with the board, shall have the power to employ a manager.

(2) The terms of office for the first lay members of the commission shall be, respectively, one for 1 year, two for 2 years, and two for 3 years. On the expiration of such terms of figures 1, 2, and 3 years, their successors shall hold for 3 years each.

(3) All of the above persons shall serve without compensation"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Park Board Not Legislative Body or Agent for Legislative Body: The trial court dismissed the plaintiffs' wrongful termination case on the basis that the park board was a legislative body immune from suit. The Supreme Court reversed the decision, stating that the board performed statutory executive functions and therefore was not a legislative body. The Supreme Court also ruled that the board was not an agent of the County Commissioners with respect to the employment of the plaintiffs and was not immune from suit on that basis. Koch v. Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Part 22
Acquisition, Transfer, and Management of County Property

Part Case Notes
Sale of County Property: The contention that this part, providing the method to be pursued in selling county property, applies only to a sale of property obtained for purely public purposes but no longer needed for such purposes, and that therefore a ranch held by it in its proprietary capacity and not acquired for a public purpose does not fall within its purview, cannot be sustained. 7-8-2201. Authorization for county to obtain property.

Case Notes

This section, relative to the manner of purchasing real estate, applies to a bridge. State ex rel. Donlan v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 49 M 517, 143 P 984 (1914).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County to Issue General Obligation Bonds for Demolition of Abandoned County Building: Under its general duty to care for and maintain its property, a county, through its Board of County Commissioners, may issue general obligation bonds to fund demolition of a county-owned building that has been abandoned and poses a threat to the public safety and welfare. 44 A.G. Op. 31 (1992).

The Legislature may, within the limitations prescribed by the Constitution, circumscribe or extend the powers to be exercised by a county, and legislative authority to regulate or control the disposition of county property not having been limited by the Constitution, it could properly declare, as it did by this section, that such property may be sold only under the restrictions and in the manner therein indicated. Case Notes

When Payment on Installments on Purchase Price of Land Not Completed During Five-Year Period: The court held that this section, providing that deferred payments on contracts of county-owned lands may not extend over a period of more than 5 years, does not mean that at the end of the 5-year period the property rights of the vendee shall be lost if the purchase price has not all been paid, but that if there still remains a part of the purchase price unpaid and the vendee offers payment, the county may accept it without violating the provisions of this section. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 78, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners has jurisdiction and power to purchase or receive by donation any real property for the use of the county; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners has jurisdiction and power to lease and demise county property, however acquired, that is not necessary to the conduct of the county's business or the preservation of county property; and

WHEREAS, counties must preserve, take care of, manage, and control these properties."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 15 at beginning of second sentence substituted "Upon receipt of funds" for "On January 10 and July 10 in each year", after "revenue" inserted "as collected", and at end substituted reference to current year for reference to preceding calendar year; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Preferential Right of Purchase: The preferential right to purchase from the county for only the amount of the taxes, penalties, and interest is purely statutory and, if claimed, must be exercised in the manner and within the time provided by statute or the right becomes lost. Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

Purchase From County Not Redemption: The purchase of tax-acquired property from the county by the former owner is not a redemption. Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

Owner's Right to Redeem: In mandamus proceedings where defendant county acquired land of plaintiff delinquent taxpayer by tax deed and the latter offered to pay the delinquent taxes, penalty, and interest the second time the land was offered for sale, but the Commissioners refused the taxes and sold the land to another on the ground that the owner lost his preferential right for failure to exercise it on the first sale, District Court did not err in finding for plaintiff. The general policy of the law is to preserve the owner's right to redeem regardless of prior failure and without any proviso that it be deemed lost for prior failure to exercise it. State ex rel. Johnson v. Garfield County, 116 M 300, 151 P2d 481 (1944), distinguished in Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

16-1122.1. Validation of mineral reservations made before 1965. Tax Deed and Sale Proceedings Invalid for Lack of Jurisdiction — County's Reversionary Interest Relinquished by Settlement to Heirs of Pretax Deed Owner: Rosebud County applied for and received a tax deed pursuant to law (now repealed) and subsequently quitclaimed all but a royalty interest in the property. The Stanfords brought an action in District Court, alleging the invalidity of the tax deed and alleging that they were the owners of a royalty interest in the property. The county settled its interest in the action by relinquishing all its interests in the property. The District Court held that the tax deed was invalid but awarded the property to another party. The Supreme Court found that the tax deed was invalid under the former law because the proceedings on tax sales are in invitum. Citing King v. Rosebud County, 193 M 268, 631 P2d 711, 38 St. Rep. 1145 (1981), the court held that the failure to file an affidavit of notice of application for the tax deed, the fact that there was a recitation in the notice for application of a tax deed that the time for redemption had "long since expired" (contrary to the law), and the failure of the record to include an "affidavit of notice of tax sale" resulted in a lack of jurisdiction in the County Treasurer to issue the tax deed. The reservation of the royalty interest by the county survived the defective tax sale, and when the county relinquished all rights to its royalty interest as part of the settlement agreement, that interest reverted to the pretax sale owner. The heirs of that owner thus had a prima facie claim to the royalty interest. Stanford v. Rosebud County, 251 M 128, 822 P2d 1074, 48 St. Rep. 1124 (1991).

Deed Reserving Mineral Interest to County — No Mutual Mistake: A 1944 deed reserved a mineral interest to the county. The deed did not on its face indicate mutual mistake; the parties agreed in 1977 that the 1944 deed reserved a royalty, and not one of the interested parties claimed mutual mistake. Plaintiff did not overcome the presumption that the 1944 deed contained the final agreement of the parties. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981).

Mineral Interest as Distinguished From Royalty Interest — No Unconstitutional Gift: Where a contract for deed contained a reservation of a mineral interest to the county but a later deed reserved only a royalty interest, the District Court held that this amounted to an unconstitutional gift to a private individual. The Supreme Court reversed, saying that the agreed statement of facts did not show the comparative values of royalty and mineral interests in this particular land. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981).

Quiet Title Action Not Res Judicata Where Deed Executed After Action: A quiet title action as to mineral interests reserved by the county was not res judicata because the quiet title action occurred before the deed in question was executed, delivered, and accepted. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981), distinguishing Smith v. Musselshell County, 155 M 376, 472 P2d 878 (1970).

Mineral Rights Reservation:

County has implied power under proviso of this section to make mineral reservation in deeds to tax-title lands sold by it. Smith v. Musselshell County, 155 M 376, 472 P2d 878 (1970).

In action to determine rights under deed, evidence that all parties to county's deed regarded reservation in deed as royalty interest and not mineral interest and language in deeds that "all minerals contained in and hereafter mined, produced, extracted, or otherwise taken" supported finding that such reservation was royalty interest. Superior Oil Co. v. Vanderhoof, 307 F. Supp. 84 (D.C. Mont. 1969).

Power to Reserve Mineral Rights: In the sale of land acquired by tax deed, the county has such powers as may be exercised by a private seller of land, and these powers include the waiver of forfeiture provisions in a contract after a forfeiture has been declared and the right to reserve the right to take roadbuilding material from the land for authorized public use. Helena Gun Club v. Lewis & Clark County, 141 M 490, 379 P2d 436 (1963).

Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Sale Proceeds to Delinquent Special Improvement District Assessments: A County Treasurer may not require delinquent special improvement district assessments to be paid in addition to the sale price of tax deed land because when a tax deed is issued, special assessment liens that were due and payable at that time are extinguished. However, the County Treasurer must apply the sale proceeds of the land to delinquent assessments, as provided in this section. 45 A.G. Op. 24 (1994).

City Assessments to Be Included and Prorated as Part of Allocation Received From Tax Sale: There is no correlation between the method of distribution of tax sale proceeds outlined in this section and the effect of a tax deed in 15-18-214. When a city has not requested and received assignment of a county's right to tax sale property, the city assessments must be included and prorated as part of the allocation of money received from a sale of county tax deed land under this section. 45 A.G. Op. 2 (1993).

Case Notes

City Land Donated for Park — Election Required Prior to Lease for Rifle Club: In a 1901 conveyance of land to the city of Whitefish, the deed stated that the land was to be used for public park purposes and that if not so used, the land was to revert to grantor. The Supreme Court held that this section requires that the city receive voter approval in a special election prior to leasing the park to a rifle club. Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982). Overruling Colwell v. Great Falls, 117 M 126, 157 P2d 1013 (1945), and Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950), to the extent that they conflict with this opinion and this section.

No Exception to Election Requirement — Contrary Purpose Unnecessary: This section requires that an election be held to approve any sale or lease of municipal property that is held in trust for a specific purpose. The statute does not limit the requirement of a special election to only those instances in which the sale or lease would be for a purpose that is contrary to the specific trust purpose. Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982). Overruling Colwell v. Great Falls, 117 M 126, 157 P2d 1013 (1945), and Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950), to the extent that they conflict with this opinion and this section.

Lease to Private Club: Lease of a golf course and part of clubhouse to private club, which contained no provisions safeguarding the rights of the inhabitants of the city and which was not submitted to the voters for approval at a special election, is void. Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950); overruled by Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982), to the extent that it conflicts with the opinion in Prezeau and 7-8-4201(2)(b).

When Leasing Not Required to Be Submitted to Vote: Even if the municipal auditorium was held in trust for specific purposes, question of leasing of the auditorium to a private individual for the purpose of exhibiting moving pictures was not required to be submitted to the taxpayers at an election, where it did not appear that the lease would interfere with the use of property for the purposes for which it was being held in trust. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982), to the extent that it conflicts with the opinion in Prezeau and 7-8-4201(2)(b).

Attorney General's Opinions

Sale of City Land by City With Self-Government Powers — Vote Required: Although subsection (2)(a) of this section requires a two-thirds vote of the city commission to sell city land, a city with self-governing powers may enact a superseding ordinance allowing the sale of city land by a simple majority vote. 43 A.G. Op. 41 (1989). After analyzing subsection (2)(b) of this section, the Attorney General applied the same analysis and conclusion to allow the governing body of a local government unit with self-governing powers to enact an ordinance providing for the disposition by majority vote of the council of property held in trust for a specific purpose. 43 A.G. Op. 55 (1990).

Dedication of Lands to Use of Public Forever — Trust for Specific Purpose: Park dedication language in a subdivision plat dedicating certain lands "to the use of the public forever" creates a trust for a specific purpose. Under the terms of this section, a municipal election must be held before the city can dispose of the property. 41 A.G. Op. 42 (1986).

County Commission Generally Obligated to Fund Library Budget — County Allowed to Bind Itself to Fund Library Budget Through Interlocal Agreement: The Board of County Commissioners is generally obligated to fund the county library budget, as submitted by the library board pursuant to 22-1-309, within the limits set in 15-10-420. The 2001 statutory changes did not delete a library board's authority to determine the amount of financial support required by the library, nor did the changes confer on the Board of County Commissioners the authority to modify a library budget submitted by the library board. Further, nothing in the 2001 tax and budget amendments prevents a county from voluntarily entering an interlocal agreement to provide that the county would accept a library board's budget proposal and levy the necessary mills to fund it. 49 A.G. Op. 16 (2002). See also 41 A.G. Op. 91 (1986), and 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

State Financial Responsibility for Sentenced Inmate Upon Oral Pronouncement of Sentence: A sentencing hearing represents the only common date by which the criminal justice system can definitely measure when legal and financial responsibility for an inmate shifts from a county to the state. Oral pronouncement of sentence from the bench in the presence of a defendant constitutes final judgment (see St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998)). Once sentenced, an inmate is considered to be in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections, even though a local or regional detention center may serve as a place of temporary detention until the inmate can be placed by the Department. Therefore, upon oral pronouncement of sentence that transfers legal custody of an inmate to the Department, the financial responsibility for the inmate transfers to the Department as well. 49 A.G. Op. 13 (2001).

No County Obligation to Provide Waste Disposal and Landfill Services to Towns: Under 7-11-104 and 7-13-203, a county has no legal obligation to provide solid waste disposal and landfill services to towns that have used the county landfill on a charge-per-load basis if there is no refuse disposal district or interlocal agreement between the towns and county to provide those services. 43 A.G. Op. 1 (1989).

Interlocal Agreements for County Jail Use: State law does not preclude a county and a city or town from entering into an interlocal agreement wherein the county may charge a city or town for maintaining prisoners committed to the county jail at the request of municipal authorities for violating either state laws or municipal ordinances. 42 A.G. Attorney General's Opinions

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Op. 56 (1990).

No County Obligation to Provide Waste Disposal and Landfill Services to Towns: Under 7-13-203 and this section, a county has no legal obligation to provide solid waste disposal and landfill services to towns that have used the county landfill on a charge-per-load basis if there is no refuse disposal district or interlocal agreement between the towns and county to provide those services. 43 A.G. Op. 1 (1989).

County Power to Grant Franchises — Interlocal Agreements Not Precluded: Article XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const.; 7-3-144; 7-4-2611; and 7-5-2129, as well as applicable case law, imply that a county vested with general government powers may exercise the power to grant franchises. Under this section, a city-county interlocal franchise agreement is possible. 42 A.G. Op. 87 (1988).

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

General Government Power County — Interlocal Agreement With Municipal Housing Authority: If a city has created a municipal housing authority, the municipal housing authority and county may enter an interlocal agreement under which the county may administer the Community Development Block Grant project for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing within 10 miles of the city limits. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

General Government Power County — Not to Enter Agreement With City to Rehabilitate Rural Dwellings: A county with general government powers and a city generally may not enter into an interlocal agreement under which the county could administer the Community Development Block Grant project for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing because neither is statutorily authorized to rehabilitate dwellings outside the city limits. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

Municipal Housing Authority — Public Agency: A municipal housing authority is a public agency or political subdivision that may enter into interlocal agreements. 39 A.G. Op. 37 (1981).

Joint Self-Insurance Programs: Montana counties may procure insurance separately or jointly and may use a deductible or self-insurance plan. Therefore, it is permissible for counties to enter into a joint self-insurance program. 38 A.G. Op. 75 (1980).

Nonexclusive Means of Establishing Insurance Program: An interlocal agreement pursuant to 7-11-104 is not the exclusive means by which counties might establish a joint self-insurance program, provided that the method selected is not specifically prohibited by law. 38 A.G. Op. 75 (1980).

A multijurisdictional service district may not be formed for the sole purpose of equalizing the tax burden among those currently using the service; however, one increased service of the district may be to equalize the tax burden among users as long as the district provides services in the manner required by 7-11-1101. 46 A.G. indebtedness incurred before the effective date of this act if the bonds were issued on representations that the property exempted from special assessments by this act would be liable for repayment of the bonded indebtedness."

Rural Improvement Districts

Part Case Notes

Statutory Framework for Creation of Rural Improvement District Properly Followed: The Supreme Court approved the procedure followed by the Lewis and Clark Board of County Commissioners after examining whether each step in the nine-part process for creation of a rural improvement district was addressed. Buckley v. Wordal, 262 M 306, 865 P2d 240, 50 St. Rep. 1570 (1993).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Formation of New Improvement District Required for Substantial Expansion of Existing One: A sewer district constituting a rural special improvement district could be significantly expanded and the district's service area doubled in size only by the creation of a new special improvement district. The provisions of 7-12-2161(4) contemplate only maintenance of an existing system for which notice has previously been given and upon which a hearing has been previously held. A substantial addition to an existing district with notice or comment by the affected property owners would conflict with the notice procedures applicable to property owners not yet taxed for the improvement of their property. 40 A.G. Op. 44 (1984).

Rural Improvement Districts — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: Except for legal work required by the Board of County Commissioners in connection with the creation of a rural improvement district, it is not the duty of a County Attorney to represent rural improvement districts formed under Title 7, ch. 12, part 21. 40 A.G. 1981 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to districts abutting or within a city.

Case Notes

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under this section after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

Action Challenging Sufficiency of Petition Moot: Under the former version of this section before its amendment in 1985, a petition of 60% of the freeholders affected was required for the establishment of a rural special improvement district (RSID). Appellants filed an application for a Writ of Prohibition under the former law to prohibit the County Commissioners from building a swimming pool pursuant to creation of an RSID, alleging that the petition to create the RSID was not in compliance with the law. The District Court denied their application. The Supreme Court affirmed the denial, ruling the question moot because of the 1985 amendment. Porch v. Powder River Bd. of County Comm'rs, 219 M 179, 710 P2d 1364, 42 St. Rep. 1936 (1985).

Attorney General's Opinions

Establishment of Rural Improvement District for Weed Control — Preemption: A Board of County Commissioners may not use this section or 7-12-4102 to authorize a rural improvement district to provide weed control because those statutes are subordinate to and preempted by the specific statutory scheme of weed control in Title 7, ch. 22, part 21. 42 A.G. Op. 90 (1988).

Creation of Special Improvement District to Improve County Road: A Board of County Commissioners has authority to order the creation of a rural special improvement district to improve a county road established by the county road petition process. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

Swimming Pool: The creation of a rural improvement district for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a public swimming pool is proper if the facility will specially benefit the property subject to the assessments associated with the district. 41 A.G. Op. 15 (1985).

Case Notes

County Allowed Choice Whether to Issue Bonds Secured by Revolving Fund — County Not Relieved of Obligation to Make Loans to Deficient Rural Special Improvement Districts: The plain meaning of statutes regarding revolving funds, as well as the legislative history, supports the legislative intent to allow counties to choose whether to finance a rural special improvement district by issuing bonds secured by the revolving fund. Nothing in the statutes voids the commitment to loan from the revolving fund if the district becomes deficient. In this case, County Commissioners agreed to a revolving fund obligation and issued bonds secured by the revolving fund. The District Court reasoned that this was a violation of the constitutional prohibition against indebtedness beyond a certain percent, holding that the county was thus relieved of its obligation to make such loans. However, special improvement bond obligations are limited to the district funds and, if necessary, receive loans from the revolving fund. If both funds are insufficient to meet bond payments, there is no other source to pay the bonds. Under 7-12-2182, revolving fund levies are limited to an amount that would increase the balance in the fund to no more than 5% of the principal amount of the outstanding bonds. The District Court erred in its decision that the county was not obligated to make loans to the special improvement districts. Having exercised the discretion to institute a revolving fund and freely enter into an agreement with the bondholders and the underwriters, under both the terms of the agreement and applicable statutes, a county is obliged to carry out that contractual obligation. Loans from the revolving fund and subsequent tax levies are within the constitutional mandates of Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., which requires that state funds be used for public purposes. Further, a county's obligation to make such loans and levy taxes to fund the revolving fund is mandatory, rather than discretionary, and is not an unconstitutional pledge of credit. Carbon County v. Dain Bosworth, Inc., 265 M 75, 874 P2d 718, 51 St. Rep. 436 (1994), distinguishing Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929), and Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Inclusion of Same Amount of Each Lot in Assessment and District: In fixing the boundaries of a rural improvement district, a Board of County Commissioners may include less than the entire amount of a lot so as to equalize costs borne by each lot. Here a district relating to roads and entrance lights was created and for each lot only the 2,000 square feet closest to the road was included in the district, although the lots varied greatly in size. The duty under 7-12-2103 to describe the boundaries of the district is not affected by lot size, and the boundaries may be fixed so that the same amount of each lot is included in the district. Warner v. Gallatin County Comm'rs, 220 M 430, 715 P2d 1068, 43 St. Rep. 502 (1986).

7-12-2105. Notice of resolution of intention to create district — hearing.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendment: Chapter 229 in (2) deleted former first sentence that read: "The board shall also cause a copy of such notice to be posted in three public places within the boundaries of such special improvement district"; inserted (3)(b) concerning pledge of revolving fund and general fund loans or tax levy for revolving fund; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1985 Amendments: Chapter 349 in (1) substituted "publish notice" for "give notice" and inserted "as provided in 7-1-2121"; and in (2) deleted first sentence that read: "The notice must be published for 10 consecutive days in a daily newspaper or in two issues of a weekly newspaper published nearest to the place where such improvement district is to be created", inserted "as provided in 7-1-2122", and at end deleted "at his last known place of residence, upon the same day such notice is first published or posted".

Chapter 665 in first sentence of (3) inserted "describe generally the method or methods by which the costs of the improvements will be assessed".

Case Notes

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in this section and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

Failure to Give Notice: Failure to give the notice required by Ch. 156, L. 1917, as amended by Ch. 67, L. 1919, in the attempted creation of a rural improvement district deprived the county of jurisdiction to proceed, and a property owner, in his action to enjoin the collection of the tax against his property to pay for the improvement, was not estopped to deny the validity of the assessment by his omission to object to the creation of the district prior to its completion. Billings Bench Water Ass'n v. Yellowstone County, 70 M 401, 225 P 996 (1924), distinguished in Wood v. Kalispell, 131 M 390, 310 P2d 1058 (1957).

2003 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 198 in (1) at beginning of first sentence extended protest time from 15 days to 30 days; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2003.

Chapter 277 inserted (2) defining owner for purposes of this section; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

Style changes were slightly different in the chapters. In each case, the codifier chose appropriate text.

1985 Amendment: In last two sentences substituted "be in writing, identify the property in the district owned by the protestor, and be signed by all owners of the property. The protest must be delivered" for "be in writing and be delivered".

Rescission of Protests After Filing Deadline but Before Final Action: On the question of whether a Board of County Commissioners can accept a rescission of a written protest after the filing deadline has passed, the Supreme Court adopted the rationale of Ford v. Mitchell, 103 M 99, 61 P2d 815 (1936), that any person signing an initiative petition has an absolute right to withdraw the signature at any time before the person or body created by law to determine the matter submitted by the petition has finally acted. Case Notes

Hooking Up to Sewer System Characterized as Improvement Rather Than Maintenance or Repair: Seypar, Inc., argued that the sewer district should have assessed the cost of hookup fees on a districtwide basis rather than against the individual parcels of Seypar, Inc., as they were added to the system. The Supreme Court held that hookup fees were not maintenance, repair, or preservation costs that are required to be assessed districtwide but were improvements that the district had the discretion to assess against the individual parcels if the district so chose. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Case Notes

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. The Supreme Court held that the district did have the power to impose hookup fees under this section. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 269 inserted (1)(d) allowing each piece of land to be assessed an equal amount of the cost of the improvement; and made minor changes in style.

1985 Amendment: Substituted language of (1) lead-in, (1)(a), and (1)(b) (see 1985 Session Law for text) for "To defray the cost of making any of the improvements provided for in this part, the board of county commissioners shall adopt the following method of assessment:

(1) The board shall assess the entire cost of such improvements against the entire district. Each lot or parcel of land assessed in such district shall be assessed with that part of the whole cost which its area bears to the area of the entire district, exclusive of streets, avenues, alleys, and public places.

(2) Where said rural improvement district is located more than 5 miles from the boundary of an incorporated city or town, said assessment may, at the option of the board, be based upon the assessed value of the lots or pieces of land within said district"; inserted (1)(c), (1)(d), and (2) (see 1985 Session Law for text); and near end of (3), inserted "benefited" before "property".

Case Notes

Hooking Up to Sewer System Characterized as Improvement Rather Than Maintenance or Repair: Seypar, Inc., argued that the sewer district should have assessed the cost of hookup fees on a districtwide basis rather than against the individual parcels of Seypar, Inc., as they were added to the system. The Supreme Court held that hookup fees were not maintenance, repair, or preservation costs that are required to be assessed districtwide but were improvements that the district had the discretion to assess against the individual parcels if the district so chose. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

No Presumption That Hookup Fees Reasonable: Seypar, Inc., argued that the sewer district's $500 hookup fee assessed against each of Seypar, Inc.'s, 70 lots was unreasonable. The Supreme Court held that the District Court was wrong in finding that the district was a local self-governing unit and that therefore there was no presumption that the district's fees were reasonable. However, the Supreme Court found that the district had introduced evidence that the fees were reasonable and Seypar, Inc., had presented no contrary evidence. Therefore, Seypar, Inc., it had not met its burden of proof to show that the fees were unreasonable. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. The Supreme Court held that the Inclusion of Same Amount of Each Lot in Assessment and District: In fixing the boundaries of a rural improvement district, a Board of County Commissioners may include less than the entire amount of a lot so as to equalize costs borne by each lot. Here a district relating to roads and entrance lights was created and for each lot only the 2,000 square feet closest to the road was included in the district, although the lots varied greatly in size. The duty under 7-12-2103 to describe the boundaries of the district is not affected by lot size, and the boundaries may be fixed so that the same amount of each lot is included in the district. Warner v. Gallatin County Comm'rs, 220 M 430, 715 P2d 1068, 43 St. Rep. 502 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Assessed Valuation Option — Oil and Gas Net Proceeds: Oil and gas net proceeds and royalty interests should not be included within the assessed value of land benefited from a rural special improvement district for purposes of assessment of costs under this section. 42 A.G. Op. 5 (1987).

Assessment Area Smaller Than District — Partial Inclusion in District of Larger Lots: In a rural subdivision containing lots from 2 to 20 acres in size, a decision to include the entirety of each lot in a rural special improvement district but to assess only an equal portion of each lot was at odds with the assessment method mandated by this section, prior to 1985 amendment. To deal with the problem of equalizing burdens and benefits only part of the larger lots should be included within the district. 39 A.G. Op. 48 (1982).

2003 Amendment: Chapter 277 in (2) at beginning of first sentence inserted "The board may" and after "year" deleted "the board shall", in second sentence after "assessment" inserted "authorized by the board", and inserted third sentence requiring the board to provide for the cost of maintaining, preserving, or repairing district improvements in lieu of an assessment; and made minor changes in style. Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 175, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, the administrative time involved with rural special improvement districts' maintenance districts can be substantial; and

WHEREAS, these districts benefit only the property owners within the districts' boundaries and not the county as a whole; and

WHEREAS, many of the rural special improvement districts rely on the county to make the maintenance decisions for the district; and

WHEREAS, the county receives no revenue for the administration and other costs involved with operating rural special improvement maintenance districts."

Attorney General's Opinions
Payment of Fire Hydrant Fee From Rural Improvement District Maintenance Fund: Counties have the power to create rural improvement districts outside of incorporated cities and towns for the purpose of acquiring and constructing certain improvements in the public interest, including the construction of water mains and hydrants. Maintenance, preservation, and repair of those improvements are paid for from the rural improvement district maintenance fund. Therefore, payment of a fire hydrant fee charged to a rural improvement district for provision of water to hydrants owned by the district may be made from the district's maintenance fund. 45 A.G. Op. 4 (1993).

Responsibility for Costs of Maintenance and Repair of County Road Established by Petition: If a rural special improvement district is created to improve a county road established by the county road petition process, the district is responsible for the costs of maintenance and repair of the road. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

Formation of New Improvement District Required for Substantial Expansion of Existing One: A sewer district constituting a rural special improvement district could be significantly expanded and the district's service area doubled in size only by the creation of a new special improvement district. The provisions of 7-12-2161(4) contemplate only maintenance of an existing system for which notice has previously been given and upon which a hearing has been previously held. A substantial addition to an existing district with notice or comment by the affected property owners would conflict with the notice procedures applicable to property owners not yet taxed for the improvement of their property. 40 A.G. Op. 44 (1984).

The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or this section, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

Payment of Fire Hydrant Fee From Rural Improvement District Maintenance Fund: Counties have the power to create rural improvement districts outside of incorporated cities and towns for the purpose of acquiring and constructing certain improvements in the public interest, including the construction of water mains and hydrants. Maintenance, preservation, and repair of those improvements are paid for from the rural improvement district maintenance fund. Therefore, payment of a fire hydrant fee charged to a rural improvement district for provision of water to hydrants owned by the district may be made from the district's maintenance fund. 45 A.G. Op. 4 (1993).

County Allowed Choice Whether to Issue Bonds Secured by Revolving Fund — County Not Relieved of Obligation to Make Loans to Deficient Rural Special Improvement Districts: The plain meaning of statutes regarding revolving funds, as well as the legislative history, supports the legislative intent to allow counties to choose whether to finance a rural special improvement district by issuing bonds secured by the revolving fund. Nothing in the statutes voids the commitment to loan from the revolving fund if the district becomes deficient. In this case, County Commissioners agreed to a revolving fund obligation and issued bonds secured by the revolving fund. The District Court reasoned that this was a violation of the constitutional prohibition against indebtedness beyond a certain percent, holding that the county was thus relieved of its obligation to make such loans. However, special improvement bond obligations are limited to the district funds and, if necessary, receive loans from the revolving fund. If both funds are insufficient to meet bond payments, there is no other source to pay the bonds. Under 7-12-2182, revolving fund levies are limited to an amount that would increase the balance in the fund to no more than 5% of the principal amount of the outstanding bonds. The District Court erred in its decision that the county was not obligated to make loans to the special improvement districts. Having exercised the discretion to institute a revolving fund and freely enter into an agreement with the bondholders and the underwriters, under both the terms of the agreement and applicable statutes, a county is obliged to carry out that contractual obligation. Loans from the revolving fund and subsequent tax levies are within the constitutional mandates of Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., which requires that state funds be used for public purposes. Further, a county's obligation to make such loans and levy taxes to fund the revolving fund is mandatory, rather than discretionary, and is not an unconstitutional pledge of credit. Carbon County v. Part 41

Special Improvement Districts

Part Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to 7-12-4162, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Boundary of Special Improvement District — How Drawn: A special improvement district's boundary lines should be drawn in such a way that the improvement brings a benefit to the included properties and that the benefit is substantially more intense than that which is realized by the properties outside of the district boundaries. The fact that outside property derives some general benefit should not affect the special benefit afforded the district properties. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Sufficiency of Resolution of Intention to Create SID: Plaintiffs unsuccessfully challenged in the District Court the validity of the creation by the City Council of a special improvement district (SID) to expand off-street parking in downtown Missoula. The SID was proposed to the City Council by the Parking Commission. Two alternatives were presented. One involved addition of parking spaces on three surface lots. The other involved addition of parking spaces on two lots and construction of a parking garage on a third lot. Both proposals entailed acquisition of the same parcels of land. The City Council then adopted, pursuant to 7-12-4104, a resolution of intention to create an SID, including both alternative plans in the resolution. Written protests were filed, and opposition to creation of the SID was expressed at a public hearing. The City Council then adopted a resolution creating the SID. In the resolution, the general nature of the improvements was set forth in the alternative. On appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that the alternative structure of the resolution of intention did not deny property owners notice of the cost and nature of the proposed improvement. Nor does 7-12-4104 preclude use of the alternative form. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Notice to Be Published Rather Than Posted if Possible: The obvious intent of the Legislature as declared in 7-12-4107 (now repealed) was to permit posting of notice only when publication could not be made in the city, and whenever there is a newspaper published in the city, whether "daily", "semiweekly", or "weekly", publication therein should take precedence over notice by posting. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to 7-12-4162, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in this section, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Diefenderfer v. Billings, 223 M 487, 726 P2d 1362, 43 St. Rep. 1934 (1986).

Boundary of Special Improvement District — How Drawn: A special improvement district's boundary lines should be drawn in such a way that the improvement brings a benefit to the included properties and that the benefit is substantially more intense than that which is realized by the properties outside of the district boundaries. The fact that outside property derives some general benefit should not affect the special benefit afforded the district properties. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Bond Issues — Payment: Where a special improvement district was established under this section and bonds were issued "payable from the collection of the special tax or assessment which is a lien against the real estate within said improvement district", the bonds were not a general obligation of the town and the town could not be compelled to redeem the bonds from a water fund made up of water rentals from water users, even though the town may have had authority to make payments from such fund. State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Assessment Not to Be Predicated on Future Action of Public Authority: A special improvement district was created for the construction of a main trunk line sewer which would not serve plaintiff's lot or a majority of the lots within the district until laterals could be constructed. This would require the creation of local districts within the main trunk line district. As an assessment cannot be predicated on future action of public authorities, plaintiff's land could not be assessed for the main trunk line sewer. Crutchfield v. Nash, 84 M 556, 276 P 938 (1929).

Powers of City Council Limited: The statutes of this state relating to the creation of special improvement districts not only qualify and limit the powers which the City Council may exercise but they define with particularity the mode in which the restricted authority may be used, and compliance with their provisions is the sine qua non to the creation of a special improvement district for making improvements the expense of which is to be a charge against the property included. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919); Cooper v. Bozeman, 54 M 277, 169 P 801 (1917); Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Right to Attack Validity of Creation of District: Where an owner joined in a petition for the creation of a special improvement district and thereafter, in creating it, a large part of the property described therein was excluded by the City Council, the petitioner was not estopped from subsequently attacking the validity of the creation by the fact that he joined in the petition. Lewistown v. Warren, 52 M 356, 157 P 954 (1916).

Construction of Section: The provisions of this section were not repealed by implication by Ch. 89, L. 1913, relating to special improvements in cities and towns. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Federal Property: The constitutional provision that a state shall not impose any taxes upon property therein belonging to the United States includes special assessments for street improvements. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Theory of Act:

With respect to special improvements, the "superficial area" rule is the rule of this state; it amounts to a legislative declaration that all property in a proposed district is, presumptively, equally benefited by the improvement contemplated. Mansur v. Polson, 45 M 585, 125 P 1002 (1912).

The whole theory of local taxation or assessments is that the improvements for which they are levied afford a remuneration in the way of benefits. Power v. Helena, 43 M 336, 116 P 415 (1911).

School District Property: The property of a school district, devoted exclusively to public school purposes, is, in the absence of express constitutional or statutory exemption, liable for the payment of assessments made for special municipal improvements. Kalispell v. School District, 45 M 221, 122 P 742 (1912).

Constitutionality: Laws providing for the creation of special improvement districts and imposing a tax by way of assessment upon the property legislatively determined to be benefited are not open to the objection that they deprive the owner of his property without due process of law. McMillan v. Butte, 30 M 220, 76 P 203 (1904).

Special Improvement Districts — Legal Services — City Controls: Because a special improvement district (SID) is a creature of statute, with the power to create it clearly vested in the city, a developer seeking creation of a special improvement district has no authority to Paying for Condemned Property Outside City Limits: In the absence of such a provision as contained in this section, the power of a municipality to create a special improvement district in a city for the construction of a project to protect city property from overflows would be implied on grounds of special necessity, and in such case, as well as where the power is expressly conferred, property in the special improvement district may properly be assessed for the purpose of paying for condemned property lying outside the city limits. Case Notes

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Extended District: Besides those requirements enumerated in this section, the City Commission must take two additional steps under 7-12-4109 to have a valid resolution of intention for an "extended" district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Construction of Section: The words "approximate estimate" should not be construed liberally. Koich v. Helena, 132 M 194, 315 P2d 811 (1957).

Sufficiency of Resolution:

Plaintiffs unsuccessfully challenged in the District Court the validity of the creation by the City Council of a special improvement district (SID) to expand off-street parking in downtown Missoula. The SID was proposed to the City Council by the Parking Commission. Two alternatives were presented. One involved addition of parking spaces on three surface lots. The other involved addition of parking spaces on two lots and construction of a parking garage on a third lot. Both proposals entailed acquisition of the same parcels of land. The City Council then adopted, pursuant to this section, a resolution of intention to create an SID, including both alternative plans in the resolution. Written protests were filed, and opposition to creation of the SID was expressed at a public hearing. The City Council then adopted a resolution creating the SID. In the resolution, the general nature of the improvements was set forth in the alternative. On appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that the alternative structure of the resolution of intention did not deny property owners notice of the cost and nature of the proposed improvement. Nor does this section preclude use of the alternative form. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Where improvement was amply covered by general description contained in resolution of intention, that waterworks were to be constructed outside of special improvement district for purpose of furnishing water for pipes laid in district, held sufficient, so far as concerns description of work chargeable to district. Lumbermen's Trust Co. v. Ryegate, 61 F2d 14 (9th Cir. 1931).

A resolution of intention to create a special improvement district, the title of which stated that it was a "resolution of intention", etc., and the body of which substantially contained the recitals required by statute and advised the taxpayers of the time and place where their objections to its creation would be heard, was sufficient as against the objection that in it the City Council had not declared its intention to create it. Aiken v. Glendive, 60 M 1, 197 P 1003 (1921).

Boundary: Under this section, a city has the power to fix the boundary of a special improvement district at any distance from the front line of a street and is not required to include the whole platted area of each lot. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

Discretion of Council:

In an action to set aside the proceedings of a City Council had in the creation of a special street improvement district and to enjoin the carrying out of a paving contract entered into, on the grounds that the city had joined in one district property abutting on several streets, that the character of work to be done on one street was different from that to be done on others, and that property on several streets would not be benefited by the paving on another, proceedings reviewed and held, in view of the power lodged in the City Council by this section to include in one district and in one contract any number of streets, any kind of work, etc., that the Council did not abuse its discretion. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

The City Council as a special tribunal to conduct the hearing is clothed with limited powers only, and no presumption in favor of its jurisdiction will be indulged. The statute measures its authority, and compliance with the terms of the statute is a condition precedent to the right to act. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Departure From Resolution: Under a resolution of intention to create a special improvement district for the purpose of paving streets, with the necessary excavations, cutting, filling, etc., and "incidental work", held that defendant city was properly enjoined from entering into a contract the provisions of which departed substantially from the purposes set forth in the resolution, in that they included reduction in the street widths and the construction of new parking, curbing, and storm sewers, each of which constitutes a distinct city improvement under this section, and none of which was therefore subject to inclusion under the term "incidental work". Evans v. Helena, 60 M 577, 199 P 445 (1921).

Substantial Compliance: A resolution passed by the Town Council reciting the creation of an improvement district and that the resolution should be deemed one of intention to create, and creating it, followed by a description of its boundaries and of the character of the proposed improvements, with an estimate of the cost, etc., and that objections to its creation and the final adoption of the resolution would be heard in a certain place at a given time, held to have been in substantial compliance with statutory provisions. Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

Boundary Description Incorrect: Where a resolution of intention to create a special improvement district described the boundaries of an entirely different district from that referred to in the notice served upon the owner of property affected, the City Council did not acquire jurisdiction to proceed with the improvement. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Necessary Steps to Create Districts: The successive steps necessary to be taken by a City Council in the creation of special improvement district are: (1) the adoption of a resolution of intention; (2) the service of the required notice; (3) a hearing and determination against protests; and (4) the passage of a resolution creating the district. The first three of these steps are jurisdictional, and a failure to take any one of them is fatal to the proceedings. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919); Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Creation of District Without Resolution of Intention: Before a special improvement district can be created, the City Council must pass a resolution of intention to do so, give notice of its passage, etc. Where the Council, in an endeavor to create such a district, passed a resolution which proclaimed the creation of the district and an intention to assess the property liable for the cost of the improvement, the proceedings were void in limine for want of a proper resolution of intention. Cooper v. Bozeman, 54 M 277, 169 P 801 (1917).

Description of Boundaries: By a resolution to create a special improvement district described as being bounded by certain lots, such lots were not incorporated in but excluded from the proposed district. Lewistown v. Warr, 52 M 353, 157 P 953 (1916).

Purpose of Boundary Description: Proceedings for the imposition of a special improvement tax are in invitum, and before property can be held subject to the burden, it must be described with sufficient certainty that the owner cannot be misled, it being the intention of the statute that the resolution of intention shall contain a description of the proposed district by a line which marks its exterior boundaries. Lewistown v. Warr, 52 M 353, 157 P 953 (1916).

Resolution of Intention — Primary Step: The resolution of intention is the primary step to be taken in every instance and is the basis of the whole proceeding, the omission of which is fatal and renders all the subsequent proceedings nugatory. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Effective March 24, 1995.

1985 Amendment: In (3), inserted "describe generally the method or methods by which the costs of the improvements will be assessed", before "protests" inserted "written", after "making" inserted "or acquisition", inserted last sentence requiring that notice state exact purchase price if proposal is for purchase of an existing improvement, and made minor changes in punctuation and phraseology.

Case Notes

Notice:

Landowners who appear before the City Council to protest the establishment of an improvement district do not thereby waive their right to restrain its establishment on the ground of defective publication of notice. Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

Parties who have either received notice or waived it by appearing to protest may not take advantage of the failure of notice to other parties who have neither protested nor appeared as parties to the suit. Shaw v. Kalispell, 135 M 284, 340 P2d 523 (1959), explained in Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

This section does not require the City Clerk to mail copies of the required notice to persons who are neither record owners nor personally known owners of an interest in property in the district, since they have been careless in failing to record their ownership. Shaw v. Kalispell, 135 M 284, 340 P2d 523 (1959), explained in Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

Failure of the notice mentioned in this section to refer to the resolution for a description of boundaries is insufficient to vitiate the proceedings. (See 1995 amendment as to notice requirements.) Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

The caption of a notice is not part of the notice itself and cannot be looked to to supply any deficiency in the notice. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

In the absence of the statutory notice of the City Council's intention to create a special improvement district, plaintiff property owner was not called upon to act, an inference deducible from his complaint that he had actual knowledge that his property was to be included in the proposed district being insufficient. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Publication of a notice of intention to create a special improvement district, which contained the proper reference to time and place for hearing objections to its final adoption, was sufficient. Allen v. Butte, 55 M 205, 175 P 595 (1918).

Purpose of Resolution: The essential purpose of a resolution of intention is to: (1) apprise the taxpayers that the city intends to propose a special improvement district; (2) describe the area that will be encompassed in the district; (3) describe the type and character of improvements that will be included within the district; and (4) state the cost of the improvements to be made. Koich v. Helena, 132 M 194, 315 P2d 811 (1957).

Failure to Mail Notice: A special improvement district for the purpose of raising funds was void where one of the property owners affected was not mailed a notice. Wood v. Kalispell, 131 M 390, 310 P2d 1058 (1957).

Newspaper Publishing Five Days a Week Considered a Daily: The provision "must be published for five days in a daily newspaper" was met by publication for 5 consecutive days in a paper, which 5 days constituted all its publications for a week, it having been held that a newspaper published 5 days in the week is a "daily" in the popular sense. (See 1995 amendment.) Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Case Notes

Sufficiency of Resolution: Besides those requirements enumerated in 7-12-4104, the City Commission must take two additional steps under this section to have a valid resolution of intention for an "extended" district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Purpose of Assessment: Where a district was created for the purpose of paying for improvements at intersections as authorized by this section and another district was created under 7-12-4167 to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property, there was in no sense double taxation. The assessments were for different purposes. One assessment was to raise money to defray the cost of the intersections and the other to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property. Bidlingmeyer v. Deer Lodge, 128 M 292, 274 P2d 821 (1954).

Public Benefit: In an action to recover improvement taxes paid under protest, held that, this section not so providing, a resolution of intention to create an extended improvement district including lots not fronting on the improvement, for the purpose of installing water mains and fire protection apparatus, need not recite that the contemplated work was of more than local or ordinary public benefit, the adoption of the resolution being a sufficient finding that in the opinion of the City Council the proposed improvement was of that character. Determination of Area of Protest: The phrase, "the area of the property to be assessed", as used in this section to describe those persons entitled to protest creation of an improvement district, depends upon the method of assessment used by the city under 7-12-4161. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Property Owned by City Also to Be Computed: In determining whether a given percentage of the owners of property affected by a proposed special improvement have filed protests against it, the City or Town Council is authorized by this section to take into consideration property owned by it and included in the district, such property being subject to assessment therefor the same as privately owned property. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

Withdrawal From Protest: A property owner in a city who has signed a protest against the creation of a special improvement district may, within the time allowed for presenting such protest, withdraw therefrom and thus defeat the protest. Hawley v. Butte, 53 M 411, 164 P 305 (1917).

Sufficiency of Protest: An alleged protest to street paving, filed by abutting owners, stating the reasons why they did not desire the paving done during a certain year and stating that they were willing to have the street paved 2 years later and that payment therefor should be required in three annual installments, was not an unqualified protest to the paving. McMillan v. Butte, 30 M 220, 76 P 203 (1904).

Case Notes

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Waiver of Claim for Damages: By failure of an objecting property owner to give notice of defects or irregularities in the proceedings to the Council within 60 days after the contract for the work is let, he waives all claim for damages under this section. Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

Acquisition of Jurisdiction: It is only after the lapse of 15 days from the first publication of notice of intention to create an improvement district and after all protests have been disposed of adversely to objecting property owners that the City Council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the improvement. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Attorney General's Opinions

Vacation of Street by Mayor-Council Government — Legal Effect on City's Interest in Street: Under this section, a municipality has the authority to close all or part of a street to through traffic without giving up its legal interest in the street or to vacate all or part of the street and revoke its legal interest in it. A municipality with a mayor-council form of government is bound by the procedures in this section rather than by 7-3-4448, which applies only to commission-manager forms of government, when it seeks to discontinue, close, or vacate a street. The choice between vacating a street and closing a street is a matter for the discretion of the municipal officers of a mayor-council form of government. 46 A.G. Op. 4 (1995), clarifying Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802 (1979).

Case Notes

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. The Supreme Court held that the district did have the power to impose hookup fees under 7-12-2151. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Case Notes

Method of Assessment: Since there is a direct correlation between this section and 7-12-4112, as expressed in the phrase, "the area of the property to be assessed", the method of assessment used by the city governs the basis for determining those persons entitled to protest creation of an improvement district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Double Taxation: Where a district was created for the purpose of paying for improvements at intersections as authorized by 7-12-4109 and another district was created to defray the cost of the street under this section, there was in no sense double taxation. The assessments were for different purposes. One assessment was to raise money to defray the cost of the intersections and the other to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property. Bidlingmeyer v. Deer Lodge, 128 M 292, 274 P2d 821 (1954).

1985 Amendment: In (1), in first sentence substituted "an improvement against benefited property in the district" for "such improvements against the entire district", before "within such district" inserted "assessed", inserted "assessable" in two places, inserted "all benefited lots or parcels in", and inserted second and third sentences defining assessable area and providing size limitations of assessable area; in (2) before "property" inserted "benefited"; and in (3) in two places before "land", inserted "benefited".

Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to this section, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Estoppel to Protest: The question of estoppel under 7-12-4176 does not preclude a property owner from protesting a figure used as the "assessable area" in a resolution of intention for purposes of determining the sufficiency of the protest under 7-12-4113, since it applies only to the actual assessment as stated in the resolution of assessment. Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Sale Proceeds to Delinquent Special Improvement District Assessments: A County Treasurer may not require delinquent special improvement district assessments to be paid in addition to the sale price of tax deed land because when a tax deed is issued, special assessment liens that were due and payable at that time are extinguished. However, the County Treasurer must apply the sale proceeds of the land to delinquent assessments, as provided in 7-8-2306. 45 A.G. Op. 24 (1994).

Acceleration of Future Installments of Special Assessments Upon Delinquency: A city whose taxes are collected by the county has statutory authority to accelerate future installments of special assessments when one installment becomes delinquent. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

Payment of Delinquent Taxes, Including Special Assessments, to Effect Assignment of Rights: Under 15-17-303 (since repealed), an assignee must pay the amount for which the property was bid at the tax sale, and no provision is included for an assignment following partial payment of the delinquent general taxes, excluding unpaid special assessments, which are treated the same as general taxes under 7-12-4183. Therefore, a city must pay all delinquent taxes, including special assessments, to a county to effect an assignment of the rights of the county in property struck off following a tax sale. 41 A.G. Op. 77 (1986).

Payment of Special Assessments Due Prior to Deed Issuance: Following the issuance of a tax deed to a county, the county is not responsible for payment of delinquent special assessments, accelerated under authority of 7-12-4183, due prior to issuance of the deed. 41 A.G. Op. 77 (1986).

may be prescribed by the board of county commissioners in the resolution authorizing the issuance or sale of the bonds or warrants; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1985 Amendment: In (1), after "cost of" inserted "acquiring or" and after "years" deleted "payments to be made in equal annual installments"; inserted (2) relating to payment in installments; and inserted (3) relating to prepayment of assessments.

Assessments to Include Interest to Maturity: Special improvement district bonds are not general obligations of the city, and their payment is strictly limited to the fund provided by statute and ordinance; the lien of the assessments extends to each lot or parcel of land separately and not jointly, and payment thereof on one lot or issue of tax deed thereon discharges the lien thereon; assessments upon property in the district must, under this section, include the interest on the bonds to maturity, as part of the cost of such improvements. 7-12-4191. Assessments and certain other charges as liens.

Case Notes

Tax Deed of Special Improvement Assessments Payable Before Execution: A general tax lien and a special improvement assessment lien are not of equal rank. Support of government is higher obligation than cost of local improvement. Where a special assessment for city improvement became delinquent on November 30, 1940, and was certified by the city to the County Clerk on December 7, 1940, and by the County Treasurer entered upon the tax rolls as a lien against the property, a county tax deed issued on December 23, 1940, extinguished the lien for the 1940 installment of the city special improvement assessment, because under 15-18-309 (since repealed) such assessment installment was payable before execution of the tax deed. Hartman v. Nimmack, 116 M 392, 154 P2d 279 (1944), cited in First Trust Co. of Mont. v. Great Falls, 256 M 390, 845 P2d 1227, 50 St. Rep. 45 (1993).

Extinguishment of Lien: Under our statutory provisions with relation to special improvements in cities and towns, any special assessment made and levied to defray the cost and expenses of special improvements constitutes a lien upon all property included in an improvement district, but under the provisions of 15-18-403 (since repealed), such a lien is extinguished by the issuance of a tax deed on sale of the property for delinquent taxes. Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929); State ex rel. Great Falls v. Jeffries, 83 M 111, 270 P 638 (1928).

Commencement of Lien: Where the City Council had acquired jurisdiction to order a special improvement and levy the assessment to pay for it, the assessment became a lien against the property benefited by it from the date the assessment became due, not affected by the circumstance that plaintiffs had recovered judgments against the city for damages caused by the improvement. Allen v. Butte, 55 M 205, 175 P 595 (1918).

City Obligation to Make Revolving Fund Loans and Levy Taxes to Discharge Special Improvement District Bonds: When a city has established a revolving fund to secure payments on special improvement district (SID) bonds and when an SID fund does not have sufficient amounts to make payments on its bonds, the city must continue to make loans from the revolving fund to the SID fund and continue to levy the property tax in accordance with 7-12-4222 until the obligations on all bonds and warrants in the SID are discharged. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment: In first sentence inserted "acquisition or" and "or incurred in the issuance of the bonds or warrants of the district, including incidental expenses".

Case Notes

No Power to Assess Expenses Apart From Bond Sale: Under this statute, a city does not have the authority to levy special improvement district assessments against property for incidental expenses of anticipated improvements when the improvements are not constructed on the property by the city. The statute clearly provides that creation costs shall be payable by special improvement district bonds. Assessments for special improvements must be in proportion to the benefits conferred by the improvement. Tocci v. Three Forks, 216 M 159, 700 P2d 171, 42 St. Rep. 720 (1985).

Issuance of Bonds at Discount: City Council has no power to issue bonds or warrants at a discount in payment of special improvement work, and a contract let to one who in making out his bid took into consideration the fact that the warrants he would receive were worth only 90 cents on the dollar and therefore added 10% to the actual cost was invalid as an attempt to do indirectly what the Council was prohibited from doing directly. 2003 Amendment: Chapter 277 deleted former (3) that read: "(3) As used in part 41 and this part, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Amortization bonds" means the form of bonds that bear interest at a fixed rate and on which:

(i) a part of the principal must be paid each time that interest becomes payable;

(ii) the part payment of principal increases at each installment in the same amount that the interest decreases;

(iii) the combined interest and principal due on each due date remains the same until the bonds are paid;

(iv) the final payment may vary from prior payments in the amount resulting from disregarding fractional costs in prior payments; and

(v) the initial payment may be larger than subsequent payments if the increase represents interest accrued over an additional period not greater than 6 months.

(b) "Serial bonds" means a bond issue payable in semiannual or annual installments commencing not more than 2 years from the date of issue, any one installment consisting of one or more bonds, with the principal amount of bonds maturing in each installment not exceeding five times the principal amount of the bonds maturing in the immediately preceding installment." Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 in (1)(a) inserted last two sentences providing that bonds or warrants sold at a private, negotiated sale may bear interest at a rate varying at times and on terms determined by the governing body of the municipality and allowing the terms to include a maximum interest rate or convertibility to a fixed rate; inserted (1)(b) stating when variable rate bonds may be sold at a private, negotiated sale; in (1)(c) in second sentence substituted "may bear the corporate seal" for "must bear the corporate seal"; in (3) in definition of amortization bonds in introductory clause inserted "that bear interest at a fixed rate and" and in definition of serial bonds near beginning substituted "semiannual or annual installments" for "annual installments"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 459 deleted former (3) that read: "(3) All special improvement district bonds must be amortization bonds unless, in the judgment of the city council, serial bonds will be more advantageous to the district and can be sold at a comparatively reasonable rate or rates of interest"; and made minor changes in style.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 256 in (2) inserted last sentence relating to when the term of a bond commences; in (4)(b) substituted definition of serial bonds for former language that read: ""Serial bonds" means the form of bonds that are payable in annual installments and on which the amount maturing each year may not be more than three times the principal amount of bonds maturing in any previous year"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective March 23, 1989.

Chapter 449 in (2), in first sentence, after "years", inserted clause authorizing a 30-year period for refunding bonds; in (4)(b) increased the annual maturity amount to five times from three times the principal amount from the previous year; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective April 5, 1989.

1985 Amendment: Inserted (3) relating to preference for amortization bonds.

Subsection (4), defining amortization and serial bonds, was enacted as a separate section by sec. 51, Ch. 665, L. 1985, but is codified here for convenience.

1981 Amendment: Changed the payment of interest period to annually or semiannually at the discretion of the municipality on such dates as it prescribes, instead of on specified dates unless the municipality decided otherwise.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendment: Chapter 423 at end of (1) substituted "as provided in the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bonds" for "in order of registration, on any interest payment date"; in first sentence of (2) extended redemption date from 10 days after notice to 30 days after notice; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Applicability: Section 53, Ch. 423, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to bonds issued under the provisions of [this act] after [the effective date of this act]." Effective April 13, 1995.

1985 Amendment: In (1) substituted "Special improvement district warrants or bonds shall be redeemed on any interest payment date from the proceeds of the bonds or warrants remaining after payment of all costs of the improvements, as provided in 7-12-4205, or from the prepayment of assessments levied in the district. Special improvement district bonds or warrants are subject to redemption and prepayment at the option of the city, in order of registration, on any interest payment date" for "The warrants or bonds shall be redeemed by the treasurer when there is money in the special improvement district fund against which the warrants or bonds are drawn, on presentation of the coupons belonging thereto, and any money remaining shall be applied to the payment of the principal and the redemption of the warrants or bonds in the order of their registration"; in (2), deleted former first sentence that read: "Whenever there is any money in any special improvement district fund after paying the interest on the warrants or bonds drawn against the fund, the treasurer shall call in for payment outstanding warrants or bonds which, together with the interest thereon to the date of redemption, will equal the amount of the fund on that date", in first sentence substituted "mailing of notice" for "of service of notice", in second sentence, after "give", deleted "notice by publication once in a newspaper published in the city or, at the option of the treasurer, by", and inserted "to be redeemed" in two places, and inserted last sentence requiring Treasurer to publish notice of redemption if addresses of holders of bonds or warrants are not known.

Case Notes

Where Action Held Maintainable to Recover on Warrants Paid Out of Order by County Treasurer: While the rule as to a city's liability to warrant holders damaged by reason of their warrants being paid out of order does not generally apply to county warrants, held, that where the County Commissioners created a special improvement district within an unincorporated town for the installation of waterworks, the county assumed the same duties as rest upon incorporated cities and towns and therefore was properly held liable for damage sustained by a holder of warrants not paid in the order of registration when the special fund became exhausted, and holder could presume Treasurer would do his duty by calling and giving notice. Witter v. Phillips County, 111 M 352, 109 P2d 56 (1941).

Mandamus to Pay Principal Held Up for Payment of Interest After Maturity: Where court refused mandamus proceedings on the ground that under this section the Treasurer was required to first pay all the accrued interest on outstanding bonds before payment of any principal, held, on appeal, that assessments could not provide a fund for payment of interest after maturity of the bonds and that plaintiff was entitled to payment of the principal of the bond sued upon but not to interest accrued thereon after maturity. State ex rel. Griffith v. Shelby, 107 M 571, 87 P2d 183 (1939).

Misapplication of Fund by Treasurer: The office of City Treasurer is a continuing one regardless of the person occupying the office at any particular time. The Treasurer is the servant of the city, and where he misapplies trust funds, such as for special improvement purposes, the municipality is liable to the warrant holders. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936).

Statute of Limitations on Recovery — Trust Rule: The Statute of Limitations does not begin to run against registered city warrants or bonds until the City Treasurer calls them for payment or until the holder has an immediate cause of action. Being a trust fund, under the rule that as between trustee and beneficiary of an express and continuing trust, the Statute of Limitations does not begin to run until trust is repudiated and the beneficiary has received notice. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936), distinguished as to creation of a trust and tolling of the statute of limitations in Samson v. St., 285 M 310, 948 P2d 232, 54 St. Rep. 1165 (1997).

Case Notes

Bond Issues — Payment: Where a special improvement district was established under 7-12-4102 and bonds were issued "payable from the collection of the special tax or assessment which is a lien against the real estate within said improvement district", the bonds were not a general obligation of the town and the town could not be compelled to redeem the bonds from a water fund made up of water rentals from water users, even though the town may have had authority to make payments from such fund. State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Constitutionality — Validity as to Districts Created in Future, Invalidity as to Those Established in the Past: Contention that 7-12-4221 through 7-12-4228, referring to the matter of special improvement district revolving funds, are in conflict with Art. XIII, sec. 1, 1889 Mont. Const.; contravene Art. V, sec. 26, 1889 Mont. Const.; and conflict with Art. XII, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art V, sec. 9, 1972 Mont. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1983 Amendment: In (1)(b) in the middle and at the end, inserted "secured thereby" following "special improvement district bonds and warrants"; and in (2) inserted "secured by the revolving fund" after "any bond or warrant of such district" near beginning and after "alley approach warrants" near end.

1981 Amendments: Chapter 308 substituted the last two sentences of (1)(b) concerning when a tax may not be levied and, if levied, the amount permitted for "such levy, together with such transfer, not to exceed in any one year 5% of the principal amount of the then-outstanding special improvement district bonds or sidewalk, curb, and alley approach warrants".

Chapter 435 inserted (1)(a)(ii) relating to deposit of up to 5% in revolving fund.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 at end inserted sentence stating that the loan must be made even if, in the case of bonds or warrants bearing interest at a variable rate, the interest rate on the special assessments when the loan is made is less than or later becomes less than the interest rate on the bonds or warrants. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 229 at beginning of first sentence inserted "During the period described in 7-12-4225(2)" and near middle, after "fund", inserted "after a transfer from the appropriate district reserve account, if established"; at end of second sentence substituted "and money available in the district fund" for "when added to such insufficient amount, as the case may require"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1983 Amendment: In first sentence, inserted "which are secured by the revolving fund".

Case Notes

"May" to Mean "Must": The provision of this section "may, by order of the council be loaned" out of the special improvement revolving fund, held mandatory, the word "may" meaning "must", thus leaving no discretion in the city officials or their successors. (See 2001 amendment.) Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Unconstitutional in Part: Chapter 24, L. 1929 (7-12-4221 through 7-12-4228), insofar as it authorizes cities to assume liabilities for losses suffered by holders of special improvement bonds and warrants issued prior to the passage of the act, amounts to a reimbursement of the holders of such losses and is violative of Art. XII, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art. V, sec. 9, 1972 Mont. Const.). Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929).

Case Notes

Constitutionality: This section, providing a lien for money loaned to a special city improvement district, is not obnoxious to Art. I, sec. 10, U.S. Const., as impairing the obligations of the contracts of the holders of the bonds of the district, in that the lien is superior, senior, and prior to that of such holders, the purpose of the revolving fund being rather to add to the holders' security.
